Wm. J. Smith, city editor of the Waukegan Sun, was in town Wednesday. While here he made The Plaindealer office a pleasant call and informed us that it was not his brother Charles who was killed in the railroad wreck at Gilberts, as many people seem to think, and that his brother is alive and well.

QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

Old Fourth of July did not make a regular stop in this village. No celebration this year.

Lippincott's hotel was opened to the public on Saturday last, and we pronounce it a model summer hotel.

The town board met on Monday last and appointed Simon Corvill as road commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of S. H. Walker.

P. D. Smith, of Osborne City, Kansas, arrived in town on Friday evening last. He has come to buy wool and will probably stay here for the next six weeks.

There will be a lawn festival at the home of A. H. Hanly on Saturday evening next, July 8, for the benefit of the Sabbath school. Refreshments will be served.

John Bertha of Chicago has rented the store of J. Wiedemann, formerly occupied by Laner & Becker, near the depot, where he will open a harness shop in a few days.

The dam at Bishop's mill pond sprung a leak one day last week, and necessitated the drawing down of the water for repairs. This was done and the dam was repaired in a substantial manner.

Dr. Crook, our dentist, needs no laughing gas now, as there is constantly a smile all over his face. It is a boy, and weighed nine pounds strong. The doctor is as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

J. J. Gillies has one of the handsomest flower gardens in this village, in the center of which is a large pond, covered with the most beautiful flowers we have ever seen. What the name of it is no one has as yet been able to tell us.

Farmers will be gratified to learn that a piratical potato bug killer in the form of a voracious parasite is preying upon the pest in some localities. It is certainly to be hoped that there will be enough of the "new remedy" for general application.

The rascals are trying to get the best of the farmers. The latest dodge is that rascals are travelling the country as temperance missionaries. They get their unsuspecting victims to sign a pledge of total abstinence, and then the pledge turns out to be a note.

in Fine Boat.

Last Monday evening the writer had the pleasure of being shown through Capt. Walker's boat, Navigator, which is now making daily runs between McHenry and the lakes. The Navigator has been rebuilt during the winter at the Hunter-Weckler Boat works and is now one of the best boats that navigates the river and lakes. It is fitted up in first class style and is most deserving of all patronage that may go its way.

Capt. Walker, who is an experienced mechanic, has personal charge of the boat and uses every precaution for the safety of his passengers at all times.

He strictly enforces the rules as are laid down for the steamers on the Great Lakes and does everything to make his trips enjoyable for his guests. He is a genial good fellow and is always ready to fill the wants of his patrons. His patronage is increasing weekly and we bespeak a good trade for him this season, of which he is more than worthy.

TWO CHURCH WEDDINGS

ARE PERFORMED DURING PAST WEEK AT ST. PATRICK'S.

Miss Anna Fleming and Mr. R. J. Frisby and Miss Nellie Frisby and Harry Bacon are united in wedlock.

At St. Patrick's church at high noon last Wednesday, June 21, was celebrated the nuptial of Mr. Bernard Joseph Frisby and Miss Anna Margaret Fleming. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Frisby, sister of the groom, and the best man was Mr. Edmond Fleming, of Chicago, brother of the bride. The ushers were Mr. Harry Bacon and Mr. Walter Walsh.

The bridal party marched up the aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Lucy Sutton.

Rev. Father O'Neill, pastor of St. Patrick's church, officiated and the ring ceremony was used. The ceremony was most impressive, the subdued notes of the organ being wafted down while the solemn vows were pledged and the happy couple were pronounced husband and wife.

The bride was attired in a lovely creation of crepe meteor over white taffeta silk, trimmed with accordion plaited chiffon, and wore white shoes, gloves and veil, and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of champagne colored silk satinee, trimmed with cream lace and blue silk, with hat and gloves to match. She carried pink roses. The church was tastefully decorated with pink peonies and ferns.

After the wedding service the newly married couple drove to the home of the bride, where an elegant repast was served to the immediate relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frisby departed from Crystal Lake on the 8:30 p. m. train for Chicago. About fifty of their friends had assembled at the station and showered them with rice.

They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming and was one of the most efficient teachers in the Crystal Lake schools last year. To great natural charms she has added the charms of rare culture and refinement, which has endeared her to a host of friends. She is an exceptional woman and is sure to make one of the loveliest and best of wives. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Frisby and belongs to one of the most prominent and influential families of the community. He is a young man of the most sterling worth and of the highest ideals.

Mr. and Mrs. Frisby are going to build near the present family residence, and will be at home to their friends after October first. They start out upon the sea of matrimony under the most auspicious circumstances and The Plaindealer joins their numerous friends in wishing them the best that life affords.

BACON-FRISBY.

At St. Patrick's church Tuesday at high noon occurred the marriage of Miss Nellie Frisby and Mr. Harry Bacon, both of this place. The vows so solemnly pronounced by their pastor, Rev. P. M. O'Neill, were repeated with much devotion and piety by the contracting parties.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Frisby, who less than a week before had pledged themselves before the same altar, and who added much to the grace and solemnity of the occasion.

The wedding march was played by Miss Lucy Sutton, who gave two selections.

The bride was handsomely attired in white point de esprit over white silk, with a long bridal veil, and carried a huge bouquet of white sweet peas. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a white boutonniere and carried pink roses. The gentlemen were in the conventional black attire.

After the ceremony the wedding party was received at the home of the bride's parents and a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives.

Both are well and favorably known here, having lived in this vicinity all their lives and figured prominently in social circles. They left on Tuesday evening for an extended wedding trip west to Yellowstone Park and other noted places, and on their return will reside in Chicago, he having a lucrative position on the Chicago & North-Western railroad.

A Good Time.

The basket ball teams of the McHenry high school will on next Friday evening give an ice cream social at the driving park, for their benefit. Ice cream and cake will be served from 6:30 p. m. for the trifling sum of 15 cents. In connection with the social the boys will entertain the people with a few athletics, which will consist of running races, shot putting, discus throwing, etc. Anyone wishing to enter in the events may do so. All turn out and spend an evening with the boys and girls of the high school teams. They will entertain you royally. Don't forget the date: Friday evening, July 7.

One hundred and twenty couples danced at the barn hop at Fred Willie's north of Ridgefield recently. It was one of the largest dances ever held in the county.

A vigorous and impressive Far Eastern war story appears in Lippincott's magazine for July, credited to the pen of Arthur Stanley Riggs. It is called "The Dragon's Discipline," and outweighs columns of ordinary war news.

Ed Brown of Round Lake visited the Wallace circus at Waukegan recently, and pick-pockets succeeded in relieving him of a small bill book carried in his hip pocket, and containing three notes, a bank draft and some currency, representing in all $900. Mr. Brown immediately stopped payment on the bank draft and will lose nothing on the notes as they were given by friends who stand ready to duplicate them, hence he is out but little.

Nunda Herald: Commencing next Monday, by virtue of an ordinance passed by the Nunda village board, the interior of all the saloons in the village must be exposed to public view after the closing hour, 10 p. m., and Saturday 10:30. The ordinance requires that "all shades, blinds, screens and other means of obstructing a view of the inside of the said place of business shall be removed, and lights shall be kept burning until midnight, so that a clear and unobstructed view of the inside of such premises may be had from the outside through all windows and other means of admitting light into such places, in front, rear and sides of the same." The penalty for violation is a fine of $30 to $50.

In the whole lake district the Chicago fisherman find nothing that so pleases them as the acquaintance of "Talkative Liz," the famous goose of Marble hotel at Long Lake. Liz is a genius and as a winner of hearts the land must needs be searched to find a better. Already she has won fame afar and has nearly been mentioned as co-respondent in a divorce case or two and has almost disrupted a score of Chicago homes. It seems that men returning from fishing trips to the city have familiarly talked of Liz and told of her winning ways much to the chagrin of their uninitiated better halves who at once scented a woman in the case. The truth of the whole matter is that Liz is a goose and otherwise would not be attracted by the Chicagoans who stop for a day or two to dip their flies into the water of the lake. Though Liz is a flirt of the first water and has earned mention in the Chicago press her life history is simple and unromantic in the extreme. She arrived at Marble hotel in a gunny sack, a candidate for the frying pan, but was released for the time being in order that she might better fit herself for that end. Now instead of adorning the feast table she is the pet of the whole place and in picture and story is known in hundreds of homes in Chicago and all because she insists on being friends with everybody.

A party of five prominent people of this city were automobiling last week, and while near Geneva Lake met a lady driving a white horse. The lady did not have red hair and it was several miles further on before the party discovered the lady with Auburn locks. The chauffeur was careful, and as they approached her, shut off power and turned the machine off of the road, and one of the gentlemen, whom nature has supplied with a bountiful hireute appendage, jumped out and started forward towards the lady's horse. The horse had not evinced much fear before, but as the gentleman with the whiskers approached him the horse snorted and began backing up and finally backed the vehicle off the turnpike, and just as it went off he of the hireute appendage grasped the bride and prevented the horse from turning the buggy over. The machine was dead and the lady expressed her surprise, saying "Well, I don't know what is the matter with the horse. This is the first time he has ever shown the least bit of fear at one of them 'ar things and I have met at least a hundred of 'em." The gentleman then turned the horse's head, and, apparently for the first time, the lady got a good look at the man who had hold of the bride. She smiled and said, "Oh, I guess I know what frightened him now." The gentleman said "What was it, lady?" and she, giving the old white horse a cut with the whip, and "Get up there, Bill," smilingly said, "Your whiskers." The gentleman flushed, and climbing back on his seat in the auto said, "If there are any more horses to be held today some smooth faced man will do the holding." For the rest of the run he was mum as an oyster. We understand now he contemplates having his facial adornment trimmed. Woodstock Republican.

Hon. Hertz and family do not expect to spend as much time as usual at the Bay this summer, as they expect to spend part of their time at their Des Plaines farm.

Summer resorters will confer on us a great favor by sending in any item of news for publication in The Plaindealer. If more convenient call McHenry exchange phone number 273. We want to give all the happenings obtainable.

Last Saturday evening Miss Dorothea Bolles entertained a number of her young friends, the event being in honor of her birthday anniversary. The young people were most highly entertained by Miss Dorothea, who proved an excellent hostess.

The Bay people are now being served with N. H. Petesch's most delicious ice cream. The latter is making weekly trips to the Bay. Gilbert Bros. keep the trade well supplied with the best of groceries and fruits, and McHenry markets fill all demands for that requisite.

Mrs. Fred Wilkes very pleasantly entertained the "Jolly Twenty-Four Bowling" club of Chicago Tuesday. The ladies enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Before leaving they all expressed themselves as having spent a most pleasant afternoon. Refreshments were served.

The summer season is now on and the resorts along the river and at Pistakee and Fox Lake are presenting a busy scene. Boating is becoming one of the most popular pastimes and the Pistakee and Fox river fleets have been increased by a good many this year. Nearly all the new launches on the river and lakes are of the Hunter-Weckler make and are dandies.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lowry, proprietors of the East Side hotel, Fox Lake, gave a dinner party to a few friends and guests Wednesday of this week, chartering the steamer, Uncle Sam, for a trip to McHenry. All expressed themselves as having had a good time. In the party were: Mrs. John Williamson, Mrs. John Gray, Mrs. J. D. Ford, Mrs. Margaret Barnum, Mrs. A. Uhlenclaus, Mrs. William Legner, Mrs. A. R. Jones, Mrs. Henry Klein, Mrs. L. Swan, Mrs. O. Sollett and Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Shontz.

Although not classed as real summer resorts, the Park hotel and North-Western hotel on the West Side come in for a goodly portion of the summer resort trade. Both hotels are fitted with all modern conveniences and patrons find them most delightful stopping places.

The Rosedale hotel was never in better condition than now. Under the careful and painstaking supervision of Landlord Larson the hotel has become one of the most popular in this part of the country. The beautiful grove in which the hotel and grounds are located makes it a most delightful stopping place. The fishing at this point is always good and boating and bathing go to make up the most enjoyable pastimes for the guests.

All the hotels at the Bay are now enjoying a good run. S. J. Mellin's at Bald Knob is in the best possible condition and the guests at this popular resort are being well cared for by Landlord Mellin. It is always a good place to stop. The Oak Park hotel, under the personal supervision of J. J. Mertes, is also enjoying its share of the patronage. Mr. Mertes is one of those accommodating sort of fellows who never fails to give his patrons a good time while staying at his resort. He has added many new attractions since last season. Ben Stilling's hotel is the center of a most busy scene and during the past week many visitors have sought this popular resort for an outing. Mr. Stilling is always ready to do anything possible for the convenience and pleasure of his guests, and the attractions this year outdo all previous efforts. Pistakee Inn on the east side is enjoying a good run of business. The hotel is in better condition than ever before and visitors always find this a beautiful spot to spend their summer outing. Everything first-class. The McHenry hotels are looking forward to a record-breaking season. The Riverside is already enjoying a good patronage and Landlord Inness never fails to give his patrons a most enjoyable time while guests at this beautiful resort. The boat, Navigator, makes daily trips up and down the river and furnishes a never ending diversion for the guests. The McHenry House is open for the season with a most favorable outlook. The House is an old-established and reliable one and visitors will be properly cared for at all times by Landlord Heimer. It is his constant aim to give his patrons a good time while guests at his resort. One of our resorts which is not to be overlooked is the Buch summer resort. This place has already won an enviable reputation and the ever-increasing patronage gives evidence that the patrons of this resort are treated royally at all times. All conveniences possible are at the disposal of those who make this place their stopping place, and Landlord Buch leaves nothing undone for the comfort of visitors.
