DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Not Much Work Was Performed at Tuesday's Session.

Kansas City, July 4.—Amid scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm befitting such an event and such a day, the democratic national convention began its sessions to-day. But after sitting until a late hour to-night the expected climax of the day—the nomination of William J. Bryan as the democratic candidate for president—has failed of realization, and all of the larger business of the convention awaits the completion of the platform.

As the evening advanced it became known that a determined struggle was in progress, involving not only the question of incorporating a specific sixteen to one declaration in the party declaration, but to some extent involving the desire of the prospective nominee as to the terms of the platform. The result is awaited with impatience.

As a spectacular event, however, the convention has fulfilled the hopes of the most fervid party man, for the vast assemblage of delegates and spectators has twice been swept with whirlwind demonstrations, first for the leader who is about to be placed in nomination, and then for that other champion of democracy, David B. Hill.

But in actual accomplishment the day's work is confined to organization, with the speeches of the temporary chairman, governor Thomas, of Colorado, and of the permanent chairman, Hon. James D. Richardson, the appointment of the various committees and the detailed preparations for the more serious work yet in store.

Also for an extension from a point on the railway to connect their railway with the Brockville, Westport & Sault Ste. Marie railway, the Bay of Quinte railway, the Kingston, Smith's Falls & Ottawa railway or the waters of the Rideau canal, the balance remaining of the subsidy granted by the act 55-56 Victoria, chapter 5, not exceeding nine and a half mills (revote), $39,400.

RAGE OF THE NATIONS

The Cry For Vengeance Is Growing Apace.

BLOOD FOR BLOOD ASKED.

FOREIGNERS IN PEKIN FIGHTING DESPERATELY.

The Talk of Europe is Only Reprisals—The Admirals Say That to Advance on Pekin With the Force at Their Disposal Would be Suicidal—The Needs of the Hour.

New York, July 5.—The Sun publishes the following special cable from London:

Europe confesses itself helpless in the Chinese situation and accepts as inevitable the most infamous tragedy of modern times. Hundreds of men, women, and children, at the mercy of the bloodthirsty mob in Pekin, are to be left to their fate because the christian nations do not know how to rescue them. The bitter confession of impotence which comes from the the commanders of such foreign forces as are now at Taku, does not call for any rebuke from the rulers of Europe, because the wit of man finds no escape from the awful dilemma. The people and governments have been hoping against hope for the past few days. It was thought that some threat, some argument, some cajolery would be found which would stay the hands of the barbarians. The British foreign office clung to the idea that something might be accomplished through Li Hung Chang, scheming corruptionist, though he is. This idea, it is understood, has been abandoned, and nothing remains but the poor consolation of the proverb, "while there is life there is hope."

The last word is that the beleaguered Europeans who numbered originally 2,000, are now sadly reduced. They were still holding out four days ago but their ammunition was then almost gone and nothing apparently could long delay the final slaughter. While the nations for the moment stand aghast, there is arising already such a cry for vengeance that no government—not even that of Russia—can resist it. The Russian press, indeed, has been the first to speak, and the wrath which it voices is the sort which demands blood for blood and massacre for massacre. It is fortunate indeed for the history of the human race that the rage of the nations will have time to cool before the revengeful blow can fall, for the talk of Europe is only reprisals. Actual news from China, beyond the merest rumors, is most meagre. (Signed) H. R. Chamberlain.

Still Holding Out.

London, July 5.—It is briefly reported from Shanghai, that news from Pekin, of the date, July 1st, has reached there through Mr. Warren, British consul at Hangkow, that the Europeans were still besieged in the British legation. They had defended themselves desperately and with some success, but the position was almost hopeless. The decision of admirals Alexeff and Seymour that it was impossible to advance to the relief of the Europeans, is declared to be based on the conviction that with 2,000 men, which form the total available force at present, it would be suicide to attempt to reach Pekin. It is believed that there are 140,000 Chinese troops between Pekin and Tien Tsin while Gen. Nieh, with 90,000 is reported to be approaching Tien Tsin. Even if the 2,000 foreign troops were able to cut their way through the Chinese it is not possible that they would be able to return with or without the members of the legations. The naval and military forces at Shanghai are estimating the necessary strength of the force at 5,000 men with a transport that would render them absolutely independent of any country. There is no near prospect of any such force being available.

The Daily News correspondent at Shanghai, Japan, had an interview with marquis Ito, formerly Japanese prime minister, who intimated that Japan is willing to accept the mandate, but acquiesces in common action awaiting the decision of the powers.

A despatch to the Times from Shanghai, dated July 3rd, says a Japanese official telegram states that allies attacked the native city of Tien Tsin on June 30th in large numbers. Boxers and troops menaced the Europeans and the railway. The attack began at eight in the morning and the city was taken at two o'clock it is understood.

Can't Stay The People.

Berlin, July 5.—A Canton despatch of Tuesday's date says—The Chinese papers publish two edicts from the dowager empress which reached Li Hung Chang some days ago. They state that reconciliation with the christians, against whom the whole nation, including the military and the nobles, and princes are united in order to stamp them out, is completely out of the question. The edicts say the foreigners began the fight against China, with the attack upon Taku. The bitter feeling against foreigners had consequently increased and any attempt to put down the people would be dangerous. Hence for the present it seemed expedient to make use of the anti-foreign movement. The empress says she is willing to protect the legations. It remains to be seen, she says, whether the foreigners or the Chinese are the stronger. In any case the governors of provinces should immediately enroll troops for the defence of their districts as they will be held responsible for any loss of territory.

Additional reports from Shanghai are to the effect that the situation at Tien Tsin is becoming more and more critical owing to the great number of besiegers. They are pushing entrenchments close to the fortifications held by the allies and an attack is regarded as eminent. It is said the Chinese have not been affected by recent heavy losses around Tien Tsin, which one account estimates at seven thousand. The allies, it is added have been busy for days burning and burying corpses, the decay of which seriously endangers the health of the town.

The rumor that admiral Seymour is wounded is reterated. It is stated that he was shot at by a sharp-shooter while he was sitting in a house in Tien Tsin.

Word From The Admiral.

London, July 5.—The admiralty yesterday received a despatch from vice-admiral Seymour, dated Tien Tsin, Saturday, June 30th. After repeating the news from Pekin of the destruction of all the legations except the British, French, German and part of the Russian he adds: "The Europeans have gathered in the British legation. They have provisions, but the ammunition is scarce. One gate of the city, near the legation, is held by the Europeans with guns captured from the Chinese. Five of the marine guards have been killed.

"There is not much sickness at present. The Chinese inundated the country near here yesterday from the Grand canal, the object probably being for the defence of the city from the south. It does no injury to us. Our general health is good."

Chinese War Notes.

Telegraph wires between Che Foo and Shanghai are practically down. The Chinese officials refuse to handle news messages.

All the legations at Pekin, except three, have been destroyed.

On July 2nd bands of coolies attacked the Russian bank at Che Foo, but were repulsed and order was restored without damage being done.

The German government has chartered eight large steamers to transport troops to China. The minister of marine has ordered two more cruisers to proceed to China.

SEIZED WAGGONS OF SUPPLIES.

They Said it Was For Pretoria—Kruger Has Moved.

Pretoria, July 5.—There was some firing beyond Pennarspiat, yesterday, but neither the British nor the Boers appear to seek a general engagement. Eleven Boer waggons, laden with meat and mealies, were seized at the front. Those in charge of the waggons declared that they were coming to Pretoria market, but others contended that the supplies they were carrying were intended for commandant-general Botha. About fifty foreigners who were made burghers by the Transvaal government, during the war, have received passes and been advised to get to the coast as quickly as possible. It is stated that after laying down their arms they acted in such a manner as to arouse the suspicions of the British and it was considered better for them to leave the country.

The railroad is now a leading factor in the settlement. The Netherlands company has been surprised by the amount of traffic carried by the line within a month after the British occupation. There is urgent need of the completion of a quantity of unfinished engines in the workshops here and in order to have this done the British engineers offered to employ a number of the company's workmen who had been laid off when Gen. Roberts seized the line. The offer was accepted and men resumed work for a few days when a deputation said they would be better protected if they were commandeered. This was done, but a few days later there was some disaffection caused by a Boer political agent who persuaded a number of workmen that it was unlawful to commandeer labor.

Cape Town, July 5.—Advocate Hesseels, a leading barrister of Pretoria, will leave Friday for that city to act as the legal adviser of Gen. Roberts. His appointment gives universal satisfaction.

Row Over Baseball.

Toronto, July 5.—Manager Barrow, of the Toronto baseball club, wires from Rochester that his personal encounter with manager Buckenberger, of the Rochester club, yesterday morning, was brought on by the latter. He adds that Buckenberger, who, he says, got the worst of the fistic argument, had him arrested, charged with assault and battery, and that he had given bail for his appearance. Barrow says that the Toronto club was tricked out of the morning game. One of the Rochester directors had told him there would be no game, but, Buckenberger got the umpire to declare the game forfeited. Barrow has protested to president Powers.

Stuart had been attacked by fever after the battle mentioned, but had recovered and was returning to England on some duty connected with the regiment.

ELECTION BILL.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's Care in Preparing the Measure.

Ottawa, July 4.—The election bill received some finishing touches in committee to-day and was then reported. It now stands for third reading. After considering various propositions it has been decided to adhere to the form of ballot contained in the bill. In this paper the disc is done away with, and there are broad horizontal black bands extending right across the paper and dividing the names of the candidates. The voter will place his cross to the right in one of the white spaces between the bands. The ballots will be sent out from the printing bureau, so as to insure that the paper shall be of uniform quality throughout the country. They are to be put up in book form, and are to be stamped by the returning officer before he sends them out to his deputies. The stamp will remain in the exclusive possession of the returning officer. It will be furnished by the clerk of the crown in chancery, and must be destroyed after having been used. The counterfoil attached to the ballot must be stamped, and must also contain the number opposite the voter's name in the poll-book, and the returning officer's initials. When the voter comes to deposit his ballot the returning officer is to detach the counterfoil, and he must do it in the presence of the voter and the scrutineers. It is provided that the ballot shall be examined before being deposited in the box by the returning officer and the scrutineers, if they so desire. Thus it will be seen that there are abundant guarantees against slipping the ballots or tampering with the ballots whatsoever, and it is hoped that the bill will speedily pass in its present form.

A Lad Drowned.

Tilbury, Ont., July 5.—Robert McGregor, aged sixteen, son of W. C. McGregor, a wealthy farmer of Tilbury, was drowned last night while bathing in a creek a short distance from his home. The young man was a student at Assumption college, Sandwich, and had just returned home on his vacation.

ANOTHER BRITISH FLEET.

Additional Squadron to be Formed For Home Defence.

London, July 5.—The admiralty have under consideration an important scheme of naval re-organization, the main object of which is to strengthen the fleets for home defence.

Under the present scheme the channel fleet is a channel fleet in name only. Immediately upon a declaration of war this fleet would be pushed into the Mediterranean with Gibraltar for its base. Thus the burden of defending our shores in home waters would fall upon the reserve fleet, which is composed of the coastguard and port guard-ships.

Behind this would, of course, be the vessels of the fleet reserve and the torpedo flotillas. This organization, however, leaves much to be desired.

The Daily Mail is informed that the admiralty propose to strengthen this reserve fleet by putting behind the channel fleet another squadron, to be called the reserve squadron, which is to cruise around the coasts and as far as Gibraltar, and will have a number of destroyers attached to it.

The present reserve squadron will be called the home fleet, and will, as now, consist of the port guard and coastguard-ships. In the dockyards will still remain the "Tea-Knot" squadron, i. e., vessels of an obsolete type and little real fighting value, but which are now held in reserve as "England's last hope"—and called such; as well as the torpedo flotillas.

The advantage of the proposed new scheme is that under it we shall really have a channel squadron always ready for any emergency, and behind this a reserve fleet that can be got together within a day or two, without drawing upon the reserves in the dockyards. The channel fleet will thus be left free to co-operate with the Mediterranean fleet, or act in any other waters where it may be required without leaving our shores inadequately protected.

It is also stated that the training squadron is to be made into a regular admiral's command. By this steps we should obtain a squadron of six smart cruisers that would always be ready for an emergency call in place of the four useless, masted ships which until recently made up the training squadron.

The contemplated changes in the fleets will most likely be made after the manoeuvres or early in the autumn.

HOTEL CLOSED UP.

Smallpox Patients Were Found in the Hostelry.

Montreal, July 5.—Two cases more of suspected small-pox have been removed to the civic hospital and the London house, from which they were taken, has been closed up.

Louis Emieue, who stole the chalice and host, with wafers, from the Roman Catholic church at St. Lambert a few days ago, was, this morning, sentenced to six years imprisonment. He was convicted on a charge of sacrilege.

Was Big Traffic.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 5.—The enormous volume of 4,107,602 tons of freight passed through the United States and Canadian canals at this point last month, an increase of more than 600,000 tons over 1899, and a slight increase over last month's traffic. It was expected that a decrease would be shown and the result is somewhat of a surprise. The principal items of freight were 4,929,171 bushels of wheat; 2,000,000 bushels of other grain; 2,741,742 tons of iron ore; 336,000,000 feet of lumber, and 660,711 barrels of flour. Some 6,834 passengers were carried through.

Tremendous Loss.

New York, July 5.—Lightning struck and fired the electric plant of the Standard oil company, at Constable Hook, Bayonne, N.J., at 12.30 o'clock this morning, and caused an estimated loss of $500,000. Charles King, a yardman, was killed by the bolt, which exploded two of the big tanks in the west end of the works. One hundred men were in the yard at time. Their fate is unknown.

Members Spoke.

Greenfield, Ont., July 5.—A picnic was held here yesterday under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church. It was attended by thousands. During the course of the afternoon brief addresses were delivered by a number of prominent public men among them Col. McLennan, M.P., for the county; Hector McDougall, M.P., for Cape Breton, and Mr. Bell, M.P. for Pictou, N.S.

Call Rev. Mr. Gordon.

Toronto, July 5.—At a meeting of the members of Bond street Congregational church, it was decided to call Rev. J. L. Gordon, St. John, N.B., who for the past ten Sundays has filled the pulpit of the church, to succeed Rev. Morgan Wood, the late pastor who is now in Cleveland.
