KILLED IN THE STORM.

More Than Fifty Killed and Many Injured.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—The storm which swept Tennessee on Sunday night was the most destructive storm ever known in the state, more than fifty persons were killed and 100 more injured, while the damage to houses, timber and other property will reach $200,000. The storm entered the state from northern Mississippi and swept across in a north-easterly direction. Great damage is reported from the counties bordering on Mississippi and further on. Columbia, in Maurice county, was the heaviest sufferer. Lavergne, Nolansville, and Galitan, also felt the wind's force, the storm finally loosing its force against the Cumberland mountain range. Columbia's casualties numtwenty-five dead and fifty injured.

The path of the storm is about fifty yards wide and was the north-western suburbs of the town, a section populated chiefly by negroes and the poorer classes. The houses here were mere hovels and, it is estimated that 150 of them were totally destroyed and a large number damaged. The suffering of the people rendered homeless and bereft of all their goods is pitiable.

FEAR A CHANGE.

Maine Prohibitive Liquor Law May Be Swept Away.

Portland, Me., Nov. 22.—The anti-liquor element in the state of Maine is determined that the prohibitive liquor law that now prevails here shall be continued. From every part of the state come reports of unusual activity among the temperance people.

The reason for this activity is that a wave of temperance reform, it is feared, will sweep over the state. The awakening is attributed mainly to the election of a prohibition sheriff in Cumberland county last September. Although the new sheriff will not enter upon his duties until the beginning of the coming year, evidence that a change is expected is apparent already. In this city it is now impossible to purchase liquor of any kind.

Botha's Command Will Have To Yield

WHEN ITS SUPPLIES FAIL.

POLE-CAREW SAILS FOR ENGLAND TO-MORROW.

Lord Roberts' Horse Fell, But Caused No Injury—Kruger Has Not Yet Arrived at Marseilles—Vessel Detained by Storm.

Cape Town, Nov. 22.—The Argus says it has reason to believe that commandant-general Botha's command can be kept well in hand in the north-eastern portion of the Transvaal until it is obliged to yield for lack of supplies.

Gen. Pole-Carew will sail for England to-morrow.

The special court for the trial of the treason cases will begin its sessions at Coleberg on Dec. 5th. A. C. Simpson, a member of the Cape parliament, will act as prosecuting attorney.

Lord Roberts' Horse Fell.

London, Nov. 22.—The Daily Telegraph says that Mr. Brodrick, secretary of state for war, has received a message from Gen. Roberts saying that his horse fell on Sunday, and that he was somewhat shaken, but sustained no injury. The accident did not interfere with his duties in the least. The other papers print similar despatches from private sources.

Kruger Not Arrived.

Marseilles, Nov. 22.—Yesterday ended without the arrival of ex-president Kruger. It was reported last night, however, that the French cruiser Gelderland, on which he is travelling, was off the port unable to anchor, because the pilots refused to go out to her until the boisterous sea moderates. This report was apparently accurate, although it could not be confirmed in the prevailing state of the weather.

Rumor was busy all day with the cause of the delay. It was asserted that the weather was not solely responsible, the Gelderland having received instructions when passing Bonifaco, on Tuesday, to arrive at night and thus enable Mr. Kruger to take a train for Paris early in the morning. By this means he would be able to avoid a demonstration. There was nothing to confirm the rumor.

The tugs Suffern, Pauline and Saliner, with Dr. Leyds aboard, the latter went out at five o'clock to meet the Gelderland.

London, Nov. 22.—While it is certain that ex-president Kruger had not landed from the cruiser Gelderland, at the time the latest despatches were sent from Marseilles, there is the utmost conflicting reports as to his whereabouts. One despatch received here states that the Gelderland reported when passing Tuloun, that the machinery was out of order. This was stated to be at six o'clock on Wednesday morning and two correspondents, dating their messages, 10:30 p.m., say that Dr. Leyds, who went out from Marseilles in a tug to meet the ex-president, returned without finding the Gelderland.

Another correspondent says positively that the cruiser has arrived off Marseilles; and that Dr. Leyds boarded her and conferred with Mr. Kruger. He advised the ex-president not to make any declaration of an anti-British character, lest he compromise French hospitality. He also urged him to reserve his appeal until he reached Holland.

Still another correspondent, timing his despatch 7:15 p.m., says that Dr. Leyds abandoned his project of boarding the Gelderland last night owing to the bad weather. All the reports concur in stating that unusually bad weather was prevailing. The wind was high and there was pouring rain.

Badly Shaken Up.

London, Nov. 22.—A despatch to the Standard says: Lord Roberts' body guard removed him to the government house Johannesburg. He was badly shaken and bruised, but, it is expected he will be able to take the field again in the course of a few days.

More Casualties.

London, Nov. 21.—The war office has been advised of the following casualties among the Canadian troops on active service in South Africa:

Pte. E. V. Chancellor, of "C" squadron Strathcona's horse, died of enteric fever at Elandsfontein, on the 13th inst.

Pte. A. W. Stewart of "A" squadron Strathcona's horse, slightly wounded at Muzareb, on the 11th instant.

Gr. W. R. Hare, of "D" battery Canadian artillery, slightly wounded at Leeuwfontein, on the sixth instant.

It is just possible this last name may be Pte. G. L. Hall, of Calgary, who went out as one of the reinforcements to Strathcona's horse. From the number given, however, it is almost certain that the man is Gr. W. R. Hare, of Elgin county, Ont.

Pte. Chancellor, is a native of Atlin, B.C., and joined Strathcona's horse in Winnipeg.

Pte. A. W. Stuart comes from Sandypoint, Ont.

Husband Killed; Wife Insane.

Caneseraga, N.Y., Nov. 22.—Alfred E. Hearne was struck by an Erie train at South Church street crossing on Monday and instantly killed. He was thirty-two years old. When his widow was notified of her husband's death she went violently insane and has continued a raving maniac ever since.

Irish Nationalists.

Dublin, Nov. 22.—At a meeting of the directors of the united Irish league, a resolution calling on the Irish members of parliament not to attend the house of commons in December, but to stay at home and make a success of the convention perfecting the nationalist organization, was adopted.

A BRILLIANT MUSICIAN DEAD.

Sir Arthur Sullivan Passed Away This Morning.

SIR ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

London, Nov. 22.—Sir Arthur Sullivan, the musical composer, died suddenly this morning.

ASK MISS GOULD FOR CASH.

Begging Letters Show Weekly Demands $1,548,502.

New York, Nov. 22.—Miss Helen Gould's philantrophy is the cause of much annoyance to her in the form of thousands of letters received from persons in all parts of the United States, who have schemes, charitable and otherwise, to promote. At first she replied to them, but since the Spanish war the number of letters has been overwhelming. To answer them all was quite out of the question, Miss Gould devised a plan to save the writing of a special letter to each person soliciting her aid, which would show them why she could not comply with their requests. She had prepared a circular showing the number and character of requests made of her in a single week and giving the amounts she was asked to contribute. A copy of this circular has been enclosed by her secretary to all persons asking favors of Miss Gould which she felt compelled to deny.

A business man of New York city who wrote to Miss Gould recently to interest her in a business proposition received one of her circulars, which showed that the requests called for $1,548,502. There were 231 requests for money, amounting to $187,880; ninety-one requests for loans, amounting to $136,203; requests to raise mortgages, aid churches, educational institutions and libraries, money to buy wedding trousseaus, pianos, rings, sewing machines, bicycles, horses and in short, almost everything under the sun.

In this circular there appears to have been omitted the offers of marriage. It is known that Miss Gould has received more offers possibly than any other American woman. This may be included in an item of "126 personal letters." Since Miss Gould has been sending out these circulars the number of appeals made to her is said to be rapidly falling off.

Teaching The Young Idea.

London, Nov. 22.—The late Sir Henry Havelock-Allan strongly advocated the universal teaching of military and physical drill in all schools, and the formation of volunteer cadet battalions and corps throughout the country. Sir Henry's advocacy is bearing fruit. The education department has appointed a committee, with a representative of the war office to advise it, to take the matter into consideration. The cadet corps has been established in Australia for many years, and has been found of enormous advantage in improving the physique of the rising generation.

No Fault Of His.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 22.—Capt. Fairgrieve, owner of the steamer Arabian, is threatened with an action for damages for alleged breach of contract in not sending the Arabian to Cleveland for the American steel and wire company, which had chartered her for Nov. 20th. The Arabian was ashore at White Fish Point, Lake Superior, for nearly two weeks, and got to Sault Ste. Marie only on Tuesday afternoon. It was, therefore, not through any fault of her owner, that she did not reach Cleveland in time.

An Inventor's Death.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Orville G. Hursen, who killed himself by taking poison in the basement of his residence recently, was the originator of the photo-button, and wire jewellery industry. He made a fortune from his novelty inventions. His death was due to a nervous affection aggravated by the recent death of his two children and by losses in election bets.

Brantford's Fallen Heroes.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 22.—It is proposed to erect a monument in Brantford to the memory of the soldiers who have gone from this city to the war in South Africa, and more particularly to perpetuate the memory of Lieut. Woodburn Osborne, killed at Spion Kop last January, and Sergt. Builder, killed at Belfast on Nov. 8th. Already liberal subscriptions have been obtained.

Sunk At Belleville.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 22.—The schooner H. M. Ballou let go her anchor when entering the harbor yesterday, but the force of the gale rode her over it and the anchor stock made a hole in her bottom. She is on bottom in about seven feet of water and it is expected she will be raised this afternoon. She is owned by Capt. Smith, of Cressey.

Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, at Winnipeg, state that 2,000 men will be engaged in the spring to build the remaining 140 miles of the South-Eastern railway.

Five of the municipal councillors of Marseilles will present an address to ex-president Kruger when he lands, on their own account, and in the electors' names, to accept their greeting, which is both respectful and fraternal from ardent republicans.

Enquiries made after the steamer's arrival at Southampton show that the Friesland's rudder stock was broken off. The weather was stormy, and she lay helpless in the trough of the sea for several hours, until the Cluden took her in tow and brought her in.

A settlement has been reached between the Ontario government and the executors of the state of the late James Austin, president of the Dominion bank. When Mr. Austin's will was proved the papers showed an estate of $72,000. The government entered suit to recover duties upon property valued at $648,000, transferred five years before his death. By the compromise the government receives $15,000 instead of $1,800.

ONLY EXCITED RIDICULE.

And the Ministers Will Insist on Full Terms.

London, Nov. 22.—A despatch to the Times from Pekin says that Li Hung Chang in communicating the edict regarding the punishment of those implicated in the Boxer movement, submitted to the ministers that this was the final punishment that the court is able to inflict. He repeated the stereotyped assertion that the Chinese plenipotentiaries, including himself and prince Ching, are threatened with severe punishment if they fail to induce the ministers to accept the decree. The compromise sentence excites ridicule. The effect of the edict has been the direct opposite of what China hoped it would be and it has strengthened the ministers in their determination to demand the death of the ringleaders.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times says it is stated there on good authority that some missionaries are surviving at Talyuen Fu under the protection of the mandarins.

The officials of the game will be appointed to-day.

STORM IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Another snow storm swept over British Columbia last night. So heavy was the fall that in the city street car service was maintained only with great difficulty, while all over the province railway and other traffic was greatly impeded. Intense cold is reported from many points. At Donald it is thirty below zero and at Laggan the thermometer registers thirty-seven below. The Fraser river is frozen, an unprecedented condition so early in the season, and river navigation is at a standstill. The storm also prevails in the gulf of Georgia, and practically no ships are moving to or from Vancouver. Two Japanese fishermen are believed to have been drowned near the entrance to the harbor last evening.

The salmon combine which last season controlled the out-put of forty-eight canneries on the Fraser river, has collapsed through the expiration of its time limit and the refusal of canners to renew the agreement.

DRUNKENNESS AMONG YOUNG

Startling Statement—Young Girls Acquiring Drinking Habit.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—J. H. Carson, in addressing a meeting of the Epworth league of the christian endeavor society, said that drunkenness was on the increase in Ontario amongst young people between the ages of nineteen and twenty-one years. He gave statistics in proof of this statement. Mr. Carson also said that more young girls were becoming addicted to drink than in former years. This was more markedly the case in Ontario than in Quebec.

Submit Question To Judges.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 22.—The provincial government has formulated a set of questions, eleven in number, as a case to be submitted to the full court of queen's bench, which sits in term on Nov. 26th.
