Visited The Fair.

Archbishop Gauthier visited the big fair yesterday afternoon. He viewed the exhibits in the palace, and took great delight in doing so. He thought the fair was a great success.

NOT YET REPENTED OF.

The Mail has endeavoured to show that its attack some years ago on Sir Charles Tupper was made by Mr. Farrer, when he was crossed in some particular way. But Mr. Farrer was not the writer of the article in question, and as a matter of fact the Mail has not repented of it in sackcloth and ashes. Here it is:

"Of the system which Mr. Blake deplores, Sir Charles Tupper has notoriously been the chief agent; all that is worst in it and has tended most to debase the national character is familiarly connected with his name, which may be said to be a household word of corruption. Now has he, like his late chief, succeeded in convincing the people that, except when he is doing the dirty work of a political party, his hands are clean; or that, if he governed the nation, its honor, while it might be in danger from such exposures as that of the Pacific railway scandal, would be secure against a deeper stain. His name is at this moment unpleasantly connected with a suspicious affair in England, and if the sentence of the arbitrators in the Onderdonk contract case next month should be against the dominion, another sinister transaction would be called to mind. It is too evident what sort of scene would be opened by his accession to power. He is the prince of political cracksmen no doubt, but we cannot afford to purchase ability even of so rare a kind at such a price as that of continued and increased demoralization. The appointment of such a man as the head of the state would not be merely an inauguration of violence and corruption unrebuked by any true wisdom or statesmanship. It would be a signal for the disruption of the community and for a moral civil war."

Nothing approaching this has been inspired, written, or uttered about Sir Charles Tupper by a grit.

IT WANTS A LESSON.

The Hamilton Herald surely has no doubt about the action of the Methodist general committee in respect of prohibition. The announcement was current among the men of the 6th. It was that on that morning the general committee had "sent out an urgent appeal to the Methodist voters to express disapproval of the course taken by parliament in prohibition, and to prevent the election of anti-prohibitionists."

It is a question on which there has been a very decided difference of opinion. Rev. Dr. Potts, who is not a supporter of the Laurier government, has put it on record that it could not undertake to pass and enforce a prohibitory measure with public opinion expressed as it had been on the plebiscite. His position is practically that of the government, and because it is not willing to meet the demands of a church, as they have been formulated by a committee thereof, it is menaced on the eve of an election.

The average church man have regard to the men with whom they are associated, and from whom they are willing to accept drill in religious affairs. But when it comes to a political campaign the average elector will go as he pleases. He has to use his own judgment anyway. Some of the men who agreed with the government and to the effect that a prohibitory law was not yet in strong demand from the people are not "antis," and should not be subject to the persecution of any sect. These men have a general record which has to be considered, and in which they were entitled to the support of their political friends.

The general committee of the Methodist church, for instance, would have Mr. Britton in the event of his renomination, turned down because he did not smother his own convictions in parliament and go for prohibition. The same contretemps would occur in other constituencies. The Methodist church, in other words, on one issue, would make war with its friends—with their consent. Fortunately, the electors have something to say about it, and they want to act so that the church will see its mistake and get a lesson it will never forget.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Toronto is thinking of going into the telephone business on its own account. It would take $700,000 to establish the plant, and $75,000 a year to operate it. But there's a mint of money in the business.

If the people depended on the cartoons for an idea of Mr. Roosevelt's looks they would not be impressed. Teddy is not a handsome man, but he is by no means the repulsive person the cartoonist has pictured him.

Mr. Foster alleges that the liberal conservative party stands where it did in 1878. That is the eighteen years of conservative rule have to be forgotten. Mr. Foster has not heretofore intimated that he is ashamed of the record.

George Taylor, of Gananoque, has it—this time from Mr. Bergeron,—that the elections will not take place until February, or March. Of course Mr. Bergeron, one of Sir Charles Tupper's allies, is in the secrets of the government and knows all about it.

If the talk of the Belleville Intelligencer means anything it is that Hugh John Macdonald is going into dominion politics as the representative of prohibition, and Corby, the distiller, is his most ardent supporter! This is the most unique of all the political combinations.

The Mail has reports according to which Mr. Davin is setting the heather in Manitoba on fire. Davin has an eloquent tongue, but somehow, in the last election, it failed him, and took the returning officer's vote to send him back to Ottawa. History sometimes repeats itself.

The management of the industrial exhibition has been unmercifully criticised by the press. The circus features of it are declared to be absorbing the attention of the staff. Well, it's these that draw the people and make the money. How many people who go to the fair study the live stock or farm produce?

The teaching of domestic science is not a question of chivalry, but of finance and accommodation so far as the school board is concerned. Domestic science, to be a success, cannot be successfully taught as an optional subject, and as an addition to a class curriculum it is somewhat imposing.

The other day, at one of the political side shows now so common in the land, it was announced that the cities were with the conservatives. The evidence does not point that way. On the contrary it is evident that they are a source of anxiety to Sir Charles Tupper. They possess too many men who think they were made for parliament. And they appear to be mostly on the conservative side.

Ottawa's Big Exhibition.

All the arrangements have been completed for the big fair to be given at Ottawa for next two weeks. Entries have poured in until the display is assured of being far in advance of other years. The buildings and grounds are in first class shape for the fair and the scenery for the mammoth spectacular, the battle of Paardeburg and the surrender of Gen. Cronje. The programme of special attractions is excellent. The very best specialties have been engaged and from the grand stand seating 15,000 people will be witnessed a series which could only be selected by careful study and long experience. Any person visiting the Ottawa exhibition for amusement and instruction will not be disappointed.

The Sheriff Sustained.

Thomas F. Chamberlain, inspector of asylums and prisons, has notified sheriff Dawson that "the boys having been committed to the industrial school at Mimico, and placed in jail pending removal, must be removed by yourself, as sheriff, or your deputy, as you may determine. There is no other authority for their removal when committed to the jail. The expenses of their removal will have to be borne by the county." The sheriff expected to have the boys removed to the school to-day. The only other boy sent to the industrial school was committed by the police magistrate and taken to his destination by the sheriff's officers.

Regret Her Departure.

Miss Veale, York street, was waited upon by friends on Wednesday and presented with a gold chain. She has been an active Sunday school worker in Bethel church. Rev. A. McC. Lennox and George Mills, jr., spoke words of appreciation. She will reside in New York.

Thought It Was A Sham Fight.

While returning from the fair grounds yesterday the batterymen galloped down by the old block-house on the east end of Sydenham street, creating considerable excitement among the residents, who thought the movement was part of a sham fight going on at the fair grounds.

Special Fall Importation Of 1900.

Prevost, at the New York clothing store, has received all his fall importation for order work in his tailoring department, consisting of Scotch tweed, blue and black serges and a great variety of overcoating. His $13.50 overcoats, made to order for the tall trade, beats anything in previous years.

A Run On The Bank.

Long before the board of education rooms opened this morning a number of citizens, to whom the board was indebted for work during the holidays, were present to get their cheques. The secretary was kept busy all forenoon. There was a literal "run on the bank."

In the local yacht race series, the standing by points is: Tepui, 12; Cock Robin, 7; Kestrel, 5; Norma, 4; Geisha, 3; Harmony, 1. The Cock Robin was in only one of the two races. The final result is still in doubt. S. Calvin's flyer has a good chance of winning it.

The ore-laden barge John B. Lyon collapsed a few miles west of Girard, in lake Erie, and sank in eighty feet of water. Of her crew of sixteen persons eleven were drowned, and five, including the woman cook, were saved.

Mr. Shaughnessy, president, and Mr. Foxworth, freight traffic manager, of the C.P.R., have returned from Boston, where they discussed with the management of the Boston & Maine company the question of making the Massachusetts capital the terminus for their winter freight traffic.

Expansionists In 1847.

New York, Sept. 14.—Fifty-three years ago to-day in 1847, the city of Mexico was taken by the United States troops in the Mexican war, and the close of the war soon followed, with its consequent cession of Mexican territory to the United States. Since then the city and the county of which Mexico is the capital had many vicissitudes. The events of greatest importance to the nation since then have been the intrusive establishment of Louis Napoleon of Maximilian, of Austria, as its so-called emperor; with an open violation of the Monroe doctrine, with its sad and inglorious end to both Napoleon and Maximilian, through pressure of the United States government under the patriotic and statesmanlike Benito Juarez, for many terms its successful president. The date of Mexico's memorable anniversaries is in one sense at least marking the beginning of a wholly new era in its national life.

A Gloomy End

Charlotte, N.C., Sept. 14.—Dr. Howard M. Wilkinson, who eloped with Miss Josephine Packard, his wife's sister, will have a hearing before a justice of the peace to-day. Dr. Wilkinson recently shipped a large consignment of drugs from Dover, Del., to the Eagle drug company, of this city. The goods were all attached by the several creditors of Dr. Wilkinson in Delaware. The Eagle drug company, of this city, had no knowledge of the shipment and the use of its name was without authority. The whereabouts of the doctor and Miss Wilkinson are unknown and it is expected the case will go by default. They had intended to open a drug store here before their movements became known.

New Law Creates A Mob.

Brooklyn, N.Y., Sept. 14.—When the new law adopted by the last legislature preventing the use of trading stamps went into effect the first of this month, manager Bunty, of the trading stamp store, 1,229 Fulton, issued a circular announcing that he would cease operations to-day. Since the issuance of the circular thousands of women who held trading stamps issued by the various stores doing business with Bunty have besieged him and made his life unbearable. He has been compelled to barricade himself and seek aid to prevent summary action on the part of the infuriated women.

So far since the opening of the schools 144 new pupils have been admitted. Most of them have gone into the kindergarten and part first classes. Eight are from private schools, twenty-one from points outside the city and the remainder are the children of citizens. The number of new pupils is slightly in excess of those who left the schools in June.

It looks funny, somehow, to see married men buy patent pants buttons that are fastened on without sewing.

$12.50 men's suits $9.65, $10 suits $7.20 at the Grand Union Saturday. We give trading stamps.

Nothing makes a man who has been away for the summer as proud as for folks to notice his sunburn and speak about it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Adjutant Kendall's Explanation.

Kingston, Sept. 14.—(To the Editor): I noticed an article in each issue of the 12th and 13th inst., stating that we have condemned the annual exhibition and strictly forbidden our people to attend. We wish to inform you and the public that the statement is utterly false; the only part that we condemned was the side shows and worldly amusements that take place on the fair grounds. Your informant says we pronounced the fair "sinful and immoral," and we give every reader of your paper credit for more sense than to believe we made such a statement, as the fair is composed of God's blessing to the people, and the handiwork of man. My people quite endorsed all we said. Your malicious informant also speaks of our harvest festival and it's true it's approaching and we shall glorify God through it all; the money that is raised shall help the needy. We have no auction sale whatever, so your informant is wrong again. We don't know who he is, but he surely thought he would hurt the Salvation army, but we pity and pray for him.—Yours in the interest of God's kingdom, ADJUTANT AND MRS. KENDALL.

This information forming the basis of the articles in question was given freely by a worthy member of the Salvation army, a reliable citizen whose word was accepted as truthful. He voluntarily came to the office and stated that adjutant Kendall had twice cautioned his congregation against attending the fair, on the ground that it was "worldly, sinful and immoral." Our informant further stated that adjutant Kendall did not qualify his remarks by saying that he condemned the side shows and attractions only; he included the whole fair; if he intended his remarks to apply to the side shows he failed to be specific. Furthermore, it was stated by our informant that adjutant Kendall was approached and asked to remove the ban he placed on the fair, but he refused to do so. According to adjutant Kendall's statement there has been a misunderstanding between him and the members of his flock as to the purport of his words of caution.

Rural Britain Objects.

London, Sept. 14.—The dominion government has offered, through lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada, to supply gratis to rural schools in Great Britain, books and atlases, giving the geography and maps of Canada, and also to donate prizes for the successful pupils in those schools adopting the books for teaching purposes. The offer is made with a view to instructing the rural population as to Canada's advantages, and thereby encouraging emigration to the dominion from the agricultural classes.

In the rural districts, however, the project is not viewed with anything like favor, and in some localities it is stoutly protested on the ground that depopulation in those places is proceeding speedily enough.

Puritan Revived.

Boston, Sept. 14.—Fifteen years ago to-day, in 1885, the yacht Puritan demonstrated to the world the superiority of American skill and Yankee ingenuity in defending the America's cup. The races were run on the 14th and 16th. This summer she has been cruising the Maine coast with a party of distinguished yachtsmen. Her captain is Harry Gray, of Deer Isle, who was attached to the Defender in her successful races in 1896. The Puritan is the product of that famous designer Burgess. She is in excellent condition.

Opening Of Republican Campaign.

New York, Sept. 14.—The republican campaign will be opened with a boom here to-night. The final arrangements for to-night's enthusiastic opening provides for four big mass meetings, at Cooper Union, Durland's riding academy, the great pavilion at 125th street and Seventh avenue, and in Zeitner's Casino, Bronx Borough. The meetings will all be addressed by speakers of national reputation.

Carried Alleged Gold Brick.

Winnipeg, Sept. 14.—A man named Cook, of Carman, was arrested on the streets yesterday with a big canvas bag containing a brick of lead two pounds in weight, labelled "gold bullion," value $4,789.30, assay No. 77,604, City paid charge to New York."

His actions were suspicious, hence the arrest. The man is supposed to be demented. It is reported that he has had frequent shipments of similar bricks to New York.

Died Of Starvation.

Neustadt, Ont., Sept. 14.—Harry Adams, for many years a resident of Wiarton, was found dead under a railway bridge just outside of Neustadt. Appearances indicated that he had died of starvation. Adams had been out of work for some time, and being an intelligent, well-educated man, apparently died rather than beg for food. He was an Englishman and had no relatives in this country.

Strike On Hospital Ship.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—A report has come to this city of a revolt on the hospital ship Relief at Nagasaki, Japan. A large number of the officers and men are said to have refused to sign the new service contracts which expire to-day. Army officers here deny that there is serious trouble on the ship, but first officer Crosky, of the Grant, has been ordered to the Relief as master.

Portfolio Perhaps.

New York, Sept. 14.—In the event of the election of the democratic national ticket, it is currently reported that Mr. Bryan will offer a high position of trust to Bird S. Coler, present comptroller of the city of New York and the defeated candidate for governor in the recent democratic convention.

A Change Arranged.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 14.—The intermediate series of the ruby football union, as drawn up on Wednesday night and published yesterday, has been changed. The clubs play home and home games in the first round only. In the second round the game is played on Oct 13th on the grounds of the first named club. The third round is played on Oct. 20th and the final on Oct. 27th.

Dean Lauder's Health Unchanged.

London, Sept. 14.—The condition of dean Lauder, Ottawa, chaplain of the Canadian house of commons, who is ill here, remains unchanged.

STARR AND SUTCLIFFE
DRY GOODS — IMPORTERS.

KINGSTON'S LEADING DRY GOODS STORE.

Friday, September 14th.

First In Dress Goods.

The cleverest part of the Dress Goods business is to get the stuffs you like. You're the judges. When the manufacturers catch the right idea in getting up the designs, our work is easy. When they don't, it isn't. We've had enough encouragement already to know that they've been successful this season. Bright, cheerful patterns that represent a quotient of pleasure for you as well as business for us. On the other hand Dress Trimmings compliment our work. An ideal assortment of just such things as fashion asks you to buy.

First In Millinery.

A subject that's more thought of and talked about than almost any other, one in which every lady is interested, no matter what her position in life—Millinery. We don't expect everybody to be of one mind about it. All sorts are here from the most moderate in price and style to the rich patterns from leading fashion centres. Shapes and materials in almost endless variety with a millinery workroom handy by where good taste and judgment help to put them together.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

Fears That a Farm House Cut Off Has Been Burned.

Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 14.—A few days ago while some stumps were being burned on Benjamin Biddi's farm to the south-east of Innerkip, the wind fanned the flames and they spread to the neighboring farm of Thomas Miller, and from thence on to George Carter's, James Bartley's and S. Trachell's. The fire spread to the fifth concession, making traffic impossible and cutting off communication with Carter's farm. Fears are entertained for the Carter's household as no word has been received regarding it. A heavy rain which fell yesterday morning checked the further spread of fire.

Between seventy-five and eighty head of cattle on the Trachell farm, are not yet accounted for. The timber burned was not very valuable. The blaze was very fierce and it was possible to read by its light in Innerkip, a mile and a-half away. The Godpsie swamp, about five miles west of Woodstock, and south-east of Embro, is blazing, and the fire has spread over a wide area. Every precaution is being taken to save farm buildings from destruction.

Crossed The Great Divide.

Florida, Sept. 13.—J. Davy has gone to Portland to spend the winter with his daughter. Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. Walker passed over to the great majority. The funeral on Saturday was largely attended. S. Martin's youngest child is seriously ill. Mrs. J. Madden, after spending a couple of weeks with her parents, has returned to Watertown. We are pleased to see J. Lee in the butcher business again. Honey is a scarce article this season.

McVEITY WILL RUN.

The Conservatives of Ottawa Will Nominate Him.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The executive of the conservative association has decided to call a convention for the 12th of October, but if the writs for the dominion general election are issued before then the convention will be called immediately. It is also understood that Taylor McVeity announces that he intended to run, convention or no convention. He will be asked to permit his name to go before the convention.

"Prince Advani," charged with obtaining goods from J. Leslie, jeweler, under false pretences, was in the police court to-day. The case was adjourned until to-morrow.
