Painters' Kidneys.

The worst thing a painter has to contend with is the turpentine.

The lead, of course, is bad too.

But the turpentine cuts the kidneys, inflames and weakens them, makes the painter's life a dangerous and troublesome one. When a painter's backaches, its time for him to begin treating the kidneys.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS will fix them up—take out the inflammation and congestion, give ease to the aching back.

Mr. J. Evanson, the well-known painter and decorator, 50 Oxford St., Toronto, Ont., said: About eight weeks ago I was taken with an excruciating pain in my back over the kidneys. It was so bad that my wife had to apply hot cloths till the doctor came and gave me morphine.

He said the trouble was due to a stone passing from the kidney to the bladder.

My water was loaded with a brick dust deposit and scalded on passing.

While in this condition I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and started taking them.

It was not long before I got relief from pain and have been improving in health ever since. My urine is now clear and does not smart me, and I feel better than in years.

NEWS FROM OUR NEIGHBORS

WHAT OUR CORRESPONDENTS HAVE TO TELL US.

The Tidings From Various Points In Eastern Ontario—What People Are Doing and What They Are Saying.

Bolingbroke Items.

Bolingbroke, Oct. 16.—Farmers are through digging their potatoes and report a good crop. Husking bees and raffles are all the rage. J. L. McEwen has sold his farm and intends moving to Westport. D. Hartman is busily engaged fishing. Miss Georgina Norris has returned home after spending several weeks at Bathurst. Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Watson visited friends at Althorpe. Mrs. Fluker has returned to her home in Ottawa much improved in health. Mr. and Mrs. A. Dowson visited friends at Maberly.

Bath Breezes.

Bath, Oct. 16.—Over thirty people went to Rochester on the steamer North King's excursion on Sunday. The vessel Echo, Toronto, called here this week with a load of lumber and shingles for Overton Ball. Dr. H. S. Northmore and wife returned from their wedding trip on Sunday morning on steamer North King. Miss Hadland, staying with her aunt, Miss Ross, was taken to the Kingston hospital on Sunday, but died the same evening. Joseph F. Johnston, Belleville, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Mary Johnston.

Scarlet Fever Prevalent.

Fredericksburgh, Oct. 17.—A large amount of hay and grain is still being handled at this point for shipment. Hay is now in demand at $8 per ton. The order for the removal of James Hunter, C.P.R. section foreman to Collins Bay, has been cancelled. He is now on the sick list. Mrs. J. B. Hanna is ill of rheumatism. Charles R. Vanslyck has sold his farm of seventy-five acres to Frederick A. Perry for $3,500. Allan M. Fraser, Little Creek, sold his farm of eighty-three acres to John Garrison for $3,200. Municipal council met at the town hall Monday. School has been closed temporarily on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever. Union factory has changed hands and will be opened next year by George Sheppard, Forest Mills. Mrs. George Clapper is improving nicely from the effects of her recent accident. C. F. Bartlett still continues in delicate health.

Maberly Tinklings.

Maberly, Oct. 17.—Potato digging and threshing is the order of the day. Samuel Hughes reports having a better yield of grain than for many previous years; he has over 1,000 bushels of grain from 100 bushels sown. Most of the men are employed on the C.P.R. road straightening the track. A very successful meeting of the guild was held at the residence of Mrs. William Mulligan on Friday. The guild has been doing a good work since it was organized, and has nearly one hundred dollars on hand for the erection of a new fence around the church, and for new pews.

The show fair passed off quietly, the best for many years. Dr. Moore is leaving Maberly. It seems that as soon as we get a good doctor here he is wanted by some other place. There is a good opening here for a doctor now and we hope it will not be vacant long. Mrs. William Hughes is convalescent. Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow have returned from Redford. John Duffy and wife from Wabigoon are visiting here. Mrs. William Ritchie, Sherbrooke, is visiting at J. Munroe's. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Claxnagh are at William Stinson's. Rev. Mr. Radcliffe has been asked to make one of four clergymen to represent the diocese of Ottawa at the forthcoming consecration of archdeacon Mills at Kingston cathedral on Nov. 1st.

Made A Presentation.

Wilton, Oct. 17.—Freemont Milk is suffering with typhoid fever. Maitland Strong returned from the general hospital, Kingston, last week. Mrs. Day and Miss B. Stewart, Harrowsmith, called at James Thompson's last Monday. Samuel Davy, Palermo, Ont., is visiting relatives in this place. Mr. and Mrs. Samuelly and children returned to their home at Massey, Ont., last Monday, after spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Samuelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Forsyth. Prof. Beal, Brockville, has been engaged for a second term by his singing class here. The pupils realize that he is a splendid teacher and hope to profit under his tuition. Mr. Beal sang a solo very acceptably in the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening. District quarterly services were held in the Free Methodist church last Sunday. They had a very large turnout, members from every part of the district being in attendance. The pupils of the public school presented their teacher, H. Glover, with an address and handsome present, a collar and gift case, last Friday, being his last day, as he has resigned his duties to attend Queen's college, Kingston. Mr. Glover has taught the school nearly three years and has been very successful in the advancement of the scholars. J. W. Hogarth, Ailsa Craig, Ont., has been engaged as teacher.

Strathcona Statements.

Strathcona, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Bergman is seriously ill. John Assselstine's little girl is not improved. She had been ill for some time. Mrs. Rose is improving, also Mrs. R. Pybus. The coal at cement works has been on fire from combustion. Mink's bridge, on the Newburgh Road, is still down; a great deal of the driving is on the second concession road. The tax collector has been through here, leaving terror and dismay in his wake, the taxes in this school section being very high this year. The Hoenerites are holding nightly meetings in Thompson's schoolhouse. Sunday night many could not gain admittance. Thanksgiving service was held in St. Jude's church. Rural dean Bogart, Belleville, assisted by the rector, conducted the service. The church was beautifully decorated with fruit, grain and vegetables. Visitors: Mr. Thompson, Kingston, and Mrs. Weir, Tweed, at H. Davey's; Mr. Bowen at B. Rose's. Miss Norris at C. McCall's; Miss Cameron at R. Cooper's; Miss Reid at G. Dunlap's. Miss Lott was the guest of Miss Jackson on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Maston paid a flying visit to Lonsdale Sunday. Mrs. Fonce, is visiting Mrs. J. Pybus's. Farmers are rushing the ploughing. Jacob Roubough, Morven, spent Monday and Tuesday at R. Lott's. John Granger is digging the cellar for his house.

YARKER YIELDINGS.

A Strong Liberal in the Field—Off Deer Hunting.

Yarker, Oct. 16.—Our concrete piers will be completed by Thursday, then we want the council to hustle on the bridge, as crossing the river keeps many away from here. S. Babcock, barber, leaves here for Melita, Man. Frank Irish goes with him. The electric light plant of the Benjamin manufacturing company and A. A. Connolly will be completed this week. The lights are limited so that all cannot get them.

Nominations for Adlington will be held in Enterprise this time, and for the first time, we will be able to vote in Yarker instead of having to go to Colebrook. J. R. Scott will place a new wheel in Woodmackett saw mill. Fenwick Connolly is visiting friends in Michigan. Herman Connolly is home for a week. Those who will comprise the deer hunting party from Yarker are: H. Beatty, M. Warner, James Warner, John Warner, Ira Davidson, John Freeman, Stanley Freeman and John Larkins. They have next week.

The elections will soon come off; there are two candidates in the field, J. W. Bell and Alfred Martin, both farmers. John W. Bell is well known. Alfred Martin is a new man, and well known in this part of the riding as a smart, intelligent young man, one who is well up in municipal affairs and who has made a study of it, making him well qualified to fill the position he now holds in the county council. He is a fearless exponent of his views and having plenty of grit to perform any duty assigned to him. His municipal record has been good, and all young men should stand by "Alf" and help to elect him on Nov. 7th.

Hon. William Patterson will in all probability address the electors at Sydenham. C. Garrison is drilling a well for the wheel factory. Peter Marlow returned from his trip to Auburn, N.Y. He attended the wedding of his brother, Michael White. Dave Goudy's team of colts ran away with the water tank filled with water for the engine. They threw the driver off and ran down the hill at R. Jackson's, crashing into a peddler's waggon. The peddler and horse escaped, but the waggon was damaged and one colt hurt.

The congregation of St. Anthony's are making preparation to receive their bishop about Nov. 5th. The Methodist church shed is being shingled. This shed is free to be used by any person at any time.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

What an Amherst Island Woman Saw—Missionary Services.

Stella, Oct. 17.—On Wednesday evening last week the Methodist church held their annual missionary meeting. A large audience was present and excellent addresses were delivered by the deputation. On Thursday evening the Presbyterian church also had a missionary meeting—Rev. Mr. Macgillivray, T. Fraser and Rev. Mr. Orser were the speakers. Our annual fair last week was one of the finest we ever had. A large crowd was present and the exhibits in every class were large and excellent, especially the ladies' work. The Napanee, Kingston, Bath and Odessa people supplied themselves with some of the good bread, wine and butter made by our island ladies. They seem to be a hungry crowd when they are here. The Presbyterian ladies furnished dinners in the Victoria hall and were well patronized. Our fair is improving every year.

Mrs. Dugal and Mrs. M. Dugal are visiting at Mrs. Moutray's. Miss Pique has returned to Kingston after visiting Mrs. J. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Neilson are on a visit to Jersey. Mr. Lockhart, Sydenham, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Chown. Mrs. Belshaw is here, her sister, Mrs. McVane, is still dangerously ill. A fine young daughter has arrived at T. J. Pollie's. J. McVane has purchased a large orchard in Hay Bay; he has about sixteen pickers at work now. Crops are excellent on the island this season. The cheese factory is making a good number of cheese. Mrs. Cumberland, away some time, is expected home soon.

Was A Native Of Camden.

Jacob Smith, one of the men so foully murdered recently near Boissevain, Man., was a native of the township of Camden, born near Croyden, where his father, Matthias Smith, is still living, also two brothers and sisters. He has also a large family connection in the way of cousins, etc., at Napanee and Fredericksburgh. He had been a resident of Manitoba for eighteen years and in selling out his stock, etc., is thought to have been making preparations to visit his father, who is well advanced in years and his other Ontario friends as well. His brother, John R. Smith, Croyden, will go west as soon as he can arrange to leave conveniently.

AMONG CANADIAN BOYS.

pride that I was a Canadian and belonged to them.

"Elliott Dunlop was left in Bloemfontein with a sore heel, and Dan Kby gave out at Wolverhoek, after marching all the way with the regiment and engaging in all their battles. Consequently these men were not with the others. This morning I was going into the office about 7.30 and hearing my name called, looked around and there was Elliott Dunlop frying some meat, and Eby under the tap sousing his head. I was delighted to see them.

"About eighty Canadians came up with the Gordons, who have gone on. All the Canadians are still here, so Dan and Elliott have a chance to see the town. McCormack, Kingston, is with them too. Kekewich, the defender of Kimberley, was in the office to telephone. He could not get the one he wanted so he wrote a message for me to send when I could. I am keeping the message because his autograph is on it. He came in later and an irrepressible little New Zealander, who is here in the telegraph office, said to him: 'Are you the man that defended Kimberley?' 'I am' was the reply. 'Well,' said Brown, 'I was one of those that kept and relieved you.' 'Oh, were you?' 'Then I am much obliged to you,' said the colonel, and went out laughing.

"I don't think I told you that I could have taken a commission in the imperial army. It came about this way. I heard some time ago that it was in army orders that a number of commissions were to be given to the rank and file of the colonials. The conditions of application were that they must be unmarried, between twenty and thirty years of age, good physique and medically fit. I sent in an application to the medical secretary. A few days later Maj. Gordon, R.S.O., told me he had received a letter from the military governor saying there was a commission for me, that it was a lieutenancy in an English corps with the permanent rank of lieutenant in the English army after the war. I explained to Maj. Gordon that I thought it was a commission in the colonial forces. During the war, that I had no intention of following soldiering, so thought I had better stay where I am.

"Well, he said, it is there for you if you want it. If not I will explain to the military secretary and it will be all right. That is the last I have heard of it.

"I hope Sergt. Bailey is fully recovered from his attack of fever.

August 21st.—The eighty Canadian infantrymen who encamped here went out the night before last to join their regiment at East Fabricker. The day before yesterday I rode out to Langman's hospital, and saw Metcalfe and McKay. McKay mentioned casually that he had seen Edgar Birch in town the day before. I at once jumped on my horse and came into No. 1 Model school hospital, but he was not there. Then I went to No. 2, and they told me he had just gone to the train to proceed to Cape Town. When I arrived at the station the train had just gone. Edgar had sent into the station for me, but of course I was not there, so I missed seeing him, for which I was very sorry.

"I have seen all of the Canadian corps except 'C' battery, and we cannot find out anything about them. They have been with Baden-Powell, but he went out yesterday with some of his forces to Middelburg. All the talk here now is about who will stay in the country. Those who want to stay are to sign for twelve months. A married man can have his wife and family brought out or an unmarried man can have a girl brought provided he gives a guarantee to marry her upon her arrival. Employees of the railway can get their provisions from the company at lowest London rates. I have a requisition list before me now. Milk is 9d. a tin. After train service is better it will be 6d. Butter is 2s. 1d. a lb. Sugar is 6d. a lb., so living will be cheap, compared to what it will cost civilian town people. The railway company has always done this for its employees.

Sept. 6th.—I have been pretty busy lately. Some changes have been made in the railway office here. Mr. Albman station master, resigned, and Mr. Beaven has come from Johannesburg to take his place. I like him very much. He is very methodical and knows his business right through, from shunting to traffic managing. He has taken the ex his own clerk. I have my own desk in the office just behind that of the assistant traffic manager. We have had the electric lights changed and everything is all right.

"This week's mail was good to me, as I got four letters. Well, this is the first party of September, just the nice part of the year at home. The days here are beginning to get warm. About noon it is really hot. Trees are bursting into blossom, grass is green and the hedges are beginning to look fine.

"One of the men in the office of the Netherland railway took a couple of us down the other evening to the house where he lives. It is an elegant residence, containing the finest of furniture, paintings, etc. They have one of the finest pianos I ever played. We had a delightful time and we were invited to come down whenever we wished. Mr. Beaven has written for an increase of pay for stationmaster's clerk Sparks, from 1s. per day to 1s. 4d.

"It was a great joke—commandant Oliver and four sons surrendering a week ago to a corporal and four men. These Australians got in a ditch commanding the spot where Oliver was. They, of course, thought that a large force was there and when the corporal signed for him to surrender he did so. I'll bet he is kicking himself yet for surrendering to a corporal.

"About thirty of the C.M.R's. and Strathcona's Horse are on the railway cribbing, waiting for a train going east. They came from a rest camp yesterday, but the line was blown up last night, so they are waiting until repairs are made.

"We want to send a train out at 4:30 a.m. if the line is not blown up again during the night. I dreamed last night that I had arrived home. The joy of the greeting lingers with me still. But, alas, I awoke to find it was only a dream!"

A Reward For Kruger.

In his last letter home Jack Sparks enclosed the following notice of reward: "Two guineas reward will be paid by any of our gentlemen in khaki to any person giving information that will lead to the apprehension of ex-president Kruger, who on or about May 21st, 1900, deserted his loving wife and family and absconded with all the available money in the Transvaal and left his wife and family on the parish relief of Lord Roberts and his army.

Was last seen making another foolish speech from a cattle truck on his way to Machadodorp.

Description—Height, about five feet ten inches; age, about seventy-five (or in his second childhood.) Would be recognized by his lunacy actions. Iron gray, brightroom whiskers like a porcupine. Iron gray hair, turning white since the relief of Ladysmith. Was last seen wearing a very shabby frock coat suit, and very old silk hat (one of the first that was made and found after the flood), and was always smoking a big cadgair's pipe.

"No underclothing, union jack socks and brown bakas. The above reward will be paid by any right-minded Englishman. By order, etc. "God Save the Queen."

The Oath They Had To Take.

Following is a copy of the oath to which British prisoners had to swear before being released on parole:

"I, the undersigned, a private (or officer) in the forces of her majesty the queen of Great Britain and Ireland, in South Africa, now a prisoner of war in the power of the forces of the Orange Free State, promise faithfully and give my word of honor that I will not give any information to any employee, officer or member of the forces of her majesty the queen of Great Britain and Ireland, in connection with any military or other work in the Free State or South African republic, and, further, I promise during the present war, not to take up arms again against the burgher forces of the Free State and South African republic, and that I will not assist the troops of her majesty the queen of Great Britain and Ireland in any way.

"Further, I state that I know the consequences if I should break my word. Sworn before me at Bethlehem this day ——, 1900."

The document must then be signed by the landdrost, or magistrate.

Lord Roberts' Proclamation.

In a copy of the Government Gazette, published at Pretoria on Sept. 5th, and which Jack Sparks sent to his parents here, appears the following proclamation of the annexation of the South African republic:

"Whereas certain territory in South Africa, hitherto known as the South African republic, have been conquered by her majesty's forces, and it has seemed expedient to her majesty that the said territories should be annexed to, and should henceforth form part of her majesty dominions, and that I should provisionally and until her majesty's pleasure is more fully known, be appointed administrator of the said territories, with power to take all such measures, and to make and enforce such laws as I may deem necessary for the peace, order and good government of the said territories;

"Now, therefore, I, Frederick Sleigh, baron Roberts of Kandahar and Waterford, K.P., G.C.B., G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E., V.C., field marshal, commanding-in-chief of her majesty's forces in South Africa, by her majesty's command, and in virtue of the power and authority conferred on me in that behalf by her majesty's royal commission, dated July 4th, 1900, in accordance with her majesty's instructions thereby and otherwise signified to me, from and after the publication hereof, do proclaim that the territories known as the South African republic are annexed to and form part of her majesty's dominions, and that provisionally, and until her majesty's pleasure is more fully declared, the said territories will be administered by me with such powers as aforesaid. Her majesty is pleased to direct that the new territories shall henceforth be known as The Transvaal.

God Save the Queen.

Given under my hand and seal, etc.

Roberts, Field Marshal.

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT-CLAD BRIGADE.

The following lines were copied from an English paper and sent home by one of the Kingston boys who is serving in the Transvaal:

The first Canadian contingent, now known as the Light-clad) Brigade, arrived at Cape Town with four hundred too many tunics and four hundred too few trousers.

The bravest paled when he was told
That somebody had blundered.
And the corps' supply of pantaloons
Was minus just four hundred.

Our hearts were brave and yet we grieve,
At prudence so neglected.
They send us to the front, and leave
Our seat quite unprotected.

We marched for many a weary mile,
In costume light and airy
A little in that classic style
Of Grecian statuary.

Of course we met some very hard
Some trying situations,
It took us all our time to guard
Our base of operations.

Our sufferings would be less keen
Were there any chance of getting
A box or two of vaseline
And some mosquito netting.

We have scissors and needles and cotton
and pins,
But nowhere to put the patches;
We have pipes and tobacco and these sort of things,
But no where to strike our matches.

This thing is getting monotonous,
And we long for the sake of variety
To tuck our shirts into divided skirts,
As they do in polite society.

We long to meet the foeman's steel,
To hear the welcome rally,
Come on, ye Royal sans Culottes,
Charge Bordon's corps de ballet.

But when the batteries unmask
O'er head the iron hail screeches,
Then all we ask, give us the task
To storm Pretoria's breeches.

Consecration Fares.

The Bay of Quinte railway will run an excursion to Kingston, on Thursday, Nov. 1st, on the occasion of the consecration of archdeacon Mills as bishop of Ontario. The train will arrive in Kingston at 10 a.m.; procession leaves St. George's hall at 10.30. Should 100 passengers be secured between Tweed and Enterprise, inclusive, the return fare will be $1.00 from Deseronto and Napanee, return fare will be $1.00; from all other stations, market day rates will be charged.

On Saturday evening Kingstonians will have their first opportunity of hearing one of the cleverest debaters of the Dominion house of commons, Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance.

"Souvenir" Superiority

is so apparent that it takes mighty little talk to convince. And is it any wonder that the "Souvenir" (with its Aerated Oven idea) should be made the standard for quality from whatever point one may choose to view it? Merit will get to the top—and "Souvenir" popularity proves it. The best by test and comparison; most economical—most durable—best appointed—most perfect cooker and baker—handsomely fitted—for general good service without a fault.

Will you take time to examine the "Souvenir"? Sold everywhere—and one will last a lifetime.
