DOLLY VARDEN.

O, Dolly! Dolly Varden!
Is a lady's form a garden,
That thou madly trail'st it o'er
With a thousand vines or more?
Now its every turn discloses
Lillies, pinks and blushing roses,
Violets, forget-me-nots,
Larkspurs, and I know not whats.
All the colors of the year
In a single gown appear;
Flowers of every season,
In and out of reason,
All in a single yard in Hast thou, Dolly Varden.

Dolly! Dolly Varden!
Still thy pranks we pardon
For a very witching thing
Is the whimps thou dost bring;
Every pretty maiden
With thy wealth o'erladen,
Takes where she goes,
Charm of added rose,
Spell of all things fair
Blooming everywhere.
Hail to thee! But pray put guard on
Those who can't, dear Dolly Varden.
Every human form divine
Can't be graced with flower and vine,
Bearing o'er its back quaint story
Traced in bloom of morning glory—
Every dame can't be a garden,
As thou knowest, poor Dolly Varden.

Let old fogies ask your pardon,
Nor paternal purse keep guard on,
Never more our hearts we'll harden;
Thou hast conquered, Dolly Varden!

THE MISSOURI BUTCHERY
NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS OF THE MASSACRE.
THRILLING PARTICULARS.
(Kansas City Times.)

One of the most terrible and atrocious massacres of the nineteenth century was perpetrated by a party of masked ruffians not far from this city about six o'clock last evening. It surpasses in its enormities and bloody details anything that has ever been charged upon the Vandal Jennison or any of the most terrible scenes of the late war. The Chicot massacre, in Mississippi, and the disgraceful lynching scenes at and near Seymour, Ind., were respectable, compared with the horrid details of this most disgraceful and cowardly affairs. The particulars, as

RELATED BY AN EYE-WITNESS,

are as follows: About half-past six o'clock last evening the passenger train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad left Harrisonville in Cass county, bound eastward. At this place a party of gentlemen, connected with the Memphis and Kansas City Railroad, and several prominent citizens of Kansas City got upon the train. When they left Harrisonville there appeared to be no excitement in the village—no indication of the terrible disgrace so soon to be perpetrated so near its borders.

THE TRAIN.

consisted of a locomotive, a baggage car and two passenger cars. There were about thirty passengers on the train, among them Judge Stevenson, one of the County Judges, and J. R. Cline, a prominent attorney, both more or less connected with the late bonds funding operation in Cass county, and Mr. Thomas Detroe, one of Cline's bondsman, General Joe Shelby, and others of more or less note. These parties were on their way to Clinton upon business connected with the Memphis Railroad. The train passed out of Harisonville peacefully and undisturbed, and had reached a place called Guntown, about ten miles from Harrisonville, when the engineer discovered obstructions piled upon the track. These were rails, logs and rocks piled up in a sort of breastwork, similar to those used and adopted by the savages upon the line of the Pacific Railroad for the same purposes. Before the engineer could shut the throttle lever and throw over his reverse lever and whistle "down brakes"

A MURDEROUS VOLLEY

of bullets and shots was poured in and around the locomotive. The cab was fairly riddled but fortunately no one was seriously injured. The train came to a stand not far from the barricade, where seventy or eighty armed men, each wearing a mask, rushed towards the locomotive, and with loud oaths and threatening gestures, in which the cold muzzles of pistols played a prominent part, compelled the engineer and fireman to hold up their hands and step back into the tank of the locomotive, where they were placed under close guard

WHILE THE TRAGEDY WAS ENACTED.

The crowd about this time had increased to about two hundred, many of whom were unmasked and were recognized as residents of Harrisonville and the vicinity. They at once commenced a terrible and reckless fusilade into and around the captured train. Loud cries were made for Cline—"where's Cline? send out Cline;" we want Cline; bring him out; we won't hurt him; oh, no, of course not. Amid this discordant noise Mr. Cline stepped to the door of the baggage car, and then down from the platform into the midst of the yelling, shrieking mass around the train.

COOLY AND CALMLY HE FACED HIS MURDERERS

this young man, single and alone. "What would you have, gentleman" said Cline. "Here, I surrender myself to you. Take me, I am unarmed, and am willing to be tried before any tribunal if I have done any man wrong." He threw up his arms while he spoke to show that he was defenceless. While in that position

HE FELL, RIDDLED BY FORTY BULLETS,

a quivering, mangled mass of mortality; and there, where he lay upon the bloody ground and fiendish throng stood and, in wanton spirit, emptied into his mangled redhains the undischarged chambers of their revolvers. Not yet satisfied with blood, or, like a pack of wild beasts hungering after the first sickly scent of blood that has defiled the air, these savages rushed into the train, breaking in the doors, smashing the windows, threatening to burn the train, they pounced into the cars among the terrified passengers. "Where's the bond robbers?" "Turn out the bond thieves!" they shrieked as they rushed into the cars. Perceiving Judge Stevenson, one of the county Judges who made the issue of the bonds, they shot him down in the car, and

DRAGGED HIM BY THE HAIR

and collar out into the grass, where they vented their fiendish frenzy on his lifeless corpse. Mr. Thomas Detroe was the next victim. He was found in the mail car, and shot and severely wounded, and in that condition was dragged out and thrown into the road side, where he was allowed to bleed to death, his dead body lighted by the blood red lines of the setting sun. The gang then called for Gen. Joe Shelby. That tried true soldier sat coolly in his seat, and replied: "Here I am, if you want me come and get me." The ruffians concluded they did not want him. They then generously offered to shoot any individual who sympathized with the murdered men. Finding no one generous enough to give them excuse for shedding more blood, they proceeded.

IN GENERAL.

—The weather throughout England is favorable to the growing crops.

—As a grand finale to his jubilee, Offenbach is now in preparation a first class boiler explosion. No charge for reserved seats.

—Artemus Ward once described a fellow who said, the first six months after he was married he loved his wife well enough to eat her up, and the next six months he was sorry he didn't do it.

—Lord Derby, in opening a new hospital at Bootle, near Liverpool, spoke at great length on the urgent necessity of sanitary measures, as lying at the bottom of all national well-being and greatness.

—Joseph Schurz, a Swiss, who had seen much military service, died at Utica, (it is supposed to be home of the dubious William Tell) a few weeks ago, in his 110th year. He had been wounded in different engagements over forty times.

—Prince Pierre Bonaparte, the assassin of Victor Noir, is so little depressed by the fact of his wife opening a millinery shop in London, that he boldly declares he looks with entire resignation upon the cruel fate which throws him upon his wife for support.

—Torpedoes are engaging attention at Woolwich, the trials being generally secret, and, for the most part, at night. Simultaneously with this more aggressive study, attention is being devoted to the protection of ships against the action of torpedoes.

—It is said that there are Jews who observe the Mosaic Law so strictly that they will do absolutely nothing on their Sabbath; but they keep Christian servants who may, without offense, labor on that day. And now, in England, it is proposed to initiate this practice by employing Jews to operate the telegraphs on Sunday.

—The late Thaddeus Stevens left his law library to his nephew, on condition that the latter abstain from the use of malt liquor for five years. The nephew, however, failed to carry out the condition, and the library was put up at auction in Philadelphia last Friday. The twelve books were sold for $31,000.

—The income tax was introduced in England, as a temporary measure, by Sir Robert Peel, about thirty years ago. He estimated that at the rate of a penny in the pound sterling, it would yield $3,500,000. Last year a penny in the pound yielded $7,800,000, showing that the wealth of the country must have more than doubled since the tax was first introduced.

$120,000 FOR THE COOK.—Says the Quebec Chronicle—"Mr. Dermassel, of Beauport, who died a short time ago, left $120,000 to his cook, who had been in the service for 30 years. To each of his three children he bequeaths $400; to the School at Beauport $40,000; the Good Shepherd Convent, $12,000. It is not stated what were the peculiar accomplishments of this fortunate cook, whether she won the heart of this old millionaire by her bean soup, welch rabbits, or any of those little delicacies. It is understood she excelled in all.

The Blood owes its red color to minute globules which float in that fluid, and contain, in a healthy person, a large amount of Iron, which gives vitality to the blood. The Peruvian Syrup supplies the blood with this vital element, and gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

The crown of womanly beauty is an elegant coiffure. As this cannot be obtained without the use of some Hair Gloss or fixateur, even by the most skilful artists, how much should the ladies feel themselves indebted to the inventor of the Great Hair Dressing of the age, Coco-Glycerine, which nourishes and beautifies the Hair, is delightfully perfumed, and leaves no stain on the gentlemen's waistcoats. Ask for Coco-Glycerine.

We should not hesitate to recommend to any friends of ours, Parsons' Purgative Pills; they are scientifically prepared, and are adapted to all the purposes of a good purgative medicine.

Decidedly the best remedy that has ever been discovered for rheumatism, swollen or stiff joints, flesh wounds, sprains, bruises, cuts, and burns, is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We use it, and always recommend it to our friends.

Health is Strength.—To prevent or conquer disease is one of the grandest attainments ever ever aimed at by man; and Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers will so cure coughs, colds, tickling in the throat and pulmonary complaints, as war and pestilence will destroy. Severe colds if not attended to sooner or later lead to incurable consumption, and the strength of the strongest man fails if neglected. The readiest and best means known for the cure of these complaints is "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers," which have been thoroughly tried for the last twenty years, and have never been known to fail. Singers and public speakers will also derive great benefit from the use of them. Sold by all medicine dealers, at 25 cts. per box.

Wooly Horses.—Wooly horses are not so rare as many suppose, not such great curiosities either, there are many to be found in various parts of the country, but we doubt if they will ever prove as valuable to their owners as the one exhibited by Barnum; we imagine their owners would consider them more valuable without the wool, for this rough and woolly state of the hair indicates that the horse is not in a healthy condition—probably hide bound, or suffering from some disease which occasions this unnatural appearance; in such cases use Sheridan's Condition Powders and Arabian Horse Remedy, it will purify the blood, correct the appetite, remove all obstructions from the lungs and liver, and give to the coat a sleek and shining appearance. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

DR. WHEELER'S
Compound Elixir of Phosphates & Calisaya.
There is no diseased condition of the body in which Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya may not be used with positive benefit. Being a Chemical Food and Nutritive Tonic it acts physiologically in the same manner as our diet. It perfects Digestion, Assimilation, and the formation of healthy blood. It sustains the vital force by supplying the waste constantly going on, of nerve and muscle, as the result of mental and physical exertion, enabling mind and body to undergo great labor without fatigue. Its action in building up constitutions broken down with Wasting Chronic Diseases, by fast living and bad habits is truly extraordinary, its effect being immediate in invigorating all the organs of the body. Phosphates being absolutely essential to cell formation and the growth of tissues, must for all time be Nature's great restorative and vitalizer. Sold by all druggists at $1.
