CAUSE OF HOT DAYS.

Dr. Adam Miller Says the Sun is Not to Blame.

Chicago, Aug. 11.— (To the Editor): What is the cause of extremely hot days? This question can only be answered by correct views of the cause of solar light and heat. If we take some of the theories advanced by astronomers, it will be impossible for us to find the reason why some days are much hotter than others in the same season. If we assume that the heat of the sun is produced by the burning of meteors or some other cosmical matter, and that this heat is radiated to the planets and decreases as the distance between the sun and the planet decreases, then we can give no rational account of the variation of temperature in the same season of the year. The same may be said of the other theory that the sun's heat is produced by the shrinking of the solar orb. Here we find the same difficulty.

It has been stated by some astronomers that heat passes through space at the same speed as light, and it is estimated that light passes at the rate of 180,000 miles a second, or about 12,000,000 miles a minute, and makes the passage from the sun to the earth in eight minutes. Now, when we consider the coldness of interplanetary space it must appear impossible for heat to come, as heat, through this cold space and warm the earth.

We cannot think that there are variations in the temperature of the sun that could cause a change of temperature on our earth, or any of the planets. It would be unreasonable to say that there has been an unusual amount of fuel supplied the sun, or an unusual amount of shrinking when it is very hot, or a less amount when it is cold. The radiation from the sun, whatever that may be, must be a uniform character through all ages and in all climates.

The difference of temperature between summer and winter is easily accounted for from the obliquity with which the sun's rays strike the earth in the winter, when we are 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun than we are in the summer. Here the question comes up: Why are some days so much hotter than others during the summer months? This question can only be answered by an appeal to atmospheric conditions.

The atmosphere surrounding our earth is in the form of a concave-convex lens. This produces a mild degree of refraction of the rays of light and this crowding of these rays into a smaller space produces heat. When the atmosphere is dense with aqueous vapor the refraction is increased and this increases our heat, and when the atmosphere is bright and clear we have less refraction and consequently less heat.

This theory can be demonstrated by experiments and gives us a strong proof that the sun is not a burning fire, neither is it kept hot by shrinking, but is an electric light, with electricity supplied by celestial dynamics.—ADAM MILLER, M.D.

EXPECTED IN PEKIN.

Allies Likely Before the Place To-morrow.

WAS NO GREAT OPPOSITION

SO FAR ON THE ROUTE TO THE CAPITAL.

Part of the Allied Column Have a Fight and the Chinese Fled—United States Want No Land But Require Compensation to the Families of American Victims — Assurances Also to be Demanded.

London, Aug. 15.—There is practically nothing concerning the column moving to the relief of Pekin except the report from M. Doumer, governor of Indo-China, that it is within sixteen miles of the capital, and a Times despatch from St. Petersburg, dated August 14th, stating that after occupying Housi Wi on August 9th, the allies have now moved towards Muchang without meeting any great opposition. The artillery is being moved forward satisfactorily despite the bad roads, which the Japanese are repairing. The Chinese are now concentrating at Hsiang Hosien, where fighting may be expected. According to Gen. Lenivich's report, which has been received at St. Petersburg, the van guard which left Yang Te Sung on Aug. 7th for Nansaitung, was not wholly Japanese as was stated, but included Russian infantry, Cossacks and an American mountain battery. Notwithstanding the almost impassable roads, the troops made a forced march of nine miles towards Pekin. They encountered at Nansaitung a Chinese detachment which they put to ignominious flight. After an hour and a half fighting the enemy threw down their arms and escaped in a panic towards Pekin. As soon as Gen. Lenivich learned of this all the allies began to advance in three columns with Cossacks scouts in the van and on the flanks.

The continued absence of fresh news from the legations is encouraging a renewal of alarmist gossip at Shanghai, including a story purporting to have come from Pekin, alleging that the Chinese on Aug. 8th were against desperately attacking the legation. According to this story very few of the defenders were left. There is no apparent reason for attaching importance to this report. It is stated from the same source that a great exodus of residents of Pekin began when the victory of the allies on Aug. 5th became known, and continued when the report left. The reiterated statements concerning an impending outbreak in Canton have not been verified. The latest report regarding Canton appears in the Hong Kong Daily Express to the effect that Dr. Marks, Li Hung Chang's chief interpreter and physician, has arrived at Hong Kong from Shanghai en route to Canton to get his family, he doubting the continuance of the tranquility there.

The Standard, after expressing the opinion that there is increasing ground to hope that the ministers will be rescued by the arrival of allies at Pekin to-morrow (Thursday) if the initial rate of progress is maintained, goes on to deal with what will follow the rescue, and says it may be taken for granted that the policy attributed to the Washington cabinet represents the absolute minimum of demands of the combined powers.

Pension To The Mourners.

Washington, Aug. 15.—"This government does not want a province, a town, village or single square foot of Chinese territory as indemnity," an official who is close to the president said to-day. "There is but one indemnity which they can give our people, and that is a monetary indemnity to the families of their American victims. For every one of these China must pay a sufficient sum to keep their families from want during their lives.

"This government," he added, "will exact assurances of a satisfactory character that such a state of affairs as now exists in China shall not occur again. The nature of these assurances will be determined later.

"The Chinese cannot be punished indiscriminately for the atrocities, but wherever such offence is fixed on an individual, high or low, his punishment will be required. If it can be shown that orders for the hostilities were issued by the empress dowager or the emperor, deposition is certain and another government will be set up."

An Ex-Viceroy Killed.

Shanghai, Aug. 14.—According to reports, Li Lu, ex-viceroy of Pe Chi Li, was killed at the fighting at Yang Tsung.

The Emperor's Speech.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—The Lokal Anzeiger to-day prints a letter from a German officer, now on his way to China, in which the writer recounts a speech made by emperor William on board the transport before she sailed. According to this officer, the kaiser urged the men not to rest until the foe had been hurled to the ground and begged for mercy upon his knees. The object of the expedition, the emperor said, was the restoration of status quo and the establishment in China of a strong government, which would give a written guarantee that such a state of things should not occur again. His majesty said he was decidedly opposed to the partition of China, and exhorted his hearers to smash the enemy well.

Can Hold Out Ten Days.

New York, Aug. 15.—The Journal to-day publishes the following cable:

"Che Foo, Aug. 9.—Consul Ragsdale has just received a cipher despatch by runner from minister Conger, saying: 'The situation in Pekin is more critical. The Chinese government is trying to force us to leave Pekin. This is impossible till troops arrive.' The Japanese consul has also received a cipher despatch saying that the Chinese have stopped using artillery on the legations and that the envoys can hold out ten days."

Word From Chaffee.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The bureau of navigation has made public the following despatch:

"Taku, Aug. 12.—Just received an undated despatch from Chaffee at Notow. Opposition of no consequence yet; terrible heat; many men prostrated. Please inform secretary of war. (Signed) Remey."

Natow is about ten or twelve miles beyond Hosiwu. The road between Hosiwu and Natow is indicated on the war department as the worst section of the road between Tien Tsin and Pekin.

TOURISTS PASS BY.

Does Not Like to See Ottawa so Treated.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Collingwood Schreiber, deputy minister of railways and canals, who has returned from a tour of inspection, says that the contractors of the Port Colborne works are proceeding steadily. They have two powerful dredges at work with a full complement of scows and two tugs. Considerable work has been done, but the weather has been against the contractors owing to heavy seas. The work to be done at Port Colborne by Messrs. Hogan & McDonald consists of crib work and dredging, the latter being mostly submarine rock-cutting.

That Ottawa is side-tracked in the summer tourist traffic is the opinion of Hugh Alexander, Grand Union hotel. Mr. Alexander has just returned from a visit to Montreal, Quebec and other points, all of which he states the summer tourist has a large representation. Ottawa's natural attraction and beauties as a city and capital places it ahead of many of these points and cities frequented by the tourist, yet for some reason the latter does not turn his course this way.

The business men state that there is lots of money in circulation since the fire relief committee commenced the distribution of funds. Scores of checks are issued daily for big sums to people who lost their worldly effects in the disastrous blaze. They are now in a position to at least partially restore their homes. The speed with which the committee is winding up the fund is meeting with general approbation.

MISTAKE OF THE POWERS.

Made When They Recognized the Re-Actionist Government.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Rev. Donald Macgillivray, a Presbyterian missionary in China, writing to the Globe from Shanghai, says: "What was the gigantic error which precipitated the avalanche on the devoted heads of the unhappy people in the valley below? All agree that the prime error was committed when the reactionist government was recognized by the powers after the coup d'etat. Foreign ministers pooh-poohed the coup as a family quarrel and ladies kissed the hand of the usurping empress. Behold their reward. Anti-reform edicts followed each other in quick succession, but sleepy diplomacy looked calmly on when reformers' heads rolled in the dust, never dreaming that their turn would come next. They did not know that anti-reform spelt anti-foreign, for every idea of reform was an importation. At last it has dawned upon us that China is not civilized. Only one thing remains, partition, and China's best friends to-day, though with regret and reluctance, sadly say it is inevitable. Let him who says 'No' offer his services as minister to live in the next capital (it will not be Pekin) if things are to go on in the old way."

Died From Smallpox.

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 15.—Alexander Constans, thirteen years of age, died at the small pox hospital last night. This young man, a native of Cornwall, was employed as a deck hand on the tug Chieftain, and was laid off sick last week. His case was diagnosed as small-pox and the authorities at Quebec were wired and the steamer placed in quarantine. The inmates of the Constans' dwelling were moved after much difficulty to the pest house, situated one mile from the town. In view of the prompt action by the authorities it is thought that the disease will not spread in this locality.

Discovered A Diamond Mine.

Toronto Star:

Col. Ryerson speaks of the good luck of a Canadian, Sergt. Ross, of Roberts' Horse. While patrolling in the Free State, Sergt. Ross, who is a graduate of the Kingston school of mines, discovered a diamond mine. He has taken out papers, issued a prospectus, and formed a joint stock company. There is always this kind of off-chance of making a fortune in South Africa, and the mineral resources of the Free State are unknown, because prospecting was not encourged under president Steyn.

Was Fired Upon By Kurds.

London, Aug. 15.—The British foreign office has received a despatch from Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British ambassador at Constantinople, announcing that the British vice-consul at Van, while travelling near Elk, was fired on by Kurds, and his dragman wounded. The consul got his party away with difficulty. His baggage was lost. The ambassador has lodged a strong protest with the Turkish government.

Posed As Priest.

Rome, Aug. 15.—At Tufo, province of Avellina, yesterday, a man suspected to have been the companion of Bresci, the assassin of king Humbert of Italy, was arrested. He was dressed as a priest, but was found in possession of a false passport. Letters in French and English were on his person.

A STRATEGIC POLICY.

Aiming at Checking the Boer Strategy.

WHY POINTS ABANDONED.

A VISIT TO THE HEADQUARTERS OF BOTHA.

The Avowed Intention of the Boers Who Will Make a Stand—If Defeated They May Quit the Job—Soft Nosed Bullets in Use—Chasing Dewet.

London, Aug. 15.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph, dated Middleburg, describes a visit to the headquarters where the correspondent says he shook hands with Gen. Botha and Villejon. He adds that the main portion of the Boers is at Bothasberg, north of Belfast, where there are probably 8,000 men, with a number of cannon. There are about 300 men in Belfast, mainly mounted police and Irishmen with several guns. They all declare that they will make things lively when Gen. Dewet joins them. Their avowed intention is to make a stand a little to the east of Belfast, again at Machadodorp, and eventually resist for a considerable time in the Lydenburg hills. The correspondent declares, however, that if they defeated Botha at Belfast and Machadodorp many will abandon the war. He describes the Boers as demoralized and bitter, and says that they are burning and looting by wholesale. Half the ammunition used by them is soft nosed. This fact was pointed out to Gen. Villejon who made no reply.

The exciting chase of Gen. Dewet by the British continues, but it cannot be said whether his chances of escape are improving. Gens. Hamilton and Mahon are moving west with a strong force to assist Gens. Kitchener and Methuen in the pursuit.

If the Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post is well informed the recent abandonment of certain British positions is part of a new strategic policy, aiming to check more strategy of the Boers. The correspondent does not gives the grounds of his belief but expresses the opinion that Gen. Dewet, who is apparently trying to reach the Bush veldt, will meet his match very soon.

He adds that Boers have been diverting men from Gen. Botha and raiding pacific districts, mainly near the railway in order to create a diversion in Gen. Dewet's favor and the British have been making a new distribution of troops to cope with these tactics.

Two officers, captured at Klerksdorp, made their escape and have reached Pretoria, after five days during which they travelled at night and hid by day because the Boers were everywhere along the route.

The Boer women and children at Johannesburg and elsewhere are being constantly sent by train to Boer lines. The British in the Fouriesburg district neighborhood found a thousand horses and cattle hidden in a gorge. The British have captured now 6,000 Boer horses 2,000 of which are in the pink of condition and are being used against their former owners.

A Petty Plot.

London, Aug. 15.—No more particulars have been published concerning the Pretoria plot to kidnap lord Roberts, and it is now believed that it will turn out to be a rather trivial affair. The mere fact, as curtly announced by the commander-in-chief, that all persons concerned have already been arrested, would seem to indicate that the conspiracy could not have had very wide ramifications. The probability is that it was a wild scheme got up by a knot of adventurers in Pretoria without consultation with any influential Boer leaders.

Were Not Captured.

London, Aug. 15.—The Daily News' correspondent makes the surprising statements that Col. Hoare's column and convoy, reported to have been captured by the Boers at Elands River, are safe, with the exception of a few men who were wounded.

A Responsible Post.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 14.—Col. Jones, of the 3rd regiment of artillery, received to-day a letter from his brother, Lieut. Frederick Jones, "G" company, 1st contingent, stating that he had been given an independent command, and was now in charge of the armoured train guarding the railway line from Pretoria against Dewet's attacks. Jones was heartily congratulated by all the maritime officers on his selection by lord Roberts for this most important duty. Jones writes that "G" and "H" companies have been in the advance firing line of every engagement in which the 1st Canadian regiment took part.

Coming To Retrieve Laurels.

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 15.—Dennis Horgan, the Irish shot putter and holder of the world's record, left Ireland for America to-day. Richard Sheldon, of the New York athletic club, defeated Horgan at the last English championship. He felt his defeat so much that he is coming back to retrieve his laurels. He will probably become a member of the Knickerbocker athletic club.

CAPE GOVERNMENT WINS.

First Crucial Division on the Administration of Martial Law.

Cape Town, Aug. 15.—In the Cape house of assembly yesterday, by a vote of forty-three against thirty-eight, the motion of J. W. Sauer, former commissioner of public works, that the house appoint a select committee to enquire into the administration of martial law in the colony, was rejected.

Mr. Schreiner, former premier, and Mr. Solomon, attorney-general in the Schreiner cabinet, voted with the government against the motion.

This was the first crucial division of the session, and resulted in a larger vote for the government than had been expected.

The passage of the treason bill is now assured.

TRAGEDY OF ALASKA.

They Find Traces of Lost Party in Northern Wilds.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 15.—The managers of the Charleston party engaged in stringing the all-Canadian telegraph wires to Dawson have returned from sections of the Klondyke country where it was thought that the foot of white man had never trod before. Near Pike river, in a dense forest, they found the skeletons of twelve horses in a clearing. Further on there was a complete saw mill and several houses. In the cabins there was no human being, but all were stocked with provisions, and besides there were lying around overalls, grindstones and axes. It is supposed the party owning the things was frozen to death.

DEATH PLANNED FOR KING.

Charles of Roumania Escapes — Trouble May Follow.

London, Aug. 15.—"The real reason of the strained relations between Roumania and Bulgaria," says a special despatch from Vienna, "is the recent discovery of a plot laid by the revolutionary committee in Sofia to assassinate king Charles of Roumania while attending the requiem for king Humbert at Bucharest, and the refusal of the Bulgarian government to interfere.

"The police got wind of the plot and warned king Charles, who did not attend the service. Two women well known in Roumanian society and a number of Bulgarians have been arrested in Bucharest."

NURSES FOR THE FIELD.

Dr. Treves Advocates the Formation of a Medical Reserve.

London, Aug. 15.—At the British medical association Dr. Treves, the well-known surgeon, maintained that it was impracticable to employ female nurses in field hospitals. He favored the formation of a medical reserve, to be trained during peace.

If, he suggested, 100 young medical students who had qualified were engaged for three years—one to be served with the colors and two on the reserve—the war office would have a properly qualified staff.

Cup Contained Poison.

London, Aug. 15.—While performing Monday evening at the Royal opera house, Budapest, the well-known opera singer, Mme. Nemethy, according to a despatch from Vienna to the Daily Express, drank a virulent poison instead of the colored water supposed to be used on the stage. Mme. Nemethy fell before the horrified audience and died an hour later. How the poison came to be substituted for the water is not known, but the correspondent asserts that Mme. Nemethy was quite ignorant of the deadly nature of the drink.

A Gang Of Coiners.

London, Aug. 15.—A band of international coiners has been discovered at Jarak, Slavonia, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Times.

Six members have been arrested, including an Englishmen and a Prussian. Paper and silver currency of the United States, Italy and Germany was discovered in their possession.

The method of the gang was to smuggle this in plaster of Paris statuettes.

Uttered Forged Paper.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 15.—Frederick S. Whittaker, who a month ago was looked upon as one of the soundest business men in the city, has pleaded guilty to thirteen counts of uttering forged paper, and was sentenced to serve five years in Dorchester.

Milk Trust At Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—A milk trust is being formed in Ottawa to control the entire city supply, and A. McGill, assistant dominion analyst, urges that the time is opportune for the establishment of civic control of the milk business.

Legislature Dissolved.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 15.—The Newfoundland legislature is dissolved, a general election being ordered for the end of October next, when a bitter campaign is expected.

British Squadron Expected.

Portsmouth, R. I., Aug. 15.—The British North American squadron is expected to-day. The naval officers have made preparations for the first event to be given in honor of the visiting officers, which will be in the form of a ball in the mess hall of the new barracks for the naval apprentices of the training station.

The squadron is in command of vice-admiral Sir G. D. Bedford, K.C.B., and consists of the flagship Crescent, cruisers Psyche and Indefatigable, and the torpedo destroyer Quail.

Beat The Record.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—What is believed by competent railroad men to be a world's record for track relaying was accomplished last Sunday on the Grand Trunk line between Dorval and Ste. Anne de Bellevue, when 120 men under roadmaster Henderson, of Brockville, assisted by roadmaster Nolan, put down eight miles of rails without the least interruption to traffic. The best previous mark was made several years ago, on the southern division, where 108 men relaid a few yards over six miles of rails.

Greater New York, 3,650,000.

New York, Aug. 15.—The population of Greater New York will be officially made public to-day.

Unofficially the census experts, guided by the figures and the work of the enumerators, estimate that New York's population is now 3,650,000 in round numbers.
