Gold in New York 100.

PRINCIPAL GRANT, we are glad to hear, is getting better. He was able to be out to-day.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.—A meeting is to be held this evening to discuss the plans sent in for the new College Buildings.

EXPORTS.—Shipped to-day by Jas. Richardson & Son by G.T.R. via Coaticook to United States 1,172 bush. wheat, value $997.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE ENTERTAINMENT.—There will be an entertainment given to-morrow evening by the boys of the Collegiate Institute at the Assembly room. The performance will consist of a good selection of reading and music.

CORRECTION.—We have been informed that our report of the yeas and nays on the Cataraqui flagstaff amendment was not quite correct. Ald. Clements voted for Ald. Gaskin's amendment, while Ald. Gildersleeve voted against it.

PROBABILITIES for the next twenty-four hours: For the lower lake region, moderate to fresh northwest to southwest winds, partly cloudy cold weather with snow flurries. For the St. Lawrence, fresh to brisk northwest to southwest winds, clear to partly cloudy cold weather.

KINGSTON ELECTION CASE.—A Toronto despatch says an order has been made changing the Toronto agents of Mr Gunn, the petitioner against Sir John Macdonald, in Kingston. An order to examine the respondent (Mr Gunn) in the Kingston election petition has been granted.

THE CORPORATION SALE.—The sale of City Property yesterday was very successful, everything being disposed of by public auction except the hand fire engine. On this there was a private bid, which will be accepted. Altogether the nett proceeds of the sale, after all expenses are paid, will be over $3,000. Mr Hutcheson acted as auctioneer very efficiently.

BRITISH AMERICAN HOTEL HEATING APPARATUS.—We omitted to state yesterday in our notice of the new heating apparatus at the British American Hotel, that the whole work had been done in accordance with the original plans and specifications prepared by Messrs. Power & Son, Architects. The work is so successfully accomplished that the architects deserve some credit as well as the contractors.

MR GRANT ALLEN, says an exchange, endeavours to maintain in a forthcoming work that the use of colour terms in the Homeric poems is strictly analagous to that of other races existing or extinct, at the corresponding stage of culture, and that both depend, not on dichromic vision, but on a defect of language closely connected with the small number of dyes or pigments known to the various tribes.

BURGLARY.—A burglary was reported to the police this morning as having taken place at a tavern at the foot of Princess street, near the Grand Trunk track. The burglars are supposed to have entered by a cellar window, and ransacked the house, carrying away about five gallons of whiskey in two demijohns and a quantity of cigars. Two young men who were in the habit of loafing about the house are suspected as being the thieves, and the police are on the look out.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH BAZAAR.—The annual sale of cakes, fancy work, &c., by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church, began this afternoon at Victoria Music Hall. The attendance during the afternoon was not large, but it is probable that there will be a great number present this evening. The articles displayed for sale are very fine in most cases, and, for a bazaar, are pretty cheap, most of them being ticketed. The lunch table was well patronized to-day, and a good lunch can be obtained at a small figure. This evening a number of prizes will be distributed from a large Christmas tree, which is erected on the platform. The bazaar will continue open till to-morrow evening, when the Battery Band will be present.

Police Court.

(BEFORE MR STRANGE.)

Thursday, Dec. 16.

John Barret, drunk; fined $2 or ten days in gaol.

Mary Killeen, an elderly woman, was found on the streets drunk this morning, and was almost frozen to death. She was dismissed.

Charlotte Clements, a respectable looking woman, who wished to leave the city, but had no means of doing so, was sent to gaol for four months.

Mr Welsh.

London, Dec. 19.—Minister Welsh passed a good night. The feverishness has gone and the breathing is better.

Death of Bayard Taylor.

The Secretary of Legation at Berlin announces the death of Bayard Taylor at four this afternoon.

Short Notes.

The Evening Post is to be enlarged.

St. Andrew's Church Bazaar this evening.

Tenders for the repewing of St. Mary's Cathedral are asked for. See advertisement.

Mr Robinson secured the greater number of votes at the Catholic Bazaar contest. The Whig says truly that the result of such contests means nothing.

The Dramatic News recognizes Dr. Talmage as one of the fraternity by publishing his portrait.

At Montreal there are two candidates for admission to the Royal Military College. At Brockville one candidate presented himself for examination.

A very light fall of snow took place last night, but scarcely enough to cover the ground. A good fall of snow is very much required in the country to make sleighing.

The New York Express is determined to tell the truth, though the heavens fall. It says: "It isn't overwork that's ruining the young men of this great city by any means. No, it's waiting on the street corner for somebody to invite them into the nearest saloon."

THE CABMEN.—A correspondent of the Commercial Travellers' Journal, published in New York, calls the attention of the press and the hotels of Kingston to what he calls the "swindling practised by their cabdrivers and porters." He makes the charge that while one cabman conveys the passenger from the depot another gets hold of the baggage checks, and they compel the unlucky "Commercial" to pay double. The correspondent says the same thing happens in leaving the city. He continues: "I also learn that the Grand Trunk did run a branch train down, but that the carters got up a petition, and it was signed by a large majority of the city to take the branch off, so that the carters could have that business. Kingston people may be willing to put up with this kind of a thing, but parties who go there on pleasure or business want to be treated in a respectful manner. I would ask the corporation managers if they know what is being done in their midst, also the hotel proprietors if they have any idea of how travellers feel when they have to go from station to hotel and return, knowing they must watch every step they take to avoid being 'taken in?' The hotels are being disgraced by allowing travellers to be browbeaten by carters. Finally, I would call the attention of the press of Kingston to this evil, and for the good of the city would say, rise as to one man and stop it at once." He charges the porters as being in league with the cabmen, and says there can be no doubt of this. We can only say that if he had applied to the police office he could have had his grevience remedied; but writing to a New York paper which can hardly ever be seen in Kingston is scarcely the correct way to put a stop to the nuisance.

PRENTICE BOYS ENTERTAINMENT.—Last evening the Prentice Boys of the city celebrated the anniversary of the closing of the Gates of Derry by a musical and literary entertainment in Victoria Music Hall, which was very successful in every respect, the hall being well filled. The chair was occupied by ex Mayor McKelvey, who delivered a brief address. The programme commenced with a piano solo by Prof. Oldham (who also played the accompaniments for the singers), after which Messrs Heath and Daly sung a duet, "Swallows, Happy Swallows," which elicited an encore. Miss Sophia Burton next sung "Fly Forth, O Gentle Dove," and was loudly encored, when she gave in fine voice "Baby Mine." Mr D. McIntyre gave a reading, which caused much merriment. "Friar of Orders Gray" was sung by Mr Jas. Galloway, and was well received. The Misses Burton received an encore in the duet "Hear me, Norma." A reading by Mr T. A. Elliott, the "Spanish Duel," kept the house in roars of laughter, and was loudly encored. In the second part Messrs Heath and Daly sang the duet "Two Merry Minstrels." Songs by Miss Beel, who gave "Farewell," and Miss Sophia Burton, who gave "As we go a Haying," and a reading by Mr W. Perry, were well received. Prof. Oldham's orchestra was present and contributed two fine pieces. The Prentice Boys are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment, which was one of the best amateur programmes of the season. After a vote of thanks had been returned to the Chairman, "God save the Queen" was sung, Miss S. Burton taking the solo.

Condensed Despatches.

The body of the late Mr. Richard Patton, of Montreal, who has been missing for some days, was found this morning in the hay loft attached to his premises. It is supposed he took poison.

The London Real Estate Association at their last weekly meeting proposed reductions in official salaries amounting to $3,200 a year. The case of the Police Commissioners will be considered at the next meeting.

Belleville municipal election matters are brisk, a contest for the position of aldermen being certain in each ward. It is probable that Mayor Robertson will be re-elected by acclamation, no opponent having yet announced himself.

The Governor-General will distribute the prizes at the public school entertainment in the Ottawa Opera House to-morrow evening but has requested that his presence shall not be made the occasion of any demonstration.

The Princess Alice's Funeral.

London, Dec. 18.—The funeral of the late Princess Alice took place at Darmstadt to-day, and memorial services were held throughout England and minute guns were fired in the parks. The city of Darmstadt both in the old and new town presented the appearance of general mourning. The Princess Alice was greatly beloved by the populace of Darmstadt, and her untimely death is regarded as a general calamity. The narrow and gloomy streets of the town were made more sombre than usual by the tokens of lamentation everywhere to be seen, and the grand squares and noble avenues of the new town, generally lively and gay, were made lugubrious by the closing of the shops, the funeral decorations of public buildings, and mournful deportment of the people. Darmstadt with its suburbs has a population of 44,000 souls; and it is estimated that fully one-third of the people congregated to-day in the vicinity of the palace where the funeral ceremony took place.

Correspondence.

THE SCHOOL BOARD AND THE TEACHERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY NEWS.

SIR,—What a shaking up there has been among the dry bones since my letter appeared in Saturday's issue of your paper! How strange that such a commotion should be caused by the telling of a little truth to the public! If the result of this correspondence will make those interested in educational matters take a greater interest and be more watchful in future, the object desired will be attained.

When I concluded my last letter it was not for want of material, but from the fact of having trespassed too much on your space. Since then quite a galaxy of literary stars have appeared upon the scene, trying hard to convince the public of how disinterested a body of School Trustees they have serving them. The questions asked on Saturday remain unanswered, and have since been supplemented by "Pater familias" in your issue of last evening. To this time the Inspector has also observed a religious silence, but probably we may expect his views before Christmas. "Ratepayer" is a strange one in his attempted explanation, but then he does not seem to be able to distinguish the difference between "irregular" and "illegal." A little irregularity is seemingly of no consequence to him, if one is to judge of the manner he asks about city Aldermen "mean enough not to have paid their taxes for years past." What has this to do with the School Board's recent action? It is a case which should be reported by him to the indefatigable Alderman (Gaskin) of Victoria Ward, who, no doubt, will make prompt enquiry into the same, and likely before reaching either the name of the writer or any of the city Aldermen's names as defaulters in this respect may discover that of "Ratepayer," who may not have caused the face of Collector Minnes to shine with satisfaction for the past two or three years. It will keep "Ratepayer" busy for a few weeks more pondering over the reason of teachers holding second class certificates being placed subordinate to those holding a grade lower, and this being done for the purpose of advancing the standard of education in our schools! "Ratepayer" states that no one knows better than I do that such has been the case for years, and has no connection with the recent action of the Board. Indeed! I know nothing of the kind, and would ask why he is so particular in stating to the public the number of teachers lately appointed holding second-class certificates. What does he mean, when possessors of them are only entitled to inferior appointments. I am of the opinion that "Ratepayer" is not only a ratepayer but also a Trustee, and it would be beneficial not only to him but to the Board to give this their best attention and not be winking any longer at such inconsistency. His greatest anxiety seems to be to acquaint the public of the fact of having saved some $400 by not paying teachers lately employed enough salary. Surely the labourer is worthy of his hire, and if the same amount of work has to be accomplished in '79 as in '78, why not pay the value of it. It is a happy thought to console himself with that, work is being received and not proper compensation given.

Mention is made in "Ratepayer's" and Mr Tandy letter of the frequent admonitions given to teachers to study, but a significant silence is maintained on the action of the Board having unanimously instructed the Inspector on the 1st of November, 1877, and confirmed the same on December 6th, 1877, to procure from the Education Department, Toronto, permanent third class teachers for some of the Teachers lately dismissed. This motion of the Board was never rescinded, and it required can be given in full, with names of members present. Now, why were these certificates not obtained? and have teachers been deceived by this? Mr Tandy gets over a great deal of ground unnecessarily, and avoids the main feature in his case which is, when was the written application made (or has it yet) in the case of the lady teacher in whom he is interested? Was it made according to advertisement on the 2nd or on the 9th instant? The statement he makes of the appropriateness of the title of "Axe Grinder" being suitable to me is simply ridiculous. I have no Axe to Grind and farther, never had. Can he say the same? Appearances do not indicate this in his case, even though he spurns the imputation of being sordid. Perish such a thought! Possibly his great anxiety to attend the meeting on this particular Monday night was caused by other motives, but still the vote remains recorded as well as his signature to the report, both having a significant look. The lagging in of Mr Allen's name for censure, Mr Tandy writes, is equally gratuitous. Poor fellow! How concerned he is about his friends! Now, the name of Mr Allen never appeared in my letter, but the public will wonder how it is that Mr Tandy can name some of the actors in Tuesday night's game so well. If Mr Allen's action as a School Trustee is above criticism? If so, the reason should be given. Has he not in the past earnestly opposed the employing of two members of one family by the School Board? What, then, has caused such a change to come over the spirit of his dreams? It is strange that Mr Tandy has to champion his cause when Mr Allen is so well able himself. See letter, written by him, in reply to Professor Watson's criticism of the legality of the meeting held. Mr Tandy might have explained how it was that a Trustee's daughter not only received promotion but the salary of her predecessor, while that teacher not possessing the requisite qualifications at the Board meeting receives promotion but not the salary previously attached to the position made vacant for her. Also, how the daughter of an officer of the Board, without experience, is promoted over a teacher of some years' experience. Likely the disinterested parties also accomplished this. It is strange that the Chairman of the Board has not asked the Inspector to make a full explanation to the public as to the value of those certificates so much required and demanded by the Board. Have they any value at all with our School Board? The trustees may be as ingenuous as they like in placing their actions before the public, but they cannot alter the existing public opinion that there has been some "axe grinding" done by them, which at the last meeting seems to have been the principle object. If the certificate business did not afford the opportunity necessary for appointing, dismissing, or lowering a teacher, the effect of a little defamation to the case in point would be tried on the trustee not willing to see if the same might accomplish the end desired.

The Chairman of the Board states in the Whig that I had an axe to grind, but could not procure a suitable grinder, and relatives are a fearful affliction sometimes. As I stated before, the first of this charge is simply untrue. As to the second, I would be surprised if he is not able to speak more feelingly on this subject than I can. Abuse is not argument. Explanations have been asked for and not given, and the disposition is against giving them. The appointments they say are all right, if we can only secure public opinion in our favour. A change of Board can only accomplish this, and no doubt but the electors will keep the matter in mind when the time of election arrives.

NOT AN AXE GRINDER.

Kingston, December 17th, 1878.

[Professor Watson's "last word" on the subject will appear to-morrow.—ED.]

Presentation to Lord Beaconsfield From California.

London, Dec. 19.—Lord Beaconsfield to-day received a deputation, which presented him with a testimonial from the British residents of California. Beaconsfield said this testimonial from the British residents of a great country like the United States was especially pleasing. He believed the Treaty of Berlin would tend to the pacification of Europe, and though there might be those desiring its failure this was not the feeling of the signatory Powers who are determined to see the Treaty executed. All the conditions under which Cyprus has been secured to enable the Sultan to carry out the regeneration of the most important part of his dominion has been fulfilled.

The Roman Catholic Bazaar.

This bazaar closed last evening after three very successful days, during which a considerable sum of money was realized. In the afternoon the Christmas tree was erected, and about 300 children of St. Joseph's and St. John's schools attended, when a large number of prizes were distributed to them. They were afterwards treated to refreshments and appeared to enjoy themselves very much. Bishop O'Brien and several priests were present, and delivered brief addresses to the children.

In the evening there was a very large crowd at the hall and the young ladies were indefatigable in their efforts to make money. Raffles took place for many of the articles, a chair being won by the Bishop. A table was won by Mr J. Donoghue. Miss Katie Brophy deserves special mention in connection with the raffle for the chair, she having sold tickets to the amount of $68. Late in the evening Ald. Metcalfe entered the hall, and was at once appointed auctioneer for the unsold goods, a position in which he acquitted himself with great credit, getting good prices for the articles offered.

The voting for the slippers was closed at 10:30. The Grits made a "big push" to obtain votes for their candidate, and even went to the expense of getting placards printed and carried around the streets asking for votes for Mr Robinson. The polls closed just before a large number of Conservatives entered the hall, the result being that Mr Robinson won the slippers with 263 votes against 205 for Mr Metcalfe. The slippers were, therefore, awarded to Mr Robinson.

The bazaar closed about eleven o'clock, and we are glad to be able to state that a large sum has been realized for the benefit of the poor. The Ladies' Aid Society have done well, and we have no doubt they will receive the hearty blessings of many poor persons, who, but for their kindness, would suffer severely during the winter.

The Carrying Trade.

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 18. The Commercial this evening, in a review of the old and new lake tonnage, showing the advantage of the use of large vessels for the transportation of grain, concludes an article as follows:—"The average season rate for wheat from Chicago to Buffalo in 1861 was 11c. per bushel; in 1868-71 and during the last season, 3½c. To be sure, there is not much money in this rate even for large vessels, but the small craft of former years could not have lived half a season on it, and would not have continued in commission. All this goes to show the necessity of a speedy improvement of Government work at the Lime Kilns Crossing on the Detroit River. With twenty of water between Buffalo and Chicago, vessels could be constructed that would make money even at the low rates that have prevailed for the past two or three years. Large vessels secure cheap transportation, and cheap transportation is a reform in which the whole country, producers and consumers alike, is interested."
