Korn Kobb Soliloquises After the Bazaar.

AIR—YOUNG LOCHINVAR.

Oh, the blessed Bazaar has gone down to its rest,
After scooping me clean out of all I possessed,
Save some wearing apparel and a night-cap or two,
There isn't a thing that they havn't gone through;
Oh, too good, and too kind, and too pressing by far
Were these charming young ladies who ran the Bazaar.

They'd list not to reason, they would not take no,
It was down with your name and pay up as you go,
A dollar, a quarter, a half, just the same,
Till they'd leave you without the first cent to your name,
Then they'd pounce on the next whose unfortunate star
Had led him, poor devil, to see the Bazaar.

Whatever they asked you to buy, faith you must,
And no tick would they give, 'twas just down with the dust,
For work-boxes, aprons, sweet pictures and pies,
And pin cushions too, of most wonderful size,
And bouquets in dozens these ladies by gar,
Walked into you much at St. Alban's Bazaar.

You might swear up and down that you hadn't a red,
Or pretend to be deaf and not hear what was said,
You might vow you'd be back in a minute or so,
That you wished to get change at the place down below,
You might tie till your face was as black as the tar,
But it wouldn't go down at St. Alban's Bazaar.

So here am I homeless with nary a cent,
For my landlady swears I must take to a tent,
'Twill be rather cold quarters this time of the year,
But what I'm to do else is not very clear,
Hold on, though! I have it! I will! yes, by gar,
For my own private benefit, run a Bazaar.

But seriously now, when such for womanhood,
Stood pleading the cause we all know to be good;
What man would their attempts to despise
Were only for love of their light laughing eyes?
What man but would vote them the angels they are?
Not one, no, not one, at St. Alban's Bazaar?

And now, in conclusion, all honor to those,
Who successfull led the bazaar to a close:
Who gathered their workers from hither and thence,
Who spare neither trouble nor time nor expense
In the years yet to come many near and afar,
Will be the fair ladies who ran the Bazaar.

Taught a Lesson.

For some time a young married "gentleman," living not far from Park-road, Liverpool, has been paying attentions to a young married lady residing in that neighborhood. At last he warmly pressed her to meet him clandestinely. At first she objected, but eventually, after consulting her husband and several friends, she consented. Prince's-road was fixed upon as the place of tryst. Accordingly, on the evening, punctually at the hour fixed (7.30), the married lover arrived at the place agreed upon, smoking a cigar, and carrying an umbrella, which was a miracle of leanness. He was met—but not by the lady herself. Her irate husband kept the tryst, and he remorselessly seized the expectant Adonis by the collar. This was the signal for the appearance of the friends, who saluted the amorous swain with a well directed shower of rotten eggs and small bags of flour, which speedily made a change in his personal appearance. One enthusiastic youth adorned the delinquent's glossy curls with Stockholm tar, nicely rubbed in with a good brush. When at last he got away he rushed off wildly, leaving his hat in possession of the enemy. When last seen, a few minutes after the occurrence, he was dashing at racing speed down Admiral street, minus hat, cigar, and umbrella.

The Allan Mail Contract.

The main features of the Mail contract with the Allan's line submitted by Government to the House are the payment of an annual subsidy of a hundred and twenty-six thousand five hundred and thirty-three dollars, payable quarterly. For this, the Allan's line is to carry a weekly mail twenty-six times each way to and from Quebec, with vessels no smaller nor less powerful than the SS. Hibernian. They are never to approach Cape Race when it is dangerous to do so. The Allan's incur no liability if the mails are lost by legitimate dangers of the sea. When vessels sail from Portland they shall call at Halifax. The contract is from 1st April, 1873, to the same period of 1878; a year's notice to be given of the abandonment or continuance of the contract.

STRANGE.—The following remarkable story is going the rounds of the English press. If true, it is stranger than fiction, and affords another illustration of the dark ways and evil mach nations of London rogues. A respectable solicitor from the Isle of Wight arrived at the Inns of Court Hotel, London, on Monday, Feb. 24. The next evening he went out to visit the Queen's Theatre, and did not return. On Wednesday the manager of the hotel received a letter from the solicitor, saying that he had been kidhapped on leaving the theatre, and was confined in a loathsome den somewhere in London—near the river, he imagined, for he could hear the movements of steamers and the occasional rumbling of trains. Letters have also been received by the gentleman's relatives, but they give no clue whatever as to his whereabouts. On receipt of the letter the manager of the Ins of Court Hotel communicated with the Bow-street detectives, who have used their best endeavors to solve the mystery, but without success. Bills have been circulated offering a reward of $100 for any information that should lead to the discovery of the gentleman, but up to the present time there appears to have been no response.

The Controverted Elections Bill

Sir John A. Macdonald's Controverted Election Bill provided for the establishment of an election court in each Province composed of three Judges, each of whom may try election petitions, and may refer any point of doubt to the Election Court. An appeal lies from the Judge to the Election Court. When a Dominion Court of Appeal is established, the Judges of that Court shall exclusively try Election Petition. In the meantime the Lieut.-Governor of each Province may issue an order appointing three Judges to form the Election Court. If he fails to issue this order this Governor-General may appoint barristers to perform the duties of the Election Court. The Act is to come into force on the 1st of January next.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL.—Prince Louis Napoleon, on March 10th, visited the Queen at Windsor, and lunched with Her Majesty and Princess Beatrice. His Imperial Highness was accompanied from London by Viscount Sydney; and in returning from the Castle to the railway station he was also accompanied by Prince Christian. A demonstration—which seemed to gratify the young Prince—was accorded him on the platform, where many ladies and gentlemen had assembled.

BREAKFAST—EPPS'S COCOA GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London."

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London."—Cassell's Household Guide.

"Of late years advertising has assumed a very important phase—in fact, has become a science in business, and no one has done more, or as much, to make it so, as Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York. Their prompt and systematic mode of transacting their business has gained the confidence of all large advertisers, and has raised them in a few years from one of the smallest to the leading advertising house in the world."—Maple Leaves.

Arnot's Arnica Anodoyne is unrivalled as a pain-reliever. It quickly subdues pain of every kind, both internal and external. From Neuralgia and Acute Rheumatism down to Chilblains its efficency has been thoroughly tested and proved, while it has seldom ever failed to cure such internal disorders as Cholera, Cramps and Colic. Inflammatory affections of the throat and chest are cured by a few applications. Full directions for use are given with each bottle. Try it.

Commercial School, Harbour Grace, Newfoundland.—Mr. Jas. I. Fellows.—Dear Sir: I am very happy to acknowledge the benefit of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. For upwards of twelve months I suffered most acutely from a severe cough, and a most violent Asthma, for the relief of which I tried everything I could hear of. I at last commenced the use of your Syrup, and after taking one bottle was able to attend to my avocation. I continued according to directions till I had used nine bottles, which effected a perfect cure. With much gratitude, yours truly, M. SCULLEY, Teacher.

Is health worth having? If it is protect it—it is a jewel as easily lost as virtue, and in many cases as difficult to recover. In this climate, and more particularly at this season of the year, people are very apt to take cold and suffer from sore throat, coughs, spitting of blood and pulmonary complaints generally, which if not checked immediately lead to serious consequences. The question arises—which is the quickest and most effectual remedy? Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers have been before the public for twenty years, and have always given perfect satisfaction, and invariably effect permanent cures when taken in season. Sold by all medicine dealers and country stores, at 25 cts. per box.

Horses Saved.—The lives of thousands of horses have been saved during the past year, and the credit is due to "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." This preparation is being extensively used, and exacts from all the highest praise. Nothing of the kind has ever before been half as successful or given such universal satisfaction; it cannot be equalled. We can confidently recommend it, and would advise all who own horses to keep a supply of it on hand—it may be the means of saving your horse's life. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., Proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Wheeler's Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya.—"After having used your Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, for over two years in my daily practice, I must give it my unqualified approbation. During a practice of over twenty years I have used many scientifically prepared compounds, made to fulfil the same therapeutical indications as your Elixir, but none of them has proved with me as valuable as yours. To the medical profession and to the public I would especially commend it as the best remedy with which I am acquainted for the successful treatment of that large and constantly increasing class of over-worked and nerve-exhausted women.
"Yours truly,
"N. WATKYNS BUEL, M.D.
