SIGNED STATEMENTS.

Corbett Says He is Not a Has-Been; McCoy Overtrained.

I think everybody will admit that I defeated McCoy on my merits. I outfought him from the start and do not see how he can offer any legitimate excuse for his defeat. My work with McCoy proves, I think, that I am no longer a "has-been" and entitled to consideration from Jeffries. I intend to make another effort to regain the championship and in the course of a few days I will issue a challenge to Jeffries and accompany it with a substantial forfeit. I believe that I am just as good a fighter to-day as I ever was. If I have a little better luck the next time I put on the gloves with the big boilermaker I feel sure that I can beat him.
JAMES J. CORBETT.

I was overtrained. It was a left hand blow on the body that beat me. It was an awful blow and I felt myself sinking to the floor immediately after I received it. It caused me a lot of pain and I was absolutely helpless for the time being. I tried to clinch with Corbett to save myself so as to recover my strength and continue. While I was attempting to embrace Corbett he hit me hard on the ribs. The blow knocked all the fight that was in me out and I fell to the floor. I heard White count six, but have no recollection of his counting ten, though it strikes me I was looking at him and waiting for him to say nine, intending to get up, when he told me the fight was over and Corbett had won.

Fine Electrical Exhibit.

Among the many electrical inventions exhibited by the Packard company, at the city hall, is the new Schuffer Watt metre for inductive and non inductive loads. It is of inestimable value to central managers in power plants and telephone arrangements. Next in importance comes the enclosed arc lamp, which like its incandescent relative, is confined in a glass globe within which a vacuum has been produced, thereby giving perfect incandescence. Electric transformers, current controllers, switches, and plugs galore are exhibited. In each corner of the Packard square are electric fans of the highest efficiency in the production of cool breezes.

Mr. Wiley, expert, has charge of all metre demonstrations.

The Packard exhibit is in the hands of E. E. Cary, manager of the company. He is the jolliest individual at the convention, and is as active as an electric current.

ROUNDING UP THE BOERS.

BRITISH CLEANING UP COUNTRY AS THEY GO.

Watervalboven and Watervalonder Both in the Hands of the British—Kruger and His Friends Are at Pilgrim's Rest.

London, Aug. 31.—Lord Roberts, under date of Belfast, Aug. 29th, reports to the war office as follows:

"Buller telegraphs from Helvetia, that only a few of the enemy are there and this morning French's and Pole-Carew's forces will move on their flank. The advance of Dundonald's mounted troops on their front caused them to abandon a very strong position. The country thus cleared our troops moved eastward.

"The South African light horse, after little opposition, entered Watervalboven, and drove the remnant of the enemy through the town.

"French's column reached Doornhek overlooking Watervalonder, with slight opposition. Dundonald, with Strathcona's horse, is further near Nooitgedacht. We have occupied Watervalboven, and Watervalonder.

"Buller reports that Nooitgedacht is apparently deserted except by British prisoners, who are passing in a continuous stream up the line towards Watervalonder. No Boers are visible.

"The natives report that Kruger and all the commandoes left yesterday for Pilgrim's Rest.

"French reports the railway intact as far as Watervalonder, except for a small bridge near the station, which has been destroyed."

Claim Dewet Is Parnell.

London, Aug. 31.—According to the Mail, there exists in Ireland a theory that De Wet, the elusive Boer leader, and Charles Stewart Parnell are one and the same man.

"The imaginative Celt," says the Mail "has built up a romatic story to the effect that Parnell did not die and was not buried; that he attended the funeral which was supposed to be his, and smiled at the credulity of his countrymen.

"Now, it actually is believed in many parts of Ireland that he really is Christian Dewet, and nothing apparently shakes the belief of the simple Irish folk in this remarkable story."

Gen. Smuts Wounded.

Belfast, Aug. 31.—The Boers admit that in the Carolina skirmish commander Smuts, who was second in command was wounded in the abdomen.

SLAUGHTERED THEM.

What Imperial Troops Did—Boxers Overrunning Country.

Taku, Aug. 26, via Shanghai, Aug. 30.—An interrupted letter, written by the viceroy of Pao-Ting Fu, who commanded at Tien Tsin during the fighting there, complains that the Boxers are over running the country south-west of Tien Tsin, looting and killing the enemies of their organization, and fighting the imperial troops. The viceroy reports that the Taotoi of the city of Taung Chaow, on the canal, invited 2,000 Boxers to a feast. While the Boxers were eating the imperial soldiers, by his orders, fell upon them and slaughtered all of them.

There is much recrimination between the foreigners besieging Pekin and the members of the relieving forces. Officers say that the besieged sent out alarmist reports, and that the condition of the foreigners was never one of such extremities as the official despatches represented. The foreigners, they assert, could have resisted indefinitely. The besieged accuse the generals of timidity and of exaggerating the Chinese opposition. They think a much smaller army might have made the march and relieved them months sooner. The looting of Pekin proceeds industriously and openly. The officers of every nation except the United States ignore the expressive orders. All the allies ridicule the Americans for their abstinence.

United States Accused.

London, Aug. 31.—The afternoon papers appear to be perplexed at the Americo-Russian accord to secure the prompt evacuation of Pekin. They point out how completely this upsets preconceived notions of how the powers would be grouped on the Chinese question. The consensus of editorial opinion is that the proposals are antogonistic to British interests and that the allies should remain in Pekin until the Chinese government shall be re-established and the ring leaders of the present uprising punished. The Globe accuses the United States of breaking the concord of the powers and playing into hands of Russia against Great Britain by supporting the suggestion of the employment of Li Hung Chang, who, the paper declared, is notoriously hostile to Great Britain and friendly to Russia.

The Globe urges that the British government oppose to the uttermost the idea of the evacuation of Pekin, in which course, the paper adds, it will be supported by emperor William, of Germany.

Work Of Russians.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—Gen. Linevitch, commanding the Russian troops at the Chinese capital, reports from Pekin, under date of August 20th, that the Russian detachment on the previous day captured, without loss, the imperial summer palace. The Russian artillery have also unearthed at Pekin thirty cannon, and many rifles. A large quantity of silver was found at the Tsung Li Yamen.

Done Its Duty.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The state department has despatched its instructions to the United States diplomatic representative abroad, in conformity with the decision reached yesterday by the cabinet upon the Russian proposal to withdraw the troops in Pekin. By the despatch of to-day's note the United States government for the time being has placed the responsibility for the next step upon the Russian government.

A local legal firm has applied for letters of administration on behalf of James Jackson, father of private Charles F. Jackson, killed at Paardeberg, South Africa, on February 18th. This application is in connection with the insurance of the lives of the members of the first contingent effected through Sir Charles in the Ocean accident insurance company. Each member was insured for $1,000, and application is made to have the money paid to the father of the young man who was killed. The captain was Bella O'Brien and the others who received a regular wage from Bella, who ran chances on being recouped by the plunder, were Annie Ayling, Lizzie Shaw and Irene Forward. The girls went into stores together and the O'Brien girl did the stealing while the others distracted attention from her actions. The wages of the girl Forward who turned queen's evidence and told of a long string of robberies were $2.50 per week. Gold watches, fine clothing and many purses were among the spoils. The O'Brien girl received an indeterminate sentence at the Mercer, and the Ayling girl six months, while the others were allowed to go until called upon for sentence as their friends promised to try to reclaim them.

SUING THE CHIEF RANGER.

Originator of Independent Order of Foresters Defends an Action.

New York, Aug. 31. Oronhyatekha, hereditary chief of the Mohawk Indians, high chief ranger of the Independent order of Foresters, Toronto, is the defendent in a suit for $100,000. This claim is made by Dr. Charles L. Coulter, of No. 2,654 Broadway, who asserts in the papers that this sum represents a loss on the value of a patent which Oronhyatekha agreed to push, but failed to do so.

Oonhyatekha's arrival at the Hotel Manhattan caused considerable stir and curiosity. A rumor immediately circulated that he with an East Indian prince, and his wife, who is also an Indian, and a granddaughter of Capt. Joseph Brant, is known among the hotel employers and guests as "the princess."

Oronhyatekha in an interview, said that he had been interested in a new vaporizer for the treatment of asthma and catarrh from 1890 to 1895. A company was organized and Oronhyatekha himself spent $12,000, got nothing but experience and sold out. Dr. Coulter, he says, has no claim against him.
