It is asserted that there is more joy in a printing office over one sinner who pays in advance and abuses the editor on every occasion, than over the ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing his praises without contributing a cent to keep him out of the poor house. Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth, and obtain the material for fencing it in on time.

NEWSPAPER men are blamed with a lot of things they can't help, such as partiality in mentioning visitors, publishing news about some folks and leaving out others, etc. This is undoubtedly true, but the newspaper man simply prints news he can find out. Some people inform him about such things and others do not. Some things he finds out himself and others he don't. Newspaper men are always glad to find out the news.—Ex.

ALBERT SNOW, Post Master.

JOHN EVANSON and James Laughlin, of this village, have purchased the State Line Factory, near Harvard, and will immediately put in a new boiler, new machinery, make a general improvement and put the factory in first class shape throughout. Mr. EVANSON has been connected with several factories in this county for the past fifteen years, and is well and favorably known to the trade. Mr. Laughlin is a practical buttermaker, understanding the business in all its branches, and we congratulate the patrons of the State Line Factory that it has fallen into such good and reliable hands. The patrons can rest assured of a square and honest deal.

A MAN steals a horse, sells it to an innocent party, who buys it in good faith. The owner comes, takes away his horse and the man who has bought it is closer to the extent of the purchase price. A knave procures a farmer's signature to a paper purporting to be an agency contract for the sale of some machine. By tearing off a part of it the remainder with the signature becomes a promissory note. Rascal number one sells it to rascal number two and the latter sues to recover. The courts decide that the farmer must pay the "innocent" holder of the fraud tainted paper. Is there anything out of joint in these cases? It looks so.

DANCING SCHOOL.

Prof. Tilden, who for sixteen years has devoted his time to the art of dancing, and for three years held the position of head instructor in three largest dancing academies in the west, will open a class at Riverside Hall, Thursday, Nov. 15th, after which the class will meet on Wednesday nights. He will teach all the latest dances taught by the society of Professors of Dancing, including the German. All who wish to join his class must do so Nov. 15, or send your names in to J. I. Story, proprietor Riverside House, on or before Thursday of next week, as no tickets will be sold after Nov. 15. Terms for 12 lessons: Ladies, $5. Gents, $6. Payable in advance, as follows: Ladies $3 and Gents $4, the balance of $2 to be paid at the closing of the half term, Dec. 19. Private lessons given by appointment. He will give two or three extra parties during the season for the benefit of his class. Remember the first lesson is most important of all.

EDWARD SUTTON was exhibiting a colt on our streets to-day that is something to brag of. He was sired by the Percheron stallion "San Salvador," is only five months old and weighs 700 pounds. His dam is a grade and weighs about 1,300. This is only one of many colts from "San Salvador" to be seen in this section, as he is proving himself one of the best producers of draft horses ever in this country. His colts are not only large but clean limbed and rangy. Mr. Sutton challenges any one to produce five colts of the same age that will beat five he can produce from this horse. Lovers of fine horses should call and see this colt.

AN EARLY IRONCLAD.

It was built to Break Through the Spanish Lines.

The idea of protected ships, such as the modern men-of-war, is by no means an absolutely new one. This is proved, says the Western Mail, of Cardiff, by the fact that an armored vessel was constructed, though crudely, of course, as far back as 1858, by a shipwright of Antwerp during the war between the Spaniards and the Dutch. In the summer of 1858 Antwerp was invaded by the Spaniards both by land and water, and the people of Antwerp built the first protected ship on record in an attempt to break through the line of batteries in the river. It was a craft of unusual size, with flat bottom, its sides armed with iron plates fastened into great beams of wood. When finished the builders thought it a floating castle, impregnable to the artillery and missiles of those days, which should crush all opposition, as it contained a great number of men, some of whom were placed like sharpshooters in the tops of the masts, and the rest protected by the bulwarks.

They were so confident that the craft would rout the enemy that they called it "Finis Belli," thinking it no doubt would put an end to the war. Unfortunately, however, the early ironclad proved a disastrous failure, getting stuck upon a bank of the Scheldt after a very short and unhappy career. The Spaniards were greatly amused with the untimely end of the vessel, while the brave burghers of Antwerp changed the name from "Finis Belli" to "Ferdito Expensal," or "Money Thrown Away." The crew then deserted the ship, and the Spaniards, after defeating the Netherlands in a naval battle, carried the monster in triumph to the camp of Alexander, of Parma, where it became one of the sights of the times. The city of Antwerp was taken August 17, 1858, and so the first ironclad on record came to an unfortunate end.

CROWN PRINCES PRESENT.

Those of England, Russia and Austria Dancing at the same Ball.

It is not often that the heirs to three of the world's most powerful empires are dancing at the same ball, so a quadrille d'honneur at Buckingham palace the other night was a memorable occasion, says London Figaro. The prince of Wales and crown prince of Russia and Austria were footing it together, and subsequently the Austrian archduke and the czarowitz were noticed waltzing with their backs almost touching each other. The heir of the czar is very fond of dancing, a taste which is shared to the full by his betrothed, Princess Alix of Hesse. The Austrian prince is inclined to be awkward, and managed to entangle his partner with disastrous consequence to the gown of Princess Louise of Battenberg. He is described as a taciturn young man and rather inclined to be morose. During his visit to England he avoided all the society he could and really only went to court because he could not very well stay away. At the state ball he managed to wander to a comparatively obscure corner, where the two royal gentlemen doubtless consoled each other with anecdotes. Another prize to whom the Austrian prince is said to be a royal highness from Siam, whom he delighted by addressing in a few words picked up by the archduke while in Bangkok.

JAP WOMAN TOOK COREA.

Empress Jingu Conquered the Country and Won Respecting Honors.

It is to a woman that Japan owes her claim to Corea and to the naval supremacy of the eastern world. The first naval expedition which made Japan's arms to shine beyond the seas, was the chronicles of the day so proudly wrote, was planned and conducted by a woman, Empress Jingu, and it was directed against Corea. Empress Jingu, according to the Japanese chronicles, was young and beautiful and as pious and obedient to the gods as beautiful. As a reward for her fidelity Heaven inspired her with determination to conquer Corea. So Jingu, ordering a fleet to be collected, set out in 201 A. D. upon Japan's first naval expedition. The empress won a rich reward for her courage and energy, and Corea became tributary to Japan. Immediately upon her return a child was born to the empress, who, when he grew up, became a great warrior, and is now worshipped under the name of Hachiman, god of war. In later times it became the fashion to attribute the Korean victory to the influence of the unborn child. After Japan there are temples erected in honor of both Hachiman and Jingu, and as late as 1874, when the Japanese troops lay for Formosa, many of them prayed for the special protection of Hachiman, god of soldiers.

BURMESE DACOITS.

A Lawyer Mistakes for One and Fired Upon at Rangoon.

The excitement among the English in Birma over the robbers and murderers, they all dacoits may be imagined from the following, says the Rangoon Times:

A Mr. Birch, an advocate, was going in the evening in a sampan with a Eurasian clerk. Suddenly another boat with natives in it drew near and halted. Neither Mr. Birch nor his clerk nor the boatman, who was from Chittagong, could understand much Burmese, and, fearing dacoity, he made signs to his boatman to pull as fast as he could. The other boat immediately opened fire and Mr. Birch was hit in the thigh. Mr. Birch, being armed with a Deringer, returned the shot and a pretty sharp duel began. A police boat eventually arrived and the thing was stopped. It turned out that the natives were not dacoits, but an anti-dacoit patrol, who opened fire on Mr. Birch's party because their challenge was not duly answered. The Rangoon Times questions whether, in the present unsettled state of feeling, the attack on a European was purely a mistake.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Trial bottles free at G. W. Beasley's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.
