THE SCHOOL MASTER.—Mr Woods has sent us a copy of the above latest novel of Roberstons Library, which is sold at the low price of 15 cents.

CORRECTION.—In the letter of Dr Barker published yesterday the word "endorsed" on the tenth line was a misprint and should have been "unendorsed, ☞ KINGSTON SERENADERS intend giving a second performance in the City Hall on Thursday evening the 24th, when an entirely new programme will be produced.

THE VERY REVEREND DEAN LYSTER informed the NEWS that the Bishop of Ontario would not have Mr Woods' house. The Dean will probably be considered good authority.

ORANGE TEA MEETING.—The Orangemen of Portsmouth intend holding a tea meeting at the town Hall on the 30th instant, the proceeds to go towards the erection of an Orange Hall.

THE DOMINION CLOTHING STORE.—We call attention to the fact that the Dominion Clothing Store advertise a cheap sale of ready made cloths and &c., at rates which cannot be equalled in the city. Parties wanting good clothes should call there.

RAILTON.—The lecture of Bishop O'Brien at Railton was attended by a large audience on Sunday last, and a considerable sum of money was realized. The Bishop's lecture was an able one, and was much appreciated by those present, both Catholics and Protestants.

THE DOMINION BOARD OF TRADE.—The Monetary Times trusts the Board of Trade "will know how to guard its own dignity and preserve its own independence, and will continue to express in unfaltering tones the views of the great commercial interests which are confided to its keeping.

COASTING.—We call the attention of the Police to the dangerous practice of coasting which is indulged in on the hill on Bay street. The other day a young man barely saved himself from getting his legs broken by jumping out of the way, and on the same day an elderly woman was knocked down and hurt. The coasting is done on the boardwalk next to the House of Providence, where the danger to pedestrians is very great.

THE LATE PETER GRAHAM M.P.P.—There is on exhibition at present at the City Book store a large photograph of the late Mr Graham, finished in ink, which is an admirable likeness of the deceased gentleman. Messrs Sheldon and Davis enlarged the photograph from a negative taken by Ewart, of Toronto, and Mr Sawyer, contributed the finishing touches. The photograph, which was procured by a few friends of the deceased, is enclosed in a handsome gilt frame, and is a kindly and affectionate memorial of the late highly esteemed gentleman.

DEATH OF MR R. MAKINS.—We regret to have to record the death, at an early hour this morning, of Mr Robert Makins, after a lengthened illness. Mr Makins, about a year ago, caught a severe cold, and the result has been his death. He was a gentleman well known to shipping men, and his genial manners made him a universal favourite. As a grocer he did a large trade in supplying vessels, and his appearance was as well known on the Kingston market as that of any person doing business there. There is a general expression of regret at his death all over the city, especially as he has been cut off in the prime of his manhood. The writer of this paragraph was under especial obligations to Mr Makins for information frequently given which could have been obtained no where else. All the Ontario street men regret the loss of a pleasant friend, whose kindly words often removed regrets by the sang froid with which he bore losses frequently met in his business. His funeral will take place on Friday at 2 p.m.

Mr Langton, Auditor General, had a narrow escape from death by falling through an opening in the new Western Block Extension at Ottawa. Had he not been caught by a workingman he would have gone down about 60 feet.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On Monday evening the Young People's Association of the First Congregational Church held their regular meeting. After opening the meeting in the usual form and reading the minutes, the programme of entertainment commenced. The first was a piano duett by Misses McKelvey and Falconer, after which a quartette was sung by four young misses from eight to ten years of age, viz: Aggie Hendry, Jenny Spencer, Nettie Folger and Laura Savage. The solo part was sung by Miss Jennie Spencer. A carefully prepared paper on "Memory" was read by Mrs J. J. Linton, showing considerable power of thought. Some remarks upon the paper being made by Rev. M. McKay, there was an intermission of a few minutes for conversation, which proved a very attractive part of the programme. After being called to order by the Chairman, Rev. Dr. Jackson, a trio was sung by Mrs Osborne, Miss Barton and Mr Osborne. Mr Honeycomb was then called upon for his lecture on "Phrenology." He gave a very short speech on account of the lateness of the hour, but took time to examine one of the audience to illustrate his subject. Mr Honeycomb stated that he will on some future occasion give a lengthen lecture on the subject. After singing, the meeting was closed by Rev. R. McKay with prayer. This association holds its meetings fortnightly, the members are happy to see as many of their friends as can conveniently attend. The next meeting will be held on the 28th instant.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.—On Monday evening, the annual report of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, Mr P. Devlin, was submitted to the Council. In the report he pointed out the difficulty there existed in arriving at the exact amount of the loss in each case during the year. In 47 fires which had occurred during the year, the damage was estimated at $53,220, which was covered by an insurance of $39,735, leaving a balance of loss amounting to $13,465. Among the causes of fire were found no less than fifteen which were attributed to incendiarism. This statement should be taken with some caution, however, the evidence of such being in most cases assumption, formed after the failure to furnish any other cause. He refers to the great value of the tanks recently erected for fire purposes, stating that they were urgently required, and have already proved useful. He also testified to the harmony existing among the members of the Fire Brigade, and to the increased efficiency of the whole department.

W.C.T.U.—Yesterday being the third Tuesday of the month, the Women's Christian Temperance Union held their usual semi-monthly meeting in the parlour of the Y.M.C.A. Rooms. As it was the first meeting of the New Year the first half hour was occupied wholly by devotional exercises. Reports were received from the visitors of the gaol, House of Industry and Hospital. Ladies were appointed to visit in small districts throughout the city, to solicit contributions, distribute tracts and persuade women to sign the pledge, and work for the cause in their own names and neighbourhood. The report was read that was sent by the delegates to the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union in Toronto. It will be published at a future day.—Com.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S LECTURE.—The lecture on "The Life and Times of Joseph Howe," by Principal Grant, should attract a large audience to the City Hall to-morrow evening, and we have no doubt the lecture will be a rare literary treat. We hope there will be a good attendance.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

At the Y.M.C.A. meeting last night, Mr R. V. Rogers occupied the chair and Mr D. Williams read a most interesting paper on "The Fate of the World's Benefactors." The essayist began by saying we lived in a world of antagonistic forces. In geology this was sometimes mild and sometimes violent, and has covered the earth with vegetable and animal life. Moral and intellectual forces are in antagonism and the progress and benefits of science and art are the result of this antagonism. History presents a long catalogue of leaders of truth against error, liberty against oppression, of righteousness and justice against wickedness and wrong. Examples of the past ought to stimulate those who live at present to leave behind them "footprints on the sands of time." But we are too apt to gaze with admiration on the results of their labour and forget the rugged pathway by which they reached the summit. In the political world the man who has contended against oppression has often been loaded with calumny. Wilberforce had to contend for twenty years against slavery. The illustrious John Hampden had to contend, for years for political freedom and died without seeing the result of his labours. The man of science has been considered the enemy of truth and religion, for instance Galileo and the inventor of printing had the honour of being in partnership with the devil. Let ten thousand martyr fires attest what has been suffered for religion. Progress of religion in every age has been accompanied by the tears and blood of its follows. The miracles performed by the Man of Nazareth were attributed to diabolical agency. Eighteen hundred years have attested that the disciple is not above his master nor the servant above his lord. Such had been the fate of the world's benefactors. Men who had fought for the truth had fallen in the struggle, and such would be the case until the world became wiser and better. In that world where motives are seen in their true light, they will have sympathy with their motives. Still, in the political, social or religious world we will be called upon to make great sacrifices, still we will find enough to do in making the world better, and our efforts like the eastern caravan travelling across the desert will long leave a perfume and fragrance behind.

Quite an interesting discussion on the essay then took place. It was decided that a conference proposed to be held by Mr Cree and Mr Meadows on Thursday afternoon, be postponed on account of Principal Grant's lecture on that evening, until such a time as an afternoon and evening can be obtained.

It was resolved that the literary meetings in future be open to the public

A Fraud.

A few weeks ago a young man named James Grant came to the city for the purpose of canvassing for the Montreal Witness. He stayed at the City Hotel, and after a while he cleared out, leaving his board bill, unpaid. We are informed that he obtained quite a number of subscriptions for the Witness, but never remitted the money to Montreal. He was in the habit of purchasing papers at one of the bookstores and sending them to the parties who subscribed. Finding things too hot for him he cleared out, and on Saturday night he was arrested in London at the instance of a young man named Guess. The London Free Press gives the following account of his arrest:

It appears that Mr Guess arrived here on Saturday on business, and put up at Strong's Hotel. While sauntering about he observed Grant around the hotel, and immediately recognized him as the person who had left Kingston in a hurry some few weeks ago, without settling a number of accounts. Mr Guess, on making enquiries at the office, ascertained that Grant had represented himself as commercial traveller, whose trunks were at a railway station. The police were informed of the affair, and on telegraphing to the Kingston authorities, a reply was received to detain him, and that Detective Hagarty would arrive by the first train on Monday, and lay information against him. He was accordingly remanded to gaol to await the arrival of the officer.

Grant was brought down to Kingston yesterday afternoon, and this morning pleaded guilty at the Police Court, when he was sent to gaol for six months.

The annual meeting of the Winchester Township Agricultural Society was held on Thursday last. The following were elected as the Board of Directors for 1878:—President, E. H. Mills, West Winchester; Vice-President, Jas. L. Holmes, Winchester; Sec. Treas., E. L. White, West Winchester; Directors—Christopher Irving, R.D. Fulton, George Annable, Wm. McLean, Wm. J. Frazier, Simon Heverly, Thomas Hamilton, Asa Beach, James Allen. The next annual fair will be held in this village.

The annual meeting of the County of Frontenac Agricultural and Midland Central Fair Society was held at the Council Chamber this afternoon. Present: Messrs. Henry Cunningham, Isaac Simpson, John Wilmot, David Nichol, R. J. Dunlop, P. Hogan, C. Grass, J. L. Nicol, John Simpson, John Grass, James Shannon, D. W. Fraser, John Daly, T. W. Bell, Charles E. Trudell, A. Knight, Hugh Rankin, &c. On motion, Mr Cunningham took the chair and Mr James Shannon was appointed Secretary pro tem in the absence of the Secretary. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, viz.: President—Henry Cunningham, Esq. 1st Vice-President—D. J. Walker, Esq. 2nd Vice-President—Sheriff Ferguson. Directors—Henry Wilmot, David Nichol, Chas. Grass, J. A. Allen, John Breden, John Wilmot, Isaac Simpson, R. J. Dunlop, John McKelvey. Carried unanimously. On motion of Mr John Wilmot Sheriff Ferguson was elected delegate to represent the Society at the meetings of the Agricultural and Arts Exhibition. After a large Committee representing the several townships in the county had been appointed and some other routine business performed, the meeting adjourned.

A VALUED SUBSCRIBER.—The Rev. R. Harding, of Adolphustown, paid his twentieth annual subscription to the NEWS to-day. During all that time Mr Harding has invariably paid his subscriptions in advance. A subscriber such as Mr Harding is deservedly appreciated.

Father Chiniquy's Lecture.

A large audience greeted the Rev. Charles Chiniquy at the Brock Street Presbyterian Church last evening every available space, even the aisles, being crowded. Rev. Andrew Wilson occupied the chair, who, after the preliminary devotional exercises, in the course of the few remarks which he made in reference to Mr Chiniquy and the work with which he is connected, said attempts had often been made on that gentleman's life, but as he was evidently protected by the providence of God, it seemed impossible to take it, and now his enemies appeared to have concluded to leave him alone.

Mr Chiniquy began by thanking God for being spared to once more appear before the king people of Kingston. He said he did so as a soldier of Christ, the Captain of souls; and our duty was to fight His battles and consecrate ourselves to his service and be always ready to give battle to the powers of darkness and to defend the right. He asked the prayers of God's people in his behalf, that mercy might be continued to him, and that the necessary weapons might be supplied him by which to conquer for Christ and to bring souls into the fold of Jesus. Within the last three years, he said, 1,200 families, representing 7,000 souls, had been freed from Romanism in Montreal and vicinity, and many were continually going on. Many persons had given him credit for all this, which he disclaimed. To God belonged all the glory in connection with this movement, the speaker being only a simple instrument in the work. He again asked their prayers that still greater things might be accomplished. Many of the converts were obliged to leave Montreal on account of the persecutions to which they were subjected, Roman Catholics refusing to patronize or employ them as soon as it became known they had become Protestants. The chairman, he remarked, in the opening prayer, alluded to Canada as a free country, and thanked God for it; but it was a mistake so far as Quebec was concerned, as liberty of conscience, the foundation stone of civil and religious freedom, was denied down there, and was not permitted to assert itself. It was impossible for an apostate to find work, even if starving; it would be miraculous to secure it under such circumstances; and such people even find it extremely difficult to retain their lodgings—in fact they have to vacate them as soon as the specified time for which those tenements are taken is up, and are obliged to go into the street, unless fortunate enough to secure a residence from some Protestant proprietor, who, too, in consequence of affording those people accommodation, becomes himself a marked man. Where, then, we may well ask, is our boasted liberty? The speaker alluded to the outrages in the streets of Montreal last summer as further proof of the absence of freedom of conscience, and of civil and religious liberty; and urged those who would be free to go again to assist their brethren to secure their rights, for Rome must be taught that there is a stage beyond which it cannot and must not go. Mr Chiniquy said—and he spoke from a knowledge gained by twenty-five years' experience as a priest of Rome—that the Pope had decreed that liberty of conscience must be destroyed. Some Protestants seemed to doubt this; but he assured them such was the fact, and any denial of this assertion was pure deception. He did not denounce Roman Catholics, but their Church, which would destroy them if they did not destroy it by the power of the spiritual sword, which would enable them to conquer Canada for God. He urged them not to abuse Catholics, even if they abuse us. When a priest he said he had frequently done this; and as an honest man he then believed he was doing it in the interest of the Church, and as he was a sophist, he confronted Protestant ministers on five different occasions, and did so successfully, by the vigour with which he attacked his opponents. But he had since seen the errors of former years, and thanked God that he had been led by the light of the Gospel to the feet of Christ; and what had been done for him and many of his countrymen could and would be done for others; and this can best be done by prayer, good example, kindness, and politeness towards our enemies, and diligence on the part of Protestants. He appealed to his hearers to put away strong drink and lead virtuous, righteous lives. Then Catholics would be struck with their modesty and sobriety. He urged his hearers to live to God. Many were being converted in Quebec through the influence of acquaintances. One error, in particular, the speaker said, was considered very diabolical in the Church of Rome, and he alluded to it respectfully and truthfully, and not to amuse but instruct, and that was to treat lightly the idolatry of the sacraments; and he considered this the worst idol of this most idolatrous Church, as when it was known how this false God was made and converted into the body of Christ, it was very debasing and degrading indeed, and would compare unfavourably with the idols of Japan, China, India, or other heathen gods. He then explained how the wafer was made, and related what he had done with those wafers on a certain Sabbath in his church in Montreal, in the midst of a packed audience of Protestants and French Romanists, for which he was censured by the Press. But, as he considered extraordinary means must be used to accomplish a necessary end, namely, to bring conviction to the minds of his countrymen that the host, as known by them, did not possess the elements of Christ's body, he determined to take the bold step he did, and thereby proved his position, of the correctness of which many became convinced, and immediately one hundred became converts to Protestantism, many of whom attended the service with the determination to take the minister's life—a step, under the circumstances, recognized by the Church of Rome. Foremost among these was a prominent, courageous, well-educated young Frenchman—a favourite of the clergy—who attended for the express purpose of killing the speaker, but after the assembly had been earnestly addressed and shown the folly of the system, and had the 20th chapter of Exodus read to them, the audience became interested, and the Romanists began to doubt the genuineness of their religion, and many consequently became shortly afterwards converted to Protestantism, and for taking this step they had to submit to terrible persecutions at the hands of their former co-religionists, many instances in particular being of an exceedingly heart-rending character—that of a whole family who had become Protestants being so persecuted as to be driven to the point of starvation, the father being discharged by his Roman Catholic employer and refused work by others; and as he lived in a French Roman Catholic section there seemed no alternative but starvation, which would undoubtedly have ensued had not Mr Chiniquy appeared in time with means to avert it, which he secured by selling a watch which had been presented him by some friends. This work must not be done by halves, but with determination and God's assistance, without which nothing can be successful. He brought his remarks to a close by urging Kingstonians to earnest prayer in his behalf and that of his work, and hoped the day would soon come when his countrymen would all be freed from their errors.

The collection being taken, it was announced that Mr Chiniquy would be pleased to receive contributions through Rev. Mr Wilson, on behalf of his mission work. The meeting was then closed with the benediction.

THE CATARAQUI CONCERT.—This concert, which has become an established institution, came off last night at the Town Hall, which was densely crowded, a considerable number of persons going out from the city to attend. This is the eight annual concert which has been held, and it may fairly be regarded as the most successful of all. The singers of the evening were Miss Henderson, Miss K. Wilson and Miss Bates, and these ladies were all well received by the audience, being encored every time. The reappearance of Miss Henderson on the platform gave much satisfaction. Mr Keeley also contributed a couple of songs, being well received. The instrumental music was furnished by Mr Oldham's Orchestra, which rendered the music set down for it in splendid style. The readers of the evening were Mr Morrison and Capt. McGill, and it is only necessary to mention these names to make it known that great pleasure was received from their efforts. At the close of the programme Rev. Mr Wilson expressed his thanks to the Township Council for the gratuitous use of the hall for eight years for these concerts; to the performers for their services; to Prof. Oldham for the excellence of music supplied by his band; to Dr. Brown for the use of the piano, and to Mr and Mrs Northmore for general kindness in the village of Cataraqui. The concert was then closed by singing "God Save the Queen."

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For the next 24 hours, for the lower lake region, light to moderate winds and clear to fair colder weather.
