CLAIMS HE IS A CRIMINAL.

WIFE OF H. B. GARRETT DENOUNCES HER HUSBAND.

Wants Divorce Because of a Crime Committed in Ontario — The Father Had Disowned the Young Man.

New York, July 20.—Charlotte L. Jones has obtained an order from justice McAdam, of the supreme court, to serve a summons by publication on Henry B. Garrett in an action to annul her marriage to him, on the ground that he had fraudulently concealed that he was guilty of criminal conduct. They were married on Oct. 7th, 1895, in Jersey City, where she says his family lives. Previous to the marriage Garrett had been her attorney, and practised law in the city. She declares that her brother and father ascertained on Nov. 5th, 1896, that Garrett had been tampering with her brother's bank book. Garret, she says, fled at the time. She avers that she thereafter found in his effects a pardon from the governor of New Jersey for some crime he had committed since he fled. She says he has been sentenced to a three year term for forgery in the province of Ontario, and was released with the usual commutation in July 1899.

Garrett was the adopted son of David Garrett, a wealthy Jersey City plasterer. He was a high roller, and about fifteen years ago was arrested for giving cheques on banks in which he had no account. Mr. Garrett redeemed the cheques, but disowned the young man.

Down-The-River News.

Edward McCarthy and Charles McCarthy have completed arrangements for the erection of a large boarding house at the Thousand Island park on the site at present occupied by the Rome and Little Rome cottages. Since the teachers' summer institute there has not been enough good accommodation at moderate rates for the increased business at the park. There are numerous large boarding houses scattered, but few can accommodate even forty or fifty people. The new boarding house will accommodate at least 100.

The toboggan slide and bathing house, which has been under construction at the Thousand Island park, for the past ten days, is nearly completed, and will be opened to the public next week.

The St. Lawrence international electric company, Alexandria Bay, announced last evening that arrangements have been practically completed for the construction of a single track trolley line between the bay and Redwood, a distance of seven miles. Jacob Amos, of Syracuse, is president of the company, C. R. Taggart, of Watertown, vice president, and C. G. Wells, secretary and general manager.

The Schedule Arranged.

At last the executive committee of the local baseball league has formulated a schedule which is acceptable to all parties concerned and which goes into operation Saturday next, when the Black Watch and Frontenacs meet. Below is the schedule. In each instance the first named team goes to bat first. Mayor Minnes will face the ball at Lake Ontario park to-morrow:

Frontenacs vs. Black Watch, July 21st; Athletics vs. "A" battery, July 28th; Black Watch vs. Athletics, Aug. 4th; "A" battery vs. Frontenacs, Aug. 11th; Athletics vs. Black Watch, Aug. 18th; Black Watch vs. Frontenacs, Aug. 25th; Frontenacs vs. "A" battery, Sept. 1st; Black Watch vs. "A" battery, Sept. 8th; Frontenacs vs. Athletics, Sept. 15th; "A" battery vs. Black Watch, Sept. 22nd; Athletics vs. Frontenacs, Sept. 29th; "A" battery vs. Athletics, Oct. 6th.

The Late Miss VanHorn.

After years of patient suffering the spirit of Sarah VanHorn, University avenue, took its flight yesterday to that abode

"Where sorrow, unmortal reign,
Infinite day excludes the night,
And pleasures banish pain."

She was a daughter of the late William VanHorn, Pittsburgh, and spent nearly all her life in that township, coming to the city with the family several years ago. The funeral will take place from her mother's residence, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Whistles Blown Too Loudly.

Residents in the east end of the city complain of the loud blowing of whistles at night by the G.T.R. suburban engines, and by engines on the K. & P. These people say the whistles are blown so loudly that it keeps them awake, and it is their opinion that it is not necessary to sound such shrill whistles. In Montreal the engineers were prohibited from using the whistle at all, owing to the annoyance it caused to people who desired to be asleep the greater time came.

No Operas This Winter.

J. W. Fralick, who managed the Grand opera house last year, will not engage the opera house in fall, but he intends to arrange for a few attractions with the city for the use of the house, for the insurance companies have decided that the risks that there would be even no profit but a loss, in the venture.

Belleville's Ananias At Work.

(From the Intelligencer.)

A gentleman just returned from Kingston says the left line is so choked with grass and weeds that it is a wonder the boys get by safely. Perhaps they have thought of attaching mowing machines to the street cars in order that they won't be thrown off the track by the weeds.

The Case Withdrawn.

At the police court this morning the charge against Mrs. G. W. Sullivan, Brock street, of obstructing bailiff Snarsby while in the discharge of his duty, was withdrawn by defendant agreeing to pay court costs and the amount of taxes due.

THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bews Twenty-Five Years Married.

The Whig hall last evening was the scene of a pretty reunion, when Mr. and Mrs. James Bews, Colborne street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their life's happy journey together. Upwards of sixty friends and relatives of the "bride and groom" who were thus celebrating their silver wedding, congregated in the hall, where they spent the evening pleasantly. Mr. and Mrs. Bews were the recipients of many complimentary returns, as well as a large array of gifts from numerous friends in Kingston and outside points, a tribute to their popularity. A pleasant feature of the evening was the meeting of Mrs. Bews and her brother, William Graham, New Haven, Conn. The two had not seen each other for thirty-five years, but hearing of the anniversary he came across to be in attendance, and his presence enhanced the pleasure of the occasion. At midnight a sumptuous repast was served, at the close of which the health of the "bridge and groom" was toasted and the wish expressed that they might yet see many years of happiness. A huge "wedding cake" adorned the middle of the table; it was artistically decorated and was a gem of the baker's art.

Music was supplied by Orser & Thornton's orchestra, and during the evening dancing was enjoyed. The evening's entertainment was concluded at a conventional hour. The dining room, in the Lower Whig hall, was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Mr. Bew's gift to the "bride" was a beautiful gold brooch; her two sons gave her a handsome gold watch chain with opals and pearls.

THE VERDICT.

"Don't underrate the Empire State!" shouts the New York World. We don't. It is one of 45 states of this glorious Union.—Omaha World Herald.

The St. Paul man who was bunkoed by the tin box game has the same consolation as had the life saver who grabbed a drowning man by the wig—he has the tin box.—St. Paul Globe.

The coming statue of Thomas F. Bayard is to be the work of a woman. Woman has usually molded us as she would. Why shouldn't she be successful in modeling us in plastic clay?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

There was a time once when mother's folks used to send provisions to the starving ones in Oklahoma. In this year of our Lord Oklahomans are preparing a corn train to ship to the famine sufferers of India.—Kansas City Journal.

Carelessness with matches is rebuked in a shocking manner by the fatal accident to the wife of General Wilson of Matanzas, Cuba. The modern match cracks like a torpedo when it is stepped upon and flashes like a miniature torch.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

A woman lawyer of Chicago in defending a woman accused of vagrancy contended that the charge was absurd, as women were not intended to work. She won her case. It was delightfully characteristic, because counsel contradicted her own plea—unless, of course, the practice of law is not work.—New York Sun.

BEE BUZZES.

Use the best and straightest combs for breeding.

If honey only is desired, keep the hive full of bees.

Select the very best stock from which to raise queens.

The strength of the colony and the flow of honey determine the putting in of surplus boxes.

If hives are not properly made and the proper number of combs used, we may have trouble with brace combs, as the bees will fill every available space in the hive.

There is nothing in the world that will keep worms from getting into beehives unless you have the kind of bees that will keep them out. Italian bees are proof against worms and ants.

Piping of queens is heard only when there is a plurality of queens, mainly in the case of swarming. Sometimes as many as three or four young queens yet imprisoned will answer to the piping of the older queens.

Secure all the hives necessary to accommodate the swarms and the surplus honey crop before the time comes when they will be actually needed. This is the only safe plan to avoid losses in a busy season.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Give young turkeys a good range on sunny days.

Vertigo in fowls arises from a bad condition of the digestive organs.

Have the perches not more than two feet high and all on the same level.

By removing the eggs from the nest as fast as laid the turkey hen will lay much larger number of eggs than if left alone.

One advantage with the larger breeds of fowls over the small ones is that the larger fowls are usually much easier controlled.

The air cell and germ are in the broad end of the egg, and if this part is smooth and even and the germ is fertilized, that is all that is necessary.

Geese may be picked every six weeks in warm weather, but when picked so often they do not lay, as the growth of new feathers debilitates them.

To a considerable extent the market fowl must be bred with special reference to market qualities. It must have an abundance of meat upon the choicest parts. It can only be brought to perfect condition by proper feeding.—St. Louis Republic.

TALES OF CITIES.

The night lunch cars have been driven from the streets of Chicago by a city ordinance that went into effect on May day.

That Calais, Me., is a city of "magnificent distances" is evidenced by the fact that the mayor has his residence nine miles from the city hall.

Edinburgh is noted for its aristocracy, Glasgow for its engineers and shipbuilders, Dundee for its jute merchants and Aberdeen for its "canny going bodies."

Northfield, Vt., has a liquor agency under the town's supervision, where the name of every purchaser of wet goods is entered in a book, and the list is published in the local paper every month.

Boston park commissioners are urgent on the need of more playgrounds for the children. The city has six tracts of ground provided for this purpose, with a total area of about 40 acres, but the need of more land for similar use becomes every year more evident.

Capt. J. P. Estes is now in command of the steamer Chippewa and will sail her for the balance of the season. Capt. Estes is one of the oldest of the river captains now in service. Forty years ago he sailed the American Express from Lewiston to Ogdensburg, when that was the only line of boats in operation.

Evil Of The Credit System.

(Belleville Intelligencer.)

Writing from South Africa, a Canadian tells a very good tale of a shirt. The soldier company was returning from a long and arduous scouting trip, in which none of the men had parted with a large portion of their wearing apparel. Passing a Boer house on the outskirts of the town one of the men saw two very good shirts hung out to dry. Climbed the soldiers, who had only half a shirt to his back, proceeded to help himself to a whole one. A woman came out of the house and said to him, in very good English, "You will pay for that on the judgment day." "Indeed, missis?" said the Tommy, "well—if you give such long credit as that I'll take 'em both." And he did.

RICHEST CLUB IN THE WORLD.

London Social Organization Famed For Its Wealthy Members.

The richest and perhaps the most exclusive club in the world has its home in a quaint, old-fashioned house in Hatton garden, London. It isn't the "swellest" club by any means, because all its members are trades people, and not one has the privilege of even writing sir before his name. But it plays an important part in the financial scheme of the British empire, and is deeply interested in the war in South Africa.

The organization is known as the Diamond club, although its real name is longer, and all of its members are actively engaged in the business of mining, buying or selling diamonds. It is a close corporation, and membership is obtained only through the ranks of the trade which it represents.

More millionaires are daily gathered together under its roof than in any other spot on earth, and the whole club fairly reeks with precious stones. In a glass roofed room fronting on the court yard the members congregate daily to transact business, and fabulous displays of gems are made with the nonchalance which comes of habit. Brokers and merchants gather around long tables and unfold before each other packages of gems which would pay a king's ransom, with as much unconcern as if they were displaying samples of wheat on the floor of the merchants' exchange.

Each of them is an expert, and no time is wasted in praising or belittling the wares, which speak for themselves. If the broker has an order and sees a lot of stones which will fill the bill he and the merchant retire into a private room, where scales of the most delicate mechanism are provided, and, free from interruption, complete their trading. Trades of the greatest magnitude are thus made as quietly as the average man would purchase a cigar, and, despite its wealth, the club is noted for its conservatism.

Business is suspended at 4 p.m. and between that hour and 7 the members indulge in social conversation, reading, billiards and a few simple games. Gambling is strictly prohibited on the premises and the only game of cards recognized by the by laws is whist.

Methodist Hosts Diminishing.

Johnstown, Pa., July 20.—A great Methodist pentecostal camp meeting opened today at Ridgeway park, near this city. The Methodists of this section have endeavored to make this the greatest religious gathering ever held in Pennsylvania. Some of the most brilliant pulpit orators in the country are present. The camp meeting is a result of a decree issued by the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, urging prayers of its membership, as a petition for the return of its diminishing hosts.

Catholic Pilgrims Arrive In Rome.

Rome, Italy, July 20.—The first section of the special jubilee pilgrimage from the United States to this city and Loudes is expected to arrive here to-day. The party includes Father Kinsella, of Leavenworth, Kansas; A. J. McDonald, of Prince Edward Island; W. H. Rogers, of Stamford, and W. T. X. Schneider, of Great Britain, and fifty five laymen. The main section is expected soon.

The Largest Floating Dry Dock.

Baltimore, Md., July 20.—A large force of mechanics are busily engaged at the works of the Maryland steel company, at Sparrow's Point, just below here, building the largest floating dry dock in the world. The dock is for the United States government, and will cost when completed $810,000. It will be powerful enough to lift a 15,000 ton vessel two feet above the surface of the water.

Will Search For Andre.

London, July 20.—News has been received here that the polar expedition organized in Switzerland to go in search of Prof. Andree, the polar aeronaut will start from Spitzbergen on July 20th. There will be forty persons in the party, of whom Capt. Ernest Andree, brother of the aeronaut, will be the recognized leader. It will take about a year and a half to make the trip.

Cars Shipped To South Africa.

Wilmington, Del., July 20.—The Jackson and Sharpe company, of this city, has just shipped to East London, South Africa, three single truck, double deck trolley cars. It is expected that the cars will reach their destination and be ready for service in about ninety days.

MOTHER AND SON.

Two Lives Freed from Suffering, and The Hospital Avoided. A Mother's Story.

The remarkable adaptability of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets to all forms of kidney and bladder trouble is shown in the experience of Mrs. J. C. Paisley, Munro street, Toronto. A great feature of this medicine is it's action is so gentle that women and children can use it without experiencing the ill effects of other kidney medicines on either the bowels or stomach. Mrs. Paisley says:

"I had been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and had been treated for it by physicians. Afterwards my kidneys seemed affected. I know they were. My back caused me much misery. I had dreadful headaches. I was nervous and could not rest at nights; the mornings made me feel more weary than when I retired at night. I have used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and I can say that not only my backache has gone, but those other afflictions that I have detailed have disappeared. I can vouch for their being a prompt and positive agent for relieving the kidneys.

"My little boy of ten years was afflicted, his kidneys being inactive. I had concluded to send him to the hospital for treatment, but when Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets performed for me what other remedies failed in doing, I gave them to him, which resulted in a perfect cure."

Any reader can test the merits of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets free by enclosing two cents postage for trial package to the Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto. Regular size, 50c. per bottle.
