The Daily News.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 10.

Gold in New York at 102½.

CONGRATULATORY.—The Montreal Gazette, in an editorial article on the Kingston Mayoralty contest, congratulates Mr McIntyre on his success.

MASONIC.—The members of Minden Lodge, No. 253, intend giving a conversazione at their hall this evening, which is expected to be a pleasant affair.

PARTNERSHIP.—Messrs R. W. Vandewater and H. A. Betts have entered into partnership as insurance agents. See advertisement in another column.

THE WEATHER. — The mildness of the weather yesterday afternoon was remarkable and during the night it was very soft. A large quantity of rain fell this morning and during the day.

SNOWBALLING. Owing to the softness of the snow a considerable amount of snowballing was indulged in to-day, to the danger of a good many persons. The police are looking after offenders.

THOSE wanting millinery and winter dry goods should go to Richmond and Boyden's stock taking sale where they will have the largest and best stock in town to choose from and get equally valuable bargains.

MISSIONARY UNION.—At the annual meeting of the Kingston Missionary Union the following were elected officers: President, Rev. H. Wilson, B. A; Vice-President, Mrs. Macaulay; Treasurer, Miss Macaulay; Secretary, Mrs. R. V. Rogers.

EUROPE ILLUSTRATED.—Mr James Stacey, Jr., is delivering this splendid work to the subscribers in this city. It is published by the London Publishing Company in parts, each of which contains four superb engravings, while the price is only 60 cents.

MASONIC.—It is proposed to entertain the Board of General Purposes at their approaching visit to the city by a conversazione in one of the halls. The three city Lodges will bear the expense, and the entertainment will be on a grand scale. The affair is looked forward to with much interest by members of the Craft.

MR WOODS has shown us a slate which combines a drawing with the ordinary slate. On the drawing side there is a ruler and several specimen copies, which can be folded up neatly and put away when not required. The price of the article is only 25 cents, which is certainly very cheap. Mr Woods is the only person in the city who has these slates for sale.

THE CHRONICLE AND NEWS for the present week was published to day, and contains reports of the municipal contests. If you want to warm an absent friend's heart by all means send them a copy of the CHRONICLE of this week. The births, deaths, and marriages of the week will be found in the CHRONICLE. Bishop O'Brien's lecture on the Infallibility of the Pope is also in the CHRONICLE, which can be procured at all the bookstores, or in wrappers for mailing. Price five cents.

SALE OF PROPERTY.—Mr Murray sold by auction to-day the premises occupied by Dr. C. H. Lavell, adjoining the NEWS office, the purchaser being Mr T. C. Wilson, who bought the property for $2,320. At the same time eight shares in the Cataraqui Bridge Company were disposed of to Mr Voigt for $30 per share. Previous to the above Mr Murray sold, pursuant to an order in Chancery, the property on the corner of Clarence and Ontario streets, occupied by Mr Bamford. Mr W Nickle was the purchaser at $1,740.

A HINT TO ACTORS.—At the Cool Burgess performance last evening one of the actors took an unwarranted liberty with a gentleman's name. This practice is becoming too common, and it is just as well for those who indulge in it to understand that there is a possibility of carrying the joke too far. As itinerant troupes depend on the public generally for support the actors should be cautious about taking too many liberties with the names of those who patronize them. Such conduct may please some, but it is unwarranted and should not be encouraged.

THE SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS.—At the close of the poll in Rideau Ward yesterday afternoon, Dr. Fee was elected by a majority of 45 over Mr John Laird, his opponent. Mr Owen Tierney was declared elected in Cataraqui Ward as a member of the Separate School Board, replacing Mr John Maloney, who after eleven o'clock demanded a poll, which the Returning Officer refused to grant. Both of these elections are declared by our varacious contemporary to have been run politically; if so, it must have been by the Grits, for all the candidates were of that persuasion.

Those Advertisements and the "Pairty" Organ.

The fact that Mr Gildersleeve employed the advertising columns of the NEWS for the purpose of reaching a class of the electors which, it must be presumed, he believed could not be reached by any other means, seems to have driven the Whig into a state of frenzy, which takes the direction not of remonstrance with Mr Gildersleeve for over-looking the merits of his slavish and devoted organ, but of violent abuse of the NEWS. The NEWS is so accustomed to the exhibitions of personal abuse and venom on the part of the Whig that its attacks have long since ceased to surprise or annoy us. We were of opinion that an ordinary business transaction, viz., the reception and insertion of a few advertisements, was not a subject for newspaper criticism, but one solely for the discretion of the proprietors of the NEWS, and that any reference thereto by third persons was simply a piece of impertinence. It would appear, however, as if a new code of newspaper etiquette was to be introduced, and that nothing is too sacred for the prying gaze and vulgar remarks of persons whose conduct entitles them to rank with the Pariahs of the Press. The card of Mr Gildersleeve was the first to receive early insertion in the NEWS; there was nothing singular in that. As a rule, advertisers plant their notices where they expect them to do most good; but insinuations are thrown out that the insertion of these advertisements had an influence upon the course of the NEWS, and that, in fact, Mr McIntyre was sold, to use a common expression, by the NEWS. It is scarcely necessary to point out the falseness of such charges, as they carry their own refutation with them. We challenge anyone to produce a single line to justify such a deliberately false and malicious statement. The NEWS' editorial advocacy of the claims of Mr McIntyre was honest, was unsolicited, was disinterested. What cannot be said about a certain journal, the NEWS has never yet had a fight with its Party about money matters; its proprietors have never either threatened or bullied an individual if they did not receive work. The Whig should be the last newspaper in the Province to indulge in mercenary charges, as some of the leading Reformers of the city have made the charge against it that it is nothing if not mercenary.

Election Notes.

Let the journal that cries "business organ" at the NEWS keep quiet on the subject, else some of its own Party may be disposed to tell little stories about its mercenary character. They could a tale unfold.

Who is the newspaper proprietor who threatens even his political friends if his mercenary ends are not attained? Let the Reformers who have been bullied answer.

Now, then, as the election is all over, how many people can say, "I told you so?"—Whig.

Our amiable contemporary didn't predict "so" at any rate.

Talking about selling principles for a mess of pottage, as Mr Gildersleeve's organ does, it may be said that somebody knows how it is himself.

The NEWS did not say, as Mr Gildersleeve's organ, with its characteristic capacity for misrepresentation, makes it appear, that all Reformers worked for Mr Gildersleeve. It said all the "prominent Reformers." And so they did.

Come, now, Mr Whig, let us hear what you have to say regarding the financial considerations which induced you to support Mr Gildersleeve?

Will the Whig allow the Reform leaders to tell what they know about the influences that had to be brought to bear upon it to make it espouse the cause of Mr Gildersleeve, whose candidature it at first received coldly? What about that job printing arrangement? Perhaps the NEWS knows more than Mr Gildersleeve's forced organ imagines.

Is Mr Gildersleeve prepared to say that the Whig gave him a disinterested support, and that such support was spontaneous and not the result of an arrangement?

When the leaders of its own Party have to complain of its mercenary motives the Whig should keep silent on that subject.

The NEWS had not to be forced into supporting Mr McIntyre, as the Reform organ, for certain considerations, was into supporting Mr Gildersleeve.

If there was one subject more than another which it might reasonably be supposed the Whig and its proprietor would fight shy of it would be that of turncoats. Perhaps it fancied that its history and his prior to the last five or six years is forgotten, and that it is not well known that the press purchased by Sir John Macdonald's friends is still in the possession of the proprietor of the Whig. The check of some people is unbounded. The proprietor did not turn his coat for a mess of pottage five or six years ago. Oh, no!

The fact that the NEWS permitted Mr Gildersleeve to use its advertisement columns has driven our mercenary contemporary into a state of insanity. The loss of a few dollars ought not to excite it so.

The fact that even after the honourable manner in which Mr Gildersleeve was treated by the NEWS he was whipped badly seems to have upset his organ, judging from the torrent of abuse in last night's issue.

Mr Gildersleeve should give the Whig a few dollars for those advertisements it expect to receive, but did not, and not have it whining in the manner it is doing. Was it very enthusiastic about his candidature when he announced himself a candidate?

They can laugh who win. The NEWS laughs at the childish ravings of the Whig.

If the NEWS had in any way sold Mr McIntyre, as alleged, it is singular that that gentleman has not yet found it out; and further, that one of its proprietors acted as chairman of one of the sections of Victoria Ward, where, it is generally admitted, good work was done for Mr McIntyre.

Short Notes.

Raining this morning, causing the break up of the ice.

Snow slides from the roofs of houses were prevalent to-day.

The $100 subscription story is recoiling on the heads of its originators.

The Pierrepont went over to the island this morning, and men crossed over on skates also.

Week of Prayer meeting in Brock Street Church this evening. There was no union meeting last evening.

Board of Trade meeting at the Council Chamber to-morrow evening. A large attendance is looked for.

Mr R. T. Walkem is announced to speak at the Church of England missionary meeting at Napanee on next Sunday evening.

A grocer's horse took a fit to-day and ran a short distance up Brock street before being caught. No damage was done.

Beechers popularity seems to be declining. This year the pews in his church were sold for $36,904, against $47,396 last year.

The Kingston Serenaders gave an entertainment at Rockwood Asylum last evening, which was much appreciated by the inmates.

The Toronto Telegram says a movement is on foot to retain the services of Mr Rine in Canada by providing him with a home in Toronto, to be paid for by voluntary subscriptions.

Sir John Macdonald was entertained at a grand banquet, and was presented with a gold watch by the workingmen of Toronto last night. Look out for a lot of abuse from the local mud thrower.

Mr George W. Creighton is a candidate for the Auditorship or Assessorship of the city. Mr Creighton is an experienced accountant, and if elected would be fully competent to discharge the duties of either of the offices efficiently.

Church Opening at Inverary.

The new Methodist Episcopal Church which has just been erected at the village of Inverary, was on Sunday last formally dedicated to the Worship of God. The Rev. I. B. Aylsworth, M.A., of Picton, presiding Elder of the District, preforming the ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. M. J. Bates, junior Canadian Methodist Minister at Cataraqui. Mr Aylsworth preached an appropriate sermon, and a large collection was taken up. In the evening, the Rev. T. W. Mavety, of Odessa, preached, and the balance of the debt due on the Church was collected.

Previous to the Sunday Services, there was a tea-meeting in the Church on Friday evening last, the 4th instant, ex Mayor Britton presiding. Adresses were delivered by the Chairman, the Revs. W. Barnett, of Sydenham, and I. B. Aylsworth, after which Bishop Carman delivered an address and asked for subscriptions to assist in clearing the debt off. We believe he succeeded in raising nearly $1,400, which must be considered very good. On Monday evening, the Rev. Mr Alysworth lectured on "Luck and Pluck," giving great satisfaction. The Episcopal Methodists of Inverary are to be congratulated on the success which has attended their efforts. The corner stone of the church was laid on the 4th September last, so that in the short space of four months the handsome building has been erected, and paid for. The church cost $2,800, and the subscriptions amounted to over $3,100.—Com

ENTERTAINMENT.—A literary and musical entertainment of a high character was given last evening under the auspices of Cataraqui Lodge, No. 10, I.O.O.F. in their beautiful Lodge-Room. The audience was not large but it was select. The chair was occupied by Mr J. P. Lacey, N.G., who made a few introductory remarks. The programme opened with a piano solo played by Master Thomas Mitcheltree, a little lad of seven years of age, who has been totally blind since he was three years old. He played and sang very well for one so young and afflicted. We understand that this was his first public appearance. In the second part he played a little fantasia on Scotch airs and a piece of his own composition. A violin and piano duet, from the "Bohemian Girl" was played by Messrs. Richmond and J. Sutherland. Miss Bates sang "Oh, how delightful" in splendid style, and being encored she sang "The Old Clock." Miss Wilson played the accompaniment. In the second part Miss Bates sang "O fair dove, O fond dove." Dr. McCammon read "Jimmy Butler and the Owl," which caused much merriment. Mr R. Tandy, who was in good voice, sang "Love's Request" in magnificent style, but wisely declined to respond to an encore. The first part closed with a trio, "When I am gone from thee," admirably sung by Mrs R. Tandy and the Tandy Brothers, and repeated for an encore. Mr Wm. Tandy sang Russells "Slave Ship" in fine style, and for an encore sang "The Archer Bold." Mr J. L. Morrison then read a beautiful piece comparing a city home with a country one, his elocution being very fine. In reponse to a unanimous encore he read a funny little love ballad. The Tandy Bros. followed with a duet, "What Mountains," from Verdi, which closed a very pleasant programme. "God Save the Queen" was then sung, Miss Bates taking the solo, and the audience dispersed about ten o'clock.

COOL BURGESS was greeted by an immense audience last evening, those comprising it being kept in good humour from the opening to the close of the performance. "Cool" himself kept them in roars of laughter, and the applause which he received was evidence of his continued popularity. At the close a demand was made for "Nicodemus Johnson," but notwithstanding the persistent demands Cool refused to respond, promising, however, to gratify his audience two weeks hence. The programme consisted of Dutch songs, by G. W. Collins; L. Caisse's ventriloquist exhibitions, which created much amusement (this gentleman should not be so personal in future); Charles and Annie Whiting, duets and dances; operatic singing, very good by "Stellini"; J. H. Scott's simultaneous performance on the piano and wine glasses; and "Cool's" own inimitable negro personations and white characters. The farce "The Two Roses" concluded the entertainment.

Police Court.

(BEFORE MR STRANGE, P.M.)

Thursday, Jan. 10, 1878.

William O'Brien, an intelligent looking man, who is said to have been at one time a clergyman, was charged with being drunk. He begged his Worship to let him off and he would leave the city. After a serious lecture, he was dismissed.

LAYMEN OFFICIATING IN CHURCHES.—An Irish journal says: "During the past few weeks the lessons at morning service in the Omagh Parish Church have been read by gentlemen in the congregation. Col. Ellis, Major Stuart, and Major Buchanan have on different occasions performed the duty." Laymen officiating in this way in Ireland is not remarkable.

THE MAYOR-ELECT.—Ald. McIntyre received an enthusiastic greeting on entering the City Hall last evening.

☞ COUSINEAU'S GIFT SALE.—We omitted to mention on our list of presents, that a purchase of $75 will entitle a present of a lady's Real Astracan Jacket worth $25.

BELLEVILLE SEPARATE SCHOOLS.—A despatch from Belleville says:—"There is a split amongst the supporters of separate schools and to-day two sets of elections were held for trustees, one concurrently with the public school elections in the various wards, and the other by returning officers and at places appointed by the majority of the trustees. The question as to which set of trustees has been returned will be decided in the courts."
