MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS MAKE WEAK PEOPLE STRONG

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills act on the three vital, health-controlling forces of the body—the Heart, the Nerves and the Blood.

The Heart—they strengthen and regulate, curing palpitation, throbbing, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, dizziness, faintness, smothering and pain around the heart.

The Nerves—they tone up, and renew the worn out and wasted nerve tissues and electrify the nerve centres, curing nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholia, locomotor-ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, lack of energy, brain fag and loss of vitality.

The Blood—they enrich, causing nourishing life-giving red blood to flow through the arteries, repairing and strengthening all the organs of the body, curing weak, anæmic, pale-faced people who are run down and debilitated.

The reconstructive power of these pills is simply marvellous, and those whose health standard is below par, will find a course of treatment with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills soon recuperate their health and gives them mental and bodily vigor they never knew before.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists.

FOR AND AGAINST HIM

A NEWSPAPER POLL OF THE PRESIDENTAL CONTEST.

Prisoners in Escaping Were Killed or Wounded—They Shot The Keeper Dead—Exciting Time in the Seventh District Court House.

New York, Oct. 29.—The Tribune this morning presents what is called a newspaper poll, forecasting the result of the elections. Telegrams were sent to newspapers in every state in the union, asking for an estimate and answers summed up give McKinley 273 electoral votes. The Journal presents a poll, giving Bryan 179 electoral votes and McKinley, 133. The others are doubtful.

Three prisoners made a desperate attempt to escape this morning from the seventh district court house. Keeper Hugh McGowan, fifty-one years old, was murdered. Frank E. Emerson, twenty-two years old, under $3,000 bail for burglary, one of the escaping prisoners, fell from the second floor window and was killed. George Wilson, fifty-nine years, a prisoner, fell from the second floor and was dangerously hurt and Arthur Flanigan, nineteen years, under $3,000 bail for burglary, escaped. The men sawed the prison bars. The men were on the second story tier of the prison. With strips of bedding they constructed a rope. Flanigan was the first man down. McGowan, the keeper discovered the escape and shouted "half." Wilson and Emerson, colored, jumped at McGowan and shot at him. He dropped dead to the floor and then the two burglars ran again for the window. Wilson was half way down when the improvised rope broke and he fell into the court yard. Emerson jumped or fell from the window and landed beside Wilson. He was instantly killed. Wilson cannot live.

They Remember The Past.

"The voters now have their time for innings; their turn to show the world that political infidelity is condemned by Canadians." So says a tory circular. Just so. The voters remember the Canada Pacific scandal, the Curran bridge scandal, the Rykert timber limit scandal, the McGreevey-Langevin scandal, Seneral's commissions, the Levis graving dock scandal, the Esquimault dock scandal, the Tay canal scandal, the Cochrane scandal, the Harris land job, the Langevin block job, the St. Charles branch swipe, land grabbing in the northwest, the Caraquet railway scandal, the Turcotte whitewash, the dead meat scheme, the blind shares scandal, the Oxford and New Glasgow railway job, the Yamaska dam, the Farnham post office, the looting of furs in the northwest, and are determined that no conservative government will be in existence till "the old gang" is gone the way of all flesh.

The case was accordingly dismissed.

WHAT HE WILL DO.

President Kruger Comes With An Appeal To Europe.

Brussels, Oct. 29.—The Transvaal agency announces that Mr. Kruger will arrive at Marseilles on the Dutch cruiser Gelderland, Nov. 11th or 12th. He will have apartments at the Grand Hotel de Nouilles, where he will receive several French, Dutch and Belgian delegations.

Mr. Kruger will proceed to The Hague without stopping at Paris, and after expressing his thanks to queen Wilhelmina for Dutch hospitality on board the Gelderland he will appeal to the powers to intervene in the South African settlement on the basis of article three of The Hague convention.

Boers Are Strong.

London, Oct. 29.—According to a dispatch from Cape Town to the Daily Mail, a force of Boers attacked and surrounded a party of Cape police with a convoy near Hoopstad, Orange River Colony, Wednesday and a sharp fight ensued.

"The police," says the correspondent, "were compelled to abandon two Maxims. Ultimately reinforced by the yeomanry, they succeeded in getting away with the convoy, but lost seven killed, eleven wounded and fifteen captured. The colonials were outnumbered ten to one, and the engagement lasted two hours.

"The Boers have 15,000 men in the field, nearly half of whom are in Orange River Colony. They are divided into commandoes of some 300 each, but are capable of combination for large operations."

Knox Met Dewet.

London, Oct. 29.—The war office has received the following from lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, Oct. 28th: "Knox successfully engaged Dewet on Oct. 27th. During the Boer retreat Knox caught Dewet in the Reinsburg Drift. The Boers lost considerably and left two guns and three waggons in Knox's hand. Another ammunition waggon was blown up by a shell.

"The British casualties were nil."

Referring to Jacobsdal attack lord Roberts say it was due to the treachery of the inhabitants who admitted the Boers to their houses at night. They opened fire at daybreak; fourteen men were killed and thirteen were wounded, mostly Cape Highlanders. Troops despatched from the Modder River drove off the Boers. The houses of the treacherous inhabitants were destroyed. Commandant Bosman was killed."

Lord Roberts calls attention to the "increasing inclination of the better class of Boers to co-operate with the British to secure peace and they find the guerilla warfare is visited with heavy punishment."

Had a Big Time.

London, Oct. 29.—The City Imperial volunteers who arrived at Southampton from South Africa Saturday on the British transport reached here by train this morning. They marched through the streets packed by thousands and received a tumultous greeting.

The postponement of London's welcome until to-day diminished the number of spectators, but the enthusiasm could scarcely be more general or genuine. Early in the day queen Victoria sent a message to the returning troops, welcoming them and inquiring as to their health. The prince of Wales came to town and viewed the procession from Marlborough house.

In addition to the City Imperial volunteers themselves there were in the procession the bands of twelve volunteer regiments and 24,000 regulars and volunteers lined the route.

Busy Time At Queen's.

At eight o'clock in the evening Rev. Prof. McComb will be installed in the faculty of theology, and at nine o'clock Prof. Watson will be presented with a portrait of himself, by university friends. On Friday there will be a number of meetings.

Another Object In View.

"I have come over," announced the new neighbor, with a catlike tread, "to see and hear your daughter play."

"Ah, you love music, then?" asked the other smilingly.

"Not exactly that," answered the caller, peering curiously in the door at the girl at the piano. "I just had an irresistible desire to see the person who possesses such remarkable powers of endurance."

The Great North Western telegraph company has been advised by their connection the Anglo-American telegraph company, that special arrangements have been made for cablegrams to and from Holland, and that thereafter the service will be equal to that with London, England.

The 28th United States regiment were attacked at Loo, Manila, by 400 insurgents, but drove the enemy off, killing seventy five of them. On Oct. 24th the insurgents drove a detachment of the 33rd infantry back, near Narvican.

THE INVALIDED SOLDIERS

ARRIVED AT QUEBEC ON SUNDAY MORNING.

Steamer Proceeded to Montreal—Men Had Splendid Time in England—Pte. Donoghue Crawled Fifty Yards After Being Wounded.

Quebec, Oct. 29.—The K. C. A. band and detachments of the R. C. A. and R. C. R. I., were to go down to the wharf at seven o'clock yesterday morning and escort the invalided Canadian soldiers to the citadel, but as the steamer was leaving for Montreal almost immediately the latter had to embark about 5 a.m. All the men were healthy looking, and they say they are feeling perfectly well. They had a splendid time in England and have no word of complaint regarding the South African hospital.

Sergt. Ingram, who was in charge of the detachment spent some weeks in the worst hospital in Bloemfontein. Lady Roberts was a constant visitor at the hospital. Pte. H. B. Travers, St. Thomas, is a most interesting young man. Before his departure with the contingent he was practicing law in St. Thomas. He has recovered from his attack of fever but still suffers some inconvenience from a broken blood vessel. This injury he sustained at Bloemfontein, while unloading railroad ties.

Pte. Donoghue, who hails from St. John, has ample reason to remember the South African campaign in general, and Paardeberg in particular, for on the 27th of February last, he received a wound that necessitated the amputation of his right leg. It was during the Canadians' famous night attack which really carried Cronje's surrender, when Donoghue was hit with an explosive bullet that tore his leg to fragments. He actually crawled back to the trenches, over fifty yards without assistance, and it is to this resolute deed that he probably owes his life.

TWO MORE ARRESTED.

Is Suing Mayor Prefontaine For $65,000.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Two more arrests were made to-day in connection with the La Porte cheque case, an affair which has attracted much attention in police circles on account of the prominence of the men who have been arrested on a charge of having a hand in the cashing of the stolen $1,500 cheque. The trial of five prisoners, including Harry Phillips and O'Hara Bayne, was commenced in the police court this morning. Xavier Charest and Adolpe Jobin have been arrested on charge of trying to intimidate witnesses in the case. The former pleaded guilty and the latter not guilty.

C. N. Armstrong has entered an action against mayor Prefontaine to recover the sum of $65,000, which the plaintiff alleges was the sum agreed upon for the sale of part of the Great Eastern railway to the South Shore railway, a transaction which was carried through, but for which it is alleged the mayor made no return to the company, the workmen of the Great Eastern and others being left unpaid.

An Awkward Blaze.

"It was this way," said the clerk. "A young lady came in and stood over by the State street door, waiting for somebody, I suppose. The plumes of her hat curled down behind and the tip of a plume touched the flame in the cigar lighter over the counter. Next moment the hat was aflame, women were rushing for the door and the girl who was on fire was shrieking like an Indian.

"Rudy, the soda clerk, grabbed a seltzer bottle and let go at the hat just as big Martini, the policeman, rushed in and tried to wrench the hat from the girl's head. Rudy did the best he could, but he hadn't calculated the range. He hit Martini in the eye, the girl in the nose and me in the ear. The hat went to the floor and Martini fought the seltzer till the supply ran out.

"Nobody was hurt, but the girl acted as though she was irritated. Really, it was only a trifling accident, and Rudy will be in training next time with a bigger bottle."—Chicago News.

Dr. Furnivall admits the existence of only five unquestionably genuine signatures of the poets—two on his Blackfriars conveyance and mortgage and three on his will. Of these the first two are Shakspere; of the three will signatures, two are Shakspere, while about the third is no agreement, Dr. Furnivall making it Shakspere; Stevens and Malone, as well as Sir Francis Madden, deciphering it as Shakspeare.

A Unique Will.

A unique will has been discovered in the Washington (Pa.) county records. It was probated in 1791 and was the last testament of James Janes. Among other desires he asked to be "bury'd in a white oak coffin, jointed but not planed." He requested that "no whiskey or other spirituous liquor be us'd on the occasion nor any of the usual & Customary grimacings, those ostensabilities external parade of affection hypocrisy and dissimulation of mourning where grief is absent." He further enjoined that no part of his property should "ever come under cognizance Jurisdiction, or disposition of an Orphans' Court, or be in any manner subjected or expos'd to their or their officers rapacious depredations, gleaning & exactions & peculating arts and practices."

A Useful Coin.

A strange parson who had preached in a Staffordshire parish was amazed at the conduct of the warden, who, after the service, proceeded to take from the plate the largest coin thereon and carefully pocket it. "What are you about?" he gasped.

The warden only smiled. "I have led the collection in this church for a dozen years with this half crown," he remarked, "and I am not going to part with it."
