VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

THE undersigned will offer for Sale by Public Auction on WEDNESDAY, the 2nd day of October Next,

At 2 o'clock p.m.,

at the Auction Room of Henry Bawden, on the West Side of Montreal Street, near Princess Street, in the City of Kingston, his VALUABLE FARM, being composed of the East 160 Acres, "less one acre sold off for school site," of Lot No. 8, in the First Concession of the Township of Kingston, and the whole of the broken front of the said Lot, in all 232 acres.

Nearly the whole of the land is under good cultivation, and there are upon it a GOOD FRAME HOUSE, BARN and SHEDS, with STABLING for a large number of horses and cattle.

This Farm is beautifully situated on the Bay, about four miles west of the City of Kingston, and is one of the most desirable properties for farming and dairy purposes in the County of Frontenac.

The vendor reserves to himself the right of one bidding.

Terms easy, and will be stated in full at the time of sale.

Full particulars may be had by applying to Messrs Macdonnell & Mudie, Barristers, Kingston; D. H. Preston, Esq., Barrister, Napanee, or to the undersigned,

A. S. BRISTOL,
Napanee.

HENRY BAWDEN,
Auctioneer.
Kingston, Sept. 9th, 1878.

Tenders for Fuel Wood.

TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, will be received until the 25th instant, for supplying the steamers of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company with Fuel Wood at the Port of Kingston during the navigable season of 1879, viz:

Five Thousand (5,000) Cords of HARDWOOD and One Thousand (1,000) Cords of HEMLOCK, the said Hardwood to consist of Hard Maple, Black Birch, Beech, Ironwood and Hickory, all to be of good, sound, merchantable quality, and to be not less than four feet in length from point to point, the quantity of Hard Maple delivered not to be less than the quantity of Beech.

Six hundred cords of said Hardwood to be dry for spring use, and the remainder to be wood cut during the ensuing fall or winter.

The said wood to be delivered free of wharfage at such times and in such quantities and on such wharf as the Company or its agents may direct, and to be fairly and closely piled by the contractor in piles of forty-eight (48) feet in length and six feet in height, and the said wood and piling to be to the satisfaction and approval of the Company or its agents.

The Company shall not be bound to accept any inconveniently-large, crooked, deadwood or small limbs.

The genuine signature of two responsible parties willing to become security for the due fulfilment of the contract to accompany each tender.

The Company shall not be bound to accept the lowest or any tender.

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE.

SHOULD HE BE SUPPORTED?

TO THE REFORMERS OF KINGSTON.

1. If you want a man who is opposition pronounces coalitions utterly immoral, but in power sustains and profits by them, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

2. If you want a man who gives good contracts to his friends, but put a the screws on his enemies, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

3. If you want a man who on the stump shouts for the independence of Parliament, but when in power subsidizes by contracts not only the members of Parliament but the very Speaker of the House, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

4. If you want a man who out of office tells you that the Minister who lets not to the lowest tenderer is wasting the hard-earned money of the people, but when in office has himself to confess that he awarded his contracts to others than the lowest tenderers the enormous sum of three millions of dollars; in his brother's case they were awarded to the highest bidder; vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

5. If you want a man who, in opposition, declares that all expenditures of the people's money ought to be controlled by Parliament, and no railway contract ought to be let out without their sanction first obtained, but when in office scornfully tramples under foot this most pronounced plank of his own platform, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

6. If you want a man, as first Minister of the Crown, of bearishness and bad temper, where urbanity, sympathy and gentlemanliness ought to prevail, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

7. If you want a man whose blunders dog one another's heels, blunder after blunder, in an almost unbroken series, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

8. If you want a man, who, at an enormous cost, provides you with seven feet of lock water for a four-and-a-half feet river—it is a feat in engineering—vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

9. If you want a man, who builds a canal and lock for his compound of magnificent water stretches and railway, but suddenly changes his mind—what is it but everlasting changing?—and builds this railway a hundred miles to the north of his water stretches, squandering money as if it were mere dirt, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

10. If you want a man who purchases 20,000 tons of steel rails from his brother's firm at the highest tender, and from others 30,000 more, long before they were needed, losing to us thereby, from first to last, about two millions of dollars, vote for this shrewd and distinterested speculator, Alexander Mackenzie.

11. If you want a man who, in defiance of the Public Works' Act and law, gives contracts with a survey and, after wasting tens of thousands of our money, turns round and cancels them; who works by day-work without estimates or specifications, who pronounces it a trifling difficulty to ascend by water a mountain or table land four hundred feet high in order to be able to carry grain enough in a whole season to load three schooners, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

12. If you want a man who is always plotting something grand and accomplishing something little, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

13. If the end of politics be opposition to everything and criticism of everything and the accomplishment of nothing, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

14. If you want a man whose only real policy is Sir John's impolicy; and who would be nothing if he had not Sir John, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

15. If you want a stump orator and not a statesman in the councils of the nation; if a blatant demagogue who makes all promises and keeps none; if you want a man who confounds obstinacy with firmness, who puts his foot down where he ought not, and lifts it where he ought to keep it down, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

16. If blundering incompetence be above statesmanlike qualities; if the end of man be opposition; of statesmanship, criticism; if destructiveness be everything and constructiveness nothing; if stump oratory of even a high order may replace the intuitions of genius and solid masculine sense, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

17. If you want a man to proclaim on the stump that the corridors of the House of Commons are so crowded with extra clerks and supernumeraries in the pay of Sir John's Government, but who when in office increases those clerks and the public expenses incurred for them, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

18. If you want to thrust new men into offices over the heads of old and efficient public servants, and thus injure the service by holding out no expectation of reward for good conduct and energy, vote for Alexander Mackenzie.

19. But if you claim that these are no merits to entitle him to the first place in the Dominion, vote that Alexander Mackenzie be left at home.

J. A. ALLEN.

The Party of Economy.

A contemporary asks:—

1. Why did it cost $5.72 to collect every hundred dollars of customs revenue in 1876-7, under Mr Mackenzie, while it only costs $4.35 to collect every hundred dollars of customs revenue in 1872-3, under Sir John A. Macdonald?

2. Why did it cost $4.24 to collect each hundred dollars of excise revenue in 1876-7, under Mr Mackenzie, while it only cost $3.80 to collect the same amount in 1872-3, under Sir John A. Macdonald?

3. Why was it that administration of justice in 1876-7 cost $565,600 under Mr Mackenzie, while the same service cost only $399,000 in 1872-3, under Sir John A. Macdonald?

4. Why did Mr Mackenzie, in 1876-7, pay out $112,500 for pensions, while Sir John, in 1872-3, only paid out $49,200?

5. Why is it that Mr Mackenzie had to pay $104,000 superannuations in 1876-7, while Sir John managed to make $53,000 answer for the same service in 1872-3?

6. Mr Mackenzie, in 1876-7, paid the employees in the offices at Ottawa $812,000, but in 1872-3 Sir John only paid them $750,000.

This is Mr Mackenzie's "economy and retrenchment." Vote against such bogus "Reform."

Our Industries.

Mr Ronald, of Chatham, who has grown old in the Reform ranks, has come to the conclusion that new conditions require new measures by which to meet them. In a recent letter in the Monetary Times he says:

"The U. S. are absorbing our industries, our money, our all. Ruin is staring us in the face; and unless we have patriots and statesmen at the helm of affairs, who will enact laws for our preservation, the sooner we leave Canada the better. We have not far to go to find a people who know how to take care of themselves. A leaf from the U. S. Statute Book is all we require."

George Gillilan's Last Hymn.

11TH AUGUST, 1878.

With tearful eyes I look around;
Life seems a dark and stormy sea;
Yet midst the gloom I hear a sound,
A heavenly whisper—"Come to Me!"

It tells me of a place of rest;
It tells me where my soul may flee;
Oh! to the weary, faint, oppresst,
How sweet the bidding—"Come to Me!"

When the poor heart with anguish learns
That earthly props resigned must be,
And from each broken cistern turns,
It hears the accents—"Come to Me!"

When against sin I strive in vain,
And cannot from its yoke get free,
Sinking beneath the heavy chain,
The words arrest me—"Come to Me!"

When nature shudders, loth to part,
From all I love, enjoy and see;
When a faint chill steals o'er my heart,
A sweet voice utters—"Come to Me!"

"Come, for all else must fail and die;
Earth is no resting-place for thee:
Heavenward direct the weeping eye;
I am thy portion—'Come to Me!'"

O voice of mercy! voice of love!
In death's last fearful agony,
Support me—cheer me—from above,
And gently whisper—"Come to Me!"

Facts About our Finances.

Mackenzie, when in opposition, was strong on economy, and never tired of declaring how the country was being ruined by the wasteful extravagance of Sir John A. Macdonald. Since he got into power, how has he shown his economy? Look at the figures:

The total expenditure out of the Consolidated Fund for the year ending 30th June, 1873, the last of Sir John Macdonald's administration, was $19,174,647; the first year Mackenzie had complete control, ending June, 1875, he ran up the expenditure to $23,713,071, and the next year (1875-76) again increased it to $24,488,372, and for 1876-7 expended $23,519,301! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix.)

In every year under Sir John Macdonald the Finance Minister could congratulate the country on a large surplus. Look at this list:—For the year ending 30th June, 1868, surplus $201,836; for 1868-9, surplus $341,000; for 1869-70, surplus $1,166,716; for 1870-1, surplus $3,712,479; for 1871-2, surplus $3,125,345; for 1872-3, surplus $1,638,822! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix.) BUT ALTHOUGH MACKENZIE'S FIRST ACT WAS TO PUT THREE MILLIONS OF ADDITIONAL TAXATION ON THE PEOPLE. (Budget Speech 1874,) he had only been two years in power when the "mixing and muddling" of Cartwright CHANGED SURPLUSES INTO DEFICITS—for 1875-6, we had a deficit of $1,900,785; and for 1876-7 a deficit of $1,460,027! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix), and this year another large deficit is anticipated!

TOTAL SURPLUSES UNDER SIR JOHN MACDONALD, $10,186,288! TWO YEAR'S DEFICITS UNDER MACKENZIE, $3,360,812!

Cartwright said in Nova Scotia a few days ago that THERE WILL BE ANOTHER DEFICIT THIS YEAR.

In addition to his continual surpluses, Sir John Macdonald spent more on capital account each year than he increased the public debt. Look at the figures:—1867-8, excess of capital expenditure over increase of debt, $545,714; 1868-9, $411,838; 1869-70, $1,320,681; 1870-1, $4,173,621; 1871-2, $6,417,995; 1872-3, $2,202,929; or a total of $12,072,778 for permanent works paid out of ordinary revenue! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xvi.) But when Mackenzie got into power he increased the public debt each year more than he expended on capital account! Here are the figures:—1874-5, $760,228; 1875-6, $1,389,017; 1876-7, $1,057,448; or in three years, debt increased $3,206,693 more than expended on capital account! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xvii.)

Electors of Kingston, look at the contrast, and say which style of managing your finances you prefer!

The Absentee Cry.

This the Whig endorsed on the absentee cry when no election was on hand: "Our contemporary's (Ottawa Times,) remarks are suggested by an exchange's objections of this kind levelled at Sir John Macdonald, and it proceeds to answer it in this fashion: 'If we hold that Sir John Macdonald is not entitled to represent Kingston by his non-residence, we set up a rule that would deprive us of nearly all the leading men of our (the Reform) Party, and that would shut out of Parliament the foremost members on either side of the House. . . . If there were no other objection to Sir John than that effect of his place of residence, were we on the list of voters in Kingston, we should say let him reside in Jericho, we shall elect him . . . as often as he may choose to present himself. Principle and expediency alike urge us to this position. IT WAS WELL ENOUGH IN THE DESPERATION OF A HOT CONTEST AT THE POLLS TO CRY NON-RESIDENCE; BUT IN THE CALMNESS OF POLITICAL REST AND IN THE FULNESS OF PARTY SUCCESSION, IT IS IMPOLITIC AND IS WITHOUT REASON." Physician, heal thyself.

The Workingman and Protection

In 1860 the United States had low duties or in the language of our Canadian Free Traders, a revenue Tariff. In that year, there were employed as artizans in that country one million three hundred and eleven thousand. In 1870 after about ten years of protection, the number of artizans had increased to two million two hundred and twenty-three thousand six hundred and seventy-nine. It will thus be seen that just as the Free Traders say, protection had attracted the artizans of other countries. Did the fall in wages, which Free Traders look on as inevitable, occur? In 1860 the gross amount, of wages earned by the 1,311,000 artizans employed, was $378,000,000 or an average of $228.40 per head. In 1870 the wages earned by the 2,228,681 artizans employed amounted to $850,000,000 or an average of $359.76. Thus under protection, which the number of artizans had nearly doubled and the amount of manufacturing goods produced had more than doubled—the latter standing $1,885,000,000 in 1860 and $4,031,000,000 in 1870—the wages earned under protection were $71.37 per annum per artizan more than under Free Trade. Here is a solid fact worth a cart load of ill-digested theories.

Protection Mottoes.

Diversified industry is a defence against famine.

The reward of labour increases as occupations become diversified.

The farmer near a market is always enriching his land.

No merely agricultural country is wealthy.

Foreigners using our markets should pay their share of our taxes.

The nation which begins by exporting its raw material ends by exporting its men.

Where there are no manufacturers the farmers' children must emigrate.

Diversity of industries and combination of action result from protection.
