PONIES SOON WILL ENTER THEIR WINTER STALLS.

The Conversion of a Pony—Match at Brockville—The Rugby Prospects in Toronto and Montreal.

Gananoque baseball team won in Ogdensburg on Wednesday, 6 to 2.

Ogdensburg defeated Potsdam 5 to 2 at Ogdensburg fair yesterday afternoon.

The Ponies will probably play six more matches before going into their winter stalls.

Jim Hart, Chicago, offers to bet $1 against $1,000,000, that Chicago lands the pennant.

John L. Sullivan, ex-champion heavyweight boxer, is now making books at the Sheepshead race track, near Boston.

The Royal military college teams in the Canadian military rifle league scored 3,640 and 3,316 points in the five matches fired.

Several Toronto ladies won $22 on the Gananoque-St. Mary's baseball matches last Monday. They bet on Gananoque, on which team they had friends.

Capt. Paul, Dr. Herald, Dr. Haig and S. Baillie are determined to lower the colors of Rockwood bowling team, and have issued a challenge. The match will take place next week.

To-morrow afternoon the final yacht club races of the season will be sailed, providing the weather is satisfactory. There is considerable friendly competition, and the races will be interesting.

The time has passed for declaring girls incapable of understanding baseball. Both Kingston and Gananoque have a host of female "fans" who follow the game with fever heat interest, and scream when the spirit moves them.

"Chancer" Elliott didn't carry enough fodder to Brockville yesterday to feed his Ponies, and there was a famished group ere the island city was reached. Bill, Randy, Bike, Joe, and Duke, are "poor ones" at attacking a lunch counter.

Lawson's big yacht Independence practically went out of commission Wednesday, after she had raced over a course in Mass Bay and beaten a fleet of fishermen ten miles on a twenty-mile course. She will be dry docked and dismantled.

A Gananoque damsel claims the distinction of breaking the non-church attendance record of a Pony baseball player. She gave him a sound lecture, pumped him up with religion and made the Pony trot to church with her last Sunday.

An effort is being made by the Toronto 'Varsity football team to fix a game to be played before the duke and duchess of York during their visit to Toronto. As yet the scheme has not taken a definite form, but if at all possible a match between the McGill and 'Varsity teams will be pulled off.

The Brockville rowing club will not have their usual fall regatta this season. The boys have decided to enter for the big war canoe event at Ottawa on the occasion of the visit to that city of the duke and duchess of Cornwall and York, and will devote all their energy to getting in shape for it.

Peterboro rugby club elected these officers: Patrons and patronesses — Hon. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. George Hatton and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill; Hon. president, H. R. H. Kenner; president, R. F. McWilliams; first vice-president, William Crowley; second vice-president, Dr. Andrew Scott; secretary-treasurer, E. S. Clary; assistant secretary-treasurer, H. Rush; manager, A. W. McPherson; captain, Hal. Burnham.

A baseball team called Queen's, consisting of five Kingston Ponies and four Brockville players, including "Forrie" Weatherhead and "Bees" Williams, defeated the Brockville rowing club team in the [illegible] city yesterday afternoon, 18 to 6. "Chancer" Elliott and "Bill" Cheney were the battery for "Queen's." Tilton, of the Ponies, played shortstop for the rowing team. Cheney hit the ball into the woods, and hasn't stopped running yet.

College Maid, a beautiful four-year-old daughter of D.L.C., Samuel Harkness' trotting stallion, is now in Winnipeg, where she is highly spoken of. A horseman writing of her says that she is the most promising mare he has seen in many a day and is confident that if driven out she would do better than 2:15, which would ensure her a brilliant future. She has raced some, but has not been given a mark as her owner would not allow her to win. The writer says that the mare will be heard from with distinction.

A tale of the betting ring from the track at Sheepshead Bay. Dave Gideon, well-known among horsemen, made what is known as a "killing," his winnings being placed at $100,000 as a minimum. Josepha entered in the first race, was held by the bookmakers at the opening of betting at sixty to one, and when Gideon and his commission men had finished the filly was down to three to one. When the race was run the ring woke up to find that there was nothing in it but Josepha. The general public had little fancy for the horse, and Gideon was the main beneficiary of his own foresight.

Football Chat.

The Argonauts will start practice on September 14th.

'Varsity will start their regular practices next Monday, the 9th.

'Varsity will miss Alex. McKenzie on the half-back line this year.

Tom Leacock, the fast middle wing of last year's Argonauts, will not be in line with the scullers this season.

The Argonauts will be strong this year on the wing line, and the management have their eyes on a good quarter-back.

The Britannias were out Wednesday morning for practice. Captain Philip Mackenzie was in charge. There were thirty-five in all.

"Casey" Baldwin, whose fine punting and running was so much admired last year, will be in the game again this season.

Norman Beal, 'Varsity's crack full-back, has played on the 'Varsity team longer than any other full-back. He will play again this year.

"Ernie" Pattinson, who won the lawn tennis championship at Niagara-on-the-lake, will play outside wing again this year for 'Varsity.

"Feather" Aylesworth and Ralph Stratton, who were tried out last year on the 'Varsity half-back line, will likely "make good" this fall.

'Varsity will lose a good wing man in Meredith, who is in his second year at Osgoode Hall, and who is ineligible for this year's 'Varsity team.

Dixie Isbister, who played on the champion 'Varsity team of 1899, and who was unable to play last year owing to illness, is expected to turn out this fall.

The Ottawa football team will soon commence training for this fall's campaign in the Ontario rugby union, and it is probable that during next week practices will be started.

Percy Biggs, the crack quarter-back of the 'Varsity team, will be in the game this year. He has been training all summer for the McGill-'Varsity-Oxford-Cambridge athletic contests, and will be in splendid condition for football.

Rugby football has begun in earnest. The Montreal football club held its first practice Wednesday. The captain, Jimmie Craig, took charge of the team for the first time. There were thirty-two men in uniform, many of them from last year's team.

The mail boats will retain the present time table this month, instead of ceasing on the 15th, as was originally intended.

Swift's wharf: Steamers Kingston from Toronto; Rideau King from Ottawa; North King from Charlotte; Spartan from Hamilton.

The R. & O. steamers will be kept running most of September on account of the heavy travel to and from the Pan-American. Yesterday the steamer Toronto had 100 through passengers.

The steamer Rideau Queen came out of Davis' dry-dock this morning, after receiving repairs to her hull. She sprang a leak near Newboro on her last down trip, and had to return to Kingston.

It seems there is no Canadian marine regulation prohibiting gasoline vessels from carrying passengers. As long as the inspectors deem a boat safe, it will be passed, no matter what it uses for propelling power.

It is understood that three of the old boats of the Richelieu & Ontario navigation company, the Island Queen, Caspian and River du Loup, have been disposed of, and that next season will witness the launching of the two fast modern boats which the company had contracted for.

Folger Bros. may have two new boats on the river next year, one a pleasure boat to carry 250. She will be equipped with the most modern improvements. The other boat will be a large excursion boat used principally to run on the Ogdensburg and Kingston excursions. She will carry 1,500 people and must be able to run from eighteen to twenty miles an hour.

The steamyacht Now Then, one of the Thousand Island flyers, ran on the shoal on the north side of Howe Island, opposite Mr. Nichols' residence, yesterday afternoon. Early this morning the steamer New Island Wanderer went to the Now Then's rescue, but failed to pull her off. The steamyacht is humped on the shoal, and pumps will be required besides other wrecking outfit.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Let The Citizens Choose Their Own Mayor and Aldermen.

Kingston, Sept. 5.—(To the Editor): I see by last evening's News that aldermen Toye and Shaw are out for the mayoralty for 1902. Now, I have not heard of any of the electors asking either of them to stand for mayor. It does seem strange to me that the electors take so little interest in council matters, as to let aldermen and mayors elect themselves, as it were, by going around among the electors and almost begging for votes.

It seems to me I would feel very much elated if I were elected mayor or even alderman by the voluntary votes of the people, but if I had to go around, hat in hand, begging for votes, I would not think it any honor whatever. I feel sure we would have a better class of aldermen if they were elected without canvassing.

Would it not be a good plan for the citizens to nominate a man, if they cannot agree on one, say two, and neither of them ask a vote. By that means we will then be properly represented, and they will feel a pride in doing their duty to the city's interests. I know some will say: "If you don't canvass you will be left." Well, if you do canvass, the one that gets the least votes will be left, so what is the difference? Suppose we try it in electing our mayor for 1902.—JOSEPH GEORGE.

HONORING THE BRAVE DEAD.

A MURAL TABLET AND A STATUE UNVEILED

At Amherst Island in Memory of the Late Corporal Filson—Surgeon Lieut.-Col. Duff's Tribute.

The people of Amherst Island turned out on Thursday in full force to honor the memory of the late corporal Filson, killed in action in South Africa. The ceremonies consisted of the unveiling of a mural tablet in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and also of a statue in the adjoining cemetery. Capt. Glen, chairman of the memorial committee, presided. Surgeon-lieutenant Col. H. R. Duff unveiled the tablet and gave the following address:

"As friends of late corporal Filson, as citizens of the empire, and of our great dominion, we have met to do honor to the memory of one to whom honor is indeed due. He was a good son, an honest man, and a brave soldier in the truest sense of the word. The South African war has taught Canada that she may well be proud of her sons. It has taught Great Britain that her colonists are worthy sons of worthy sires. It has taught the world that it cannot injure the motherland without dealing with all her sons.

Who is earth's greatest hero? He that bears
Deep buried in his kingly breast his lot
Of suffering and if need be he that dares
Lay down his life for right, and falters not.

"Such was corporal Filson, and such were many of your representatives in South Africa. The blood of our gallant sons, mingling on the South African veldt with that of England's bravest, cemented the union between the old land and the new.

"And how can man die better than facing fearful odds? It was thus that corporal Filson and his brave comrades died, fighting against overpowering numbers. 'Brave men die, but their deeds live after them.' The Canadian dragoons in South Africa, to which corps corporal Filson belonged, formed usually the advance guard in the advancing column and the rear guard in the retreat. Always first in touch with the enemy and the last to leave him. For this work it required good men and true. To advance against a foe you can see needs courage, but it needs more courage still to advance in a strange country against foes that you cannot see. Often our troops marched all day, had men killed and wounded, and yet never saw one of the enemy. It was indeed trying work, hard on the nerves and required brave men to keep it up day after day, and yet the Royal Canadian dragoons were equal to it.

"Some men wrote home sounding their own praises as no one else could sing them. A few came home who had not done their duty, and yet were welcomed as heroes. Truly brave men need not such praise or such reward, and Filson did not require to sing his own praises. His comrades and his deeds spoke loudly for him. He was a hero in deed, not merely in word. I cannot do better than take Sergt. Metcalfe's words to describe our much lamented and beloved comrade when he said, 'Canada could not offer a better son.'

"To know the late corporal Filson was to admire him. He was gentle, but brave. A true soldier in the best sense of the word, he was beloved by all his companions in arms. He was fully trusted by all his officers, who soon learned that he could be depended upon at all times. He was quiet and unassuming, yet always ready to share a comrade's burden.

"His worth as a soldier was shown by his rising to the rank of a full corporal on his merits, in preference to men who were regulars and had the benefit of a superior military training. His captain said, concerning him: 'I have some good men from my own town that I do not like to put in second place, but Filson was undoubtedly the best man in my troop.

"In regard to our representatives in South Africa—the officers of the Gordon Highlanders and of the Shropshires said: 'We feel perfectly safe when the Canadians are acting as scouts and advance guard to our column'; and general Smith-Dorrien said: 'We believe you Canadians are absolutely without fear. For this work I would rather have one hundred Canadians, than five hundred of any other troop I know. Our column would be at a standstill without you.'

"Such were Filson and his companions as viewed by officers of the two best British regiments and one of the best generals in South Africa.

"The late corporal Filson's friends on Amherst Island may have thought they knew him, but they did not know him as fully as we did. There is nothing like a campaign, with its trials and privations to bring out what is in a man and to reveal him in his true character. All who thus knew him can assure the residents of the island that they do well to commemorate the memory of their brave son, who gave his life for queen and country while battling for the right on the South African veldt."

Captain D. Finley then unveiled the statue, and spoke a few appropriate words.

The tablet is of brass, twenty-four by thirty-four inches, and is appropriate and artistic in design. At the top surrounded by a wreath of maple leaves is the crest of the Royal Canadian dragoons, supported by two British flags beautifully draped. Beneath is the following inscription:

"In memory of Edward Allen Filson, a native of Amherst Island, corporal in "A" squadron, Royal Canadian dragoons, killed in action at Lillefontein, South Africa, November 7th, 1900, while gallantly defending the guns of "D" battery, R.C.F.A., aged twenty-three years. Erected by his fellow-citizens."

The statue is a replica of "Peace," by Dankberg; represents a female figure, artistically draped, and standing in an easy posture, holding a large palm in her right hand, the stem of which rests on the base of a column, bearing the motto, "Concordia." In her left hand she holds a cornucopia. The figure stands on a rustic base and pedestal, and has the following inscription: "To the memory of Corpl. E. A. Filson, R.R.D., interred at Belfast, S.A., November 7th, 1900."

The reeve and members of the council were present. Short addresses were given by Messrs. Willard, Mowtray, McKee, H. Finlay and Revs. Messrs. Lindsay, Orser and Cumberland. The school children were also present and sang very sweetly, under the direction of Rev. Mr. Orser. The brass band played several appropriate selections, one worthy of special mention being "Forever With the Lord," arranged for the occasion by bandmaster Fred Girvin.

The whole proceedings were a fitting tribute to the memory of a gallant soldier and worthy citizen.

Gr. Stinson, of "A" field battery, who lately returned from active service in South Africa, has purchased his discharge from the permanent corps, and will join the ranks of the "Black Watch" at the locomotive works.

Capt. C. J. Armstrong, who went to South Africa as an officer in the Royal Canadian regiment, and while there was transferred to the staff of Sir Percy Girouard, director of imperial military railways, returned to England on his way home to Canada, on the 22nd of last month.

Ottawa Journal: Sergeant Bailey, district staff clerk, Kingston, who has been in charge of the Kynoch match at the D. R. A. meet here next week, has left for home. He made a host of friends here and was very popular, as was evidenced by the friends who went down to the station to see him off.

Mr. Yates, New York, special photographer of the New York Central railway, and family, were guests of J. A. Goodearle, of the ferry office, at Loborough lake, yesterday. The party caught some very fine black bass. Mr. Yates had been up the Rideau, taking views of that route for the railway company's folder. He left this morning for New York.

Immense Crowd At Poor Fair.

There were 10,000 people at Ogdensburg fair yesterday afternoon, including a Kingston contingent. There were scarcely any exhibits to be seen, beyond some poultry and fancy work, and the buildings would hardly have done Gananoque credit. But the balloon, the fakirs and the pink lemonade men were there, and what more could be wanted? Ogdensburg fair didn't have one-quarter of the attractions that will be seen at the Kingston exhibition next week.

Get An Extra Education.

It is said that the object of starting a special boarding house for Queen's university lady students is to give the college maidens an opportunity to keep house themselves and to study domestic science. The girls would then be equipped with a double education, when they left the university, and during their course would have had a more pleasant time in their own home, as it might be called, than in an ordinary boarding house.

Military College Graduate.

Lieut. R. Harvey, who died in India, was the youngest child of the late James Harvey, of Nanaimo, B. C., and was only twenty-three years of age. He was educated at the Royal military college, Kingston, passed into the army and joined two years ago the 4th Hussars in India, to which regiment he was acting adjutant at the time of his death. With his regiment and every one who knew him he was a great favorite.

Pill Sense.

It stands to reason that Dr. Agnew's Little Liver Pills will crowd out of the market many of the nauseous old-timers. A better medicine at less than half the price is all the argument needed to keep the demand what it has been—phenomenal—forty doses ten cents. They cure sick headache, biliousness, and allay all stomach irritations; 100 pills in 25c. size. Sold by E. C. Mitchell.—5.

When you need a good suit at a moderate price, remember the address, Livingston Bros.

HELD ITS ANNUAL MEETING

THE W.C.T.U. IN SESSION — BALANCE ON HAND.

A Review of the Excellent Work Done During the Past Year — The Officers Selected For the Next Term.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Thursday afternoon. There was a very fair attendance, two new members and one visitor. Mrs. (Rev.) McCallum occupied the chair. Mrs. McCallum read the twenty-second chapter of Revelation, paying a touching tribute to Mrs. D. Laing, so lately promoted from a faithful and loving service on earth to one so beautifully described in the text as being prepared for all those who truly love God and faithfully serve Him.

Fair work, as an item of unfinished business, was taken up, and after a good deal of discussion, it was decided not to take it up this year except by distributing temperance literature on the grounds, committees being appointed to attend to it. Reports of officers and of departmental work were read, and showed that the work was going on slowly and steadily.

The recording-secretary's report was brief. The treasurer reported over $200 passing through her hands during the year, and after all bills being settled, a good balance remained. There was considerable correspondence as reported by the corresponding-secretary. In connection with the fruit and delicacy department, Miss Baker, Victorian nurse, gave a splendid report. She said that the quantities received by her this year were much in excess of last year, and told of the pleasure given to and the benefits derived by many of the patients, who were very grateful to all those who so kindly remembered them. The thanks of the union were given to Miss Baker for her excellent report. Prison reform work was reported by Mrs. McCallum, who has visited the penitentiary at stated intervals during the year, carrying words of counsel and encouragement to those women who so much need them. She related several incidents connected with her work, showing that impressions were made which she had no doubt were permanent. Some of those who had gone from the prison, professing conversion, were now living good and useful lives. Mrs. McCallum also told of the meetings held each week at the home for friendless women, where the inmates take much interest in the study of the scripture.

Mrs. Rogers, supplying the boxes at the railway stations with literature, reported having placed bibles in each box, and used 500 leaflets, besides numerous other papers. She asks for donations of good papers and magazines to help her in this work. Many are pleased to find good reading while waiting for the trains.

Mrs. Hammond, evangelistic superintendent, who, through illness, was obliged to suspend work for a time purposes holding a mother's meeting as soon as arrangements can be made. The delegates appointed for the W.C.T.U. convention, to be held in Stratford during the first week of November are: Mrs. (Rev.) McCallum and Mrs. Herbert Lyon as alternate. Mrs. (Dr.) Sparks, on account of ill-health, resigned the office of president.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. (Rev.) McCallum; recording-secretary, Mrs. Herbert Lyon; treasurer, Mrs. T. H. Rogers; corresponding secretary, Miss E. Clark; first vice-president, Mrs. (Dr.) Sparks; vice-presidents, all ministers' wives members of the order.

Drug Apprentices Scarce.

Local druggists find it very difficult to obtain clerks. The reason is very plain. The qualifications have been raised, and now a young man, before he can enter an apothecary shop, must possess a third-class certificate or a matriculation certificate. He then has to serve four years' apprenticeship at wages that wouldn't begin to pay his board bill, supposing he was obliged to board. It has come to the point now that druggists will have to pay their help, as other business men do, or else they will not be able to secure apprentices.

A New Dump Cart.

A model dump cart is now used by the city scavenger, taking the place of the unsightly wheelbarrow formerly used. The cart was sketched by alderman Toye and constructed from his designs. It is a handy affair, neat and useful.

Fall Importation of 1901.

Prevost, of the New York clothing store, Brock street, has received all his fall importations from Europe for overcoatings, suitings and trouserings. The assortment is greater than in previous years in choice patterns and quality.

DR. PITCHER'S

Backache Kidney Tablets.

(Formula of Zina Pitcher, M.D., Late Professor of Materia Medica and Genito Urinary Diseases, Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.)

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the quickest and surest relief for Backache and Kidney trouble, and can show more evidence to that effect than all other advertised remedies combined. Dr. Pitcher stakes his reputation on these tablets for Backache and Kidney troubles, and will not allow them to be advertised as a "jack of all trades" medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Bevan, of Port Hope says: "Thirteen years ago I fell and injured my back, and since then have known very little comfort with Backache and Kidney troubles. I have tried all kinds of medicines and seen many physicians, but got no help until I began the bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I got from R. Deyell, druggist. They have done me a world of good. I feel stronger, the dizziness and pain are gone, and I cannot tell you how pleased I am, and everyone else says the same of them. They are just what everyone wanted. I hope others will use them and get well."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are put up in wooden bottles, with green wrapper, bearing the portrait and signature of Z. Pitcher, M.D. Each bottle contains 50 tablets, price 50 cents per bottle. Manufactured by The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.
