Sentence man, 18, Feb. 21

NEWMARKET — An 18 - year - old Aurora youth, convicted in provincial court here on charges of possession of stolen goods, has been remanded until Feb. 21 for sentencing.

Earl Belyea pleaded guilty last week to possession of two CB radios and tools and equipment stolen from Aurora High School last March.

According to Crown Attorney Ken Murray, some of the stolen goods were located at a Penn Ave. home in Newmarket while other goods were recovered following a search at the accused man's residence in Aurora.

Too tired for breathalyzer, he's fined

NEWMARKET — Dennis St. Jean was just too tired to take a breathalyzer test last November.

At least that's what the Newmarket man told Provincial Court Judge M.A. Charles here last week when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to take a breathalyzer test.

"I feel the accused is putting forward every defence he can to extricate himself," the judge noted while levying a $200 fine for being impaired and an additional $50 for failing to blow.

In rejecting St. Jean's argument, Judge Charles said allowing the Newmarket man's defence would give every drunk person an excuse for not taking a breathalyzer test.

Prior to being fined, St. Jean told the court he was too tired to wait for the test at police headquarters and fell asleep.

St. Jean was charged by York Regional Police after he was spotted driving on the wrong side of Queen St.

The court was told that after St. Jean was taken to police headquarters for the breathalyzer test, he fell asleep and police had to wake him up with applications of cold water to the back of his neck.

St. Jean said he had been willing to take the test but just couldn't stay awake long enough.

He blamed lack of sleep, four beers and medication plus a domestic quarrel for his condition when police arrested him.

"The evidence indicates that he was drunk, I don't believe his story" Judge M. A. Charles said in making a conviction.

Father, son jailed on impaired charges

NEWMARKET — A 52-year-old Toronto man and his 22-year-old son were each handed a jail sentence last week when they pleaded guilty to impaired driving before Provincial Judge M.A. Charles.

Omer Jolie, 52, also pleaded guilty to driving while disqualified.

His 22-year-old son, Ronald J. Jolie, pleaded guilty to an additional charge of assault.

The two Toronto men were arrested last July in King Township after York Regional Police spotted their vehicle travelling on the King Rd. at Highway 27.

According to testimony from Crown Attorney Ken Murray, Omer Jolie was driving erratically and at one point drove across a safety island on the highway.

When the two men realized police had spotted their antics, Ronald Jolie changed places with his father and proceeded to drive the vehicle until it was stopped.

The younger Jolie struck and kicked the police officer who attempted to arrest him.

Defence council for the younger man described his client as a "chronic alcoholic with a prison record."

He told the court that father and son had been drinking heavily on the day they were arrested and in a "drunken stupor" had decided to drive to Penatang.

Defence counsel said Ronald Jolie changed places with his father at the wheel because he knew his father was disqualified from driving should not have been doing so.

"People must understand there is only one sentence for assaulting the police," Judge Charles said in sentencing Ronald Jolie to six weeks imprisonment on that count plus additional four weeks being impaired.

Omer Jolie received a total of weeks in jail.
