PARTIES at Woodstock are arranging to place a sufficient number of building lots on the market to provide, with their sale, for a bonus to secure the location of a factory in that city. They are determined to get into the swim, and we commend their pluck, cordially wishing them the very best of success.

A COSTUMER from Chicago, will be at the McHenry House, on Monday morning, Feb. 13th, with a variety of Costumes, Masks, etc., and all those who wish can select in advance and be ready for the Party in the evening. Remember the Social Party and Masquerade will be in the evening, and those who desire to mask should select their costumes early.

A. C. MATTHEWS has bought out Lamphere's Meat Market, in Nichole' Block and is now prepared to furnish Fresh and Salt Meats of all kinds, Sausage, etc., of the best quality to be found in the country. By keeping a neat and tasty Market, and strict attention to business he hopes to merit and rec-ive a liberal share of public patronage. We predict for him a good trade.

EVERYTHING about the World's Fair to date is magnificently illustrated in the Exposition Graphic, of Chicago. Number 3 of the great series is just out, and consists of 52 large pages, with colored supplement. Fine views of the principal buildings are given, portraits of officers, illustrations of the dedication ceremonies in October last, including an imposing double-page engraving showing the ceremonies in the colossal Manu factures Building, with the largest audience under one roof in the history of the world. The number also contains fine representations of the principal groups of statuary and views of nearly all the State buildings. This number and the preceedings two in the series may be obtained of any newsdealer, or by address. ing the Graphic Company, Chicago. Price 50 cents per copy.

Our citizens were treated on Saturday evening last to one of the finest entertainments that they have had a chance for only ten cents. Send to The Home. Mra Pilcher h clear, strong voice, which shows culture in the highest degree, while her selections were well chosen, being of that character to please all. The quartette was in McHenry Post Office to Feb. 1st 1893. Mr. D. M. Smith, A. H. Rhodes, Mr. Fred Peterson, Heinrich Rapping, Al unexceptionably good, and in their last piece brought down the house. We have heard the hope expressed by many that Mrs. Pilcher might be prevailed upon to give another entertainment at no distant day.

Following is a new form of advertising for a girl: Wanted-At No. 4 Grant boulevard, a girl for general housework. Whether the girl knows anything about the business or not the highest wages will be paid. But three people in the family, no children. Washing will be sent out. The girl will be expected only to take care of her own room: she will be allowed three afternoons out per week, and company cach evening until midnight when not out herself. No. 4 is but two blocks from the business part of the city, and has all modern conveniences; brass band can be heard and processions seen from the back porch Address.

P. S. If the family should be consid ered too numerous, any of them can be killed.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for

Emile Zola's thrilling and dramati

story of the Franco-Prussian war, enti-tled "The Storming of the Mill" is pub-lished complete, with illustrations, in the February number of Frank Leelie's Poprebreary number of Frank Leslie's Pop-ular Monthly. This tale is a revelation to readers who have hitherto had the misfortune to know the great French novelist only through that sinister and seamy part of his work represented by "Nana" and "Germinal." The leading article of this number of Frank Leslie's is a vivid historical paper upon "The Continental Congress," by Richard B. Kimeran author says, "the inauguration of the World's Fair at Chicago recalls irre-sistably, by contrast, the scene at Philadelphia, where, in 1774 a small body of men chosen from each of the 'thirteen colonies' met to unite in resistanc against Great Britain." The mainly artistic feature of the number is th superbly illustrated article on "Corsica" by Frank Barrett; and the literary papers are A Oakley Hall's "Romance of St. John's Gate, London," and Henry Tyrrell's sketch of Renan. Cecil Charles writes interestingly of "The Evolution of Districts interestingly of The Evolution of ball, LL. D. It has a timely as well as an intrinsic interest, because as the vereran author says, "the inauguration of Miss Millie Lawson was agreeably surprised by a double score of her young iriends, on Friday evening last, when about 8 P. M. two loads of jolly boys and girls landed at the gate and sought out the object of their visit. As usual, when guests go there, they reported a pleasant evening's entertainment. There are many people who never think of entertaining a party of young folks unless they expect to use them for some part of a scheme to raise money for some cause They have neither devotion for nor re spect enough to support with their own neans, but Mr. Lawson's folks are not of them. They give parties or allow some young friend to invite a party of friends for the purpose of making it pleasant for those invited, and their reward is the re-spect and confidence of our young folke. Delegate Caine's Joke. During the last campaign Delegate John T. Caine of Utah went over into Wyoming to preach Democracy to the people. There are a large number of migrants from Utah in the latter state. and Mr. Caine thought it would be good politics to talk to them. While thus campaigning he met Senator Warren, who gently reproved him for trespassing.

"If you come over here again, I will have to kill you," said Senator Warren laughingly. 'That's all right," replied the delegate, "but you must remember that in the matter of killing the Caines have always had the best of it." And the senator could not answer word.—Washington Post. The Cost of a Steamer's Anchor.

The French line steamer La Gascogne left for Havre without the port anchor and cable which she lost off the quarantine boarding station. A wrecking boat chartered at $50 a day succeeded in locating the anchor, but the grappling chains parted and it was lost again. The Gascogne had to get a new anchor and cable at an expense of nearly $5,000.—New York Mail and Express.
