S. WOODS.

There is a strong effort being put forward both in the United States and England to crush the publication of immoral lituature. Happily, in Canada we are not aware that any of these vile sheets issue from the press. It is to true, however, that large numbers of this class of books and newspapers find their way into the country, notwithstanding that there is a law in existence to prevent their importation, and that they are eagerly sought for by many. We think that too much vigilence cannot be exercised by the authorities in preventing the entrance of the vile trash into the country.

A WIMBLEDON FOR THE UNITED STATES.

Our American friends have never paid much attention to the subject of Rifle Shooting. They have been surprised at the enthusiasm with which it is practiced in Great Britain and Canada, and some leading journals speak of the apathy displayed on a subject of so much importance. A National Rifle Association has been formed, however, and a bill has been introduced into the New York Legislature in its behalf, granting ground for the purpose of practice, and authorizing the Governor of the State to offer prizes for competition among marksmen. The New York World says: "Wimbledon has long been a butt of English and American Humorists. But the complications arising out of the Alabama Claims have made many Americans question whether England might not find her account in her Wimbledon. He laughs best who laughs last. The 150,000 English volunteers are trained markesmen. So are the 45,000 Canadian Volunteers. But beyond the formation of the National Rifle Association nothing has been done towards fitting our militia to cope with them. Our militia can march well, some of them, and of course they are all heroes, but they cannot shoot straight. By all means let us have an American Wimbledon." This shows that the Americans are becoming alive to the importance of the subject. It is gratifying to know that satisfactory progress has been made in Canada in rifle shooting. The imperative order which obligos each volunteer to put in the requisited practice while performing his annual drill, is productive of good results. We do not expect that a marksman can be made in a few weeks, for it requires years of constant practice to become skilled in the use of the rifle—but the annual course of training must accustom the members of the volunteer force to rifle shooting, if it does not make all first class marksmen. We hope to see the spirit kept up, and that the number of markesmen will increase steadily every year. It is gratifying to find the government disposed to encourage in every way the development of the shooting qualities of the volunteers. The money laid out in this way is well spent, and the result is such as justifies the expenditure.

AN IRISH JUDGE AND THE PRESS.

An Irish Judge, Justice Keogh, recently made a most unwarrantable and impertinent attack on the Press. He had on previous occasions indulged freely in abusing newspaper men, but his interference culminated at the recent Enniskillen Assizes, brought about perhaps by the sharp castigation he received from the Dublin Press. Some remarks had been made by an editor in the case of Poynter v. Porter, which, it was alleged, were calculated to interfere with the cause of justice. Instead of taking the proper course provided by law, Mr. Justice Keogh made an injustifiable attack on the Press generally. The Belfast News Letter refers to the action of the Judge in strong language. It is seldom that it is necessary to make complaints of the kind, but it is evident that in this case Judge Keogh displayed too much temper. The News Letter commenting on the Judge's conduct, says:—

"In punishing Mr. Trimble judicially, after guilt had been proved, Mr. Justice Keogh would have been doing his duty; but that action on his part did not involve an attack on the entire Press, and an attack couched in language which was unjustifiable so far as the Irish Press is concerned, and unbecoming what we are accustomed to speak of as the gravity of the Bench or the dignity of Court. The sneer at the 'we' which writers for the Press employ, is not at all what would be expected from a Judge who, while reporting for the Press in years gone by, probably committed the very same crime, if employing the 'Royal' plural be a crime. But so far from 'we,' as employed by Pressmen in this country, being any evidence of pretentiousness, it rather indicates a spirit of the very opposite character. On the Continent, where writers for the Press subscribe their names or their initials, it is consistent enough for them to use the singular number, but in this country a different practice prevails, and 'we' is employed, not as indicating that the writer has borrowed the 'Royal' style, but that he is merely the exponent of views held in common by the party to which he belongs, and whose cause he advocates. Still, if Mr. Trimble thought proper to say 'we,' that does not warrant Mr. Justice Keogh in lashing out at the whole Press, and referring to gentlemen who own newspapers as 'every other fellow that has what they call a Press—a Press!' or assuming that they are so minded as to presume they 'know everything;' or comparing them to the Tooley Street tailors; or sneering at 'local papers,' which are often very loyal and most useful in their respective localities. Mr. Justice Keogh ought, at least, to have allowed his memory fair play, if he could not bridle his temper. The tone he exhibited towards the Press generally was bad; but the Press can afford to despise it. The manner in which he addressed Mr. Trimble was not what should be exhibited on the Bench; and the public will condemn the spirit in which one of Her Majesty's judges alluded to the defendant, when he said 'he would not impose a fine of £50, or even £10, on him; for it might be made up in half-farthings by a collection on the bridge of the town; neither would he send him to jail.' Mr. Justice Keogh, on reflection, must see that this is not the language which ought to have been used to a respectable man, who may not have been a successful politician, or, rather, who may not have shaped his politics to ensure his worldly success. If Mr. Trimble committed any offence against the law, the law had a right to assert its power; but, when Mr. Justice Keogh waived that right, when he decided on keeping the sword of justice sheathed, it would have been more dignified on his part, more in harmony with the gravity of his position, if his tongue had not been so indifferent to the feelings of the man who was before him."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

—The printers on strike in Toronto have issued a small sheet called the Porcupine.

—The Toronto Telegraph charges the Militia Department with favouritism. The Frenchmen of Quebec, it represents, have always received more consideration and attention than the Volunteers of Ontario and the English-speaking Volunteers of the sister Province.

—The North of Ireland continues to grow on wealth and prosperity. In ten years the population of Belfast has increased upwards of 50,000. The progress of ship-building at that port is steadily on the increase. All the new steamships of White Star Line have been built there, and others are in the course of construction. Not only the North, but the whole of Ireland is reported in a more satisfactory condition than has existed for many years.

—Orders have been issued regarding the enrolment of the members of the Volunteer Force. All men who have completed their three years terms of service are entitled to their discharge, without being under the necessity of giving any notice of their intention to leave the force. Captains and officers commanding companies are called upon to have their ranks filled to the required strength, so that they may be ready to perform any duty required of them.

—It will be remembered, that on St. Patrick's Day, Father Dowd, of Montreal, warned his congregation against making any public demonstration on the following day. His warning was unheeded, however. On Sunday last the worthy Father referred to the procession, and strongly condemned those of his flock who had disobeyed his commands. He commented strongly on the intemperance of some of the members, and urged them to give up drink. We think Father Dowd has been unnecessarily severe on those who turned out on St. Patrick's Day. He says that a large number of the clergy were opposed to the procession; but he must remember that a large number countenanced it.

The Assizes

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

BRITTON VS. JOHN WADDELL.—Action on Attorney's Bill of Costs. Mr. O'Reilly for plaintiff; no defence. Verdict for plaintiff, $174 29.

WHELAN VS. NICHOLLS.—Action of Ejectment to recover possession of south half of Lot 17, 13th Concession, Storrington. Verdict for plaintiff. Undefended. Mr. B. M. Britton for the plaintiff.

POWER VS. TODMAN.—Action on a promissory note. No defence. Verdict, $590 76. Mr. Britton for plaintiff.

GRIMSHAW VS. IRWIN.—Action on promissory note. Verdict, $209 90. No defence; Mr. G. A. Kirkpatrick for plaintiff.

MULLARKY VS. HOPE.—Action on a note, undefended. Verdict, $423 52. Mr. J. A. Henderson for plaintiff.

TUESDAY.—The Grand Jury brought in the following bills:

THE QUEEN VS. JACOB BOYCE, assault on Sheriff Ferguson in May last while in the execution of a public duty.—True Bill.

THE QUEEN VS. WILLIAM B. FOLLEST, for perjury in connection with the Rideau Ward Election Case in January last.—No Bill.

THE QUEEN VS. MICHAEL DONOGHUE.—Rape in October last.—True Bill.

THE QUEEN VS. ELIZABETH CRINDALL, stealing post letters on January 26th last. True Bill.

THE QUEEN VS. JOHN LEADER, Larceny.—No Bill.

Michael Donoghue was brought into court, and arraigned.—Pleaded "Not Guilty."

Jacob Boyce, for assault on the Sheriff, pleaded guilty. His Lordship said it was a matter of severe punishment to interfere with any officer in the discharge of his duty, but as the Sheriff had pleaded for defendant the Court was disposed to impose a very light punishment: that of one day's imprisonment in the common gaol, and pay a fine of ten dollars. But for this intercession of Mr. Ferguson, he would have passed sentence for two years, as he was determined to protect public officers.

SCRIVEN VS. SHARMAN.—This was an action brought for breach of a warranty in the sale of a Threshing Machine. Plaintiff is a farmer residing in the township of Kingston, and the defendant is a manufacturer of Threshing Machines at Stratford. The facts of the case are simply these: In October last Mr. A. Chown, agent for defendant, gave the plaintiff a prospectus, containing a discription of the Threshing Machine sold to the plaintiff. The machine was called "The Little Giant Thresher and Separator," and pleased the plaintiff so much that he agreed to purchase on the terms that the machine should be equal to the description. The plaintiff in this case contended that it was not equal to the description and that it was perfectly useless. Several witnesses were examined for the plaintiff, and at the close of his (the plaintiff's) case Mr. Britton moved for a non-suit. Mr. O'Reilly, Q.C., replied to the objections, which were over-ruled and the case went to the jury. Mr. Ja. O'Reilly, Q.C., and Mr. Smythe for the plaintiff, and Mr. Britton for the defendant.

SEARS VS. BLACKABY.—This case, an action for damages for slander, was settled to-day out of court.

A New Harbor Work

Mr. D. D. Calvin has petitioned the City Corporation for permission to make commercial use of the dangerous and troublesome shoal in the harbor, between Point Frederick and the Market Battery. It is the design of this wealthy firm of Messrs Calvin & Breck to build a large wharf or pier, to cover the entire shoal, and to serve for the unloading and storeage of iron, wood or lumber, and also for the safe mooring of vessels during the severe gales which visit the lake and harbor every Fall. For either purpose the wharf will be most useful, and will be quite an acquisition to the port. It would not interfere with the anchorage or sailing grounds, for vessels cannot with any safety approach the shoal; in fact it will be a protection against running aground that is not now afforded. We do not think that the City Council will refuse to grant the required permission. It is a public work, and one that should be encouraged.

A Benefactor

The Dominion Government has it within its power to do a great deal for Kingston, and it will not lack the ideas and opportunities for so doing, while the City Council maintains its present modest spirit. The City Fathers have resolved to send a deputation to Ottawa to solicit from the Government a site for the Cataraqui Ward Park from out of its unoccupied land in the eastern part of the city; to ask for the proposed grounds for the Crystal Palace, on Mr. Duff's Farm, the possession of which is soon to revert to the Government by the expiring of the lease; to apply for leave to maintain the extension of Johnson street west of Gordon street, through Duff's Farm; and to obtain certain facilities which would aid the prospect of bringing the main track of the Grand Trunk Railroad into Kingston. There is also on the paper two public matters, which the favor of the Government is asked for—the lease of the Tete de Pont Barracks and the building of a harbor breakwater. Now is the accepted time for the Government to do something for Kingston. These favors can all be granted without any injury to the general public interests, for the lands are profitless and certainly not ornamental. The City Council could improve their appearance and usefulness materially by their public projects. Let Kingston have an innings at Ottawa.

THIS DAYS' NEWS

The Sultan of Turkey is expected to visit London in May.

In the British House of Commons last night the duties on coffee and chicory were reduced fifty per cent.

There was considerable excitement in Wall Street, New York, to-day over Erie stock.

The latest information regarding the South Grenville election will be found in our Prescott dispatch.

Great activity is being displayed in connection with railway enterprises in the District of Ottawa.

Yesterday being Annunciation Day, was generally observed as a holiday in the Government Department at Ottawa, and Roman Catholic Churches.

The defeat of the Mexican Rebels is stated as more serious than at first reported. They are represented as wholly disorganized.

Gold in New York at one o'clock stood at 109¾. Sterling Exchange, 109¼ to 110. At three, gold 110. Sterling Exchange, 109¼ to 110.

The Printers strike in Toronto still continues. The Globe had 20 men at work last night, however, and appears in its usual form. The Telegraph is slightly changed, and the Express comes out in half its usual size.

A negro named Jones robbed a farmer named Murray at Nashville, Tenn., on Sunday last. When Murray resisted, Jones shot him dead. The latter was taken to gaol, but a mob took him therefrom yesterday and hanged him on a lamp post.

THE PEOPLE at the G. T. Depot are much alarmed at the establishment of the nitro-glycerine factory near their houses.

IN MEMORIAM.—A feeling tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Jas Davis and are much noticed, was that of a brother merchant Mr. Jas Greenfield. One of the windows of the Liverpool House was dressed in the deepest mourning with the words "In memoriam," the arrangement being exceedingly neat. Mr. Davis had no closer friends than his rivals in business.

Free Roads.

The following remarks of the Belleville Intelligencer are valuable to us, as coming from an experienced source:—

FREE ROADS.—The Kingston papers are making another effort to abolish tolls on the roads leading into Kingston. It is surprising, in view of the advantages gained by those counties which long ago made all their roads free, that Kingston should stick to the old fogy system of toll-roads. Let Kingston but once abolish the nuisance and it will find its trade largely increased, and the cost of keeping the County Roads in repair will not be any more than it is at present. We hope success will crown the efforts of our contemporaries this time.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION

DEFEAT OF REBELS

Per Dominion Line.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 26.—On Sunday a negro named Jones robbed a farmer named Murray, when the latter resisted, and the negro shot him dead. The murderer was lodged in gaol, but last night a mob took him out and hanged him on a lamp post.

MATAMORAS, March 25.—The defeat of the rebels is more complete and disastrous than at first reported. The Government infantry corps, which was captured by the Revolutionists in the battle of Matphos, was afterwards embodied in the Revolutionists' army. The Juarez forces under Roche, inflicted a terrible slaughter upon the Revolutionists. About 800 of the latter were killed and wounded. General Tevino, who was in chief command of the rebels during the battle, arrived at Saltello in an awful condition. All his forces are all scattered and disorganized. The Revolutionists are generally demoralized, and it is expected that they will evacuate Camargo and the whole border very soon.

Erie Excitement in Wall Street

NEW YORK, March 26.—Wall Street is again excited about Erie Stock. This morning a special despatch from London stated that Erie advanced 3½, being quoted at 51½ @ 52. This caused a great rush among speculators to obtain stock. Dealings in other stocks are almost neglected. Erie opened at 64, and steadily advanced. Sales were made at 67. The transactions during the first half hour reached 40,000 shares.

FROM OTTAWA

OTTAWA, March 25.—The Hon. Mr. Langevin reached town yesterday afternoon. This being Annunciation Day, and a fete de obligations, was generally observed as a holiday by the Government Departments, and in the Roman Catholic Churches. Mr. Hubertus and Mr. Geo. O'Keefe, chief engineer of the Ontario and Quebec Railroad, left to day for Carleton Place, to commence the survey of the line of railway to Toronto. They leave Carleton Place to-morrow morning, and proceed across the County of Lanark on as direct a line as possible for Peterborough. Some of the wealthy and influential residents of the county of Pontiac, at their own expense, are having a survey made for a railway from Aylmer to Deep River, on the north shore of the Ottawa. Part of the Grenville Canal has for a week past been ready to receive the masons, but the weather has been such as to preclude them from working. The Bigelow Brothers returned here yesterday evening from the survey of the head waters of the St. Maurice, Gatineau, and other rivers. They started up the St. Maurice under instructions from the Quebec Government, some seven months ago, and have collected a vast amount of information.

South Grenville Election

PRESCOTT, 10.30 a.m.

South Ward—Ellis, 23; Fraser, 35.
West Ward—Ellis, 28; Fraser, 42.
East Ward—Ellis, 35; Fraser, 28.

Spencerville—Ellis, 24; Fraser, 29.
Johnstown—Ellis, 9; Fraser, 17. Altogether Fraser 18 ahead.

4 p.m.—The majority for Fraser, as far as heard from, is now 51. There are six polling places out of fourteen yet to be heard from, three of which, it is said, will give majority for Ellis.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 26.—There was no meeting of the City Council last night for want of a quorum. The Alice Street Church Anniversary was held last night. An alarm of fire was sounded at about 11.30 last night. A shed in rear of Thompson & Co.'s straw works, on Jarvis street, was found to be on fire. It was extinguished without the aid of the fire engines. Mons. and Madame Garnier, with Maurice Daly, gave a billiard exhibition last night, at which some pretty playing was made. The Rev. Dr. Wild, of Belleville, delivered a lecture on "Babel" in the Queen Street Wesleyan Methodist Church last night. John Orillia, a well known horse-dealer, had his leg broken yesterday by a kick from a young colt. A temperance meeting in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Chester Lodge Temperance Hall last night. The young man named McKenzie, who was killed in Chicago a few days ago, was a Toronto man, and had been but recently employed by Messieurs Camp, Torrance & Co.

The Typographical Union are doing their worst, but the papers thrive still. The Globe had 20 pressmen at work last night, and this morning comes out in its usual form. The Telegraph was assisted by a number of the smaller master printers, and although slightly changed in form made its appearance this morning in the same size. The Express last night came out with half sheet, and contains all news in condensed form and advertisements for the paper. Not one practical printer remains in office, and the work is done by the business and editorial staff. Two drunken printers attempted to force their way into the Express office last evening and were thrown down stairs. One of them was considerably hurt. The general conduct of printers is good.

MADRID, March 26.—The report that the Spanish frigates, Gerona and Arapiles have been ordered to Venezuela, to demand satisfaction for an insult offered to a Spanish Consul proves to be unfounded. The vessels are ordered to Havana.

LAST NIGHT'S NEWS.

Great distress is reported in the Saguenay district.

The Pacific Railway survey is making fair progress.

The Government emigration agents are hard at work in Great Britain.

A. T. Stewart, the great New York Dry Goods merchant, had his eight hundred employees vaccinated yesterday.

A joint stock hotel to cost sixty thousand dollars is to be commenced at Fort Garry forthwith.

Mr. H. A. Kaulbeck, of Nova Scotia, has been appointed Senator in room of Hon. Mr. Bell, deceased.

The carpenters of Brooklyn, N.Y., struck yesterday for eight hours work, demanding same pay as for the full day of ten hours.

The British and American Claims Commission held a sitting yesterday, but adjourned until Thursday next without deciding any cases.

Lord Northbrook, the Governor General of India, will probably be succeeded by the Marquis of Lansdowne in the office of Under Secretary for War.

The Spanish frigates Gerona and Arapiles are ordered to Venezuela, to demand satisfaction, it is said, for an insult to the Spanish Consul.

The Right Hon. Robert Lowe submitted his annual budget to the House of Commons last night. It shows the expenditure last year to have been £71,720,000, and the receipts £74,335,000.

The British armour-plated ram 'Thunderer' was launched yesterday from the Pembroke Dockyard. She is a turret vessel, and will carry four guns, each weighing thirty-five cwt.

British Justice.

Mr. Murphy, one of the speakers at the St. Patrick celebration held in Toronto on Monday last, speaking in favor of "Home Rule," said that Irishmen were capable of governing themselves, and, in proof, pointed to the fact that "the head of the Government of Australia at that moment was an Irishman, on whom, at one time, his enemies had looked as a rebel. Until a few weeks ago, until struck down by the hand of an assassin, it was an Irishman who had governed India for some time. (A voice—God bless the assassin.) The Governor General of Canada was an Irishman, and so was the leader of the Government of Ontario—Edward Blake. Irishmen could govern themselves without the interference of those big pot-bellied Englishmen." In his enthusiasm the speaker forgot that his facts proved more than he intended. The fact of Irishmen occupying such prominent positions under the British Government, where pot-bellied Englishmen are in the majority, proves that Irish claims are not ignored, that 'pot-bellied Englishmen' are not so selfish and bigoted as some people say they are; that high positions are occupied by Irishmen in consequence of the union with Great Britain. If Irishmen share the Government of five millions and a half of people in Ireland, with their brethren of England and Scotland, surely they obtain an equivalent in having a share in the Government of Australia, Canada, and India, the latter country alone having a population of over one hundred and fifty millions, placed under the jurisdiction of an Irishman. Every unprejudiced thinker must see that a brighter and more glorious career is open to the sons of the Emerald Isle in connection with the Great Empire on which, "the sun never sets," than if they were cooped within the narrow bounds of her own sea girt Isle.—Canada Scotsman.

Leeds and Grenville.

The Spring Assizes for Leeds and Grenville were held at Brockville before Mr. Justice Morrison; Mr. E. J. Senkler, jr., counsel for the Crown. Hiram Estelle was tried for attempting to murder Benjamin Wenford by shooting last fall. Some 20 witnesses were examined, and their evidence being very contradictory, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The Grand Jury returned a true bill against Jonas Waffle for attempting to murder one John Galley Whitmarsh, his brother-in-law, on the 14th January last, at the Township of North Crosby, by violently seizing and attempting to strangle him, but the prisoner was shown to be subject to fits of insanity. R. McGuinness obtained a verdict of $50 damages against J. Colpurn for the loss of his thumb, which the latter had chewed in a fight between the parties. The other cases were mostly larcenies and other matters of no public interest.
