Without attention to these general rules, no communications can be inserted.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The expense of advertising in a Daily Paper is very much greater than that of advertising in a Weekly or Semi-Weekly; it can, however, be easily lessened by previous agreement; but in order to render this advantageous, it is imperatively necessary to pay cash for other accounts as they are handed in. In no single case will any abatement of the advertising tariff be allowed, unless pre-payment is made.

 Notices of Meetings, Sales and Funerals, invariably charged.

To Our Advertising Friends.

Our advertising friends should confer an additional obligation by handing their favours as early as from ten to twelve; as compositors will occasionally come when announcements are sent at a late hour at night, for insertion next morning.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 7, 1851.

THE STEAMER ADMIRAL.

We publish below the resolutions passed by the passengers of the Admiral on her late unfortunate trip. The expression of confidence in Capt. Kerr is nicely merited, and will be readily responded to by the travelling public generally.

The second resolution, which is calculated to cast censure upon Mr. Bethune and the managers of the line to which the Admiral belongs, was probably drawn under a misapprehension, and it is proper that an explanation should go forth to the public with the resolution. The facts are briefly as follows: As soon as practicable after the non-arrival of the Admiral at Rochester, on Friday, Mr Darling, the Agent there, telegraphed to Toronto to ascertain her whereabouts, but owing to the disarrangement of the wires of the Canada line, the message was delayed several hours. When a communication had been established and all the facts relating to the sailing of the steamer from Cobourg at her proper time were understood, Mr. Bethune procured a crew for the steamer America, then lying up at Toronto, and despatched her while the gale yet prevailed in search of the Admiral, and while these resolutions were being passed, that hardly seaman and gentleman Capt. Tayloe was cruising about the foot of the Lake with the America in quest of the missing steamer. Capt Taylor, to his credit be it said, left his own vessel, then lying in safety at Toronto, to second the efforts of Mr. Bethune for the rescue of the passengers of the Admiral. That he did not find them before the brig Saxon was not his fault.

A despatch arrived at Toronto to the effect that the Admiral was ashore at Long Point. Mr Bethune promptly despatched the Prospect thither. That gentleman certainly did all in his power to relieve the disabled steamer.

Mr Darling, the Agent at Rochester, had no steamer at his disposal to go after the Admiral, but he sent despatches to all points on the Lake where a lookout could be kept for information as to her whereabouts, or assistance rendered. With this explanation we insert the resolutions of the Passengers.

At a meeting of the passengers on board the steamer Admiral, October 27, 1851, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we, the passengers on board the Steamer Admiral, in her unfortunate trip from Toronto to Rochester on Thursday October 23d, 1851, do hereby beg to express our personal obligations, under Almighty God, to Capt. Robt. Kerr, for his watchful vigilance and unremitting attention to his duties as Commander, after the unfortunate accident which disabled the machinery of the vessel, and rendered her completely unmanageable. We also express our confidence in his competency and skill as the position he filled, and justly fix his unwearied efforts to render the passengers as comfortable as he possibly could during the period of four days in which we have been drifting on the waters of the Lake.

Resolved, That while we hope there may have been some blame put home by the owners of the Admiral, in order if possible, for safety of the lives, and the lives of the passengers and crew, we cannot but express our surprise that we should have been floating for four days, without the intervention of some steamer to afford assistance.

Resolved, That we also testify to the prompt efforts put forth by the commanders of schooners Antelope, Norfolk and Caledonia, and the brig Saxon, to render us help under our distressable circumstances on the fourth day after our disaster.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to Mr. Bethune and the owners, the Admiral, with a request that they may further such explanations as may exculpate them if possible from blame.

WM. CLARK, Chairman.

JOHN DUNLAP, Sec'y.

☞ Dr. Cadwell.—This very celebrated Oculist and Aurist, whose arrival in Kingston has been anxiously expected for the past ten days, has come at last and taken rooms at the British American Hotel, with the intention of remaining there two or three weeks. Dr. Cadwell is so well known in both the provinces of Canada, that he needs little eulogy from us. He is a regularly educated medical man, a Graduate of the University of Philadelphia, with a Provincial License to practice in Canada; who having for many years made the diseases of the Eye and Ear his particular study, has acquired both skill and reputation. His permanent residence is in Toronto; but every autumn he makes short excursions to the neighboring cities, and this fall, at the solicitations of many invalids, he has resorted to Kingston. Knowing Dr. Cadwell well, we confidently recommend him to the public:—many diseases of the Eye and Ear are wholly incurable; those persons then affected, as a matter of course, can derive no benefit from visiting Dr. Cadwell; but others not permanently injured, will do well to take advantage of his limited stay in this vicinity.

☞ The Circulation of the Daily British Whig.—The whereabouts of a missing bundle of Scythes was discovered in the town of Peterborough, from a single insertion of an advertisement out in the Daily British Whig, after the missing article had been advertised in three local papers. The fact is, everybody reads the British Whig, whether Daily or Weekly, and as they both go all over Canada, they are unquestionably the very best medium for advertising extant. Independently of every house in Kingston and its immediate vicinity being supplied with a copy, upwards of Two Hundred copies of the Daily British Whig go out into the country by the seven Mails. Considering that Kingston is not the metropolis of Canada, nor its chief commercial town, and consequently is not capable of furnishing the earliest or most important intelligence, this is speaking whole libraries!

Progress of Temperance.—Mr. Gough has within these few days past, delivered three lectures on Temperance in the City of Kingston, and as a tangible result of his labors, 400 persons have enrolled themselves under his standard.—Globe.

Note.—The Globe does not speak the truth. Gough delivered only two lectures in Kingston, at which not a tithe of 400 persons took the pledge. Gough was to have delivered a third lecture last Monday night; but he backed out of it. The American Boat not arriving on Monday or Tuesday, from Sacket's Harbor, whither the mountebank had gone to pick up the coppers, his absence was considered unavoidable; but the Wednesday's steamer arriving without him, some other reason must be assigned for his non-appearance; considering that he is posted up to deliver lectures at Picton, Belleville and other places during the present week. Those who know the habits of the fellow will probably account for his being not overanxious. All we know is that had he lectured in Kingston on Monday last, he would have been asked a few questions, and had those questions not been answered satisfactorily to a very determined audience, in all probability some row or riot would have taken place. It is a great pity that the cause of Temperance has such an advocate. All that the United States newspapers say of him may not be true; but sufficient doubtless is correct, to render him a very unfit person to lecture to the wives and daughters of Canadians.

☞ Messrs. Torry and Clarke of Montreal, have some Sherry, of the Amontillado brand, of very fine quality. We are informed that connoisseurs and dealers will find this Wine well worthy a trial.—See Advertisement.

☞ Parliament is prorogued till the 17th of November, not for the despatch of business.

SALE OF GATES ON KINGSTON AND NAPANEE MACADAMIZED ROAD,

For One Year, from the 11th November, 1851, to 11th November, 1852:

No. 1.—William Ross,	£831.
" 2.—Frederick Perse,	350.
" 3.—James Allen,	89.
" 4.—Duncan Van Abbine,	126.
" 5.—John M. File,	111.
Total Amount,	£1707.

☞ Sale or Steam, &c., coming from Halifax.—The sale of the advertised would have taken place early this week, but the Jordan which has the goods on board, has been lying several days at Lachine, for want of a Government steam tug. Thursday may cause much loss to the owner of the goods, who has requested us to draw the attention of the public towards the fact.

City of Hamilton.—We are sincerely happy to observe that S. B. Freeman, Esq., Clerk of the Peace for the united counties of Wentworth and Halton, has been called on by the Reformers of Hamilton to offer as their Candidate at the approaching election, and that he has consented. Mr. Freeman gives up £300 a year ere he can become a Candidate, which speaks volumes as to his prospects of success. He will make an efficient member of Parliament and unless we are very much mistaken, will by this step greatly advance his professional position ere many years revolve.

Cheap Nuts.—The Rochester Advertiser says that they are at present threshing the nuts of that city, a trace or two of "dry goods," vending what they assert to be extensive silk patterns for ladies' dresses. They are from the "old country," the vendors say, got here short of money, and therefore compelled to sell a few dozen patterns which they brought with them, to get means to prosecute their journey. The story hold's the nuts—the silk is counterfeit, and not the article it purports to be, and we advise the ladies to have nothing to do with these vendors of preposterously cheap articles. A laughable circumstance of such a purchase occurred less than a week ago at Batavia. An old merchant of that place, on going home to his one evening, was met by his wife with an unusually beaming countenance, who joyously showed him a cheap silk dress pattern, bought of a pedler that afternoon. On examination it turned out that the cheap pattern was one which the merchant had sold to a man's first wife previous for three dollars less than his wife had bought it back for!

Mr. Thomas Baldwin, trader, residing at Kemptville, Canada West, suddenly fell down in McGill street on Saturday evening last, and immediately expired. D coroner was considered a person of very correct habits, and it is supposed his sudden death was consequent on a disease of the heart. We learn that his body was forward to his bereaved family.

Mrs. Swisshelm on the Bloomer Costume.—As to leading forces and questions, it is not so important a part of women's daily vocations that they need dress with special reference to that exercise. Even in one of these gymnastic performances, we should feel much less doubt about getting our shirts with us than a pair of trousers—feel less dread of being tripped by the former than the latter; and most assuredly should run less risk of exposure. We will admit that of women, were once accustomed to their new dress, they would find it easier to plough and harrow, climb ladders and carry hods, fell trees, lay brick and plane boards in it than in the present dress, but we deny the necessity of properly fitting such occupations.

All feminine labor can be performed in the womanly dress, and just let the men do their own work and wear their own trousers. It is suitable that a laboring man, a mechanic, a merchant, or any one engaged in out-door employments, among hogs and horses and bales of goods, and often called into crowds, should be dressed as like a skim'd eel as possible; but women are of sufficient importance in the world to get room in it, not only for themselves, but for their clothes.

In particular cases of necessity, when one is forced into an occupation were velvet-as drapery is convenient, let her cut it as much as is consistent with the dignity and decency and wants of her sex; but it would be a desperate case, like that of a country doctor riding on horseback in a winter storm, to visit a patient, that will justify the assumption of pantaloons, and even then they should be covered to the ankle with skirts, and taken off as soon as possible. There is something unnatural, revolting, in the idea of a woman getting into a pair of trousers, even alone in the dark; and if we were Queen Victoria's doctor we would shed her in the foot to keep her from thinking about them, her consciousness in short stock and pantaloons, like a great, awkwy school girl.

☞ The following is set down as the estimate of the religious persuasion of those who hold Slaves in the United States:—

The Methodists, one	219,362
Presbyterians, Old and New School	77,000
Baptists	125,000
Campbellites	101,000
Episcopalians	85,000
Allow for the other denominations	55,000
	663,362

The latter number, of course, includes the Catholics.

It becomes our painful duty to record the death of Adam McKay, M. D. He had been unwell for a year or two past, and on a visit that his wife, with the whole and youngest of his family, a daughter and son, should go home to Dryden, in New York, where his father lives, Dr. McKay sent a horse to his husband, who met the visit of the ex. Lawrence, on her way home, which reached the Victoria Post Office the day on which the bequest was held. The Coroner's Jury were of opinion that his death was caused by voluntarily taking poisonous medicine under the influence of temporary mental derangement. Dr. McKay was a native of Vittoria. He had not completed the 33d year of his age.—Hamilton Gazette.

A WARNING TO CONSTABLES.

Hamilton, 31st Oct.

Before the Police Magistrate, David White (constable,) was charged with (at a unusual time of charge) on a Landlord's Warrant against William Dixon, and in favor of Joseph Lister, Esq., by which he levied, took and recovered the sum of £7 8 9 more than he was authorized to do according to Law.—For which he was adjudged to forfeit and pay the sum of £22 6 3, being three times the amount of over charge—and five shillings cost, in all making £23 11 3.

Remedial Legislation Committee.—This important and influential business is at length closed, and the report has been sent in to Government. The law declared that the report should be finished by the 1st September, 1851; every sitting of the Commissioners since then has, consequently, been illegal. The sanction of Parliament will, therefore, be required to give effect to their proceedings.—Mon. Gazette.

Police Magistrate,

Appointed Justice of the Peace for the Eastern Ward.

Wednesday, Nov 5th.

Mary Hogan was charged with stealing three brushes from the Kitchen of Hiram Corbiship two years, Chief Constable Robin took her to the Station House last evening having found her upon the steps and found the brushes in her possession. This morning Mr. Hill's man went to the Police to give information and found the brushes there before him—she committed.

Charles Demaine an old and well known offender (rather strangely acquitted at the last Recorder's court) was charged with having stolen a vest worth $2, a plane and a rule, the property of Charles Wacker and a square belonging to Robt Rutherford from the premises of Jas. T. W. McIvor on the night of Friday last. The prisoner was arrested about twenty miles below Gananoque by Constable Manning and Byrnes who dexterously succeeded in keeping track of him and seized him when within a short distance of the ferry to which he was making. He had sold all the articles about Gananoque, the violin for 7s 6d; they were all recovered and fully proved. The prisoner gave a most disjointed account of his possession of them.—When arrested he had a new kit of Cooper's tools which he had stolen from a person in Gananoque; he had a no about a dozen keys of various kinds most of them fitted for opening desks or rolling tops, his name of Inquisitorem and Acquisitorem being remarkably active.
