DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Do not deceive! Remember SETH W. FOWLE, Boston, Mass. is the origin and proprietor of the original recipe for the manufacture of the original and only genuine

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

This article was originally prepared by WILLIAMS & CO., of Philadelphia. Now that the preparation is so well known, that there are imitations and spurious ones, and perhaps poisonous compounds, and up to quite a recent date the GENUINE BALSAM. We need no false shows. We address the public of the whole, that there is no other one but the Wistar, and the seven years of its very just rights.

A very important disease now which this Balsam has proved a very powerful effective, is that of DISEASED LIVER. In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more effective than any other remedy heretofore employed, and in numerous instances it has rapidly and entirely cured and restored to health, from the danger, without recourse to the best remedies from various quarters, and which MERCURY has been employed in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the LIVER to a healthy action, and in many instances it has proved permanently cured; other very known remedies had failed to produce this desired effect.

Be careful, and see that what you buy has the SIGNATURE of I. BUTTS.

For sale by E. W. Palmer, Market Square, Kingston.

TO THE

Electors of the County of FRONTENAC.

GENTLEMEN—

I received a requisition from the Freeholders of your County, numerously and differentially signed, soliciting me to become a Candidate.

A mistrust on my part, arising out of personal consideration, to become a Candidate for any constituency, and, in red, an aversion to fire the storm of public life, have greatly stood in the way of my accedinc to the call. However, the presentation of that requisition, and the urgent and contin and requests of men, whose character and views I highly appreciate, have imposed upon me the obligation of declining, and that at once. I have considered the matter maturely, deeply, and thoughtfully, and at last find myself constrained to waive all considerations, and to place my services and abilities in your hands, at your disposal.

Being not committed to the coming contest, I am bound to cooperate with you in all proceedings necessary to secure the end in view.

In the prosecution of this contest let each and all of us act with moderation and good nature like men who sincerely desire to serve the sacred cause of truth and public freedom, based upon the constitutional rights of the people, and those civil and religious liberties which are so dear to the heart of every Briton. I view the duties of a Member of Parliament as of an ordinary character; but responsibility is great; the importance of his duties vast. The man who receives the suffrages of a people should spare no pains, omit no exertions, or fear no danger, in the cause of the people and good government.

I am of opinion that it is the interest of all classes to maintain the free constitution of this Province in its integrity, and to send men to Parliament who will see that it is worked out honestly and faithfully, for the benefit of the people, and not for the interest of a class or a privileged few.

Civil and religious liberty will find in me, as it has always found, a devoted friend and defender, whenever.

Perfect equality of civil and religious rights and privileges may be hoped upon as the cornerstone of the constitution, the birthright of every Canadian. In Parliament or out of Parliament I will maintain the principle at every hazard.

Religious liberty is the foundation of all improvement, national prosperity or true greatness; it underlies the efforts of the humanitarian, and public benefactor, wealth and a well-ordered and pure morality and other blessings. It is true that instances have not rarely occurred the intrusion of sectarian bigotry, but such bigotry is to be deem. Every effort should be made to secure the highest consideration for the production of the country. Every encouragement which the state can command should be freely and fairly extended to the farmer.

The construction of Railroads, and other improvements which will only remove in a relative point related to, it is to the interests of the country, which, by production, by enhancing the value of farm and property, and the expense of transportation. I am ready to support such works of utility, but I would fain that the interest of such shall be the first consideration, and that no additional burden shall be laid on the industry of the people.

The national achievements of the Arts and mechanical skill, aided by the light of Science and inventive genius, may be looked upon as the peculiar glory of the present age. In fostering of Science, the promotion of the liberal and humanizing Legislation, encouragement ought to be warmly supported by every, in a country under the sun which is [illegible] a Bill for the sale of the art and the resources of the area of science than this magnificent Province.

The common sense of all men points out the necessity of introducing and equalizing the Representation of the people in Parliament. It is not proportionate, and not adapted that the three towns of Cornwall, with a population of 4,500, should have the privilege of returning one member, while the five counties of Frontenac, with a population of over 15,000, have only the same privilege! Such a state of things should not be tolerated. By an increase of representation there would be three members returned for every year. Now I am ready to support a compromise measure for increasing the Provincial representation.

Popular education should be among the first objects of a free Government. A comprehensive system of cheap education must be of immense interest to any country. By the free use of public moneys will be imparted, comes improved, more prosperous, more property more secure, and the character of the country elevated at home and abroad. I am of opinion that in this respect much be made in our present system of provision, [illegible] for common school purposes. The utility of the present system of taxation for school purposes is not clear to me, and, if it is possible, should a proper equity be instituted, that it would be found out that funds among those who receive none of little or no use, or squandered for purposes of no public utility, might, with great advantage, be appropriated to the wide purposes of education. This is a subject above all others in which I feel a deep and vital interest. I trust the day is not distant when the humble cottager and the poorest man in the remotest township of our Province will have an opportunity of giving a cheap, practical education to his children. Such a consummation can be accomplished, but not until men of patriotic minds, and liberal and enlightened views, are used to Parliament.

Should I have the honor of being your Representative, my exertions, humble as they are, will be honestly and zealously exerted to promote such public measures as will contribute to the substantial interests of the County of Frontenac, and the prosperity and happiness of the Province at large. I will endeavor to visit every Township in the County without delay, when I will explain my views fully upon the various public questions of the day.

I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,

Your faithful servant,

KENNETH McKENZIE.

Another Leaving Witness of the Medicinal and Natural Medicines, from CAPTAIN McWATTERS.

I WISH to inform the Public, for the good of the afflicted, that I was very much troubled with a cough and affectation of my lungs, a cough which harassed me night and day. I spared no expense in order to get rid of it, but was unable to find a cure, so I was advised to go to DR. LANATER'S, of Kingston, where I got his Medicines. It took but a short time, and little cost, and I could with a clear conscience recommend it to all.
