WORTH ALWAYS TELLS.

The late Mr. Marchand will be hard to replace in the Quebec government. He was a worker, a man who made the best use of his time and opportunities, and so he steadily rose in public life and public situation until he reached the premiership. For the higher responsibilities he had a long and patient apprenticeship. He served first in the Joly government as its provincial secretary, and later commissioner of crown lands. Then he was speaker of the assembly, for two terms. He was the choice of the liberals to lead them when the Mercier government fell and its leader passed from view. How he succeeded in winning his way towards success and the front need not be recited now. The people turned towards him as one who had the promise of serving them well, and he was the man who kept his word. He proved in politics, as he had proved in law and journalism, not a brilliant man with occasional flashes that were dazzling, but a painstaking, careful, methodical individual, who put his conscience into his work. No one in public life has done more to earn the gratitude of the people, and Mr. Marchand will be most kindly remembered. His successor will probably be Hon. E. J. Robidoux, who has been an intimate friend of the dead premier, and possesses his love of work, of order, and efficiency.

AVOIDING MORAL WOUNDS.

The Pearson case, in Hamilton, has set the people athinking. The youth who took his lover's life, and meant to take his own and had not the nerve, is discovered to be one of a very bad family. All his brothers and sisters have been before the magistrate for offences. The conclusion is that they are victims of the law of heredity, which governs and controls them and according to which it is natural for them to commit crime.

Heredity does count for something, for a great deal more than some people imagine. The sins of the fathers are visited upon the children to the third and fourth generation. It is immaterial how these sins were committed. Granted that they occurred under circumstances that admit of mitigation, that in ignorance the laws of God and nature were violated, the fact remains that the taint or disposition to offend is there, and that it is likely to manifest itself at any time. What is to be done? What is the course usually pursued with one who has inherited a certain tendency towards disease? He is educated to beware of indiscretions, and by care and prudence and right conduct the tendency is live down or overcome it. The same course should be pursued with one who has inherited a weakness towards crime. His life should be corrected by his environment, and it is everything to the average youth.

Boys and girls are not born moral and mental degenerates. A great many become such by wasted lives, by lives that have been placed upon the altar for sacrifice by their parents. These parents have become responsible for the crimes of their children. They have been living in utter abandonment of all respect for the properties themselves, and their follies have been reproduced in other children. This law of reaction is in operation all the while, and is demonstrating its power in the conduct of the rising generation.

A contemporary, the London News, intimates that the law of heredity cannot be known by all so that its effects may be avoided. Heredity, in the Whig's opinion, does not play so large a part as the law of environment. The education of children is in the hands of the parents, and that education can be made so complete that boys and girls may grow to the stature of men and women without developing moral weaknesses, and without inviting the wounds that will never heal.

Half the people or more are dissatisfied with their condition.

GOOD THING FOR ALL

In the campaign literature of the conservative party the Crow's Nest Pass railway is referred to as something for which the government deserves to be censured. It is intimated that the terms of construction were not the best. Strange to say they were not opposed by Sir Charles Tupper and his friends. The contract with the Canadian Pacific railway company went through with their concurrences. That it protected the public interests at every point has been made decidedly clear.

The C.P.R., better than any other corporation, could afford to build the link and make it theirs. The bonus was $3,630,000, but for that more than the line had to be built. The government demanded certain concessions in freight rates and got them, and they represented $750,000 to the people of the North-West in the transactions of last year alone. The government got, however, the right to regulate the tolls on the Crow's Nest Pass division, and to give running business over it to competing companies. In addition the block of 50,000 acres of coal lands, contiguous to the line, was returned to the government by the C.P.R., these lands being one-fifth of the possessions acquired by the company in its purchase of the charter and perquisites of the British Columbia Southern railway.

That the railway has been of vast advantage to the country, and greatly contributory to its development, has been confessed by the Montreal Star, ultra-tory, in these terms:

"Never before in the history of the Canadian north-west did a wave of prosperity, at once so sudden and so general sweep over any portion as completely, as did that ushered in by the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass railway, a branch of the Canadian Pacific railway.

"Everywhere along its line new towns have sprung up, as mushrooms in a warm shower. The land office and the newspaper led the van, and the settlement and up-building of the entire district has been nothing short of phenomenal. Nor are the towns so built carelessly knocked together, to be abandoned the moment the novelty wears away.

"The line runs in its entire length through a country of vast and varied resources, and while the wildcat operator may be here to-day and away to-morrow the fact remains that the natural wealth of the country is such as to demand and abundantly repay years of development, so that all signs point to permanent and steady growth."

A venture which went through the commons by general consent, and which, it appears, has done so much for the district which it traverses, cannot be repudiated now for political effect. The only one who is likely to suffer by it is Mr. Sifton. He dictated the terms which the C.P.R. had to accept, and he did it so well as to have invited its hostility.

SATURDAY THOUGHTS.

The London Advertiser credits our contemporary, the News, with the sentiments of the Whig on the labour question. And it may not be anxious to call its leaders down for their attempt to humbug the workingmen.

The Mail is mistaken. Le Journal has not yet repudiated Pamphlet No. 6. It was willing to renounce a couple of sentences in the pamphlet—only that, and nothing more. The pamphlet, as a political fagot, is yet in circulation.

The Syracuse Post-Standard has not stated one result of the Canadian preferential tariff. It has made the Americans pay the larger part of the customs taxes, and that is something which is decidedly in favour of the Canadian people.

A commercial traveller, who has been in Brandon and talked with the people, writes to the Globe that Mr. Sifton enjoys the confidence and respect of the entire community. Hugh John's contract of defeating him is somewhat heavy.

The Montreal Star has it that Sir Wilfrid Laurier went to England in 1897 "pledged to obtain preferential treatment for Canada on trade matters." The Whig thought Sir Wilfrid represented Canada in the Queen's jubilee upon that occasion. Is not that the fact?

Casey's at the bat. Rumour says Mr. Brymner will be retired from the office of archivist and the member for West Elgin will get his place. The Mail declares that "apart from his politics, Mr. Casey is a good fellow, and deserves well of his party." Which is considerable of a recommendation.

Now that the city is in want of a city engineer the council should get the best. He should not be an office man, good in consultation, but an overseer of work. In the past the works department has been too dependent upon its foremen, whereas the engineer should be around and about and see everything that is going on.

Improvements have been made to St. Alban's church, Odessa, through the energies of Messrs. John Timmerman and George Ferguson.

Rev. George Turk, of Carlton street Methodist church, Toronto, has received a call from the quarterly board of Wesley church, Hamilton.

The thirty-fifth convention of the Sabbath school association of Ontario, will be held in Brockville, from Oct. 23rd to 25th. Principal Grant is one of the speakers.

October 31st, 1900, will witness the union of the United Presbyterian and the Free church of Scotland, the new body to be known as the United Free Church of Scotland.

It is consoling to think that there are a few people in Kingston who live up to the old testament law of giving one-tenth to the Lord. And these people are the essence of goodness.

St. John's church, Anglican, Bath, erected 1792, is being renovated. On Sunday, Sept. 16th, an adult convert from the Roman Catholic church was received and twins were baptized.

The pope is greatly alarmed at the rapid spread of Protestantism in Italy, and especially in Rome, right under his eyes. He has written a letter to the clergy, in which he attacks all Protestants.

October 7th will be the fifth anniversary of the induction of Rev. W. W. Peck, M.A., to the charge of the Napanee Presbyterian church. Principal Grant will attend and preach on that day.

Napanee Beaver: Rev. F. D. Woodcock, popular rector of the parish of Camden, has been offered the parish of All Saints, Kingston, and has it under consideration. His parishioners are unanimously opposed to his removal.

It is an interesting fact that a book has been published in England, entitled "The Christian Armoury," which contains three hundred answers to infidel objections, by W. R. Bradlaugh, the brother of the celebrated English infidel.

The Montreal conference committees meet in the Methodist church, Smith's Falls, as follows: Missionary day, Oct. 16th; conference programme, Oct. 16th; conference special, Oct. 16th; commission on circuit boundaries, Oct 17th.

The Hamilton Herald tells a yarn that Rev. W. F. Wilson gives up $2,000 in Hamilton for $1,000 in Toronto—thus hearing the voice of God calling him to a poorer charge. Maybe Mr. Move On considers it worth a $1,000 a year, in addition to his salary, to live in Toronto.

Despite the special appeals to the liberality of the membership of the Methodist church in Canada, the contributions to the mission fund show an increase of $5,000—which with an increase of $5,000 in the legacies, will make a gain in the receipts of $10,000. The aggregate contributions from the Epworth league branches show an increase, the total from that source being $18,269.

The minds of two hundred and fifty of the brightest, keenest, and most thorough bible students of the country are daily focused upon the international Sunday school lessons for the purpose of writing helps for the million and a half Sunday school teachers of America. Over twenty-five millions of people are also focusing their attention weekly upon the lessons provided by the international lesson committee.

Rev. Dr. Potts has received word that the Japan conference is making good progress with a movement to raise a substantial amount in connection with the Canadian Methodist twentieth century thanksgiving fund. The Japanese effort will be continued until Dec. 31st. Whatever the sum raised may amount to, one-half is to be used for Japanese conference purposes here, and the other half forwarded to Dr. Potts to be divided in accordance with the plan of the general conference.

An Indian paper devoted to social reforms recently contained the following item: "On Sunday last Mr. Balkrishna Narayana Urphabandopant Bhajekat, B.A., LL.B., rescued Srimati Kasibai Lele from the perpetual widowhood to which Hindu society has consigned her, at Poona. We wish the couple a long and happy life." This item records progress. Child-widowhood and child-widowhood still continue to curse India, but here and there are found individuals brave enough to break away from this tyrannous custom. In India a child-widow doomed to life-long widowhood, endures much incidental contumely and hardship.

A French paper says: "The Protestants advance further and further in the conquest of Catholic France; a day will of necessity come when they will drive the cure from his church, the bishop from his cathedral and every Catholic from public office. The growth of Protestantism is shown in part in the increase in the number of pastors in reformed churches within a hundred years from 120 to 1806 to 1,200 in 1900. The influence of Protestants, also, is out of all proportion to their number. They were prominent in the movement in favor of justice to Dreyfus; they are the staunchest friends of the republic now while it has so many foes in France. All reforms, temperance, the agitation for pure art and literature, the movement for better observance of the Sabbath, and others, are greatly aided by Protestants, and several are popularly regarded as Protestant affairs."

Zion Church New S. S. Hall.

Ten years ago a small mission hall was opened on Division street, the present pastor, Rev. J. D. Boyd, then a student in theology, in charge. Eight months afterwards the present church, 40x60 feet, was dedicated, with accommodation for about 300 people, and costing $3,000. The church has been for four years clear of debt, and has at present eighty families, 140 members, and a Sunday school of about 200. Feeling the need of more seating, and room it was decided eighteen months ago, to build a twenty-five foot extension to the back, the full width of the church, with a concreted basement for a boys' club room. The new part will cost about $1,000, all of which has been paid by voluntary envelope giving, without subscription list; except $350, the most of which is expected next Sabbath, dedication day. A furnace is also being placed in the church at a cost of $250. When all these improvements are completed Zion church will be on a capital footing for good, efficient work.

Sunday Services.

HEARING RESTORED

After Physicians in Toronto and Winnipeg Failed.

Japanese Catarrh Cure Cured

Neglected catarrh is the cause of deafness in nine out of every ten cases. When you hear a little buzzing, roaring sound occasionally in your ears you can be sure partial deafness will follow sooner or later, unless Japanese Catarrh Cure is used.

D. N. Spencer, 11 Coolmine avenue, Toronto, writes: "I have been troubled with catarrh and deafness for a number of years, finally I could not converse with any person at a distance. I spent much money on advertised remedies, and doctored with specialists in Toronto and Winnipeg (while there three years ago), but my hearing became no better. About a year ago I procured a sample of Japanese Catarrh Cure. I afterwards followed up this treatment as directed, and shortly I found my hearing completely returned and my catarrh does not trouble me now in the least. I can conscientiously recommend it to any person troubled with catarrh or catarrhal deafness."

Japanese Catarrh Cure is a volatile, healing pomade, pleasant to use, and permanently cures catarrh wherever located. Sold by all druggists, or mailed, price, 50 cents, by The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., limited, 121 Church street, Toronto. Sold by Jas. B. McLeod, Kingston.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Grocers' By-Law Should Pass.

Kingston, Sept. 28.—(To the Editor): I am surprised that a few of our aldermen feel inclined to oppose the early closing by-law, which was laid before the honorable body by sixty-two influential grocers; out of sixty-seven called on to sign the petition five refused. The balance of the hundred who were called on were out and the committee appointed to wait on them felt that they had sufficient number and did not make the second call. If they had ninety would have been secured, as all are anxious and willing to close at a regular hour. They felt that twelve hours each day and seventeen hours Saturday are good service to the public and I am sure the public is in sympathy with the movement. As it is we have six Saturdays each week, which is slavery itself.

I might say that the five who refused to sign were willing and anxious to sign if Friday and Saturday were exempt. Five hundred employees and sixty-two influential grocers should be recognized by any intelligent body, in a demand for a law recognized by parliament and passed by councils in other places of importance, and upheld by the courts in every case where opposition was given by quack merchants. But a few aldermen in our council who run around and implore the people to put them in are like Paddy when he told a friend he was going to a political meeting. The friend said, "Paddy, what do you intend doing there? You can't make a speech." Paddy said, "I know, friend, but I can get up and make an objection."

We growers who have handed in the petition want this thing to be unanimous, and those who object should have attended our meetings and not come out at the last moment. It was not hurried on the council and now the council has laid the matter over for a week or so, to give them a chance to show their side of the case. Just as much business will be done within the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. as is done now and all will be pleased when they have tried it. It is just like getting a tooth pulled: it hurts but look at the happiness that follows.—T.

Cushendall Matters.

Cushendall, Sept. 29.—Two telephone poles at Cunningham's corners were struck by lightning in the recent storm and were badly broken. Local farmers are nearly through threshing. Mrs. W. H. Franklin visited city friends on Saturday and Sunday. Rev. J. Young conducted service in St. James' church on Sunday, 23rd inst. W. Sliter, Gananoque, is visiting at Mrs. George Ward's. Alexander Martin, jr., and Mrs. James Martin are visiting friends at Elgin. W. H. Franklin attended a meeting of the Frontenac license commissioners held at Kingston on Thursday. W. Wilson, Woodburn, visited local friends on Sunday. Miss Taylor, Kingston, is the guest of Mrs. William Hyland. A. Lunan, who recently underwent two operations for dropsy, is slightly better.

Do not despair of curing your sick headache when you can so easily obtain Carter's Little Liver Pills. They will effect a prompt and permanent cure. Their action is mild and natural.
