YOUNG PEOPLE WEDDED.

DR. GOODWILL MARRIES MISS FLORENCE REID.

Ceremony Performed Last Night—The Attendants and the Dresses—The Groom a Queen's Graduate—The Bride a Church Worker.

There is an unfathomable charm about a wedding. More particularly is the mystic ceremony rendered fascinating if the participants are well-known and popular. This fact was emphasized last evening when two young and trusting hearts were united in Hymen's tender bonds. Rev. Alexander Laird, pastor of Cooke's Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. The charming bride was Miss Florence, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reid, Union street west, and the fortunate groom, Victor Lyall Goodwill, M.D.C.M., son of Rev. John Goodwill, Presbyterian minister, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The ceremony was of a semi-private nature, only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends being present. The parlors of the home of the bride's parents were richly decorated for the occasion. A large floral bell was suspended from the middle of the ceiling, and festoons and garlands of flowers reached from this to the four corners of the main room, while smaller ropes of flowers were drooped around at different convenient points, making a beautiful effect.

John Reyner presided at the organ, and as the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march reverberated through the house, the bride entered the room, being escorted by her father, and attended by her younger sister. The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with chiffon and ornaments of bridal roses; the customary bridal veil adorned her head and hung in graceful folds. The bridesmaid was gowned in white silk organdie, with trimmings of insertion and ribbon and lace. The groom was attended by J. C. Hargraves, Springhill, N.S.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome solitare diamond, and to the bridesmaid a gold ring with opal settings. The groomsman's gift to the bride was a chaste gold link bracelet. The bride was recipient of a vast array of beautiful gifts from her many friends, testifying to her popularity among them. She was an energetic worker in Cooke's Presbyterian church, and her loss to the congregation will be keenly felt.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock sharp, and was followed by a wedding dinner, in the course of which the health of Dr. and Mrs. Goodwill was toasted, the groom responding in suitable terms. A reception followed at nine o'clock, which a great many took advantage of to extend congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. Goodwill, and wish them a happy journey on life's highway.

The groom is a graduate of the medical department of Queen's university, of the class of '99. He is at present superintendent of the Falconwood hospital, P.E.I. He also holds a captaincy in the 82nd regiment, and is one of the coming notables in the medical profession in Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. Goodwill left on the midnight train for Montreal, en route for Charlottetown, where they will make their home. They are followed by the well wishes of a host of friends.

A brother of Dr. Goodwill was to have acted as groomsman, but he was unable to reach the city in time, getting as far as Montreal, where poor train connections deprived him of the pleasure for which he had travelled so far.

Last Performance Called For.

Toronto Telegram.

Where, oh, where is dear Old Guy Curtis? Is he not to play with the champions this year, or will he don the striped uniform of Queen's college and chase the leather for principal Grant's young stalwarts? Will he renew his youth and give a "positively last farewell appearance?" It is indeed to be hoped so, for what will the fur gazelle in the stand do without her Guy, whom year after year and season upon season she has followed, in order that she may speak words of encouragement to him as he flits gaily down the field with the pigskin tucked securely under his arm? Truly, Guy is the people's pet in Kingston—and why not? Has he not spent most of his lifetime in the limestone city, chasing both pigskin and puck, to the general delight of all who knew him? Even with old, grey haired men, with Rip Van Winkle whiskers, he is a favorite, and why not, for did they not grow up together? Yes, Guy should give the public one more chance, at least, to see him, and here's wishing he winds up his sporting career on a championship team.

Took Out A Policy In Time.

On Saturday the barn of William Dillon, South Lake, was struck by lightning and damaged. Prior to this month, being a Homerite, he would not insure. Then a neighbor's barn was struck and on Sept. 4th he ogtered a policy. But Providence seems to have been with rather than against acts of precaution, for thirteen days later he suffered from the elements, and now agent Godwin pays the damages.

Has Prepared Plans.

Architect Storey has prepared plans for an extension to S. Grimshaw's residence, Division street. The addition will be 16x20 feet, for use as a bathroom, lavatory, etc. Tenders for the plumbing work are being called for. Mr. Grimshaw and brother, carpenter and mason respectively, will do the other work required.

Decided Not To Accept.

All Saints' is still without a rector. Rev. Prof. Worrell, to whom the first offer of the rectorship was made, has decided not to accept. Rev. Mr. Beech may be appointed. It is possible, however, that no permanent appointment will be made just yet.

Next Sunday evening commences the Jewish New Year, which will extend over the following Monday and Tuesday. Services in connection with the festival will be conducted here.

PRESBYTERIAL UNION.

Convention Now in Session in St. Andrew's Hall.

The second convention of the Kingston presbyterial union opened in St. Andrew's church hall this morning at ten o'clock. The president, Rev. Dr. McTavish, Deseronto, addressed the meeting as follows:

"Our convention to-day ought to be pleasant and profitable. It should be pleasant because this union is a child of the presbytery, and the most cordial and sympathetic relations should exist between parent and child. It should be profitable too, because in addition to the members of presbytery we have here the foremost workers in Sabbath schools and young people's societies. With such a combination our sessions should be helpful in the highest degree. Our motto is unity and progress; our aim is better equipment; our desire is the moral and spiritual elevation of the young; our prayer is 'Thy kingdom come.' Our sphere of work as a society is the bounds of the presbytery, and our object within that sphere is the support of an itinerant missionary. Though we seek to render whatever assistance we can in home mission work, we have no wish to interfere with work now in progress, but rather do we hope to be helpful in expanding and strengthening that work. Suggestions as to the best method of prosecuting that work will be cordially received and carefully considered."

The treasurer, Miss Jessie Redmond, of Picton, reported a small balance in the treasury. The first subject, "Next Steps," was introduced by Rev. J. A. Claxton, B.A., of Eldorado. He spoke of the great need of work in the northern part of the presbytery, and suggested means whereby the need might be alleviated.

A general discussion followed, in which Messrs. Wilkins, Gracey, MacKay, Moore, Peck, Prof. Jordan, Laird and Binnie took part. Messrs. Binnie, Gracey, Claxton and McTavish were appointed to bring in a motion at the afternoon session regarding the choice of a field in which the missionary might labor.

At this afternoon's session, these papers were read and discussed: "Advantages and Disadvantages of Observing Decision Day," Rev. H. Gracey; "The Ideal of the Young People's Society," Rev. E. W. MacKay; "What the Sabbath School May Learn From the Public School," R. Whyte.

ASSIZE COURT OVER.

Cases Heard Yesterday Afternoon—Grand Jury's Report.

The assize court business was completed on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock. These cases were heard by justice Street:

John Sigsworth vs. the Kingston & Pembroke railway company. Action to have siding at Sigsworth's station removed, and for $1,000 damages for breach of contract and destruction of plaintiff's stable and barn. Plaintiff allowed to amend by adding a claim for $100 paid by him on account of the siding, and judgment in his favor without costs for this $100. Save as to this sum, action dismissed, the plaintiff to pay the full costs of defence.

Township of Hinchibrook vs. David Goodfellow. Action to get management and control of the cemetery at Parham and an injunction against any interference by the defendant with the cemetery. Referred to the local master as to money received by defendant in payment of lots sold in burial ground, also as to any taxes paid by him. Master to report any further circumstances. Judgment and costs reserved.

James A. Madill vs. Christopher J. Graham. Action for the specific performance of a contract conveying land. Action dismissed with costs.

The grand jury reported that they found the jail in a state of thorough cleanliness, and that proper discipline was carried out. It was recommended that an idiot boy, incarcerated in the jail, be removed to a more suitable place. The grand jury's report further stated that from the report of commitments for the past year, the number of officials employed is in excess of the requirements. Mention was made of the excellent care and taste of John Sheppard in beautifying the court house grounds. The orphans' home and the penitentiary were visited, and found in good order.

Fell From The Mast.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 20.—Samuel Blake, a sailor employed on the Rutland transportation company's steamer W. A. Haskell, while engaged in painting the top of the foremast yesterday, suffered from a fainting spell and fell to the deck, a distance of about forty-five feet. He remained unconscious for some time and it was thought that his injuries would prove fatal. His home is in Cape Vincent.

The fire originated from an explosion of gas in the west end. The fire spread rapidly. The firemen responded quickly to the call and soon had five streams of water playing on the building. For some time the works were threatened with destruction, but the firemen worked with a will and confined the fire to the west end. Loss about one thousand dollars. Covered by insurance.

Health Preserved

Is, without doubt, the jewel of great price, and the one least valued. Disregard of symptoms that clearly indicate abnormal action of the liver, stomach or bowels is nothing less than criminal. Health through neglect too often vanishes like a "Will o' the Wisp," and the anxious seeker secures but pain and disappointment for his labor. No aid towards the preservation of health can surpass Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. These pills, being composed of vegetable substances, exert their remedial action without the evil effects too often following the use of pills containing mercury. For all bilious disorders they will even prove a positive specific. Hamilton's Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine.

Sawyer, twenty-four years old, had been through the country with his wife, both making ascensions and parachute jumps. Not long ago he was severely hurt in a parachute accident at Montreal.

Scandals In Congo Free State.
