MISS EMMA McAULEY

SENTIMENT IN CANADA.

A New York Times Interview With Mr. Folger.

The New York Times interviewed many distinguished persons in New York regarding the financial outlook in view of the death of the late president McKinley. Henry Folger, of Kingston, was seen and said:

"The death of the president will cause quite as much consternation in Canada, where I live most of the year, as it will here. I believe the business interests of Canada are quite as dependent upon the operation of a stable, economic policy as are those of the United States. There will be also quite as much personal grief in Canada as there will be here. No one realizes, unless he does business in both Canada and the United States, just how close the economic relationship is.

"I do not believe, however, that Mr. Roosevelt would do anything to interfere with the existing amicable financial relationship between the two countries. Canada, I think, would have confidence in Mr. Roosevelt, as president, and beyond the natural effect that would follow the death of president McKinley, Canada would rally just as I believe this country would. I see no reason for any extreme fear, although there may be a break of temporary duration. Business conditions are upon too sound a basis, however, to be permanently affected by any such event as the death of one man, even the president of the United States."

DOCTORS DISAGREE.

Following The Autopsy On President McKinley.

WAS THE BULLET POISONED?

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION AMONG THE DOCTORS.

And Has Led to Considerable Bitterness of Feeling Since the President's Death — What the Marine Hospital Surgeon Reports.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—The discussion of the autopsy on the body of president McKinley continues. It has developed that however much harmony there may have been between the surgeons who attended the president while their patient was still alive there was developed considerable bitterness of feeling since his death.

The question as to whether the bullet with which Czolgosz shot the president was poisoned is one of the points on which the surgeons are at issue. The question, in the opinion of most critics, ought to be solved by an analysis of the remaining bullets which were taken from the revolver.

Dr. Eugene Wasdin, the marine hospital surgeon, who was present with the president from the time he was shot, had this to say about the possibility of poison on the bullet: "The breasthone wound, although simple, showed a large impact. The area of infiltration of subcutaneous tissues was entirely too extensive to be accounted for from contusion. The tissues were in a partially gangrenous condition.

"The bullet that went into the abdomen and penetrated the stomach also was followed by gangrene wherever it passed. The skin wound on the point of entrance was livid gangrenous. At the point where the bullet passed through the apex of the left kidney the tissue was still necrotic. The further passage of the bullet through the back was also surrounded by gangrenous tissues.

"These different areas were due to the same influence, acting about the same time. All these conditions lead me to believe that there has been an influence exerted by the passing bullet through the tissues, entirely dissimilar to that influence exerted by an ordinary missile.

"The influence I speak of might be bacterial—the microbe being carried in on the bullet and giving rise to a growth of bateria in the abdominal cavity, with resulting peritonitis and possible abscess, or, in the case of some rare germs, to necrosis of tissue. From bacteriological observations made thus far this does not seem to be the case."

Dr. Roswell Park is quoted as saying that the poisoning was the work of the pancreatic juices released into the peritoneal cavity by the bullet. One of those who take the other view said that it was practically impossible for the juice blamed by Dr. Park to have so unerringly sought out the spots which had been touched by the bullet and only those spots. A part of the avenue, at any rate, was closed up when the surgeons sewed up the wounds in the stomach.

Lying At Washington.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The remains of president McKinley were placed last night in the east room of the White house, where, for more than four years he made his home as the chief magistrate of the great republic. The remains arrived from Buffalo at 8.40 o'clock, and the procession to the White house at once began. All along the route the whole country seemed to have drained its population at the sides of the track over which the train passed. The thin lines through the mountains and the sparsely settled districts thickened at the little hamlets, covered acres in towns suddenly grown to the proportions of respectable cities and were congested into vast multitudes in the larger cities. In twelve hours it is estimated over half a million people saw the coffin which held all that was mortal of president McKinley.

At the White house, during the night, Mrs. McKinley begged to be allowed again to look upon her beloved's face. She was in a highly nervous state and Dr. Rixey advised that her wish be granted, believing that it might calm her. Dr. Rixey and her niece, Miss Barber, brought her down to the east room. The lid of the casket was removed and with a moan of anguish the bereaved woman leaned over her dead and caressed the silent face. She remained there weeping some ten minutes and her physician and niece were obliged to use gentle force to finally persuade her to leave the remains.

President McKinley's body is now lying in state in the capitol.

To Attend The Funeral.

Princeton, N.J., Sept. 17.—Ex-president Cleveland left last evening to attend the funeral of president McKinley in Washington to-day.

BIG CASE SETTLED.

Nearly Three-quarters of a Million Were Involved.

Toronto, Sept. 17.—A settlement has been effected in the famous arbitration matter between the Edward Lloyd company and the Sturgeon Falls pulp company, in which the adjustment of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, was involved. Details of the settlement have not been given out, but it is understood that some liberal concessions were made on both sides. It is expected that the Lloyd company, which had been awaiting adjustment of the matter before commencing operations at Sturgeon Falls, will now that settlement has been reached, commence operations immediately.

The first of the America cup races will occur on September 26th.

CZOLGOSZ ARRAIGNED.

He Refused To Say Anything — Crowd Wanted Him.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 17.—Czolgosz, the assassin of president McKinley, was indicted yesterday afternoon by the county court grand jury for the crime of murder in the first degree. When arraigned before judge K. Emery, in the court, the prisoner stubbornly refused to answer questions repeatedly asked of him by district attorney Penny as to whether he had counsel or wanted counsel. Judge Emery assigned Hon. Leon F. Lewis and Hon. Robert Titus, formerly supreme court justices of this city, whose names had been suggested by the Erie county bar. Czolgosz will probably be arraigned to the indictment.

After the indictment was reported Czolgosz was removed from the court, handcuffed to the detectives, who started to the penitentiary with him, when the crowd surged after him, but found the exit barred by policemen.

Begins Next Monday.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 17.—Czolgosz probably will not be arraigned to-day because of the apparent impossibility of his lawyers to get to Buffalo before court adjourns. Czolgosz's trial probably will begin next Monday.

Will Look Up His Record.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Frank Idings, twenty-two years old, a blacksmith, was arraigned at the central police court as a suspicious character. Idings is alleged to have said in a saloon: "I belong to a society that will give $50,000 to any man who will kill president Roosevelt." Idings at his hearing yesterday did not deny that he had made the statement. He was remanded to jail and the police will make every effort to find out all about him.

BANNOCKBURN IN DANGER.

Hope That She Can Be Released Without Danger.

A despatch from Harbor Beach, Mich., says: The Canadian steamer Bannockburn, in shelter with her consorts, the Winnipeg and Dunmore, left shelter on Sunday night, but found the sea on lake Huron too high and ran back for here yesterday. The steamer struck on the beach four miles north of here and now lies in an exposed position. Fortunately the wind is off the land and it is believed she can be released before heavy weather sets in from the westward.

To Look For Her Consort.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 17.—The Canadian steamer Leafield, towing the schooner Barlum, ran out of coal when ten miles out yesterday and abandoned her consort in mid-lake. When the Leafield came into port her bunvers had been scrapped empty. The steamer will take on a small load of coal and a supply of fuel and start out in search for the Barlum, which anchored somewhere down the lake.

Are Many Disasters.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The cool northwest winds which for several days has swept over the lakes assumed during the past twenty-four hours the proportions of a gale and much damage was done to shipping. The southern end of lake Michigan escaped comparatively unharmed, but on the upper lakes, where the boats had gone out, despite the storm signals, sent out by the government weather bureau, many wrecks and mishaps occurred.

DR. PETERSON'S VIEWS.

Says Britons Want Peace, but Without Compromise.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—"Among Englishmen there is a general desire for peace, without one iota of compromise from the principles on which the war was undertaken."

This remark was made by principal Peterson, of McGill university, who has just returned from a summer sojourn in England.

When asked how long a period would elapse before there could be replied that was a difficult question to answer, because the Boers were an unusual people.

"One of the most pathetic things of this whole war," he added, "is the thought of the old Boer who believes that God has forsaken him."

This is where the difficulty lies before reconciliation and reconstruction could be effected, but principal Peterson is of the opinion that one month will see the final stage for the establishment of peace.

INTERNATIONAL COLONY.

To Which Anarchist Criminals Can Be Deported.

London, Sept. 17.—A despatch to the Standard from Brussels says that pour parlers among the powers on anarchism will deal principally with the question of founding an international colony to which anarchist criminals can be sent. The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent mentions a belief there that the United States will initiate a conference on anarchism at which it will be proposed to deport dangerous anarchists of all countries to a remote country, probably an island in the Pacific.

REWARDS FOR BANDITS

For Those Declared To Be Worthy Of Death.

WARNING TO BOXER LEADERS

PROCLAMATION BY LI HUNG CHANG AS VICEROY.

Must Give Security For Losses Incurred by Their Actions — Death to Those Pardoned if They Offend Again

Pekin, Sept. 16.—Li Hung Chang, as viceroy, has issued a proclamation declaring:

1—That lawsuits having their origin in the troubles last year are rejected, but the Boxer leaders will have to give security for losses incurred through their actions. The gentry who were pardoned will be executed if they offend again.

2—All surrendering rifles will be compensated; those not surrendering their weapons will be punished with death. If former Boxers or converts who are not policemen are permitted to have weapons their number must be reported to the officials.

3—Lands seized by Boxers or converts will be restored to their rightful owners.

4—Converts shall not be compelled to contribute to temple fetes.

5—United villages societies are prohibited, and villagers are forbidden to leave in a body.

6—A reward of fifty taels will be paid for bandits worthy of death, and fifty-five taels for those worthy of exile; servants are eligible to receive the rewards.

7—Peace committees will be formed of deputy officials, gentry and converts when recommended by the church. These, though not literary graduates, will receive a government title at the end of three years if peace is restored.

The populace of Pao-ting-fu is in a ferment over the evacuation of that place by the French. The officials, however, are alert and no trouble is anticipated. Chou Fu, assistant to Li Hung Chang, has praised them for their activity in preserving order.

A garden party which was to have been given to celebrate the opening of the German post office was postponed on account of the death of president McKinley.

An edict has been issued forbidding the imperial council and boards to sell offices. For half a century or more this has been a source of revenue, and the evil was especially flagrant during the last year.

Monday Maj. Dubulay, the British commander, transferred the Summer palace to the Chinese. Hu Yu Fie, governor general of Pekin, escorted by 200 Chinese soldiers, received it in behalf of the government. Hu Yu Fuen, on taking over the palace expressed gratitude to the British for their care of their section, and disgust for the Italians. A monument bearing the dates and duration of the siege and a tablet to Capt. Strouts, erected under the supervision of Maj. Dickie, were unveiled at the British legation. Addresses were made by the British and American ministers.

Goes Home Direct.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—It is understood that prince Chun, of the Chinese expiatory mission, will go direct to China by way of America, without visiting any other European capitals.

To Open Schools.

Shanghai, Sept. 16.—A notable edict has been issued by the empress dowager, ordering the institution of general education by means of primary schools, common schools, and colleges in every province for the populace.

BRITISH COLUMBIA POLITICS.

Joe Martin Again Makes a Nice Little Shindy.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 17.—The by-election at New Westminster is showing the complete disruption of the late opposition. Mr. Brown, who is supported by Martin in his fight for re-election, stated publicly that he is no longer a Martinite, while Smith Curtis, also late opposition member, is opposing both Martin and Brown very strenuously. At Saturday's meeting he denounced Martin for political bribery. Curtis' speech caused a scene. Martin repudiated the charges and insinuations, and called his old friend—a mean, contemptible, cowardly wretch, and other names till the chairman intervened.

Mr. Martin explains his succession to the government ranks by stating that Dunsmuir's policy was shaping itself in conformity with ideas he (Martin) held. John Oliver and other members of the liberal party deny the right of Martin to hand the party over to Dunsmuir without the party's consent, and refused to be battered about like bales of hay. Dunsmuir is also accused of treachery by his supporters in forming a coalition with Martin, and the trouble appears likely to cause complete disruption of both parties in the house, and hastens the time when provincial politics shall be fought on straight liberal and conservative issues.

Jubilee Convention.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 17.—The Congregationalists of Minnesota are holding in the First Congregational church here a semi-centennial jubilee. The house in which the meeting is being held was the first Congregational church built in Minnesota.
