Persian Famine.

The famine in Persia which now seems to be drawing near its close has been productive of an amount of misery almost unparalleled in modern times. Captain Pierson, an Englishman who has recently travelled in that unhappy country, describes the last stage of the famine as worse than the first. On his journey from Shiraz to Teheran he found the road strewn with half-eaten corpses; cannibalism was very prevalent, and starvation had aroused the usually peaceful inhabitants to despair, and brigandage and other crimes of violence were rife all along the roads. In the capital alone, out of a population of eighty thousand, at least twenty thousand had fallen victims to the famine and its attendant diseases.

Why it is Cold.

Since early in January enormous fields of ice, sometimes 200 miles in breadth, have been passing the shores of Newfoundland in almost a continuous stream. The thickness of this field of ice is from twenty to thirty feet. The distance between Baffin's bay, where the ice-fields are formed, and the waters of the gulf stream, where the masses are dissolved, is from 1,500 to 2,000 miles. It may be affirmed without any exaggeration that a river of ice varying from 50 to 200 miles in breadth and 2,000 miles in length has been for three months pouring incessantly its contents into the tepid waters of the gulf stream. This doubtless explains the backwardness of the season.

Never Come Singly.

A most remarkable incident is related of a merchant of Ingersoll. At the time of the great fire which occurred in that place about six weeks ago he lost most of his goods. At the subsequent fire in the same place the balance of his stock was burned, on which there was a small insurance. The insurance money was invested in Montreal for more goods and unfortunately shipped on board the ill-fated steamer Kingston, and, of course, all consumed with the rest of the cargo of that steamer—leaving the poor man bereft of everything. Mishaps never come singly. It is related of another merchant from the west that he persuaded a wholesale house to keep their employees at work all the afternoon on Saturday in order to get his stock shipped on the Kingston, which was successfully accomplished.—Ontario.

The Weazel.—The Weazel has an eye like a hawk, and a tooth like a pickerel.

They kan see on all three sides of a right angle triangle board fence, at once, and kan bite through a side ov sole leather.

They alwus sleep with one eye open, and the other on the wink, and are quicker than the spirits ov turpentine and a lighted match.

It is no disgrace for a streak ov litening tew strike at a weasel and miss him.

If i owned a weasel, litening mite strike at him all day for 50 cents a clap.

I have tried tew kill them in a stun wall with a rifle, but they would dodge the ball, when it got within six inches ov them, and stick their heads out ov another krack, three feet further oph.

They will kill 14 chickens in one night, and take off the blood with them, leaving the corpse behind.

I hunted 3 weeks for a weasel once (it is now six years ago,) and knu just whare he was all the time, and hain't got him yet.

I offered 10 dollars reward for ham, and hold the stakes yet.

Every boy in the naborhood waz after that weasel nite and day, and i had two withdraw the reward to keep from breaking up the distrikt skool.

The Skoolmaster threatened tew su me if i didn't, and i did it, for i hate a law suit rather wuss than i do a weasel.

Weasels hav got no wisdom, but hav got what is sometimes mistaken for it; they have got cunning.

Cunning stands in the same relation tew wisdom that a tadpole duz to a frog; ee may get to be a frog if he keeps on growing, but he ain't one now.—Josh Billings.

On the Tramp.

The army worm is on the march in Tennessee, and carries everything before it. No mortal enginery is sufficient to stay the course of the phalanx of vermin when once on its course of destruction. Near Nashville, Tenn., they crossed a river and invaded a field of rye and swept it to the ground. The man who owned grain fields fiveond mustered his men, and tried to stay the horrid heat. He dug a deep ditch and filled it with water, and scattered straw along the bank and set it on fire, and yet straggling millions of the worms got safely through his lines, and mustered for a fresh onset.

A traveler was making a pedestrian tour of the Alps, when suddenly, in a narrow path, he came face to face with a large brown bear. He drew a revolver and was about to fire, when, to his amazement, the bear cried out, "Don't fire!" It turned out that the pretended bear was a man employed by some guides who sent him out dressed in a bear skin when they had a timid traveler to escort. At a preconcerted spot the bear would rush upon them and when put to flight by the exertions of the guides, the traveler never failed to reward their courage and devotion by a handsome present, of which the bear received a liberal share.

The Lumber Market.—A still further rise in the price of lumber is predicted. It is expected that at least one hundred millions of lumber will be shipped this season to South American ports from the St. Lawrence, and the shipment of deals to England will be limited, only, by the supplies. A further advance has been established in deals, which are higher now than was ever before known.

Off for Manitoba.—Capt. Crysler left Gananoque for Manitoba last Wednesday. He goes to take charge of a Government steamer which is to ply on a route somewhere in the vicinity of Fort Garry.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis and Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diptheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he received a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See Lancet, 1st December, 1864.
