"Our Carpet Bag."

For the Herald & Pilot.

Retrospection.

Oh, give me back her youthful!
How should we have enjoyed,
Those wasted hours—now wished to have—
In days, childhood's love.
There's not a smile, however bright,
But mixes with it some tears.
Then more it was to dry each tear,
And yield each heart relief.

'Tis vain to wish—the moments are
May glid with brighter ray,
But sought of truth was change as bright
To things of Yesterday.

Thus with hope's prodigious wit look
Each moment passes away,
Forgotten, through the past in gloom,
The future still is gay.

To the Girls.—Dr. Dow, Jr.—Ladies, you caged birds of beautiful plumage, but sickly looks; you pale pots of the palace, vegetation in an unhealthy shade with a greenish white complexion, like that of a potato sprout in a dark cellar—why don't you go out in the open air and warm sunshine, and add lustre to your eyes, bloom to your cheeks, elasticity to your steps, and vigor to your frames? Take early morning exercise—let loose your corset strings, run up hill on a wager and down again for fun. Roam in the fields, climb the fences, leap the ditches, wade the brooks, and go home with an excellent appetite. Liberty thus exercised and enjoyed, will render you healthy, blooming and beautiful—as lovely as the Graces and as public as Dowers. The buxom, bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, full breasted, bouncing lass, who can darn a stocking, mend trousers, make her own frocks, command a regiment of pots and kettles, feed the pigs, milk the cows, and be a lady without in company—is just the sort of girl for me, or any worthy young man to marry; but you, ye pining, languishing, nervous ladies, wasp-waisted, dull-pressed, pasty-faced, consumption-marked, music-murdering, novel-devouring daughters of fashion and idleness—you are no more fit for matrimony than a pullet is to look after a family of fifteen chickens. The truth is, my dear girls, you want, generally speaking, more liberty and less fashionable restraint—more kitchen and less parlor—more peg exercise and less talk—more pudding and less pastry—more frankness and less mock-modesty—more corned beef and less corsets—more breakfast and less bishop. Loosen your selves a little; enjoy more liberty and less restraint by fashion. Breathe the pure atmosphere of freedom, and become ravishing merely as lovely and beautiful as the God of Nature designed.

During the late canvass in Michigan, a surgeon dentist was making an excellent speech in one of the interior towns. A low fellow belonging to the party, interrupted him with the question, "What do you ask to pull a tooth doctor?" "I will pull all your teeth for a shilling, and your nose gratis," replied the speaker.

An old bachelor, who edits a paper somewhere in the Western country, puts "Mad Dickerly Accidents" over the head of marriages.

Why is an unwelcome visitor like a sheriff? Because—We've glad to be leaved.

A Western paper says:—"Nearly all the suicides in this country are by foreigners. Yankees rarely make away with themselves for nearly every day thinks he has a chance of becoming President! and, at any rate, he certainly prompts him to live on just to see what he will come to."

As Good as Pence.—The Pekin Pioneer says:—"Coming home a few mornings since, we met a man attempting to walk on both sides of the street. By a skilful manœuvre we passed between him."

An unmarried lady on the wintry side of forty hearing of the marriage of a young lady, her friend, observed with a deep and sublimental sigh, "Well, I suppose it is what we all must come to."

A Scotch gentleman was very enthusiastic upon the subject of his native country. Anyone, when an Englishman remarked, "I suppose you will call yourself a Scotchman next." He very dily replied "I cannot exactly say that, but Moses was a man of the rare talent and astonishing genius, that I should not be at all surprised to hear that he was a Scotchman."

A Near Accident.—Mrs. Jenkins requests the pleasure of Capt. Brown's company at a small party on Friday evening next.

21 Sprigging Place.—Monday.

Capt. Brown presents his compliments to Mrs. Jenkins, and regrets that the pleasure he will be deprived by being engaged elsewhere, and two engagements are on the tack; the very of Capt. Brown's company will have much pleasure in waiting on Mrs. Jenkins on Friday evening.

Tuesday.

Gent.—A youth, who is in chancery presented, "I never seen the elephant," he recently [illegible] beautiful in the company of three young ladies, and generously divided an orange between them. "You will see your end," exclaimed one of the damsels. "Not at all," replied our traveller, "I have three or four more in my pocket."

The gun cannot be polished without friction, nor man perfected without trouble.

The point also of love is the heart of a woman.

The love of the beautiful and the true, the close fog in the heart of the capital, induces forever that and liquid in the inmost shrine of much being, though, all the spit, be swept to stand by [illegible] and degradation.

ICE! ICE!! ICE!!!

THE Subscriber presents a Receipt to every who may desire to make ICE, in any climate, with but little expense or trouble.—The process is simple, and can be accomplished by the most limited understanding, so as to produce from even warm water, in the hottest climate, a pure ice, equal in every essential to that formed by natural causes. The following notice of this great discovery is taken from the New York Sun:

"A Real Luxury.—Dr. James R. Wilmington produces, by an artificial process, pure and sweet ice, from warm water, in the heat of summer, in less than half an hour.—And he can render a barrel of water as cold as ice itself in a very few minutes. This discovery must be of immense value to all living South.

TERMS.—This receipt, which contains full instructions for making ice & ice creams, cooling water, and numerous other useful things, will be forwarded to order for Two Dollars, by addressing Dr. Jas. R. Wilmington, 122 Nassau street, N. Y.

Arrangements are now being made for a Through Route by Railroad from Ogdensburgh to New York, via the Valley of the Connecticut River, by which passengers can reach New York on one day from Rouse's Point—the western terminus of the Ogdensburgh Railroad.

A new and completed route is now open to the Travelling Public, by which passengers destined to Boston or New York or Montreal, can have an opportunity of passing through a section of the country, heretofore shut out from the Traveller for want of proper Railway connection from Lake Ontario to the sea-board. This connection is now formed by the completion of the Ogdensburgh Railroad, (115 miles), and two lines of Boats from Lake Champlain to New York and Boston. (For a more particular description of all these routes, see advertisement in another column.)

As a new Route to and from Montreal, and from Canada West to Boston and New York, the Ogdensburgh Railroad and its connections, presents many objects of interest to Canadians at this time, more especially to those who are interested in the movements now making to give Canada West the advantages arising from a carefully arranged system of Railway communication between Lake Huron, Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and the Atlantic Cities of the United States.

By taking the steamers at Hamilton, Toronto, and the Canadian Ports on Lake Ontario, passengers can be conveyed to Kingston, Brought to on Prescott. At Kingston, the United States Steamers touch on route to Ogdensburgh, connecting with the British Line from Hamilton. A Ferry Boat plies between Prescott and Ogdensburgh daily.

Travellers desirous of examining the method of constructing Railways in the United States, can have an opportunity by taking the Boats arriving at Ogdensburgh in the evening, of viewing the Ogdensburgh Station Grounds (40 acres in extent), the Dock, 4,100 feet in length; the large Passenger and Freight Houses, the Grain Warehouse and Steam Elevator now in progress of construction; the Engine Houses and Machine Shops, and have in the 10 o'clock, A. M. Train, which arrives at Rouse's Point, for dinner at 3 o'clock, P. M. The Steamboats bound north, to Montreal from Rouse's Point, take their passengers at 7 o'clock, P. M.; thus giving Travellers four hours to examine the vast establishment (300 feet long by 104 feet wide, built on a pier in Lake Champlain) the Machine Shops, Car Houses, Engine Houses and the Bridge, now constructing on the Vermont and New York side of the Lake.

The 8 o'clock, P. M., Train will always wait for the evening Boats from Kingston.

Parties on pleasure, during the summer months, after visiting the Falls of Niagara and the Suspension Bridge, if proceeding to Boston or New York, will view some of the most magnificent Mountain, Lake and River Scenery in any part of America, when from Ogdensburgh passing through Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, the Valley of the Connecticut River, and the River Hudson.

The Ogdensburgh Railroad Company, anticipating the being the great Channel to the Atlantic Sea-Board for Canada West, on the most direct, expeditious and economical, invite the attention of all interested in the Commercial and General prosperity of the important centres of the British North American Colonies, to an early and careful examination of all the facilities offered by the Road and its connections, when it will be found that these have in view the most rapid and favorable channels through which to develope the Canadian trade.
