To-morrow, at the Polls, will be submitted to the people of Kingston, a very momentous question. It cannot make much difference whether Mr Breden or Mr. Robinson should sit in the Legislative Assembly at Toronto, for they both are respectable men, except that good old Kingston would be dishonoured by having a Clear Grit to represent it, but it matters greatly to them, as citizens of Kingston desirous of the prosperity of their city. In sending Mr. Breden to Parliament they send a gentleman high in the confidence of the Government, both at Ottawa as well as at Toronto; a tried man, and one in whom confidence can implicitly be placed. They send a man who is giving his whole support to an honest Government, is in a position to ask for and remember the rights of the place he sits for. Not merely on the Railroad question will he, by his vote, sustain the present Ministry, but on all the good Government measures that may be brought before the Legislature. Such a member is invaluable, and such a man has been long wanted at Toronto, just as much as Sir John A. Macdonald is needed at Ottawa. In sending Mr. Robinson, they send a man, who Grit always, is Ministerial to-day and Opposition to-morrow; a man, who though he might support the Ministry in their Railroad policy, would by his opposition in other matters, and by his general contrariness, so get the dislike of the Ministry, as to make them jeopardize the Government Bonus, either by its reduction, or heavy restrictions, and so nullify the only good he could possibly effect during his four years sitting. Such a man sent to Toronto at such a time as the present, would be a cap sheaf to the recent mishaps of Kingston, and make her a pitiable laughing stock for the Dominion at large. For a city that will not help itself at the proper time, deserves all the ridicule that can be showered down on it.

"Vote for Robinson, the workingman's friend."

Mr Editor,—The walls are plastered with this notice. Can you tell me, sir, on what grounds it is set up. What has Mr. Robinson ever done for the workingmen? I am informed, but I don't know how truly, that he is not a friend of the workingman, that he deprives him of his lawful labor. It is true that in his own business he employs boys and lads at men's work? A reply would satisfy

A Working Man.

Salt and Coal.

Good news comes from the States with reference to these two prime articles of every day consumption—salt and coal. On the 13th in the House of Representatives, Washington, Mr. Hale, of Maine, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill to abolish the duty on salt. General Butler moved to adjourn, which motion was lost by a vote of—yeas, 91; nays, 93. Mr. Hale's motion was then adopted; yeas, 155; nays, 46; and so the bill was passed. The result of this legislation will probably be that Canadian salt will likely be allowed into the States duty free. The duty now levied is 70c. per barrel in gold. If this anticipation should prove correct, of course it will be incumbent on our Parliament to remove the 5c. per bushel on American salt. With regard to free coal on the same day, Mr. Farnsworth of Illinois, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill to repeal the duty on coal. Mr. Dickey of Pennsylvania, moved to adjourn, which was lost—yeas 87, nays 90. The yeas and noes were then ordered on a suspension of the rules and the passage of the bill. It is igly probable that the American duty on coal 50c. per ton, will be abolished. If so, this will be good news for our Nova Scotian cousins.—Free Press.

Victoria Ward.

A meeting of the Electors of Victoria Ward was held in Mrs. Gilbert's, Barrie Street, on Friday evening, Mr. James Shannon in the chair. The Chairman said that owing to sickness, he had been able to take very little part in the present contest, but he had learned from the several committees, that the work was going on prosperously, and that not the slightest shadow of a doubt existed of the return of Mr. Breden by a large majority. He urged upon the meeting the propriety of giving the Government a hearty and cordial supporter, instead of one who merely promised to support the Railway policy of the Government. In conclusion he strenuously urged upon the Electors to go to the Polls early, and vote for Mr. Breden.

Mr. John McIntyre then addressed the meeting in an eloquent speech, which was heartily applauded.

Mr. Breden succeeded and addressed the Electors in a plain, practical speech, which carried conviction to the minds of his audience. He spoke of his connection with the city for nearly forty years, and he challenged any person to put their finger on a single act of his during that long period, which was not honorable and upright. He referred to the misrepresentations of Mr. John Fraser at the hustings, which he denounced in the most emphatic language, and then pointed out the policy of the Government with regard to emigration, the management of the Crown Lands and Railways, and expressed himself strongly in favor of the Pembroke Road, which he would warmly assist. After speaking some time, he made way for Mr. A. McKenzie, who gave an excellent speech in favor of Mr. Breden.

Mr. John M. Machar spoke eloquently in support of Mr. Breden, as the man who was best qualified to promote and assist the Pembroke Railroad, and who should therefore, receive his hearty support.

After cheers for the Queen, Mr. Breden and the Pembroke Road, the meeting adjourned. At this, as at some other of Mr. Breden's meetings, a number of non-voters attended for the purpose of having some fun at the expense of the speakers. However, on the whole, the order was as good as could be expected.

Modest Mr. Allen.

"Take this sixpence and leave," said a gentleman to an organ-grinder, who was playing under his window. "I never leaves under a shilling," was the reply.

Will all Mr. J. A. Allen's fine writing make people believe that he is not trying whether the noise he is making on every occasion is not for the purpose of getting the Government to buy him up.

Yours, &c.

Peter McKniff.

Kingston, March 18, 1871.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

Sir,—Any person who read the letters in the News of last evening, signed "J. A. Allen" must have remarked the amount of egotism displayed by that modest? patriotic? individual.

This is the gentleman who is going around the streets defaming the Government; and who, on every occasion when opportunity offers, hesitates not to blacken the character of Canada's foremost statesman, Sir John A. Macdonald On his own confession this man has twice suffered personal disappointment in not obtaining a Government situation. I'm inclined to think that Mr. O'Reilly was right when he showed up the cause of Mr. Allen's spleen.

Emigration Agent, indeed!! The avowed champion of Annexation looking for a position as the agent of the Dominion. Anything more impertinent could scarcely be conceived!

Dominion Parliament.

Several motions for returns, correspondence, and statements respecting a variety of subjects were agreed to.

Mr. Brown said that by private despatches he had received from Manitoba, he understood that the people were in a great state of excitement from the belief that the Dominion Government had given Lieut. Governor Archibald instructions that were hostile to the population.

Mr. George E. Cartier said that neither the Government nor any member of it had given any such private or confidential instructions to Governor Archibald, and that from the last despatches received from the Governor there was nothing in them to corroborate the newspaper statements of the disturbances. The instructions given to Mr. Archibald are on record in the journals, and are of the usual character, specially enjoining strict impartiality and the exercise of a wise discretion.

Mr. McFarlane's Railway Act amendment Bill was read a second time, and referred to the Railway Committee, with the Bills, on the same subject, introduced by Hon. J. H. Cameron and Mr. Kirkpatrick.

Mr. Dawson's Bill, respecting the remuneration of County Court Judges in Ontario was withdrawn, owing to the absence of the Minister of Justice. Second reading was given to the Bill to amend the second section of the Insolvency Act.

The motion for a second reading of Mr. Harrison's Bill to remove doubts as to the liability to stamp duties of premium notes taken or held by mutual fire insurance companies, was opposed by Mr. Holton, on a point of order that it involved taxation, and should be taken in charge by the Government. After some discussion, during which Hon. Mr. Morris signified his willingness to assume charge of the Bill, it was allowed to stand over.

THE POLICE MAGISTRACY.

To the Editor of the British Whig.

Sir,—I noticed in your issue of the 15th inst., a long letter from Mr. Henry Cunningham, in which he endeavoured to prove that I did seek for the police magistracy of the city. Now, I do not see in that letter one word of proof; on the contrary every word in his letter proves that Mr. H. Cunningham tried to get my consent to allow him to seek the office for me. If Mr. Cunningham would look into that memorable note book of his he ought to find that about two weeks before the time he alludes to, he came to me on the street, and in speaking to me about the police magistrate's office, requested me to allow him to bring my name before the City Council for the office, where he was sure it would get a unanimous support. I refused to do so at the time, thinking that my education had not fitted me for the position, and that as a politician I had no claim on the government entitling me to make the request. I am prepared to vouch for the truth of this upon oath. There are some persons, Mr. Editor, whom it is not safe to be alone with, and I think Mr. H. Cunningham is one of them, but fortunately, I was not alone with him upon the second occasion of our meeting, or he might have to make as little of me as he did of his worthy partner on that never to be forgotten day and I would advise Mr. Cunningham to try and find some more profitable way of spending his leisure hours in future than endeavouring to ridicule either myself or his partner, about which I will state nothing at present, and think that he will ultimately be much better satisfied with himself and do less injury to the canvass of his relative if he keeps quiet. I will add no more upon the subject, but leave the matter with the public. I would, however, advise him to find some other hole and corner in which to hide his diminished head, and cease trying to prove things having no existence.—Yours truly,

William Robinson.

Kingston, March 16th.

P. S.—Since writing the above I am informed that Mr. Cunningham is ong among the Aldermen of the city trying to find whether I had spoken to any of them upon the subject of the police magistracy with a view to bringing the matter before the City Council, but has been unsuccessful in finding any one to whom I had spoken. I hope he may bring up the matter, when he can rest assured I shall be prepared to meet him there, or anywhere else. I do not intend after these repeated denials to take any further notice of communications in the papers upon this subject, as the public can see that Mr. Cunningham is quite unable to prove his statement.

Canada.

Dion has won the billiard match in San Francisco against Rudolphe by 1,000 to 956.

Mr. Sandfield Macdonald is still at Cornwall suffering from a rather severe cold.

Members are leaving Ottawa daily, and the Sessions is getting duller.

Hon. Colonel Gray, of P. E. Island and Governor Musgrove of British Columbia have been created Companions of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

The summary of the correspondence between the Imperial and Canadian Governments relative to the withdrawal of the troops which our special correspondent at Ottawa telegraphs to us, puts the question of how far Great Britain intends to abandon her colony at rest, and the Independencists and Annexationists may now hide their diminished heads.

The unpaid claims in Canada against the defunct Home Insurance Company amount to upwards of $60,000.

During the past season 8,767,922 tons of vessels and freight passed through the canals of the Dominion, paying altogether $407,462 in tolls. This is the largest business yet recorded.

The Monetary Times is of opinion that "the trade of the country is already at its utmost tension, and that further expansion will be attended with loss to those directly concerned and endanger every interest in the Dominion."

A match between the St. John, N. B., and the Tyne, England, crews has been finally arranged. The articles submitted by Renforth have been approved. No date has yet been agreed on.

If is said the present session will close about the 6th April. Hon. P. Mitchell has declared it likely that he will resign his seat in the Senate, and contest his old constituency for the Commons.

The Montreal Gazette condemns the appointment H. J. Clark to the Attorney-Generalship of Manitoba, denounces him as the curse of that Province, alleges that he has small legal acquirments, and demands his recall.

Hector Fabre, Editor of L'Evenement, in a lecture at Quebec on the political situation, pronounced Confederation a failure, and favored annexation as the most desirable for Lower Canada.

Sir Francis Hincks proposes a resolution with regard to the Insurance Companies, which reads as follows—"That it is expedient to amend the Act respecting Insurance Companies, 31 Vic., cap. 48, by clearly defining the amount and nature of securities to be deposited by such Companies in certain cases, and by making better provision for the disposal of such securities in case of the insolvency of the Company or its withdrawal from the business in Canada, and to consolidate said act and amendment into one act."

Spain proposes, so it is said, to sell Cuba and Porto Rico to the United States for $100,000,000, payable in instalments.

The disbanded Garibaldians are creating no little apprehension in Paris. Ricciotti is there, while his brother Menotti has gone to London.

Austria formally congratulates William of Prussia on his accession to the Imperial Crown of Germany so long held by the Hapsburgs.

Mr. Shaw Lefevre succeeds Mr. Baxter at the Admiralty Board, and Mr. Henry Winterbotham takes the latter's place as Under-Secretary of the Home Department.

A report is current that the Princess Beatrice of England is to be contracted to the Marquis of Ely. The Princess is in her fourteenth year, and the Marquis is lately of age.

The discovery of a bone-cave is reported on the estate of Mr Wheatley, of Phœnixville, Pa. The bones are buried in glacial drift, and represent the mastodon, the sloth (gigantic), rhinoceros, and the pigmy horse. These animals appear thus to have flourished in preglacial times. Neither human refilans nor implements have yet been uncovered.

It is rumored in Washington that the Joint High Commission, if it can reach a satisfactory conclusion at all, will close its sessions about the middle of next month. The difficulty, as the London Times prophecied, is supposed to be, not the Fisheries, but the Alabama claims.

Bazaine has written a lengthy defence of his conduct during the war of 1870. It will appear in pamphlet form after the treaty of peace has been signed at Brussels. The Marshall is said to be very bitter in it on his comrade, MacMahon, to whose carelessness he attributes a large share of the calamities which befell the French armies.

Reformers for the Government.

Instead of all the Government candidates being Conservatives, as Mr. Brown would have his readers believe, fully one half of them are Reformers. For evidence of this fact look at the following list:—

Mr. J. Smith, of Kent; Mr. Craig, of Glengarry; Mr. Lauder, of South Grey; Mr. Stevenson, of Lennox; Dr. McGill, of South Ontario; Mr. Craig, of Russell; Mr. Louat, of Simcoe; Mr. McRae, of North Victoria; Mr. C. S. Wood, of South Victoria; Mr. Beatty, of Welland; Mr Peter Wood, of North Wentworth; Mr. Eyre, of East Northumberland; are all life long Reformers, and they are each and all out as supporters of the Government.

The fact is, Mr. Sandfield Macdonald derives the greater portion of his strength from Reformers; first, because he and two of his colleagues have been Reformers all their days; and, second, because he has closely adhered to and carried out the true principles of Reform as head of the Government of this Province. His opponents are not Reformers. They are the personal followers of George Brown. They are factionists, with no principles upon which to unite, with only one object in view—that of defeating the Government in order that they may secure the spoils of office.—Telegraph.

THE CONTEST.

Sir,—There is an ominous shaking among the dry bones of the supporters of the Grit candidate as the day approaches for the electors to record their votes. This is clearly evinced by the letter in your contemporary signed "A Clear Grit," who appears trying to pull the wool over the silly candidate's eyes and get him to resign in favor of Mr. Robinson, and admits that except this is done, the election is safe for Mr. Breden. Well, the public have known all the time, that the election was safe for Mr. Breden, and yet "A Clear Grit" and his friends will persist in putting the electors to the trouble and annoyance of a contest. Since the nomination the respectable electors have expressed themselves so indignantly concerning the very abusive language used by the Grit candidate and his nominator, that any person could see that the best thing for Mr. Robinson would be, to return to his business and probably in a few years the whole affair might be forgotten. As to the chances of withdrawing the silly one "A Clear Grit" can easily form his own opinion, by the pull which he administers to his opponent in this night's News.

The duty of Mr. Breden's friends under all circumstances is simply to attend at at the Polls early on Tuesday morning and by noon Mr. Robinson will beg in to feel that his chances for being elected M. P. P., are equal to those he has of being appointed P. M.

Yours truly,

An Elector.

Progress of Peace.

WILLIAM ON HIS TRAVELS HOME.

The Germans continue to retire leisurely from the scenes of their martial glory, and in the homeward march are passing many a bloody and hard fought battlefield. Gen. Von Goeben is marching his veterans from the north of France to occupy the ceded provinces. The Emperor William in his journey to Berlin is meeting with ovations at all stopping places. At Saarbruck he was welcomed by the civic authorities and presented with a wreath of laurel; and Frankfort, that a few years ago was only awed into submission by the presence of Manteuffel's battalions has been illuminated in honor of the return of the conqueror, and the Burgo-master and hundreds of leading citizens have taken a leading part in the rejoicings that marked the occasion. The Emperor does not, it is said, intend to formally enter Berlin at present; but there will no doubt soon be a grand triumphal procession through the capitol. The Czar has sent a brilliant staff to be present at the display and to congratulate the Emperor. France in the meanwhile is making best of her hard position. Preparations have been made for the removal of the National Assembly to Versailles, and President Thiers has received a grant of three millions of francs to meet immediate expenses of Government, while some sixty millions are anticipated from the sale of the Crown property and sources. A new military system is to be established, by which every Frenchman will be compelled to serve in the regular army three years, and the same period in the reserves. The Montmartre rebels do not threaten the city, but the Government are determined to compel them to proceed to their ordinary pursuits, and it is reported have issued command to that effect, which, if not promptly obeyed, will lead to a collision. A pleasing feature in the telegrams from France is the statement that arrangements have been made for the representation of France at the Industrial Exhibitions to be held at London and Florence next year.

Yachting.—The yachting season of 1871 promises to be a lively one in Great Britain, where there are upward of 2,000 yacht owners. There are now three vessels now building there that are intended to beat the three which proved the fastest in their respective classes last year: Mr. Ashbury's Livonia, which its owners hope will be able to walk away from the American yacht Sappho; a schooner for Col. Markham, to do battle with the Flying Cloud; and the Alcyone, to contest the honors of the fastest forty-ton cutter with the Muriel. Visits are expected from several American yachts, and the Livonia will come to America. Apart from racing there is a great demand for yachts of all descriptions, particularly small vessels, and during the next three months there be launched quite a fleet of schooners, yawls, cutters, and screw steamers.

March Out.—The 14th P. W. O. Rifles will march out this evening, should the weather prove favorable.

The City Council will meet this evening. Politics will be dispensed with.

The weather was delightful again on Saturday.

A Public Holiday.—A Requisition to the Mayor, requesting him to appoint Tuesday a public holiday, in honor of the nuptials of the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorn, was put in circulation on Saturday, and in a few hours received a great number of signatures, so many indeed that his Worship had no hesitation in issuing the Proclamation which appears in another column Loyal old Kingston has set an example in spirit and patriotism to the other cities of the province.

On St. Patrick's Day the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of Belleville, accompanied by the members of St. George's and St. Andrew's Societies, marched in procession to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, when an appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. D. Le Brethour, one of the Society's Chaplains. Let brotherly love continue.

Navigation.—The week ice which partially blocked the harbor has proceeded on a tour of observation down the river, and the blue water is presented in an unbroken surface from the wharves. The Str. Watertown made a trip to Cape Vincent on Saturday fully loaded and the Sch. Irene sailed for Cape Vincent, grain laden, the first vessel out, as well as last in in 1870.
