TRENAMAN, Station Master. JOSEPH HICKSON, Gen'l Manager.

The Daily British Whig.

Opifer per Orbem Dicor.

THURSDAY EV'NG, OCT. 12, 1876.

The Tory organs, taught by the Mail, exhibit some wonderful freaks of originality and profound ingenuity. They don't like that verdict of the English press against Sir John and his Pacific Scandal, which was unanimously rendered at the time the report first reached them. It was such a sweeping condemnation of the whole proceedings, and placed Sir John and his associates in such a disgraceful position before the British public, the possibility of their ever being able to have it set aside was most remote and uncertain. Some Reform journals having lately called attention to the verdict anew the aforesaid Tory organs have set their ingenuity to work to discover some kind of an offset. They have succeeded so far as to impuce the tone of the English press, relative to the Pacific Scandal, to the false information given them by Geo. Brown and his paper. Truly, great is Diana of the Ephesians.

Sir John says:—"I have been urging upon my friends—I have told them that we must lay aside all old quarrels about old party doings. Why should parties divide on these old quarrels?" That question can be better answered by reference to three-fourths of the very address from which this extract is taken. So long as he and "his friends" continue to pervert the record of "old party doings" for present and future party purposes a division on "these old quarrels" cannot be avoided. He tenders advice with one breath that is contemptuously disregarded with the next. His whole time, at these pic-nics and demonstrations, is occupied in discussing old party issues and misrepresenting the men who succeeded him in the Government of the country. But this is Sir John's consistency. He will say or do almost anything to accomplish a purpose or gain the least advantage over an opponent.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

Politics run high in the States just now. Everything else is placed subordinate to this all-absorbing question, not even excepting the Centennial. People go to Philadelphia in crowds, view the great show hurriedly, and rush off to a campaign meeting. While there it is a question whether politics and politicians are not more thought of and talked about than the Exposition. Even the women are catching the spirit of the times and taking the field—or the stump. We are told that Matilda Fletcher (whether Miss or Mrs. deponent sayeth not) is stumping New York State in real orthodox style. She is "drawing crowds and creating an excitement." No doubt of it. The Rochester Democrat is "surprised at the depth of thought displayed and the stinging satire with which she dips the arrow of truth." Matilda is for Hayes and Wheeler. Sir John says all the women of Canada are Conservatives at heart and would, if they could, vote for him. He has attempted to prove this by a rule of aggregation familiar to logicians. We cannot say whether all the American women are Republicans at heart, but Matilda Fletcher is considerably so.

TORY SPECULATION.

We have repeatedly referred to the anxiety manifested by Tory organs about Mr. Blake and his influence over a large portion of the Reform party. Every expression of disapproval by papers supporting the ministry, with regard to what the Globe may have to say about political questions, is seized upon with avidity and magnified by industrious speculation until it assumes wonderful proportions in the estimation of the curious ones. They read the signs of the times to suit themselves, the wish always being father to the thought, and foretell a speedy dissolution of the Reform party. Mr. Blake is then held up as a man and politician of transcendent honor. They recall prophecies to the effect that he would not long endure the dictation of George Brown and the Globe; that he would declare himself the leader of a new Reform party, purged of the iniquities of its former disgrace, and founded upon the principles he has so boldly enunciated. This kind of speculation is pleasant to the organs, inasmuch as they calculate upon such an extremity being their opportunity, or the opportunity of the party they represent. But it always happens, however, that these calculations are doomed to disappointment. The cohesive power of the Reform party does not weaken so rapidly as the Tories anticipated. When questions of vital interest arise a united front is presented to the enemy, and the march to battle is subject to the same war song. Then the organs discover something small and very insignificant in Mr. Blake. He is no longer the man of honor and independence they once thought him, but a weak, cringing vassal of Geo. Brown and the Globe. The fact is, and the Tories have confessed it, Edward Blake is the Nemesis of Sir John and his party manipulators. So long as he continues to act in accord with other leading Reformers there are less prospects of that reaction being carried to a hopeful consummation.

—Mr. Alexander Buntin, the well-known paper mills proprietor, has purchased the residence of Mr. Joseph Tiffin, of Montreal, for $80,000.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

We observe that teachers are complaining of the great inconvenience, and not not unfrequently hardships, to which they are subjected by the present mode of paying them for services rendered. Some months ago we referred to this grievance, and then suggested that quarterly or even monthly payments could and should be adopted instead of the yearly custom now almost universally in vogue. It might be objected to by some on the score of extra labor in making out Rate Bills and performing other labor incidental to collecting a teacher's salary. We have shown, and the Globe is of the same opinion, that a sufficient sum could be provided for at the beginning of each year to enable payments being made at regular intervals of one, two or three months, and by this means save the teacher the unpleasant task of incurring debts and suffering other inconveniences. When once the new regulations are adopted the advantages to all parties concerned will be manifest. An extra levy at the beginning of next year would be a fund in the hands of the treasurer to pay the teacher quarterly, or oftener if necessary, and would make the ensuing year's rate of taxation for school purposes of the usual figure. It is certainly an experiment worthy of trial, and as the season for the annual school meetings and elections is approaching we would suggest to trustees and others interested the adoption of the more reasonable and convenient plan of paying their teachers.

The city is an exception to the yearly rule of paying salaries to teachers. The pay sheets are made out quarterly, but the city authorities claim a month's grace, so that money for labor ended on 30th September past are not collectable till Oct. 31st. Why this delay should take place is not clear, as the pay sheet is nearly always the same, and it is as easy to prepare for it at the end of one month as another. When teachers' grievances are being redressed, by all means let all be included.

"Daniel Derouda," George Elliot's latest and most remarkable work, is just now the chief subject of conversation in literary circles, and indeed circles that are not considered exactly literary. An intelligent lady, a few days ago, remarked that George Elliot must be wonderfully well-informed on social and political subjects, judging from the manner in which she discusses them in all her books, but more especially in the last. As an indication of her thorough preparation for what she undertakes we may mention that it is stated on good authority that when studying for the Jewish portion of "Daniel Deronda" she made use of fully one thousand different authors treating upon Jewish history and Jews in general. This is the way George Elliot gets her information.

A SPECIMEN ESTATE.—The Monetary Times gives the following as a specimen estate administered by a specimen assignee. Mr. Duncan McGregor Decow of Western, Ont., owed liabilities of $6,752, and had assets in stock $1,756, notes and book debts $600. Part of the stock was sold by the sheriff for rent, the remainder sold at public auction by the assignee. The notes and book accounts were mostly worthless and unsaleable for want of a purchaser. The assignee's account shows that $756 were realize from the stock, $20 from the accounts, and the estate is credited with $17 interest; total proceeds $793. Now for the costs and charges: privileged claims, $268; expenses of stock-taking, clerk hire, advertising, &c., $220; discharges for insolvent and for assignee, one hundred dollars; interim assignee's fee, $30; assignee's commission, and other charges including solicitor's bill of nine dollars, $48, leaving the sum of $126 available for dividends, equal to 1⅓ on the dollar. Of the various queries which arise out of such an exhibit as this we will particularize only one, viz: How comes it that dividends are allotted upon $680 of claims of some eleven creditors which were never proved.

AT THE BIG SHOW.—"But Canada, there can be no doubt, has surprised everybody. A little more might have been done perchance for effect, but, after all, the arrangements are in harmony with the general character of the exhibits. The admission that the expense incurred was an excellent investment is made by all who have any experience in the matter. It has been Canada's failing in the past that she has not been sufficiently self-asserting. Even now her exhibition is not all it might have been. What is there is, on the whole, excellent; but there might have been greater variety, more competition between Canadian exhibitors and consequently a larger aggregate competition with other nations."—Philadelphia Letter.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—A despatch from Paris, Ont., on the 7th says:—"Last evening about five o'clock while Mr Dorman Mans, a farmer living three miles north of this town, was proceeding on his way two miles north of Drumbo to pay an instalment on a farm he had purchased in that section, he was attacked by two men who came out of the woods. One seized the horse's head and the other pulled Mr. Mans over and took a sum of $400 from his pocket. The perpetrators were strangers and no clue has yet been found."

SUNDAY TRAFFIC.—A Presbyterian minister has received a letter from the Minister of Public Works stating that strict orders have been issued to prevent the running of freight or special trains on the sabbath, in the lower province, except there is unusual necessity, and then only by special order from the Government; no traffic will be allowed excepting permission to passenger trains to reach their destination on Sunday morning.

A MODEST LADY.—A very modest Boston young lady, who wanted a pair of garters, addressed the shopman thus: "It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appenders, capable of being contracted or expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances, that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Alaska diamonds, and which are utilized for retaining in proper position the habiliments of the lower extremities, which innate delicacy forbids me to mention."

PACIFIC R.R.—The London Telegraph says it is of vital importance to England that there should be a railway through Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. If that is so, England should subscribe liberally to pay for the road, and not to be content with scolding Canada for not furnishing at her own cost that which "is of vital importance to England."

DOOMED.—John D. Lee, the prisoner convicted of murder in connection with Mountain Meadow massacre, has been sentenced to be shot on the 26th of January. According to the laws of the the territory a convicted murderer has the right to choose the mode of his execution, whether by hanging, beheading, or shooting. Lee chose the latter.

William Barnes, an elder, asked him to leave when Burkett answered "you and your church can go to hell;" Barnes asked for a repetition of the remark, and upon receiving such, shot Burkett through the heart and then escaped.

ROBBERY.

The police were yesterday requested to enquire into the whereabouts of a young labourer named George Varnham, who was charged with robbery. It seems that he boarded in a house on Division Street with two young masons, with whose affairs, by close acquaintance, he became quite intimate. During the absence of the masons yesterday he forced open their trunks and plundered them, taking all that they contained of a valuable nature: to wit, $60 in money, a meerchaum pipe, gold and silver watches, and a revolver worth $16 belonging to one; and $68 in cash, a meerchaum pipe and a revolver belonging to his mate. Add to this a board bill of $7, and the sudden departure of the rascal involves a loss of $135. As soon as the theft was discovered search was made for Varnham, but no tidings of him could be found. All that could be learned was that he had been seen at the Depot, and the inference is that he had started for England, from which place he hailed not long since. Telegrams were sent to Montreal and Quebec to arrest him if identified. We are informed that some ago Varnham was dismissed by a prominent gentleman in the city for larceny.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD.—Last night the Board held a special meeting, all the members present except Messrs. McCrea and Bajus. Miss. McIntyre's department (senior girls) in Johnson Street School demanding an assistant teacher from an increase in their number, it was proposed to advance Miss Scales to the post, bringing Miss Crawford in from Gordon Street School, and replacing her by a new appointee—a plan which offered the fewest changes at an inopportune season, while supplying efficient teachers. But the changes, after a long discussion, were judged to be impracticable, and Miss McDowell was directly appointed to the assistant's place at a salary of $175. The requisite authority was given for the opening again this winter of the Night School in Wellington Street.

GONE TO REST.—To day after a week's illness of a congestion, Mr. Samuel Loat (familiarly known as Sir Samuel, a courtesy title as much established as any in Burke's peerage), died at his home on Johnson street. The deceased was known to all, old and young, having been for forty years a resident here. Being kindly disposed, he had a friend in everybody. He was "well connected," as the social world would put it, in England, and his hallucinations were still grander than his pedigree, and more than than Kingston styles would represent. He was well supported by an income from "At Home," and died as he had lived, in comfortable circumstances. In his younger days he had shewn talent as an architect, and had his mental qualities been equal to his physical ones, he would have filled a useful life.

FREIGHT BUSINESS.—The Chicago Tribune, of Thursday, says:—"The freight business on the various roads leading to the East has greatly picked up during the last week or two, and an immense amount of grain is going forward. There has been no change in rates, 20 cents per 100 pounds still being charged on grain to New York. These rates, however, are not strictly maintained, and, it is known that contracts are being made as low as 16 cents per cents per 130 pounds to New York."

AUSTRALIAN EXHIBITION AT SYDNEY,
New South Wales.
IN APRIL, 1877.

MANUFACTURERS and others desirous of sending supplies of Canadian products to the Exhibition to be held at Sydney, New South Wales, in April next, are informed that the Government of Canada, will pay the freight from Montreal, per Ocean Gem, which sails on the 28th instant, or by vessels sailing from New York on the 25th November next.

All samples intended to be sent must be at Montreal or New York, respectively, four days before the date of sailing.

Persons desirous of sending any goods in excess of the samples selected can do so by paying their own freight.

MR. JOHN LOWE, Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, MR. W. H FRAZER, of Toronto, and MR JAMES BROWN, agent for the Ocean Gem at Montreal, will superintend the selection and choice of articles.

All applications should be made to them immediately. Necessary forms will be furnished to applicants.

Only such articles will be selected as there is reason to believe can be profitably exported to Australia.

R. W. CAMERON & Co., 23 South William Street, New York, are the owners of the vessel leaving that port on the 25th November.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO,
Have Been Awarded by the International Jury at the World's Fair Philadelphia, on their Pianos:
FIRST PRIZE, AND SILVER MEDAL,
THE MEDAL OF HONOR,
AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT.

MESSRS. WEBER & CO. in announcing their success at the World's Fair would call the attention of the Canadian public to the fact that after the most searching examination by Gentlemen eminent for their Musical talent, their Pianos have been awarded the above Prizes. These Instruments were not made for the Exhibition, but taken from Stock, being a fair representation of their Pianos. This should be a proof to Canadians that Canada can produce as good Pianos as the best imported Instruments.
☞ PRICE LIST on application.
