TOWN AND COUNTRY.

THURSDAY EVEN'G, JULY 4, 1872.

☞ SEE FIRST AND FOURTH PAGES.

THE probabilities are that there won't be any frost in this vicinity to-night.

SO.—We met one man this week who didn't ask us: "Is it warm enough to suit you?"

THE Montreal Telegraph Company have opened offices at Cambray and Oakwood, Ont.

WARM.—This morning early we had a fall of rain again, but the weather is as heated as ever—or warmer yet. More rain is coming.

ST. ANDREW'S HALL.—The programme for the concert and readings on Monday Evening next, in the new St. Andrew's Hall, will be published to-morrow.

LORD DUFFERIN.—The new Governor-General expressed a desire to see the camp at Laprairie; his visit was made there to-day. His Excellency and suite arrived in Montreal last evening, and stopped at the St. Lawrence Hall.

TO-DAY being the glorious, pious and immortal Fourth of July our telegraphic despatches are rather slim. They'll be full enough to-morrow of accounts of houses burnt down and people blown up by fire-works.

A RACE.—A race between the barges Mary Jane and Dundee is arranged to take place from this port to the Welland Canal, for $500. Both vessels are loading. They may not start at the same hour; but the decision rests on the time occupied by the voyage.

ACCIDENT AT BELLEVILLE.—On the return home of the 15th Argylls of Belleville, and as the train approached the station, a number of the men fired blank cartridges from their rifles. By some mistake one of the men had inserted a ball cartridge in his gun and a horse near the railway track was shot.

DEMISE.—We regret to see in the Toronto papers of yesterday notices of the death of the wife of Mr. F. C. Draper, late of this city. Mrs. Draper was an estimable lady, well known in this city, where the news of her death will awaken many sincere regrets.

CAMP SUPPLIES.—Much of the success of a Camp depends on the care expended on the feeding, clothing and housing of the men. We have listened to some righteous complaints as to clothing, but on all hands hear the utmost satisfaction was given by the groceries supplied to the Camp. Mr. Frank Rigney, of Ferguson's Buildings, Princess Street, was the contractor, and officers and men unite in commending the quality of his goods and the courtesy and care with which he attended to their wants. Mr. Rigney is a rising young merchant and certain to succeed in business.

THE ITALIAN OPERA TROUPE.—We are enabled to state that this world-renowned troupe of operatic artists will give one grand Operatic Concert in full costume at the City Hall on Thursday, July 11th. We would say that many of the artists of this troupe have a world-wide reputation. Mme. Cerani, prima soprano, has appeared in grand opera at St. Petersburg, at Milan, and at Covent Garden, London. Mlle. Lami is fresh from the Academy of Music, New York, as is also Sig. Nicolao, who held the responsible position of Director of Music for nearly twenty years at that popular place of opera. Sig. Baccei, tenore robusto, and Sig. Reina, baritone, are artists of real and and acknowledged merit, and, without naming other members of the company, would add that they all have an established reputation as operatic artists of the first order of merit. The box sheet will be open at the City Book Store on Monday morning next, for the sale of reserved seats.

SCISSORINKTUMS.

General Tom Thumb is worth $500,000.

Scott's novels have a slashing sale in Germany.

Napoleon III. is now addressed as "His Excellency."

Miss Fuss was an important witness in a recent trial in Baltimore.

Burden, of Troy, has made $11,000,000 out of his patent horse-shoe.

M. Victorien Sardou, the famous author of "Rabagas," is reported engaged to be married.

Gen. Dan. Ruggles, of Fredericksburg, Va., owns three hundred thousand acres of land in Texas.

Mr. Spurgeon is said to be quite willing if asked, to stand for Lambeth, and to enter upon Parliamentary life.

The late duke of Bedford made over £200,000 by introducing the Emma mine stock into the London market.

Confectioners, make the paradoxical statement that at this time of year the best way to get rid of fruits is to preserve them.

The Boston Traveler has discovered a prediction on the re-election of Grant: "A tanner will last you eight years."

Dr. Mary Walker is creating a sensation on the streets of Washington by appearing in a Dolly Varden coat and pantaloons.

Dr. Bratton, who has been restored to Canadian soil, thinks that one reason why the Federal spies discovered his whereabouts is because the more he tried to conceal his name the more he was obliged to show his address.

Scotland has a newspaper which is printed on the road from Edinburg to Glasgow in a wagon belonging to the paper, which contains a printing machine, cases of type, and quick compositors. During the journey the edition for the provinces is worked off, with the addition of the news and telegrams received on the road.

MILITARY SCHOOLS.—Since the formation of Military Schools in 1864, 6,285 certificates of qualification in drill have been obtained by the large number of cadets who have passed through these schools. There are at present eight authorized schools of military instruction: six for infantry drill, and two schools of gunnery. The schools are situated at Kingston, Quebec, Montreal, Fredericton and Halifax.

He Did and He Did'nt.

In a speech delivered by Gladstone on the 14th inst., in the British Commons, he intimated his respectful protest against the assertion that assent to the Treaty was exacted from the Dominion of Canada by Her Majesty's Government have neither the power nor the will to exact anything whatever from the Dominion of Canada.

Sir John's organ, better informed than Gladstone, said (editorially) yesterday:

Canada was definitely called upon to pronounce for or against British connection in the matter of the Treaty of Washington. It was not until he saw that further resistance would be fatal to the colonial tie that Sir John Macdonald agreed to to support the Treaty.

From all which, combined with other claims of the Tories, we learn:—

1. That Sir John, in helping to frame the Washington Treaty, proved himself to be a distinguished statesman and an able diplomatist, and, thereby, did great honor to Canada.

2. That nevertheless the Treaty he helped to frame at Washington was of such a nature that Sir John for a very long time positively refused to support it, and only consented to do so at last under pressure.

3. That as a matter of fact Sir John did not help to frame the Treaty at all, inasmuch as it was wholly dictaed from London.

4. That Gladstone did not exact Canada's assent to the Treaty.

5. That Sir John only assented to the Treaty because he was definitely called upon to do so or pronounce against British connection—because he found that further resistance would be fatal to the colonial tie.

In brief, it was brilliant statesmanship in Sir John to help to frame a Treaty that at the same time he did not help to frame, and to sign a Treaty that he immediately afterwards wished to reject; that he showed his loyalty by accepting this Treaty when definitely called on by the Home Government so to do, though the Premier of the Home Government positively asserts that he was never called to do anything of the sort. What Tory in the land but must feel proud of so brilliant and clear headed a leader.

Death of Charles Lever.

The following is an extract from a private letter dated Trieste, Austria, June 4: "You will of course have known by this time that Charles Lever is now a name of the past. He died quietly and without a struggle, in his sleep, on Saturday last, between 12 and 2 p.m. When I saw his remains, a little before 5, he was lying with his coat and waistcoat off, on his right side, with his head resting on his right hand. But for the perfect stillness and the gray look upon the face, he might have been sleeping only. The heart's action simply died out. Poor fellow! it was the death he wished for, as he greatly dreaded a long and painful struggle. We laid his remains beside those of his wife, last evening, at a little after 6. Her death broke his heart. From the time she died his recent illness dated, and he has remained not long behind her. I never saw a man who attached to himself those who were at all intimate with him as he did. I knew him but for a short period, and I really loved him. He had an immense funeral. He left his affairs thoroughly arranged; the very money for the expenses of the interment was found in an envelope, with these words, 'This modest sum I wish expended on my funeral.'"

A Sad Dog.

A genuine full-blooded Exquimaux dog, right from the native snow and ice, makes a very lively pot. A Cincinnati lady brought from Europe some months ago and turned him loose in the house. During his first two weeks of his residence in the lap of luxury, he tore up $500 worth of lace curtains, gnawed holes in all the carpets in the house, ruined all the upholstery, scratched the gilding off the mirror and picture frames, and smashed unrecorded quantities of glass and crockery ware. He has frightened half the children of the neighborhood into fits, exterminated the cats for half a dozen blocks, and made night continually hideous by his propensity for baying at the moon.

A SEDUCTIVE RAT TRAP.—A man in Pennsylvania has invented a rat trap that is made to operate upon the selfish passions of the poor rat, and lure him into trouble. The Mechanic and Farmer, in a description of the trap, says that a mirror is set in the back part of the device beyond the bait, and as his ratship is out on a foraging expedition, he espies the bait, and at the same time believes his own image in the mirror to be another rat making for it on the opposite side. This is too much for rat nature to stand and he cool over, so he rushes for the bait. But alas! The noble rat has fallen; for a sharp, two tined steel fork has come down upon his luckless head and has penetrated through skin and skull, and in the brain where one short moment before rankled avarice, now rankles two of death's arrows. But that is not all. The gullet down which was expected a sweet morsel to pass, is now pierced and bleeding, for another spear has entered it from below.
