TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 2.

THE CELEBRATION AND THE DAY.

The members of the Citizens' Committee entrusted with the management of the celebration yesterday, are to be congratulated upon the great success which attended their efforts, and with the highly satisfactory manner in which the many events of the day passed off. A couple of accidents excepted, referred to in our reporter's account of the day's proceedings, nothing occurred to interfere with the general rejoicing. The city presented a gay appearance—we do not know that we ever remember having seen it look better; many of the stores were gaily ornamented; flags floated from hundreds of house tops; decorations on the leading streets were general; all day the principal thoroughfares were crowded; the various sports were liberally patronized; while at night thousands thronged the streets to witness the Physlogs and afterwards assembled in the vicinity of the Cricket Ground to see the fireworks. The number of American visitors from Watertown and its vicinity was large, and complimentary to them the stars and stripes mingled harmoniously with the Union Jack of Great Britain. In a word, from the ringing of the church bells at six o'clock in the morning until the City Hall clock tolled out the hour of midnight there was pleasure provided for all who wished to participate in it. The celebration will be long remembered. It was very successful—creditable alike to the city and to the gentlemen of the various committees who worked so indefatigably for the pleasure of the citizens and visitors.

A few words about the day. Why, a stranger might ask, all the fuss? The answer is simple. Yesterday was the eleventh anniversary of the formation of the Dominion, which on the first of July, 1867 comprised but four Provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Now the Dominion extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific—is commensurate with the British possessions in North America, the island of Newfoundland excepted, and being greater in territorial extent than the United States of America. We have therefore a great country whereof to boast. We have truly a goodly heritage in this "Canada of Ours." Geographically far-extending, the country is rich in mineral wealth and in productive capacity; its scenery in some parts is unsurpassed in magnificence; its rivers and lakes are on a scale which excites the wonder and admiration of strangers; while its people are frugal, lovers of order and lovers of liberty. It is said from England, Ireland and Scotland in days gone by have come thousands of their children who have made Canada their home, and here the sons of sires who crossed the ocean to settle in this western land delight to claim Canada as their birth place, although it is not so famed in either story or in song as either of the three countries which make the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. Yet Canada has a history, and one of which none who claim the country as "home" need be ashamed. Its most stiring pages tell of the heroism and patriotism of the men of other days and other times who stood in the battle's front to fight for British supremacy on this continent—whose descendants of this day are prepared to follow their example—to contend to the death for the integrity of that world-wide Empire, of which Canada forms no inconsiderable part. Although in close proximity to another country—Canadians sigh not after annexation thereto. They are loyal to the British Crown, devoted to Her Majesty's person and throne, and want no flag to wave over them but that which is at once the emblem of liberty, security and power.

We contend that it is a duty devolving upon all loyal men to develop a genuine Canadian spirit in the country for the purpose of uniting all classes of the people. No matter what country may have been the land of our parents' birth or our own, our primary allegiance is now due to Canada. While we may not forget what we have been told or know by experience of glorious old England, "rich in ancestral memories;" of Scotland, famous in the annals of history for its race of sturdy men and philosophic thought; of Ireland, famed for its learning before a great part of Europe was civilized—long misunderstood and misgoverned, but now happily more contented and progressive, our first duty is to Canada. Here all our interests are centred; here we live; and here, doubtless, the majority of us will die. To help to make Canada, as a portion of the British Empire, great and prosperous is a duty devolving upon all, be his sphere what it may. Each individual has an influence; and if the concentrated influence of our people be only bent in one direction—the encouraging of a unity of sentiment and the development of the country's varied resources we need have no fear regarding the future. Towards this end the proper celebration of "Dominion Day" is a step in the right direction. On that day all can unite around a common standard; and the man who does not possess enough patriotic feeling to heartily participate in the enjoyments of such a day is not worthy the privilege of living under political institutions the best in the universe. The eloquent and appropriate words of one of England's most brilliant pulpit orators, who some years ago was a resident in the country, and is now in London are appropriate: "When I consider that here is a land which reaps all the benefits of monarchy without the caste and cost of monarchy—a land where there is no degradation in honest toil, and ample chances for the honest toiler; a land whose educational appliances rival any other, and whose moral principle has not yet been undermined; a land which starts its national existence with a kindling love of freedom, a quickened onset of enquiry, and a reverent love of truth, and of its highest embodiment, Religion—I feel that never a country began under fairer auspices, and if Canada's children be but true to themselves, whatever their political destiny may be, they will establish a stable commonwealth rich in all the virtues which make nations great—mighty in those irresistable moral forces which make any people strong. Esto perpetua! May no Marius ever sit among the ruins of a promise so fair." These words are not too flattering. Our country is one of which we have a right to feel proud. All who live in it may not be able to say, "This is my native land;" but whether "to the manner born," or natives of the old land across the ocean, all can unite in the sentiment: Heaven bless our new Dominion and upon its prosperity may the sun never set.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Resignation of the Elliott Government.

We are authorised to state that the Elliott Government tendered their resignations a few days ago. In the absence of Mr Walkem, the Lieutenant Governor felt himself unable to accept their resignations at once, and requested them to hold office until their successors were appointed. Mr Walkem was at once communicated with by telegraph, and has replied that he will be here by the 22nd., this day week.

An Ottawa despatch says:—"James Frazer, Clerk of the Crown, who accompanied John Holmes, Ex-M.P. for Carleton to New Zealand, to assist him in taking possession of the enormous estate bequeathed him by his brother, has returned. He reports the estate worth $1,000,000."

LITERARY NOTE.—We are informed that Mr Francis Murphy, the great temperance apostle, has arranged with Messrs. A. S. Barnes & Co., of New York, to publish his new Gospel Temperance Hymal. It will be specially adapted for use in the gospel temperance cause, revival, praise and prayer meetings. The publication may be expected at an early date.

☞ The Christian Brothers are selling well executed lithographs (life size) of Bishop O'Brien, by the celebrated Burland-Desbarats Lithographic Company, Montreal. By calling at the Brothers' residence a number of said pictures can be seen in frames of various styles. Picture without frame, $1.00.

HANLAN.—A telegram from Brockville says that Edward Hanlan left there this afternoon on the boat for Kingston. He was expected about four o'clock, but when the boat arrived he was not on board. He will certainly row at Cape Vincent on Thursday. The Band of A Battery will go over on the 2 o'clock boat to Cape Vincent. See advertisement.

THE STREET RAILWAY.—Yesterday the Street Railway Company reached a rich harvest by the large amount of passengers carried. We are informed that over 5,000 persons paid for riding on the cars, and we have no doubt of it, as every car was crowded. Mr Morrison deserves a great deal of credit for the enterprize he displayed in bringing the Lacrosse Clubs here to play on his grounds; and we are glad to know that he will not be the loser by his speculation. He is a "live man," and deserves to be well sustained by the citizens of Kingston.

MASONIC.—Mr. Thomas Scale's window was one of the chief attractions of Princess street yesterday, containing as it did the new banners and standards ordered for Cataraqui Chapter of Mr. McCausland, Toronto, and which will be presented by the Committee to the Chapter at an emergent meeting on Monday evening. There is only one other Chapter in Canada that has similar standards and banners to those just obtained for Cataraqui Chapter.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Between five and six o'clock on Sunday evening a sad accident, the result of an open well, occurred in a yard on the Montreal Road. A fine little boy named Lewis Armstrong, aged about three years, went out into the yard, and within a few minutes he was missed. Search having been made he was found to have fallen down the well. His uncle, Mr Young, with whom the lad was staying, went down and brought him up, but he died on reaching the surface. Dr Evans was sent for, but his services were of no avail. No inquest was deemed necessary, as the facts were very clear as to the cause of the accident.

Short Notes.

Hanlan at the Cape on Thursday.

A hint to our visitors—Come again.

The steamship Sarmatian has arrived out.

Professor Goldwin Smith has arrived at Toronto.

The "Deceivers" is the name of a Base Ball Club at Chatham.

Mr. David Kemp, Inspector Merchants Bank, is in the city at present.

Who said the Street Car Company did not reap a golden harvest yesterday?

The English mail per steam ship Peruvian was distributed this morning.

McKelvey and Birch's new life boat gives great satisfaction in Toronto. She is the best of the kind ever seen there.

Kingston has good cause to be proud of the celebration yesterday. Dominion Day is one in which all classes can unite to celebrate.

It is now the general opinion that Kingstonians do not require to go away for the purpose of enjoying a holiday to advantage. Hanlan and Ross are to row on the Kennebecasis (New Brunswick) on the 25th inst. Stakes—$1,000 a side.

The harbour presented a very fine appearance yesterday. There is only one such harbour in the country.

The merchants ought to keep up Dominion Day, and should also celebrate the Civic Holiday in the same manner as yesterday. Let the Committee take the matter up.

The hotel and tavern keepers and proprietors of fruit stores did a rushing business yesterday. They would not mind if Kingston had celebrations more frequently.

The policemen have now helmets of cork for summer wear. They donned them for the first time to-day. They also wore their summer uniform to-day for the first time this season.

The forage caps of the 14th P.W.O. Rifles afforded the men very little protection from the sun yesterday. The Department, always behind hand, was unable to supply shakoes.

The Queen's Park, Toronto, is the scene of disgraceful rowdyism on Sunday afternoons, arising out of interruptions given to orators who harangue mischievous crowds on every conceivable subject.

The Rev. Dr. Graves Smith, a distinguished member of the British Methodist Church, who is on his way home from an extended official visit to Australia, New Zealand and Feejee, is expected to preach in the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, on Sunday next.

CUSTOMS.—Import duties collected for the month of June, $21,301.90; total value of goods exported, $38,681.

CROWDED OUT.—Some correspondence, telegraphic, and other matter are necessarily crowded out to day.

THE WATERTOWN EXCURSIONISTS did not reach home till between three and four o'clock this morning.

PAN ANGLICAN SYNOD.—A special service was held to day at St. Georges' Cathedral to invoke the Divine blessing on the members of the Pan Anglican Synod which was to open to-day.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE ENDOWMENT.—A Montreal despatch says: Principal Grant, D.D., of Queen's University, Kingston, is on a visit to Montreal with reference to the endowment of the institution over which he so ably presides.

BROCKVILLE REGATTA.—At the Brockville Regatta yesterday, Hanlan won the single scull race by about ten lengths, beating Plaisted, Riley, Kennedy, Luther, McKen, and others. The race was four miles, and was on the whole a very slow one. Hanlan was heartily greeted at Brockville.

THE WEATHER.—The weather since Saturday has been intensely hot, and Sunday last was the hottest day ever registered in Kingston. Mr S. Woods informs us that the thermometer stood at 88° in the shade at one time, and early on Sunday morning it registered 85°. Yesterday morning at 7 o'clock it stood at 86° but the weather did not feel quite so warm as on the previous day. To-day it was still very warm.

REV. GEORGE YOUNG.—The Board of Regents and Faculty of Cornell College, Iowa, on June 25th, conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. Geo. Young of Toronto, and ex-President of the Toronto Methodist Conference. Cornell College is one of the most noted colleges in the Western States, and is very careful of her degrees, but in this particular case a mutual honour is conferred.—Ex. Mr Young's patriotic services at Fort Garry during the troubles will be long remembered by loyal Canadians.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

THE CONGRESS.

A TURKISH PROTEST.

London, July 2.—A Berlin despatch says: Mehemet Ali stated yesterday that he had telegraphed his Government recommending that he and his colleagues be directed to protest against the dismemberment of Turkey and withdraw from the Congress. He said he was treated curtly for endeavouring to maintain the rights of Turkey; that a secret understanding evidently existed between Austria, England, Germany and France respecting the work to be accomplished by the commissioners to be appointed.

London, July 2.—With yesterday's session of Congress the problem presented by reorganization of Turkey in Europe has been solved with one difficult exception, that of the border Provinces of Greece. The scheme proposed by some members of Congress, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Times, is to offer to Greece some right of supervision and control over West Romalia, that is Thessaly, Macedonia and Epirus, as Austria will be entrusted with Bosnia and Herzegovia, and probably northern Albania.

☞ Controversy among the first-class hotels of New York shows that the service is constantly changing from one first-class hotel to the other, and the bills of fare show the same variety of dishes. The important fact, to travellers, is that the Grand Central offers the same accommodations for two dollars per day less than the others.
