NEWS OF THE DAY.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 2, 1868.

BODY OF AN INFANT FOUND—CORONER'S INQUEST.—The dead body of an infant, apparently about four days old, was found on Saturday morning about eight o'clock, on the corner of Earl and Gordon Streets, in the corner of the fence adjoining the board walk. An Inquest was held on the afternoon of the same day before Mr. Coroner Shaw, when the evidence of Dr. Sullivan went to show that the child was born alive, and that death had ensued from exposure; that it was about three or four days old and had never received any nourishment. The body was first discovered by Miss Bennett, a resident of Earl Street, and was lying in a bundle of flannel frozen in a nook of the fence, as before stated. No evidence was produced to show who was the unnatural mother of the child, and the Jury accordingly returned a verdict of "Found Dead."

Another case of the same kind is reported to have taken place in Pittsburg a few days ago. Two farmers were returning home from town, when one of them discovered a bundle lying on the road, and on looking into it, found it to contain an infant still alive. He took the child in his arms, and proceeded to the nearest house where it was properly cared for until the farmer took it home and adopted it. It is now quite hale and hearty.

Death of Mr. Richard O'Reilly, Registrar of Nipissing.

It is with unfeigned regret we announce the death of the above named estimable gentleman, son of our old friend Peter O'Reilly, Esq., of this city. His Remains were brought to Kingston from Pembroke, where he died, on Friday evening last, and were interred in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. A Requiem Mass will be said for him at St. Mary's Cathedral on Wednesday morning next, at 8 o'clock, by His Lordship the Bishop of Kingston.

POLICE COURT, Saturday.—John Taylor, up on the charge of being a vagrant, was sent to gaol for 30 days. Andrew McDonald, charged with the same offence, was sent to the House of Industry, as he was lame and unable to work. Mary Dillon, up on her old charge, and by her own request, was sent to gaol for 30 days. One drunk was fined $2. Mr. A. Livingston preferred a charge against Alex. Dean of trading a horse to him under a pretence that the horse was sound, which afterwards proved not to be the case. After several witnesses had been examined, all of whom stated that he had represented the animal to be sound, the parties agreed to exchange back, and the Magistrate dismissed the case.

Considerable excitement exists at Victoria from reports that the Fenians intend to make a raid on British Columbia. Admiral Hastings has deemed it prudent to take immediate precautionary steps. The banking houses are also active in securing themselves against the threatening danger.

Yesterday was another of those fine days which have been so rare this season.

The debate on the college grants in the Assembly, on Tuesday last, was not so long nor so interesting as might be expected, the statement of the government, that after the present estimates had passed it would not be lawful to grant any money to sectarian colleges, having disarmed discussion as to the future maintainance of these colleges. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Beattie, Clarke, Cumberland, Lauder, Rykert and others.

The St. John News pronounces basely false the telegram sent to Toronto which announced that the Mayor of Halifax had reported no more money was needed for relief of distressed fishermen in Nova Scotia.

Late advices from the San Francisco coast state that the winter has been the severest since 1843. Great numbers of horses, sheep and cattle are dying from disease.

A movement is on foot to start a cotton factory in the village of Newburgh, the splendid new building lately erected by D. Hooper, Esq., to be used for the purpose.

Another accident has occurred through jumping on the cars while in motion. At Bowmanville station, on Thursday, a young man named Nichols, a news-dealer from Hamilton, slipped and fell under the wheels, and had his arm mangled in a shocking manner. He retained his hold of the railing on the steps of the car, and was dragged a considerable distance before he could be extricated.

London, Feb. 27.

The Warwick Assizes opened today. Justice Smith delivered a strong charge to the Grand Jury, in which he particularly specified the offences charged against Burke and the other Fenian prisoners, and declared "this was the proper Court for the trial of those men; the alleged offences having been committed in Birmingham."

The Bow street magistrates refuse to issue a warrant for the arrest of Eyre, ex-Governor of Jamaica, on a charge of murder.

It is thought in some quarters that Mr. G. W. Hunt, now under Secretary of the Treasury, will be appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Dublin, Feb. 27.

The Assizes at Sligo opened to-day. The day for trial of General Neagle has not yet fixed. G. F. Train was present at the commencement of the proceedings.

London, Feb. 27.

Sir William Page Wood, now Vice-Chancellor, will probably succeed Sir Hugh Cairns as Lord Justice of Appeal. It is said Mr. Spencer H. Walpole will retire.

WARNINGS OF SICKNESS.

Disease, like the rattlesnake, generally gives warning before it strikes. Pain in the side and between the shoulders, indicates an approaching bilious attack. Avert it by taking without delay, a dose of Radway's Regulating Pills. Persons predisposed to Biliousness will save themselves much suffering by implicitly following this advice.

The People of Kingston ARE SAFE.

IT'S of the highest importance to any city or community to have permanently located amongst them a person who continually watches their interests and never loses sight of his own. For instance, yesterday a Tremendous Snow Storm. No cars, perhaps, can move on the railroad for weeks. But the inhabitants of Kingston are safe.
