(Special Despatches per Montreal Line.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—A party who gave the name of Henry Williams, and who was arrested on the 9th of March for attempting to rob the Corn Exchange Bank, for which offence he is now serving a term of four years in the Penitentiary, was recognized to-night as the notorious Dick Moore. He hails from Quebec, where he with Jack Farrell, Spider Esmond and Dan Daley robbed a large bank and also a steamboat on the St. Lawrence River. When his time expires here he will be sent to Quebec to serve his time there.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Arrived: SS. Victoria, from Glasgow.

A heavy fire is raging in the village of Blackstone, Rhode Island, to-day. Loss so far $25,000. Thirty families are left homeless.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—At Dexter Park to-day, Goldsmith Maid, Gloster and Bashaw, jr., trotted for a purse of five thousand dollars, mile heats best three in five. Goldsmith Maid won in three straight heats, Gloster second; time, 2:23½, 2:18, 2:23½.

A stock train on the Chicago & Alton RR. ran off the switch at Normal, Ill., last night, and the caboose, which was filled with passengers, and ten cars of stock were ditched. Five men injured, two very severely. Twenty head of cattle were killed.

DES MOINES, Oct. 16.—Definite returns received up to this hour, midnight, in Iicate a Republican majority of about 21,000.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16.—The figures made at midnight by both parties are exceedingly closed.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—A correspondent of the Times, writing from Carthagena on the 13th inst., says, on that day the insurgent squadron sailed out to attack the Government fleet when Admiral Lobos ordered a retreat and was pursued for over an hour.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17, 1 a.m.—For the upper lakes south-east to north-east winds, falling barometer, cloudy and possibly rainy weather.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The morning papers in their financial columns take a very encouraging view of the situation. At the same time the opinion is expressed that after the rapid advancement in stocks during the past few days, a reaction and lower prices again would not be surprising.

VERY LATEST.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Arrived, SS. Rome from Malaga and Cadiz.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17, 10 a.m.—Probabilities for lower lakes north east winds neering to south-east and increasing, possibly to brisk, followed by cloud and rain.

Terrible Prairie Fire.

TWENTY-FIVE MILES SWEPT—TEN CHILDREN CAUGHT IN THE FLAMES.

Omaha, Oct. 16.—A terrible prairie fire swept over twenty-five miles of country, near the Omaha and South-western Railway, in Saline and Jefferson counties, Nebraska, on Tuesday. Many houses and large quantities of grain were destroyed at Wilbur.

Ten school children were caught in the flames; three perished on the spot, three more will die, and four are dreadfully maimed, but will recover.

Mrs. Mordy, mother of three of the children, ran to help them and received fatal injuries.

GOOD EXCURSION.—A California town is anxious to get its doctors to repeat a visit East which they made last summer, to attend a medical convention. They were absent about two months, and on their return they found that all their patients had recovered, the drug stores had closed, the nurses had opened dancing schools, the cemetery was cut up into building lots, the undertakers had gone to making fiddles, and the hearse had been gaudily painted and sold for a circus wagon.

THE MEMBER FOR ADDINGTON.

Our esteemed and able contemporary, the Kingston Daily News, reads us a severe lecture on the impropriety of indulging in any remarks on the political position of the member for Addington, as it seems to assert a prescriptive right to monopolize all reference to the honorable gentleman as a public man. We regret having "inadvertently" poached upon our contemporary's preserves, and will in future dutifully ask its permission before we again make use of Mr. SHIBLEY's name. In a moment of thoughtlessness we fell into the error of supposing that all public men are open to criticism by the public prints, but it seems that only Corruptionist organs are allowed the privilege of discussing the acts of members of Parliament.

"The fact," says the News, "of Mr. SHIBLEY being sufficiently independent "to think for himself at the prorogation, "gives the party some encouragement to "make another attempt to induce him to "take a dose of Grit patent medicine, and "submit himself to their dictation. We "have no doubt that Mr. Shibley will re-"gard this admonition in the same light "as he has hitherto done—simply a piece "of impertinence, and—nothing more." The 'Grit patent medicine' which seems so nauseous to the organ-grinders' stomach, is simply thinking for one's self, and no wonder, as that is a mode of intellectual exercise foreign to the Corruptionist mind. The admonition to Mr. SHIBLEY to again think for himself, the organ hopes he will regard as an impertinence, as Sir JOHN can do all the thinking required, and wants his followers to blindly obey him. Mr. SHIBLEY must feel flattered by the organ's measure of him. He cannot but be gratified to learn that it is an 'impertinence' for him to think for himself, instead of allowing himself to be used as a marionette, Sir JOHN pulling the strings. But this is not the first time that the organ has said uncomplimentary things to Mr. SHIBLEY. During the election campaign in 1872 it thus passed judgment on the qualifications of the candidates for Addington.

"To the supporters of the Governmet we would say that Mr. Lapum has consistently proved his sincerity by his acts; there has been no playing 'fast and loose' with him for the purpose of gaining temporary popularity or Grit votes; he came out as a Conservative, and has voted steadily and squarely with the Government, and this should gain him the gratitude of his friends. Mr. Shibley also, is an annexationist; he has never made any secret of his principles, he may possibly do so now to gain support, but that is not honest; if he believes in the benefits of annexation, this would be the time to proclaim it on the housetops. It might be unpopular at first, but if really a benefit, would in the end succeed. So far, however, from avowing this principle, Mr. Shibley shirks it from a fear of offending the loyalty of the electors of Addington. He may do so if he pleases, but the man who hides his principles for the sake of currying favor with the electors ought not to be the man for Addington. Honesty and consistency in politics, as in everything else, ought to have its reward. And if so the electors of Addington will have no difficulty in deciding to vote for a straightforward man in Mr. Lapum.—Daily News, 16th August, 1872.

And, now, in October, 1873, after denouncing Mr. SHIBLEY as an "annexationist, one who "hides his principles for the sake of currying favor with the electors," one who has neither "honesty or consistency in politics," it sings to his praise and glory, and warns others against trespassing on a political character so altogether faultless. By the experience of August, 1872, Mr. SHIBLEY will be able to estimate at its true value its present championship. Votes are a scarce and valuable article just now, as the flittings of Ministers in all directions abundantly attest. Even Mr. DECOSMOS had to be escorted all the way from Toronto to the Capital by the Minister for the Interior, to prevent him, if possible, "thinking for himself."

The Evangelical Alliance has not separated without the proverbial fly getting into its pot of ointment. The Dean of Canterbury assisted in the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at a Presbyterian Church, whereupon one Dr. TOZER chides him for so grave a dereliction of duty, in a letter to the Episcopal Bishop of New York. A little flurry of excitement thereupon arose in ecclesiastical circles, Dr. TOZER rather getting the worst of the epistolary fight over the matter. It may not be the duty of secular journalists to intervene in such quarrels, but it may not be unbecoming for us to remark that, if Dr. TOZER's views are generally shared in by the English clergy, of whom he is one, the Evangelical Alliance is scarcely likely to be productive of very large benefits to the Established Church. If Protestants cannot join, without laying themselves open to the charge of heresy, in partaking of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, the professed unity of the different sections of the Alliance would seem to be but a fiction.

The Ottawa Times devotes a deal of its space and attention to very savage attacks on Mr. GOLDWIN SMITH, and is rapidly earning a title to the name of "gutter-organ." Mr. SMITH's offence is, in the Times' eyes, that he is the writer of "Current Events" in The Canadian Monthly, in which the Government are vigourously condemned. Perhaps the flow of our contemporary's abuse might be stopped by a perusal of the statement in the current number of the Monthly that Mr. SMITH is not the writer of the articles in question, but a "Canadian long and intimately acquainted with the political "and commercial affairs of the country."

CORRUPT PREMIERS VS. CORRUPT JUDGES.

The Toronto Corruptionist organ, in an article on the agitation in New York for a return to the old method of selecting judges by executive appointment which was abolished in 1848, much to the regret of every far-seeing well-wisher of his country, says:

"It must be dispiriting to the better class of citizens, however, to learn that the political managers on both sides are averse to a change which would diminish the spoils of office and relax the hold they have upon a certain class of their tools and followers. The Empire State will have made a great stride in advance if she will but determine to remedy an abuse which is a scandal not only at home but in every part of the civilized world where the doings of the New York judiciary are known. We thank our stars that in Canada we, inheriting monarchical institutions, have been saved from such an application of the elective principle as would give us a judicial bench such as that of the State of New York. We have no worse wish for our neighbors than that they may adopt our better system at the earliest possible moment."

This pharisaical cant is out of order here until we purge ourselves of the gross iniquities which the Corruptionist organs are now zealously defending, and which are a "scandal not only at home but in "every part of the civilized world where "the doings of the Canadian Government "are known." Time was when we could conscientiously thank God that we were not as our Republican neighbors were, but that time has passed and will never return until we mete out adequate punishment to those offenders who have made Canadian politics a synonym for disgraceful corruption the world over. It may sound very well to denounce the New York judiciary as corrupt, but it hardly lies in the Canadian Tory mouth to do so when it, at the same time, proclaims that Ministers did nothing wrong in perpetrating the grossest acts of corruption known during the past hundred years. The corruptionist organs may stigmatize as 'scandalous' the purchase of a decision from Judge BARNARD by TWEED or FISK, but that were a venial offence compared with the sale by, and purchase from, a Premier of a gigantic public franchise. When we punish this latter crime, it will be time enough for Canadians to return to the denunciation of the former. As it now stands, the people of the United States can afford to look down on us with pitying contempt. They whipped their corrupt judges, for the most part, off the Bench. They promptly investigated their Pacific scandal—held up the delinquents to public scorn and drove them into private life. There, notwithstanding Canadian self-sufficiency and hypocritical purism, public opinion is sound, and the national blood comparatively pure, even if loathsome pustules do occasionally break out over the body politic. But here, if the advice of the Administration organs be followed and Ministers sheltered, we must confess that the majority of Canadians are saturated with corruption and the national morals rotten to the core. Let us trust that the moral nature of Canada will re-assert itself, and throw off the pestilent humours which now threatens its entire destruction. Then we can pity the corruption of our neighbours, but not till then.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT.

Among the menaces with which Ministers are threatening members into voting them injured innocents is, it appears, the bugaboo of Dissolution. The terrors of a general election are being held up before the week-kneed to bring them to terms. "The man," says the Ottawa Corruptionist organ, "who believes that an adverse "vote in the coming session would not be "met by dissolution is a fool." Not so great a fool, we venture to think, as the writer quoted, who ought to know that Sir JOHN MACDONALD has no right to demand, and could not be constitutionally granted a dissolution in the present juncture. The Parliament is a new one, elected under Sir JOHN'S auspices; and every tyro in constitutional history knows that, condemned by a recently elected Parliament chosen by the People on his own appeal, a First Minister cannot be justly granted a dissolution. Should the Government fall, the new Premier has a right to ask, and be granted, a dissolution; while the Governor can at any time dissolve Parliament of his own motion. But that he would, under the circumstances, grant Sir JOHN a dissolution is out of the question. The threat of dissolution is, however, in strange contrast with the boasted majority of thirty of which we read so much in the Tory prints.

The wheezy old organ of Leader lane ascends the tripod, and is thus oracular:

"There cannot remain a single doubt in the mind of any man cognisant of the current events which have transpired in Canada during the last three months in reference to the perfect vindication of the Government, from all connection with the charges levelled against them by HUNTINGTON, relating to the Pacific Railway charter."

"Current events which have transpired" is thoroughly Leader-esque, but the "perfect vindication of the Government from "all connection with the HUNTINGTON "charges" puts the comic almanac to shame. Ministers are entirely innocent; they never thought of a Pacific Railway, never heard of a Pacific Charter, never promised the Pacific contract to Sir HUGH ALLAN, never heard of such a man, and consequently, never received any election funds from him. The Pacific Railway, Sir HUGH ALLAN, the Charter sale, are vile fabrications of the 'nasty Grits,' and exist only in the Grittish imagination; and, besides, Sir JOHN MACDONALD was in China at the time alleged, and could not have written the letters charged. Of course. The thing is too plain to deceive. The next the Leader will be at will be to prove that the sun revolves around the earth, or that Mr. GEORGE BROWN is the leader of the English Republicans.

THAT SKATING RINK.—Last night the adjourned meeting was held, but it was not as well attended as the last owing to other engagements and attractions. The following material of the old Rink was reported as still available for service: 63 fence posts, 13 benches, 10 lamp stands, flag staff-planer, 8 lamps. The Ward Committees are to be notified at once, and the work of obtaining subscriptions will begin.

SOUTH HURON ELECTION.

The figures to hand yesterday indicated the return of the Tory candidate for the South Riding of Huron, and we frankly acknowledged a Ministerial defeat. The Mail went into ecstacies over the fancied triumph of the Corruptionists in a double leaded editorial with the flaming headings, "Glorious Victory," "Splendid Triumph of Liberal Conservatism in South Ontario," and declared that the result of the contest was a "great and noble victory which will send a cold chill to the "heart of the Grit Party and give additional buoyancy and vigour to the true "friends of honest and economical Government in Canada." Honest Government! God save the mark! The election, said the organ, showed that even a Grit constituency expressed confidence in the High Priest of Corruption, Sir JOHN MACDONALD, and would have "a telling "effect throughout the Dominion." In such whoops of delight did the organ yesterday indulge; but it was cooking its hare before it caught it, the full returns giving a majority to the Reform candidate! The organ to-day "sings small," and weakly pipes out that "the substitution of one man for another in the Ontario Legislature is not of very material "consequence!" Ye Gods! After the bill-poster headings, the double-leaded type of yesterday, what a fall is here. Of no consequence! It was of mighty consequence yesterday, but quite immaterial to-day. Shuffle the cards and deal again, Mr. Mail; and, by the way, never again whistle until you are out of the woods. It's dangerous, you know.

RIEL AN M. P.

RIEL, says the Toronto Administration organ, has been elected member for Provencher in the Commons, and thus is the cap-stone fittingly placed on the temple of the Nor' West iniquities of the Government. We shall refer to-morrow to this matter, merely remarking at present that this country is running a queer race, for between Pacific Scandals of the most profligate and unprecedented character and red-handed murderers sitting in its Parliament, it seems to be rapidly going to the dogs. It is time for every honest, loyal man to speak out, irrespective of Party.

FROM QUEBEC.

LORD DUFFERIN'S DEPARTURE—WHAT WILL HE DO AT OTTAWA?—THANKSGIVING DAY—BONFIRES OF ASHES?

(From our own Correspondent.)

QUEBEC, Oct. 15.—Lord Dufferin left this morning for Ottawa, the farewell ball taking place last evening at the Citadel. The Chronicle of this morning takes this occasion to pronounce a eulogy upon His Excellency, whom, it declares, is a gentleman fitted to grace the salons of a Grande Monarque, and a sterling man, who would command respect in a hovel. It speaks of the good sense, simplicity of character and general excellence of His Excellency, and then adroitly brings in the Railway Scandal, and with most remarkable cunning makes Sir John Macdonald and his comperes sharers in the good name of His Excellency. In all that is said of Lord Dufferin everybody who has any personal knowledge of the matter will join; but to argue that because he is a gentleman, and a man of integrity, that his ministers are likewise, or that they are honest men because His Excellency thinks so, is too much for even the Chronicle to do. The feeling here among the best people is, as I stated in my last, against the Government. The the soil is terribly "Gritty" down this way. To-morrow is to be observed here as a Thanksgiving Day, and it will be fun to visit the different Churches to hear this minister bless the Lord that his country is prosperous, and that it is ruled over by men of honest principle and purpose, while round the corner a rival bemoans the spirit of the times, and prays that the nation may be delivered from the evils that surround, and that the Government may be purged of corruption. One tells his people to ring their bells and burn their tar barrels, and the other bids his hearers to go home to their ash piles. Financial crises are said to be imminent, and there is a general distrust among money-lenders in Quebec, all of whom demand speedier payment and better security than ordinarily, and it is a current impression that money never was scarcer than it will be during the next six months. There are still a large number of visitors at the St. Louis, the large majority of whom are American tourists. The gaiety of the week, the Dufferin Sports on Monday, the Irish Bazaar and the Citadel Ball yesterday, Thanksgiving Day to-morrow, and additional attractions to come, keep the greater number, while others are just finishing up their annual vacations. The weather is unusualy bright and beautiful for this season of the year, and is admirably adapted to drives to the various points of interest around about Quebec.

WILLARD.

Says a contemporary:—

"The action of the Ontario Grits [in passing a stringent bribery law] was that of a thief, who, having broken into a Merchant's or Banker's office, fastens the front door to exclude the police while he plunders the safe, and at the same time leaves open a side door or window to secure his own escape."

This is a curious specimen of political logic. We fail to see how the Ontario Election law can favour the ins more than the outs; how it locks the front door and, at the same time, leaves a side door or window open. We might be allowed to remark that the police might get in at that side window or door, if they knew their business. And further, that plundering the public safe, according to the organ, must be the object of Sir JOHN in promising to extend the Ontario law to the Dominion elections. And lastly, that the Grits were not in power when the "horrid" measure was passed, but Mr. SANDFIELD MACDONALD.

Brutal Assault.

A SHEBEEN ROW—GRIEVOUS INJURIES.

Nelson Potter, shoemaker, and Edward Hamilton, tailor, are not friends. Hamilton has been attentive to Mrs. Potter, and Potter resented such familiarity with his domestic privileges, a wife being like a newspaper, an article which a man should have all for himself. Yesterday Potter and Hamilton met at Gallagher's shebeen, on Bay Street, a regular assembly place for drinking characters, and Potter and his wife, who was also present and sided, of course, with her husband, as wives always do when there is a third party in the case, set upon Hamilton and gave him an unmerciful beating, using their fists until they got him down, and then kicking and stamping on him. He was left in an insensible condition. There seems to have been no one near who would interfere to prevent the murderous assault. The report got abroad that Hamilton had been stabbed, and the police at once used diligence in having Potter arrested and confined in the cells. Hamilton was taken to the hospital, and last night it was thought he would die. This morning, however, there was a great improvement in his condition, and it is thought that perhaps his injuries will not be fatal. He is much hurt about the breast and head. Potter and his wife were before the court to-day, and remanded until Monday to await the report on Hamilton's condition. The prisoners will be committed for trial on the evidence of one or two witnesses.

The Municipal Convention.

Of the convention of Mayors and Aldermen, which Mayor Cunningham and Aldermen Robinson and Price are to attend as Kingston delegates, the Ottawa Free Press says:—

"This seems peculiarly a Convention age. There are conventions for every conceivable moral, political, and social purpose. If much good is not done, there is plenty of talk to that end at all events. A very high authority says, "in the multitude of counsel there is wisdom." The truth of this is taking hold of the minds of the civic dignitaries throughout our land. We are now to have a Municipal Convention, or in other words a convention of the Mayors of the cities and towns of Ontario is to be held in Toronto on the 21st inst. With so many wise heads brought together, our communities will anticipate some schemes being envolved tending to municipal progress and perfectibility. There is an old institution in Scotland called the Convention of Royal Burghs, whose deliberations embrace quite a wide range of important subjects, and sometimes lead to useful results. An annual Mayor's Convention might be made eminently useful, even as much so as our National Board of Trade. The Chiefs of our cities and towns might learn much of each other for the good of their respective municipalities in relation to their various city and town improvements, and by the discussion of all new or improved plans, systems or schemes bearing on sewerage, drainage, fire brigades, waterworks and everything that pertains to the physical, social and moral wellbeing of the community."

Memorials of J. Machar, D. D.

This neatly got up volume will be welcomed by many who knew Dr. Machar, and were privileged at one time or other to listen to his pulpit ministrations, while many more will be pleased through it to make a first acquaintance with one who was emphatically a "good man," as well as an able and diligent laborer for the best interests of Canada in days gone by. It is made up of a well written memoir of Dr. Machar, with a selection from his pulpit discourses and other writings. The memoir is written in a loving spirit, but in good taste, without any of that offensive fulsome eulogy by which too many of such biographical notices are in these days especially disfigured. There is no attempt at making the good doctor a hero, the like of whom the world has scarcely seen. He is set before his readers very much as he really was, a cultivated, scholarly, kindly, good man, who desired to spend and be spent in the work to which he had consecrated his life. It is very likely that on certain political and politico-ecclesiastical points we should not have agreed with his ideas and plans, but there cannot be a doubt that whatever he held and earnestness, and that as much as most men he desired to do whatever he did for the glory of God. The volume which thus brings this good man before the people of Canada will, we trust, have a wide circulation. Sure we are that many have which deserve it less. As one of the pioneers of Presbyterianism in Ontario, Dr. Machar will always occupy an honored place. In all the relations of life he was much honored and loved. As able preacher of the Gospel, a most faithful and judicious pastor, a wise counsellor, a steady and enlightened friend, while in his family all that was amiable and imitable, he has left behind him a memory peculiarly fragrant, and an example which ministers of the present day may well familiarize themselves with, and in almost every respect not only admire but imitate.—Globe.

CANADIANS AT CREEDMOOR.—The first annual prize meeting of the United States National Rifle Association at Creedmoor terminated well. In the all comers' match, 500 and 600 yards, any rifle and any position, seven shots, was won by Mr. R. Omand, a Canadian, by 25 and 24 points respectively, Mr. Campbell of the Victoria Rifles, Montreal, who won a fifth prize the previous day, being second; and Mr. James Adam, another Canadian, third. In the Sharpshooters' match at 800 and 1,000 yards, seven shots, Mr. Adam took the first prize with 25 and 23 points, Mr. Omand before third, and Mr. Campbell sixth. The shooting of the Canadians at those long ranges was much admired. The Canadians on their part speak in the highest terms of their treatment by their American brethren.

A New Trunk Railway.

An important railway project is just now before the capitalists of the West and South. It is proposed to build a new line of railway from Chicago to the Southern Atlantic seaboard, the object of which is to provide much needed facilities for intercourse between the two sections, the present mode of communication being singularly roundabout. At a meeting of influential men at Chicago on Saturday it was shown by a gentleman from North Carolina that Western breadstuffs were first taken to New York, thence south and back to the planting country, a distance of between two and three thousand miles, at a cost very much greater than the value of the products. Last year the South paid $50,000,000 for corn, only $17,000,000 of which went to the producer in the Northwest, leaving the astounding sum of $33,000,000 as the profits of middle men. The people interested have now resolved to invest this balance in the railway project mentioned, which, by opening direct communication, will cheapen food and provide a great public convenience. Resolutions have been passed to carry the measure into immediate effect.—St. Catharines News.
