Startling Bear Hunt.

About four miles from the flourishing sea port town of Shediac lives Frederick Bateman, who farms and lumbers. In the rear of his farm is a dense forest, and in its secluded depths bears, big, black, and ferocious, do wander about. Finding the animals becoming troublesome, Mr. Bateman sets a couple of traps near his residence. Shortly after, he heard the discharge of a gun, and on examining into the cause he found a good sized bear shot dead in the trap. While looking at the animal he heard one of his steers roaring, and departed to look up the cause of this fresh outcry, when he beheld the steer and another bear in deadly conflict. As soon as the bear saw him he left the steer and made at Bateman, who discharged both barrels of a double barreled gun full at the animal and killed him. Having satisfactorily disposed of No. 2, he heard the gun in the other trap go off, and thinking that by this time affairs were looking lively, he went to the trap, and found the third bear giving his last kick. Three bears in one day was quite enough to found a stirring tale upon but Mr. Bateman thinks the vicinity is not quite bare of them yet. He believes two more of the same gang lurk around, and he expects to hear from them shortly. —St. John Tribune.

Economizing Wood.

As humanity multiplies, animals and trees must diminish. Already the forests are being so rapidly destroyed by the progress of art, fires and carelessness of proprietors, as to excite an apprehension of a scarcity of timber very much sooner than formerly imagined. In short, wood for all purposes is already dear and becoming more costly.

Tens of thousands of sawmills are rasping sawdust enough annually to freight a navy, a very small part of which is utilized in packing ice. It might and ought to be all saved and manufactured into planks, floor boards, and moulded into vessels, furniture and hundreds of forms in which it might be used instead of going lamentably to waste.

When mixed with insoluble glues and pressed as it may be, there is no calculating the profit that is yet to be realized in manufacturing saw dust—a new source of industry that would give employment to immense members of laborers and ingenious artists in the future. Those who first begin the enterprise will reap a larger harvest than the inventer of paper collars, which has grown to colossal proportions, and still coming fortunes even for small adventurers.

Free Public Library in New York.

It is pleasant to turn from the contemplation of the rampant scoundrelism of Gotham, to consider the purposes and benefactions of men who, having made large fortunes in legitimate business, are glad to recognise that they too, are stewards, and bound to return in some form for the public weal that which public patronage has given them. Among this class the city is proud to rank Mr. James Lennox, founder of that beautiful building now in process of erection, which is soon to be the location of a free public library. The edifice faces Central Park, on the corner of Seventeenth street. It covers nearly an entire block, and is one of the most substantial structures on the continent. The beams, floors, &c., are all iron while the stairways are of solid stone, the exterior walls being of light granite. The gentleman who is responsible for this fine architectural venture is one of our wealthiest merchants; yet he is but little known to the public except through his great gifts and for his valuable collection of rare book, the same which are to form the nucleus of the great free library which is soon to be opened to the public. It is declared by eminent biographers that Mr. Lennox's literary collection is unsurpassed by anything of its kind, either in this country or in Europe. Certainly it is equalled by very few.

Prison Congress.

The arrangements for the International Prison Congress to meet in London are now complete. Seventy representatives have been appointed by the United States, including twenty commissioners, Chief Justice Chase among the number. The Congress, which originated with the United States, will consist partly of official delegates appointed by the Governments of their respective countries, and partly of representatives of national committees. The Government of every continental power in Europe—except Portugal—has appointed commissioners to attend. The British Government, too, do not propose exactly to appoint commissioners, but they have prepared elaborate statistics for the use of the Congress, and have promised General, Schenck, who brought the matter before them, that every facility would be afforded the commissioners for visiting the English prisons, and making themselves acquainted with the English prison system.—Star.

English Strikes.

The London carpenters have negatived, by an overwhelming majority, the proposal to refer the question of the nine hours movement to arbitration. In consequence, the master builders locked out their men on the 19th inst.

The Liverpool steamship companies have just conceded an increase of 6d a day to the stevedores, making a total wages of 5s per diem. The Cunard company refused, on the ground that their employment was permanent and not intermittent. Twelve hundred men then struck work. Their demands were granted for the present.

London has had a narrow escape from a total suspension of the whole of its vast carrying traffic. The carmen, numbering many thousands, sent a memorial to their employers asking for a settled rate of £1 5s per week, their present pay ranging from 16s to £1 5s. The masters did not give an answer sufficiently promptly for the men and a strike was imminent.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard, and to those who have never used it we can confidently say, that it is the only reliable and perfected preparation to restore GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken; the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean; it removes all eruptions and dandruff, and by its tonic properties prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair glands. By its use the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair that splendid glossy appearance so much admired by all. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Mass., says, "the constituents are pure and carefully selected for excellent quality, and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." We publish a treatise on the hair, which we send free by mail upon application, which contains commendatory notices from clergymen, physicians, the press, and others. We have made the study of the hair and its diseases a specialty for years, and know that we make the most effective preparation for the restoration and the preservation of the hair, extant, and so acknowledged by the best Medical and Chemical Authority.
