STATESMEN.

The Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake and Cartwright are incapables, bunglers and failures—that is to say, the Kingston Daily News says so. In the same issue we learn that Messrs. G. A. Kirkpatrick, R. T. Walkem, and John McIntyre are statesmen, "the coming statesmen." We sincerely sympathise with the last named gentlemen of local fame, in the painfully false position in which they have thus been thrust by the indiscretion of the local party organ. Talk of invidious or ridiculous comparisons. We fancy the above is the richest our readers have seen in many a day. We will warrant the amateur statesmen above named will scarcely feel grateful for so sarcastic a compliment. Well may they regard it as the unkindest cut of all. After all, however, the word statesman, like many another, may only be a relative term. To those who like this kind of a statesman, the gentlemen named are just the kind of statesmen to like. If the latter trio of gentlemen are statesmen, however, we will no longer claim the appellation for the above distinguished Ministers of the Crown, who are thus thrown out in bold relief by the Liliputian politicians the organ has placed beside them.

ABSURD.

Nothing could be more ridiculous than the puny efforts of the local opposition organ to depreciate the well established ability of the leading members of the Reform party. The News has long since ceased to be a mere 'prentice hand at misrepresentation. Dr. Tupper certainly excels in his unrivalled rendering of the character of the Great Stretcher, but the organ's own exploits have proved it able with the most wonderful facility and elasticity to contract as well as to expand the truth, or for that matter to get away from it altogether. Some one of its writers proclaims to the world his conclusion that the Hon. Edward Blake is a "miserable failure." If the organ for a moment entertained such a thought, it would only be the offspring of its ardent wish. Any man possessed of even less than an average share of common sense, and with the eye of observation but half open, cannot but be conscious of the great and statesmanlike capacity of the Hon. Mr. Blake. Was the Hon. gentleman a failure when he overturned the patent combination in this Province and became the first Reform Premier of Ontario, while at the same time he was doing valiant battle as one of the leaders of the Opposition in the Commons? Was he a failure when, as the first political orator in Canada, he addressed the people of this country before the last general election in a series of the most masterly addresses that ever fell from the lips of a Canadian politician? Can his brilliant career as Minister of Justice in the present Government be pronounced a failure because it has been somewhat abruptly interrupted by what the public will hope is only temporarily failing health? The silly cry is too absurd for patient argument, and will only excite the public contempt against any man or organ that may have the hardihood to raise it. Then, with about as much reason, the Minister of Finance is also pronounced a failure. Those who have the best of reasons for merely desiring to think so are totally destitute of any proofs of his incapacity derived from his actual administration of the public finances. Surely the manner in which a public man has discharged the functions of a public office is the best, in fact should be the only criterion of his ability to hold it. Such proofs would not only be adduced, but would be magnified immeasurably beyond truthful proportions if they were only to be had. Instead of that, however, the stray quotation of some newspaper writer of several years ago, before the hon. gentleman had had his recent opportunity for the development and display of his splendid financial abilities, is made to do most miserably threadbare service against him, and on the strength of that the Hon. Mr. Cartwright is also sentenced by the Kingston Daily News to the Tory limbo for political failures. Then again our readers need scarcely be reminded that the Premier himself has been similarly disposed of by the same high authority as a "bungler," whose forte, if he had one, was the dual one of incapacity and mismanagement. In the latter case it is true the organ essayed to furnish proof of its allegation by referring the public to the Military College, but in the effort got so completely beyond its depth as to flounder in the inevitable difficulties of ignorance and to draw down upon itself a storm of public ridicule.

The object of the Tory organs is sufficiently transparent. Having thus, as they foolishly imagine, spiked what they regard as the ministerial guns of heavier calibre, they expect to have a comparatively easy task in disposing of the other members of the Cabinet. But it won't do. Belief, or even a serious consideration of their errant nonsense about the Reform leaders is too heavy a tax upon the public credulity. They cannot hope to make the public believe what they do not believe themselves, particularly when the public mind has long ago been convinced of the demonstrated ability of the present Cabinet. The real difficulty is that these very public men have brilliantly won their spurs in public life, and are wearing them too long to suit their impatient opponents. The latter predicted that failure would overtake the Reform Ministry in less than three months after its accession to power, and yet it give no sign of retirement. We counsel the Tory party and organs diligently to cultivate the grace of patience. They will need to practise it in those cold shades they find so uncongenial, for many a weary day to come.

CONSISTENCY.

The local corruptionist organ now thinks Sir John the very pink of political perfection. The chieftain at the late Tory meeting endorsed Dr. Tupper's every utterance as a fact. The News similarly endorses both Sir John and the Doctor. Both the latter declare their Pacific Railway transactions to be perfectly regular, natural and innocent—leaving no stain whatever on the chieftain's honour or fair fame, and that any one who dares to dissent from subscribing to this delightful redential of good character for the chieftain, is guilty of a foul and malicious slander, and the Kingston organ of corruption now says so too. That we may note the changes of opinion the whirligig of time brings about let us see what this consistent organ thought when the scandal first shocked the moral sense of the community, and before the now thorough paced apologists for that heinous political crime were case hardened by familiarity with the great iniquity. In its issue of July 23rd, 1874, the Kingston Daily News thus defined its position:

"When we called this Pacific Railway muddle "the grandest job that had ever been perpetrated in the British Empire," we spoke our real sentiments. There has been a job. Sir Hugh Allan swears he subscribed money to assist his friends in the Northern Colonization Road, and we are free to admit that that itself would make a good job. His telegrams and letters mention twenty-seven members as being "all right." Is not that a job? These telegrams and receipts, published by Mr. McMullen, show that much remained to be explained. Is there no jobbery there?"

To what a pitiable depth of degradation must the organ have fallen which can now palliate as not even as a venial political sin, but as a mere mistake, to which any honest man may be liable, a crime which, have shown, it at the time pronounced to be the grandest job ever perpetrated in the British Empire. Truly the fine gold of political virtue has become dim in unclean Tory hands.

Sale of Lots.

The great sale of villa lots commenced yesterday, and it was one distinguishing feature of Dominion Day. The attendance was good, and the sale a success, equal to anticipations. The purchasers were Major Cotton, three lots on the corner of Union street and Pembroke avenue; Mr. J. S. Yarker purchased the lots on the opposite corner, same streets; Capt. Lewis, two lots on the corner of Livingston avenue and Union street; Mr. Lewis Hanson, one lot on the corner of Union street and Livingston avenue; Craig Bros., six lots on the corner of King street and Livingston avenue; and the following, situated on Livingston avenue: N. Hugo, two lots; Mr. Robinson, two lots; Mr. C. Wright, one lot; Mrs. M. Patterson, one lot; Mrs. McCullough, one lot; Mr. Edwin Rose, one lot; Mr. Roadley, one lot; and Mr. Simmonds, one lot. The price averaged $265 each, a good figure and one that will repay the sellers for the prominence they gave the property and the business-like manner in which they set about disposing of it. Mr. Bawden, the auctioneer, also made his mark, and to him must be attributed in a large measure the satisfactory result of the day's business. The sale has revealed the fact that the real estate of the city is looking up, and that this improvement is steady and permanent, an object at all times most to be desired.

47th Battalion.

INSPECTION OF COMPANY NO. 1.

A correspondent writes: We arrived at Battersea at 9 o'clock to hear the bugle sound the "fall in," which was promptly obeyed by 40 volunteers coming out of confusion into perfect order. The word being given to march we all started for the drill ground, which was reached after about fifteen minutes' sharp walk. The ground, Brass's Point, is beautifully situated, overlooking the magnificent waters of Loughboro Lake. The scenery was lovely; but the most lovely there were the ladies, of whom a goodly number were present. The Inspector, Col. Von. Straubenzie, arrived at eleven o'clock. He put the men under a very severe drill for upwards of an hour, and then addressed to them some words of encouragement, telling them that if they were not the best company in the battalion they were at least the second best. He then dismissed them, after which the inspecting officers and some half dozen civilians were invited to dinner at a hotel in the village by the officers of the company.

The Glorious Fourth.

To-morrow will be enthusiastically celebrated in the frontier cities and towns. Though the holiday comes very very near to that which we are now resting from, there will be several visiting delegations from Kingston. The "Magnet's" trip to Oswego, the "Maud's" to the Cape, and the St. Lawrence Club's to Ogdensburg, all promise well. We hope the baseballers will have many friends accompanying to give them support and encouragement.

COLLISION.—The schr. Laura Belle, which arrived at Toledo on Tuesday week, is at Boos' shipyard, having repairs made. On Thursday before she collided with the schr. Norway while off Long Point. The Norway struck her on the port quarter, breaking two frames and six planks, and injuring her mizen rigging, the damages amounting to about 200. The Norway's bowsprit was carried away, but otherwise she was not seriously hurt.

HAVERLEY'S MINSTRELS.—On Saturday evening last Haverley's Minstrels performed in the City Hall to a very fair house. It would be doing the Company but simple justice to pronounce it one of the best organized and most respectable travelling. The entertainment was well conducted, and left the most favourable impressions. Good music, excellent dancing and laughable burlesque, without a vulgarism to mar their effect.

UPSET.—On Saturday a yacht upset in the harbor, off Garden Island, four or five young men being immersed in the water, and being required to exercise considerable expertness and caution in order to keep afloat until they were picked up in a small boat which shot out from the Island. Yachting is not altogether so easy as rolling off a log or into the water.

CRICKET.

K.C.C. vs. ST. GEORGE'S C.C., MONTREAL.

The match between the above Clubs, which came off on Saturday last, was one of the best we have witnessed for some time, and resulted in a victory for the K.C.C. by 21 runs. In the first innings some good batting was displayed on both sides—Elmore's 28, (not out) being obtained by some of the best playing we have seen in a long time. Grace, for the St. George's C.C., made the capital scores of 34 and 19 by hard hitting. In Kingston's second innings, Jones, Smith and Galloway did well in batting, scoring respectively the scores of 11, 17 and 14; and, in the second innings of the Montrealers Pinkney and Thompson also got double figures, the latter scoring 25, and not out. Some fine catches were made by the Kingston men, one in particular by Dean, whose long-stopping throughout was first class. The visitors expressed themselves as well satisfied with the manner in which they were treated while here. It is likely that the match with Syracuse will be played on the Kingston ground on the 10th inst. Subjoined is the score of Saturday's game:

The Demonstration.

AS OTHERS SAW IT.

Picton New Nation:—The address by the Premier was eminently characteristic of the true statesman. Logical, argumentative, explicit and keenly satarical at times, it was void of bombast, void of self-adulation, void of low vulgarisms, void, of all that peacock flourish which enwraps the misrepresentations of Dr. Tupper, and void too of that sickening torrent of self-glorification which characterizes the utterances of Sir John Macdonald. It cannot be said there was lacking a single element essential to genuine success. The attendance was large, the process on was very creditable, the attention paid to the various speakers was constant and untiring, and the speeches themselves were of a high order and well calculated to produce a lasting impression upon any mind unbiassed by party passion and unwarped by party prejudice.

At W. S. GORDON'S Grocery, Princess St., will be found all kinds of Groceries and Provisions on the close cutting cash principle.

THE WAR NEWS.

Work on the Danube.

Russians Abandon Kars.

The news from the seat of war is this morning mainly confined to Bulgaria, where the Russians are losing no time in pushing forward in the direction of the Balkans. A flying corps has already appeared at Tirnova, the ancient capital of Bulgaria, thirty-five miles south-east of Sistova. This movement would indicate an intention to burn the fortress of Shumla. The Turks are devastating the country along the Russian lines of march, and suffering exists in consequence among the peasantry, who are now threatened with famine and pestilence in addition to the horrors of war. A general engagement between the Turkish forces between Rustchuk and Nikopoli and the Russians is expected in a day or two.

The English fleet in the Mediterranean has, as a precautionary measure, again been ordered to Besika Bay, but the movement is not intended to have the significance that alarmists would seek to give it.

London, July 3.—The opponents of the Government say the Mediterranean fleet has been ordered to Besika Bay with the intention to keep the Russians out of Constantinople by force.

New York, July 3.—A London special says in the Commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote officially announced the English fleet ordered from the Piræus to Besika Bay.

A despatch from Erzeroum, dated 2nd July, says the Russians on Sunday abandoned Kars, and are now in full retreat towards the river Karstchar. The Turks are greatly elated, and represent the Russians as being utterly demoralized.

Simnitza and Bucharest despatches remark upon the dilatory tactics of the Russians since they crossed the Danube. The position they occupy is admirable for defense, and the time allowed by the Turks enabled them to bring up men and guns enough to defend it. For two days the situation was critical, but now, by occupying the hills in force, the Russians have gained an immense bridge head.

EUROPEAN

Last Calls Across the Continent

London, June 3.—Loy's spinning factory, Roun France, burned, throwing 373 employees out of work.

H. Clasen & Co., merchants trading at Bombay, failed. Liabilities $500,000.

New York, July 3.—The officials of Dr. Clapens Church deny emphatically that he has had any difficulty or that he tendered his resignation. A quarrel is reported between Tilton and Moulton and the former leaves for Europe on Saturday, taking his daughters.

The Columbia opera house was closed by the police and a large number of semi-nude female dancers taked to the station, with one of its proprietors.

The Canadian rifle team, which takes part in the contest at Wimbledon, will practice at Liverpool until Saturday, when it starts for London.

Paris, July 3.—The Pay says, referring to MacMahon's order to the troops on Sunday, "at last we feel we are ruled by a hand that wields a sword. The chief of the army has appealed to bayonets, and all must now return to duty."

ASTOUNDING ACT.

Hoisting the Papal Flag Instead of the Union Jack.

Montreal, July 3.—There is great excitement in town over the conduct of Papal Zouaves on the Board of the Ottawa River Coy's. steamer, "Queen Victoria." Last evening when they came on board at five o'clock, at Ottawa, they asked for leave to hoist the papal flag at the bow instead of the Union Jack, which was flying there. The pilot consenting, they hauled down the Union Jack and pulled up their flag instead. Soon after the steamboat had started the captain noticed the change, and going to the bow pulled down the papal flag and rehoisted the Union Jack. Several Zouaves rushed at him and seized him by the throat, and in the scuffle the papal flag was dropped overboard. A priest and Zouave officer came to the rescue of the captain, who retired to his state room bleeding about the face. Subsequently a deputation waited on him from the Zouaves, and he allowed them to hoist their flag again. The Company is holding an investigation.

PARTY FACTION.

Fight Between Young Britons and Irish Catholics.

Montreal, July 2.—A serious row took place at the Chambly pic-nic yesterday between several Orange Young Britons and some Irish Catholic youths, who, on being beaten back, were reinforced by French Canadian villagers, and made a fierce attack on the Protestants. The fight was brutal in the extreme, and lasted nearly all afternoon, being renewed whenever the combatants could recover from their exhaustion. At last the Young Britons drew their revolvers and fired on the French, one ball taking effect in the side of a villager, when the belligerents separated. There were no police to separate the opposing factions, and the affair was of a most disgraceful character.

GRANT'S ENGLISH RECEPTION.

London, July 3.—Forty men, each representing different trade and representing over one million workingmen, waited upon ex-President Grant to-day and presented him an address, welcoming him to England and assuring him of their good wishes and deep regard for the welfare and progress of America, where British workmen had always found welcome. Speeches were made by various members of the deputation, all of which were extremely cordial. General Grant replied.

UPSET IN THE BAY.

Narrow Escape—One Person Drowned.

Belleville, June 3.—A small sail boat containing twelve persons upset near Oxpoint last night. All were rescued except a young man, named Charles Clintax, whose body was recovered several hours afterwards. A Mrs. Nicholson, who was in the boat, had an arm broken. The persons, five of whom were women, clung to the bottom of the boat for three quarters of an hour before they were rescued.

THE American House, Boston, has the reputation of being one of the most home-like Hotels in the country. To make their patrons comfortable seems to be the great effort of the proprietors, and clerks do not deem it beneath their dignity to shake hands with a guest. Diamond studs and button hole boquets are at a discount in that office.—Detroit Free Press.
