BEFORE THE WAR BROKE OUT

THE BOERS HAD 80,000 FIGHTING MEN.

"God Help Tommy Atkins" Was the Expression of a Boer Leader—Plotting Prisoners to be Removed.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Durban states that the Maritzburg Times publishes a letter, dated September 20th, 1899, written by Mr. Munnik, acting state mining engineer of the Transvaal, to the Boer general Emmett, a brother-in-law of Louis Botha, which has been picked up in Emmett's house, near Vryheid. It states that the burgher lists of the two republics showed 80,000 men. "So God protect poor Tommy Atkins, even if he send us twice that number." It goes on to say that the government had drawn up a stringent confiscation law, directed against the "treason-shouting contingent," of so strict a nature that, should the Transvaal prove victorious, all the state finances could be drawn from the share in the mining industry derived from the sequestration of their property.

Natal Volunteers To Disband.

London, Oct. 23.—A Durban despatch to the Standard says that it is understood that the Natal volunteers will shortly return from the front, the frustration of Gen. Botha's attempted raid having rendered their retention in the field unnecessary.

Ladysmith Dissatisfied.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Ladysmith says that the town council, failing to obtain satisfaction from the governor of Natal with reference to the claims against the military during the siege of that place, is considering the expediency of sending a deputation to Mr. Chamberlain.

Blocking The Boers

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Heilbron Orange River Colony, says that the Boers have twice made unsuccessful attempts by night to cross the railway line to the east.

A despatch from Herschel, on the Orange river, says that parties, under Kritzinger, Ackerman and other commandants, are on the north bank of the Orange river waiting to cross, though there is little chance of their succeeding, for the river is full and is only fordable at a few points.

Plotting Prisoners.

London, Oct. 23.—A Bloemfontein despatch states that thirty-four prisoners who had been allowed to reside in a refugee camp at Brandfort and who recently endeavored to persuade others to join them in a revolt in order to escape have been brought there. They will be transported to Bermuda.

Return To The Rand.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Durban states that Lord Milner has telegraphed to the outlander committee asking it to let him have a roster of all discharged irregulars who served more than nine months in the field, with a view to their return to the rand at the earliest convenient opportunity.

Desires Vigorous War Policy.

London, Oct. 23.—With lord Salisbury's return from the continent there may be a greater display of ministerial energy, with a view to ending the war. It is stated that the king is anxious that hostilities should cease before his coronation, and desires to consult his chief minister as to the possibility of pursuing a more vigorous policy.

Gen. Hildyard, who was Gen. Buller's favorite during the Natal campaign, will be deputy adjutant at the war office.

Lord Kitchener reports that since Oct. 15th, twenty-five Boers have been killed, eighteen wounded, 190 taken prisoners, and there have been fifty surrenders.

Did Not Succeed.

Cape Town, Oct. 22.—Commandant Marais, one of the several Boer leaders who have been operating in Cape Colony, was located, October 13th, in a farm house twenty-five miles from Sutherland. He had only ten rebels with him. A detachment of the district mounted troops surrounded the farm house during the night. At daylight the rebels discovered their presence and opened fire from the homestead. In the ensuing fight one rebel was killed and eight were captured. Marais and one comrade had departed before the British arrived.

Meets With Opposition.

The Hague, Oct. 23.—The Dutch press urges quay workers to refuse to unload vessels flying the union jack and calls for a public subscription to make up what the workmen would lose by boycotting British steamers. This proposition has aroused considerable opposition, inasmuch as Holland is drained already of surplus funds for the support of the Boers.

NOT AS BAD AS PAINTED.

Terrors of Arctic Life Have Been Exaggerated.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Robert Stein, formerly a translator in the geological survey office, has returned from a three years' sojourn in the Arctic circle. Stein left Halifax in March, 1899, with a number of scientists on board Lieut. Peary's supply ship Indiana. He spent the ensuing time in Grinnell Land and Greenland, leaving the island last July.

Stein says that the terrors of Arctic exploration have been largely exaggerated and that though his party penetrated the snows and floes of the north to a point commonly supposed to be extremely dangerous they suffered few hardships. In West Elsmere land, he says, game was found in abundance. Immense herds of walrus, seals, musk oxen, polar bears and caribou were often met.

Special Notice.

A MUNICIPAL RESTAURANT.

Novel Plan Suggested by British Organization.

London, Oct. 23.—British workingmen are advocating the establishment of a municipal restaurant where well cooked meals and pure tea, coffee and liquors can be obtained amid comfortable surroundings at moderate prices. A joint deputation of the London trades' council and the social democratic federation will invite the London county council to make an experiment with one such enterprise in the heart of London, where the great new thoroughfare will shortly be opened connecting the Strand and Holborn. James MacDonald, secretary of the trades' council, said to the Record-Herald correspondent to-day: "During the last few years the county council has acquired for purpose of public improvement numerous licensed saloons, which have been torn down and replaced by ordinary shops. The surrender value of these licenses amounts to a sum aggregating 250,000 sterling ($1,250,000). This loss will ultimately be borne by the taxpayers. We suggest that the council retain one of these licenses and build handsome premises for the accommodation of workingmen, who are at present compelled to get their meals in cheap and unsatisfactory coffee houses or saloons, which give slight consideration to the food compared to the drink they serve.

"A municipal restaurant could well afford to furnish good meals, tea, coffee, pure beers and spirits at prices to suit the workers. It is proposed that such a saloon should indirectly attain its object by paying a manager a salary based on the sales of food and temperance drinks, thus discouraging the sale of intoxicants."

HORSES FOR AFRICA.

Agents of British Army Buying on Pacific Coast.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 23.—British purchasing agents are buying horses by wholesale in Whitman, Walla Walla and other stock raising counties of eastern Washington. During the last few months thousands of horses have been shipped from points in this state and Eastern Oregon to points on the Canadian Pacific railway, and thence carried to Montreal for transhipment. The best horses are becoming scarce, and very thorough search is being made for strong mounts of good size. Thousands of horses have been offered by farmers in western Canada, but these are found too light. The purchasing agents are paying $50 to $75 even for good horses, as against $300 a head, which the British army has to pay at Cape Town.

Up to date, over 100,000 animals have been purchased in the United States, and a still larger number in Argentine. The average life of a horse in South Africa is but six weeks, which explains the necessity of buying remounts by thousands.

STRICKEN WITH LEPROSY.

Fate of Amelia Burder, Missionary to India.

Paris, Ont., Oct. 23.—Word has been received from India that Amelia Burder, a missionary to the lepers, had been stricken with leprosy in India. She is well-known in Canada. Years ago Dr. and Mrs. McLaurin brought home with them from India a young native girl, Amelia Keller. On her return to India with the McLaurins she became the wife of Jonathan Burder, a young native preacher of acknowledged talent. It was a happy union, and the young couple exerted a wide influence for good in the Telugu field, but last year Jonathan was stricken down with cholera, and now comes the more terrible intelligence that Amelia and her two sons have been pronounced lepers. It seems that Charlie Burder, a brother of Jonathan, was a leper, and instead of driving him out to wander in wretchedness as the natives do, these christian relatives kept him in their home and took care of him as long as they lived.

"I'M BOSS," SHE SAID.

And the Cook Routed Mistress, Master and a Policeman.

New York, Oct. 23.—Kate Kelly, cook for the family of William C. Willingham, at 164 West Seventy-sixth street, until 7.45 p.m. yesterday, got a bottle of whiskey, sat down in the kitchen and drank it. Then, when Mrs. Willingham came in and said it was time to get dinner, Kate rose in her wrath and drove Mrs. Willingham out.

"I'm boss," said Kate.

Then she put on the beef to roast and sat down and drank some more. Mrs. Willingham went to her room and stayed there. The other members of the family stayed away from the kitchen. Then Mr. Willingham came home from his office. He smelled the burning meat and went to the kitchen to see about it. Kate was asleep, but she woke up and drove him out.

"I'm boss here," she said.

Policeman Quinn was summoned. Kate put him to flight with her rolling pin and he went for reinforcements. He came back with two other blue coats and a patrol waggon and then Kate gave in.

TO DISCUSS INDEPENDENCE.

The Four Protecting Powers Want Crete Free.

Copenhagen, Oct. 23.—Negotiations have been re-opened between four protecting powers with regard to the independence of Crete. King George of Greece had a long conference on the subject with the czar and king Edward at Fredensberg, and the question is the principal object of his visit to Paris, from which city he will proceed to Vienna to discuss the matter.

Like Tearing The Heart Strings.

"It is not within the conception of man to measure my great sufferings from heart disease. For years I endured almost constant cutting and tearing pains about my heart, and many a time would have welcomed death. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has worked a veritable miracle." Would Assist The Police

A citizen points out that scarcely a week passes without a second-hand dealer appearing in the police court to give evidence relating to the purchase of stolen goods. The police have to visit the pawn shops to obtain clues to work on, and as the shops are scattered all over the city, it takes up a good deal of time. This citizen says further: "In my opinion the city council should pass a by-law confining all such stores to a certain district on some side street down town. Second-hand dealers watch one another closely, and often give the police tips that get their fellows into trouble. If all the stores were located in one block it would greatly simplify the work of the police, and remove many an eye-sore from our principal streets."

"BROMA"

A Powerful and Energetic Tonic.

Striking Cure at St. Romuald, County of Levis.

A Young Child Cured of Extreme Weakness.

Mrs. Barbeau, of St. Romuald, county of Levis, writes us that her little daughter, Marie Louise, had been long suffering from general weakness and nervous exhaustion. She frequently complained of great pains, sometimes in the head and at other times in the back, shoulders and breast. Her appetite was poor, her digestion painful and her sleep but little restful. She had, repeatedly consulted a doctor, who invariably said that the child was suffering from nervous exhaustion and general weakness, that great care should be taken of her, while he further advised that she should be given good tonics and moderate exercise in the open air. Being one day asked what was the best tonic, he replied BROMA was an excellent tonic. A bottle was at once procured from the druggist's and the same day she began to take it. The result was quickly apparent. The little girl began to regain strength and the mother was rejoiced to see her return to life. For some time the use of BROMA was continued and the child is now strong and vigorous.

Since then, Marie Louise has always been well and is growing strong and happy.

Thanks to your incomparable tonic.
