DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price dry goods dealers, grocers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers.

Announcements of these comparatively

reprints are very misleading; for instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe, they are all, from A to Z,

Reprint Dictionaries, phototype copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which in its day was sold for about $6.00, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to these imitations, being then a work of some merit instead of one

Long Since Obsolete.

The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died ever forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Webster's Unabridged Dictionary published by our house is the only meritorious one of that name familiar to this generation. It contains over 3000 pages, with illustrations on nearly every page, and bears our imprint on the title pages. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitation.

Valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised successor, known throughout the world as

PONIES ARE THE CHAMPIONS

WON THE TITLE FROM THE GANANOQUE TEAM.

An Exciting Game of Baseball at Alexandria Bay—Six Hundred People From Kingston Witnessed the Event—The Teams Evenly Matched—Ten Innings Played.

Every black and dreary cloud has its silvery lining; every sorrow its kindred joy. The good people of Gananoque can find solace in these truths, because they may take consolation in the reflection that outside of the Ponies, they possess the best baseball team between Napanee and Lansdowne. They invested a lot of money in providing a professional baseball team for their entertainment and expected that every time their favorites took the field they would cut out a win, which would afford them an opportunity of saying nice things about their high-salaried ball teasers and nasty things about the other fellows. But they should have remembered that a joker must always be prepared to have the laugh turned on himself. Money talks, they say, and if that be so, the Gananoque followers of the game are to-day deaf and dumb.

The sheriff of Leeds county will hang his red flag out some of these blue days and offer by auction a job lot of second-hand professional ball players, at terms to suit the purchaser. Professional baseball in Gananoque flourished for a season like a green bay tree, but there came a frost, which cut short the growth. Our neighbors to the east must have discovered ere this that there is not any money in professional baseball except for the other fellows. They have a good little team down there, that fact cannot be denied, but a team of that calibre is like a horse that is just fast enough to be costly, and which finishes first behind the third horse. But, of course, they are young at the game down there and may be expected to improve as they mature in experience, if they can keep up the pace.

Tuesday's match at Alexandria Bay was the third in which the Ponies and Gananoque teams participated. At Gananoque the home team won by a score of ten to seven. At Kingston the tables were turned, Ponies winning by thirteen to nine and an innings to spare. The Gananoque rooters had great faith in their team and talked all kinds of money for another match, the teams to play man for man with the same umpire, Charles Jerome, Cape Vincent, than whom there does not tread the grassy diamond a fairer nor squarer official. Finally manager McCarney, of the Gananoque team, put up a forfeit of $25 to bind a match for a purse of $400, made up equally between the teams. The money was covered, but when representatives of the teams met, the Gananoque backers acknowledged that their limit was only $100.

The match took place at Alexandria Bay yesterday and Ponies won by a score of three to two in the last half of the tenth innings. It was one of the finest exhibitions of the great game that mortal man ever witnessed. The men were keen, playing for all that was in them and putting forth every exertion for their respective sides. As a result, up to the last ball bowled it was anybody's game. Two teams more evenly matched never before faced each other, and two teams more evenly balanced it would be difficult to find. For three innings the teams went to bat and were retired without a run, but in the fourth Islin broke the monotony by sliding in one for the Ponies. Then there was a lull until the seventh innings, when Boyd, the stalwart catcher of the Gananoque team, tallied up a run, tieing the score.

In the eighth innings Dehaney got to first on balls and stole third. Islin went to bat and whanged out a peach, lopping it between the right fielder and the foul line, and bringing in Dehaney. Ponies thus had a lead of one point and it looked as though at least another run would be scored, as there were two men on bases, but Hunt struck to third and was put out at first, retiring the side. Brennan started in well for the Gananoque team at the opening of the ninth, batting out what looked like a foul over first base, but it was given a fair ball and the batter got second base on it. He led off well and Elliott overthrew to second, giving Brennan third base. Butcher went out and Willis pounded out a safe hit, bringing in Brennan, and again tieing the score. The whole of Gananoque simply went mad, but were sufficiently sane not to take any of the bets offered on Ponies; odds of $50 to $35, $25 to $15 and such like were offered on Ponies without takers. The Ponies finished the ninth innings without changing the score, leaving Easton on second and Corrigan on third base. Gananoque opened the tenth innings, and retired without deciding the event, though they had two men on bases. Ponies went to the bat, and again Kingston backers went among the Gananoque backers offering odds on their team, but received the icy hand, marble heart and frozen stare at one and the same time. The old reliable Dehaney went next to bat and started out auspiciously by cracking out a two bagger, after feeling Lee for upwards of a dozen fouls. Sullivan went down in the first blow by striking to Lee and being put out at first. Islin looked as safe an investment as a corner lot when he went to bat, and before he had had a strike called he soused a two bagger nearly out of the lot, bringing in Dehaney, and the game was won, except for the cheering, of which there was plenty and to spare.

Dehaney made some beautiful catches, regular grand stand work; he never missed the ball when it came his way. Black also did great execution in right field. He made the brilliant flying catch of the day and almost fell into a ditch as deep as a canal. Willis also made a pretty running catch, having to jump into the air for it.

That boy Jerry Hunt is the real compound on first. The ease and surety with which he pocketed the cannon balls fired at him by Sullivan made the eyes of the Yankees stare with wonder.

Dehaney received a bad smash on the right thumb in the ninth innings. When batting the ball struck the thumb on the nail, and the flesh burst as a result; the lower fleshy part was torn into shreds. He pluckily continued the game, though his suffering must have been intense. He made several good catches in the field after the accident. Elliott has played many a good game of baseball, but in that of yesterday he certainly reached the apex of his success. Sullivan was a huge success all through the piece; he did not fan out as many men as Lee, but fewer safe hits were made from his delivery. Dehaney deserves more than passing thanks for his grand work; he scored two of the three runs.

Brennan made a costly error in the tenth innings. A foul was tipped to him on third and in attempting a spectacular feat, though the catch was easy, he allowed the ball to slip between his fingers.

In the sixth innings Gananoque had the bases filled, but Sullivan did not allow a ball to be touched by a batter, retiring the side. Sullivan struck out six and Lee nine men. Each pitcher gave two men bases on balls. Sullivan struck one batter and Lee three.

Dehaney made a double bagger and one base hit. Islin made two double baggers. Baker, Lee, Battam and Willis made single hits.

In the first innings Sullivan pitched only three balls, retiring the side.

Islin had little work to do in the field, but he certainly showed up to advantage at the bat. Easton held down third base to the queen's taste and found the ball on the bat tip more than once.

Corrigan makes a reliable short stop; he did not make a single error. Daley also showed up conspicuously all through raking in several flies.

For Gananoque Brennan's play was above the average. Willis was also prominent for good work, but is outclassed by Lee in his position. Baker on first is a good man, but not the equal of Hunt.

Gananoque.—Randolph, c.f.; Lochhead, s.s.; Baker 1st b.; Brennan, 3rd b.; Butcher, l.f.; Willis, r.f.; Boyd, c.; Lee, p.; Battam, 2nd b.

Ponies.—Easton, 3rd b.; Elliott, c.; Dehaney, 2nd b.; Sullivan, p.; Islin, l. f.; Hunt, 1st b.; Daley, c.f.; Corrigan, s.s.; Black, r.f.

The match was witnessed by a great number of Americans and many said they had never seen a better game by the big league teams.

The grounds are very poor at the Bay, being in a potato patch, rough and hilly. The outfield is simply vile, full of hills, hollows, stones and weeds.

The gate receipts were about $300. The Ponies got about $90.

The Gananoque team had a brass band along to play them home as victors. The musicians forgot to take along the Dead March, so there was not any music on the home trip.

It is calculated that at least $500 of Gananoque money found its way into the pockets of Kingston backers of the Ponies.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Notes Regarding the Movements of Vessels.

The sloop Monitor to-day loaded coal at Swift & Co's storehouses and cleared for Bath.

The steamer Persia, Hamilton to Montreal, touched at Craig & Co's wharf this morning.

The schooner S. H. Dunn cleared this afternoon for Charlotte to load coal for the Calvin company, Garden Island.

The dredge Nipissing, employed in this harbor since the opening of navigation, left this morning for Port Hope.

The steamer Rosedale, Chicago, to-day discharged 45,000 bushels of corn at the Mooers elevator, clearing again for the west.

The tug Maggie May and barge Dandy, with cordwood, from Rideau canal points, arrived this morning for Crawford & Co.

The new big steel steamer Strathcona, built in England for McKay Bros., Hamilton, passed up this morning under her own steam.

The schooner Helen, Wellington, discharged 40,000 bushels of wheat at Richardson & Sons' elevator yesterday and cleared again for Toronto to load grain for this port.

The tug Thomson, with two coal laden barges from Oswego, touched at this port this morning and picked up two more barges, grain laden, continuing her trip to Montreal.

Called at Swift & Co's wharf: Steamers Toronto on down and up trips; Rideau Queen, Ottawa, up and down trips; schooners Mary Ann Lydon and Eliza White, Charlotte, coal laden; tug Ferris and two coal laden barges for Ottawa.

The story comes from Oswego, N.Y., that the New York Central people contemplate putting on steamers from Lewiston, Charlotte and Oswego to Alexandria Bay. The steamer Arundel is on the route and is taking trade from the Central's branches. The steamer Toronto is also securing many passengers from Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo, that would otherwise go to the Central. The boats to be put on will be chartered for the first season. They will be the largest, swiftest and staunchest to be had for Lake Ontario navigation. During the spring and fall they can be out into other trade. The introduction of these boats will bring trade to the Richelieu & Ontario navigation company's boats on the St. Lawrence run.

A Dreadful Railway Fall.

A serious accident to a mixed train on the Central railroad, New Brunswick, fortunately did not cause the loss of life that might have been expected. The train went through Sargeson's bridge, ten miles from Norton, and was dashed to a heap of debris on the rocks, 100 feet below. The bridge was a wooden curved trestle structure, 400 feet long and the whole affair seemed to collapse as the train passed upon it, the locomotive and tender, the baggage, one passenger and several freight and lumber cars taking the descent with practically no warning to the train crew or the passengers. John Duncan, the engineer, was killed; William Morrison, the fireman, fatally hurt, and Frank Campbell, brakeman, probably fatally hurt. Others were injured, but no further loss of life is expected. The weight of the engine apparently tilted it over by lateral pressure on the curve, and a big section of the trestle went down, carrying the train with it.

Stole A Quantity Of Music.

AMONG THE MEDICAL MEN.

PAPERS READ BEFORE THE HEALTH OFFICERS.

President Hutchinson Delivers His Annual Address — Objects to Paper Milk Tickets and Old Paper Money—Papers by Drs. Bryce and Kitchen.

The medical health officers resumed their session at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. These additional delegates were present: Dr. Achbaid Oronhyatekha, Deseronto; Dr. W. B. Crow, Trenton; Messrs. Taylor and Steacy, London; Drs. Anglin, C. Y. Ford and Third, Kingston.

Dr. Cassidy, Toronto, who is much interested in the study of tuberculosis, read a thoughtful and well-prepared paper on "The Frequency and Curability of Tuberculosis." He quoted statistics showing the death rate from this disease in Canada and Europe. But there were many cases in which the patients recovered, however. A French professor, experimenting with feeding raw meat to dogs, found that dogs predisposed to tuberculosis and fed on raw meat did not die; those fed on cooked meat died. Persons ill with consumption should sleep in a room where the window was open. Raw eggs cure tuberculosis.

Dr. Bryce, Toronto, told of the treatment for this disease among the working class in Germany. The percentage cured was high. And this, too, in face of the fact that these people in the city were obliged to work long hours—and often to take their work home with them—and that they were subjected frequently to insufficient food. This condition of affairs did not tend to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. It was a matter for the delegates to look carefully into.

Dr. Hutchinson, London, president of the association, delivered his annual address. In his opinion the members were fortunate in choosing Kingston as a place to convene. Ever since the time of Jacques Cartier the history of Kingston had been replete with stirring deeds. "At the end of the eighteenth century," he said, reverting to his subject, "the death rate in Great Britain and Europe was eighty-eight out of 1,000. Up to Capt. Cooke's time, 1773, scurvey decimated the British army and navy. He inaugurated such sanitary measures that in a three years' voyage around the world he lost but four men, whose deaths were due to scurvy. Anson in his voyage thirty years before, lost 600 out of 900 men. It is difficult to convince the public that they cannot escape disease without absolute cleanliness and pure water. One subject of greatest importance was that of pure milk. To get it pure it is necessary that pure water be supplied the animal. This should be made compulsory. The milk should be boiled. The streams of water are always polluted from towns and cities situated on their banks. Every dairy should have proper sanitary arrangements." In concluding Dr. Hutchinson condemned bread tickets and old paper money as unsanitary.

Dr. E. E. Kitchen, St. George, was on the programme to read a paper on "Sanitary Needs of Cheese Factories." In his hurry to look upon the unparalleled beauties of the limestone city, he had come away and left his paper at home. However, he gave them a short talk on the subject. Canada was doing a good butter and cheese trade with Great Britain. There were losses in curing cheese. The Danish butter sold in England was better, and the Canadian was ranked second class. Cleanliness was necessary. In Denmark pure water runs through each cow stable. Solid cheese factories should be built, with hard or concrete floors. The curing room was even more important than the factory. The temperature must be kept down to sixty-five degrees.

Dr. Bryce read a paper on "The Educational Problem Viewed From the Public Health Standpoint." Children, he held, were often sent to school at too early an age. There were too many studies in our public schools. More drills and exercises were needed. The space in the school room was frequently insufficient to give the children proper air.

Sewer Grates Unsatisfactory.

During the heavy rain storm last night the sewer grate in front of Johnston Bros'. store, corner Princess and Wellington streets, became choked up with refuse, with the result that the whole street became a pond of water. Many of the street cellars in the vicinity were flooded. This occurs nearly every time there is a heavy rainfall. The grate is laid horizontally at the bottom of a deep hole in the street, so that it is a very easy matter for refuse to clog up the grate. In Hamilton and other cities the grate is set slantingly in position. It runs up from the ground a foot or more and the bars then stretch across the top. It would take a long time for a foot of refuse to accumulate, and even then the water could escape through the bars on top. These grates are by far the most satisfactory, and with little expense could be placed in position on Kingston's streets.

Add Physical Science.

The new ladies' swimming and gymnasium class at the Y.M.C.A. will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings during September, and will be under the patronage of Mrs. George Mills, University avenue. C. W. Walker will act as instructor, and he has thereby incurred the envy of all the young men in the city. Kingston is sadly in need of a gymnasium for ladies, conducted on lines similar to those on which the Y.M.C.A. is running, and it is to be hoped that the W.C. association will add the faculty of physical science to that of domestic science, and thus extend to the ladies those privileges which the young men have so long enjoyed in their finely equipped association building.

Midway Carnival May Come.

A representative of the Bostock mighty midway carnival company was in the city yesterday, conferring with the fair directors, relative to exhibiting his show here during fair week. It is in character similar to that shown in Watertown, N. Y., during the state street fair there. The management has not yet decided to accept the representative's offer.

A Faithful Old Dog.

There died in the west end of Kingston a few days ago an Irish cocker spaniel, which had attained the ripe age of seventeen years and four months. During the last three and a half years he had been an invalid, but from puppyhood until the day of his death was always brightly intelligent, gentle, faithful and affectionate. At the age of fourteen he had seen killed over three thousand three hundred birds in the finding and returning of which he had taken an eager and agile part. It is unhappily too much the custom when the average dog grows old and feeble to forget long and faithful service and "to put him out of pain," as the somewhat cold-hearted phrase goes. But the lines of this dog had fallen in happier places and when time had dimmed the once bright eyes and crippled his supple limbs, there were those around him who did not forget the past and so even unto the end this little four-legged friend never knew the pain of neglect.

The Twentieth Century.

Enters upon the heritage of a remedy that is sure, safe and painless. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor never fails, never causes pain nor the slightest discomfort.

TIDE OF TRAVEL TURNING.

UNITED STATES PEOPLE GOING TO MARITIME PROVINCES.

Comfortable and Cool Hotels to be Found There—Canadian Shores Are as Refreshing as Old Orchard—People Do Not Appreciate Their Own Country.

The tide of United States travel is turning to the Maritime Provinces. Not only is it unique in a military and pioneer sense, but the romance of the land of Evangeline is added to by the attractiveness of scenery. The people of Nova Scotia have a greater genius for hotel keeping than their western colonial brethren, and many of the small cities have comfortable hotels at reasonable rates, this latter being no small attraction in the eyes of even the enthusiastic American who goes in whole-soul for a good time. The coolness of the ocean beaches has been this year marked and the travellers who came from Boston on the well-appointed ocean lines, and by rail through St. John across the picturesque Bay of Fundy, have gone away delighted with eastern Canada. Canadians, after halting at St. John, Digby and Halifax, have passed on to one of the quiet village seaside resorts, and here they have found a new Acadia. The dweller by the sea is a model of cleanliness and neatness. The houses are all painted white and the fences are in the strictest order; indeed there is a sameness in this respect that gives the landscape uncommonly staid and orderly appearance, accentuated by whole districts displaying just one type and shape of house.

The people of Ontario who seek Old Orchard and other resorts do not know what they lose in health and variety by neglecting their own Canadian shores. The trip down the gulf on one of the best appointed steamship services on the continent is in itself a great reviver and the return by the Intercolonial railway is one of the pleasantest of trips. The whole road is interesting to look upon and will teach the Ontario farmer humility as he notices the neatness of the farms for 800 miles and the difficulties which the settlers have overcome. The fast train of the Intercolonial runs through Halifax to Montreal in twenty-eight hours, with excellent dining car service. The government need never be ashamed of its railroad while its fast train is kept at the present rate of efficiency. Unhappily, the people of the west do not know how thoroughly up-to-date their government railway is.

Nova Scotia has become uncommonly interesting from the large operations at Sydney. Three or four years ago it was a town of 2,500 people; now it is rivalling Halifax as a business place and industrial centre. The Dominion iron company, with a capital of $20,000,000, is erecting a gigantic smelting plant and will build steamships. About 2,500 persons are employed on their works and more will be required. North Sydney, five miles distant, is to have another great smelter, the Nova Scotia iron company's, with a capital also of $20,000,000. The agriculture in the Annapolis Valley is a veritable picture. From its sheltered situation, vegetation is fast and early and is becoming a vast orchard. The Canadian press association is next year to take the lower provinces for its outing and the lords of the pencil guild are sure to be charmed beyond measure.

A C.P.R. ENGINEER.

Suffered From Asthma For Twelve Years—The C.P.R. Doctor Prescribed Clarke's Kola Compound—Was Cured With Two Bottles.

N. R. Hume, C.P.R. engineer, western division, writes: "I have suffered from asthma in a most distressing form for twelve years, and never succeeded in getting anything to help me permanently, until the C.P.R. doctor prescribed Clarke's Kola Compound for me in December, 1897, when two bottles entirely cured me; at least, I have not since had any return of asthma."

Clarke's Kola Compound is the only permanent cure for asthma. See that you get Clarke's. Sold by J. B. McLeod, druggist, or by the Grimths & Macpherson Co., limited, Toronto.

The Man About Town.

Intended to take exercise at the Y.M.C.A. gym., but since the ladies' swimming classes have started fear has kept him away.

He also intended to accompany the medical men down the river on their excursion last night, but when he learned that there would be nothing to drink on board except water and sour lemonade, he decided to stay at home.

He says the delegates to the medical health officers' convention are the best dressed men in the city. Why not? They are "gotten up to kill," anyway.

"I don't believe it," said the Man, with a determined ring in his voice. "Don't believe what?" asked his wife. "Why, the report that caretaker Phillips says that alderman Walkem will do his best to keep the moon from shining the night the opposition band plays on the market square!"

He wonders if the lights would have been turned out on the steamer America last night if alderman Donnelly had been there and attempted to make another speech.

The mayor and Dr. Herald are hard to beat as entertainers.

Some people who see sea-serpents are next door to seeing them crawl out of their boot tops.

There are times in the discussions at the medical health officers' convention when the ordinary layman wonders what they are trying to talk about anyway. He could read their thoughts with a dictionary.

Despondency and Depression.

Too often result from causes, at the beginning easily remedied, but neglected most difficult to remove. The liver, allowed to become torpid and inactive, paves the way for a host of diseases, constipation giving away to indigestion, until at last the unfortunate victim has to undergo all the horrors of acute dyspepsia. No remedy so speedily and with such certainty corrects all diseases of the liver and stomach and bowels as Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Vegetable in composition and always safe. Sold by dealers everywhere.
