COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

What is Going on in the Business World—The Market News.

The first consignment of turkeys for shipment to England for Christmas trade arrived at Toronto on Wednesday. About 3,000 birds were received, and 47,000 more are expected. This year's shipment will be the heaviest on record, and a large force has been employed to prepare the birds.

The Canadian canners' association met in Toronto Wednesday and reviewed the business of the past year. The bulk of the output it was found had been disposed of only about twenty-three per cent. remaining in the hands of the packers. This is a very favorable showing compared with two years ago. It was stated that there would be no change in prices.

The Ontario live stock commissioner in his report says that it is in the interest of Canadian farmers to supply the best pigs. First class goods mean a growing market at home and abroad. At the present time twenty-five per cent. of the pigs marketed in Canada are what is known as 'cofts,' twenty-five per cent. are flats, and at least ten per cent. unsizables. Sixty per cent. of Canadian pigs grade as No. 2 lower, which is forty per cent. more than might be expected if breeding were carefully done. Canadian farmers lose at least twenty cents per hundred on all pigs sold because of this condition.

Want British Bottoms.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 23.—The lumbermen and mill owners of British Columbia will probably petition both the dominion and provincial governments for a ship tonnage bonus to regain for Canadian vessels the carrying trade lost to American ships. They allege that shipping firms in San Francisco have accomplished a competitive movement in connection with recent ship charters which had the effect of making it impossible for British Columbia shippers to obtain freight ships except at such advanced rates as absorb the mill men's profits. Lumber shipments are now costing sixty cents per thousand more than was formerly paid for British bottoms and those interested in the lumber trade assert that it is only by securing lower ocean freight rates that the industry can be profitably carried on.

A New Hockey Association.

Barrie, Ont., Nov. 23.—The Northern hockey association was organized here last night. Alliston, Barrie, Collingwood, Midland and Newmarket being represented. All were enthusiastic over the proposed league, believing that it would benefit the game in this district. The officers are: President, W. A. Boys, Barrie; first vice-president, R. L. Dutrisch, Collingwood; second vice-president, R. F. White, Midland; secretary, Dr. Clarke, Newmarket; treasurer, Dr. MacLaren, Barrie; executive, one member to be chosen by each club. The schedule of games will be drawn up at an early date.

Natural Gas In Woodstock.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 23.—A natural gas expert from Brantford is here looking for natural gas. He says that he has discovered sufficient natural gas inside the corporation limits to supply this town for many years to come.

A SOVEREIGN INCOG.

President Loubert So Receives Paul Kruger.

BRITISH PRESS SATISFIED

KRUGER DEEPLY TOUCHED BY HIS RECEPTION.

Nothing Transpired to Involve France in a Misunderstanding With the Powers—Some Englishmen Refused to Remove Their Hats as the Aged Statesman Passed.

Paris, Nov. 23.—The Journal Debats publishes an inspired communication announcing that the government has considered the conditions under which ex-president Kruger will be received in Paris. It has decided, inasmuch as Great Britain has notified the powers of her declaration annexing the Transvaal, Mr. Kruger will be received as a foreign sovereign travelling incognito.

President Loubet will receive him at the Palace of Elysee if Mr. Kruger wishes to visit him, and will return the visit in accordance with custom.

Kruger To Loubet.

Marseilles, Nov. 23.—Ex-president Kruger has telegraphed to president Loubet as follows: "On landing on the hospitable shore of France, my first act is to salute the worthy chief of the French republic, and to address to you an expression of my gratitude for the marks of interest your government and country have been so good as to give me."

H. Grebauval, president of the Paris municipal court council, invited Mr. Kruger, on behalf of the people of Paris, to visit the Hotel Devil. Mr. Kruger replied that he was deeply grateful for the invitation, but he begged to be excused from giving a definite answer until in his quality as a chief of state, he had paid his respects to the president of France.

The steamer Gelderland sailed at five o'clock last evening. It is understood that she goes to Rotterdam.

London, Nov. 23.—Nothwithstanding the noisy demonstration at the De Louvre in Marseilles, it is abundantly clear that the people of the city as a whole and the Kruger sympathizers who travelled there especially to greet ex-president Kruger, conducted themselves with admirable restraint. They abstained from any conduct calculated to involve their country in difficulties or to give just cause of offence to Great Britain. The newspapers generally recognize this. Most of the papers reserve their denunciation for Mr. Kruger himself applying to his speech denouncing the British, such adjectives as violent, fierce and vindictive.

The Times admits that the crowd at Marseilles behaved on the whole with exemplary good humor, and abstained from offensive demonstrations. That paper attacks Mr. Kruger's "extravagant and malignant calumnies" on England, and adds: "It is only by our sufferance that he is in Europe at all. His friends might do well to reflect on this obvious and palpable fact when his invective grows too spiteful."

The Standard says: "Regret rather than resentment is the emotion with most Englishmen, will contemplate the extravagant welcome. Everything was unfriendly to England, but to make amends everything was correct."

The Daily News says: "Mr. Kruger's statements are not correct, but he is suffering from the mortification of defeat and if anybody is inclined to feel great indignation, let him remember that accusations quite as outrageous are being made by Englishmen themselves. Mr. Kruger seems to have borne himself with considerable dignity."

The Daily Telegraph says: "No one who is anyone in this country will be in the least degree irritated or impressed or will regard except with contemptuous indifference the hollow manifestations with which sour and damaged Cincinnatus has chosen to make himself the dupe."

The Graphis criticizes "the ill-bred English tourists at the Hotel DeLouvre who refused to remove their hats when the aged exile passed." It declares that their conduct was indecorous and unchivalrous.

The Chronicle says that little or nothing occurred to disturb the equanimity of the French government, or to create the slightest cloud of difficulty between the British and French.

Great Loss Of Stock.

Canning, N.S., Nov. 23.—The great barns of the R. Kinsman company were burned early yesterday with all their contents, which included nearly one hundred head of cattle, twelve horses, three hundred and fifty tons of hay and two thousand dollars worth of farm machinery. The stock was finely bred and the best collection in the province. Hon. Dr. Borden is a heavy stockholder in this company. The origin of the fire is not known.

Hunter Hops Nearly A Mile.

York, Pa., Nov. 23.—Bleeding seriously from a gunshot wound, John W. Howard, aged sixteen, hopped nearly a mile, yesterday before reaching friends, who could give him any assistance. He was out hunting and while crossing a fence, one of the rails gave way, the gun fell from his hand and was discharged, almost severing his foot. The young man nearly bled to death before help reached him.

Will Not Run.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—John Ross Robertson, ex-M.P., whose name has been prominently put forward in connection with the mayoralty, says he will not, under any circumstances, stand for the office. He decided to give up public life when his term as member of the house of commons for East Toronto expired, and his decision is unalterable.

Mrs. M. Gourlay, wife of an Ottawa car conductor, and her sister, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, were held up by two men near their own house Wednesday evening. Their screams attracted attention and the ruffians decamped.

Enquiries made after the steamer's arrival at Southampton show the Friesland's rudder stock was broken off. The weather was stormy, and she lay helpless in the trough of the sea for several hours until the Cliden took her in tow.

The deer season in Wisconsin has closed. It only lasted twenty days, but in that time twelve hunters have been killed and the sum number seriously wounded. These accidents occurred through hunters being mistaken for deer.

A cow died near Belleville recently, and on being cut open for examination of the internal organs it was found that her stomach contained as much binder twine as would fill a five quart pail, which may account for the cause of her death.

Wednesday morning a determined attempt was made to burn the Mallory town creamery. The interior was discovered ablaze, and with assistance the flames were extinguished, but not before considerable damage was done. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

HAVE TAKEN AN OATH.

Boers Will Fight to the Bitter End.

INDEPENDENCE OR DEATH.

BRITISH MADE A VALUABLE CATCH OF PRISONERS.

Bubonic Plague at Cape Town—Boers Are Still Causing British Much Trouble—Kruger Will Remain in Europe if Intervention Fails.

Kroonstad, Nov. 21.—The prisoners recently taken at Bothaville have been sent off to the south. The catch is a valuable one, as they include twenty-eight artillerists and four rebels. A large number of refugees are going south and the town is over-crowded.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—The health officer certifies that the disease prevailing at Izeli, near King Williamstown, is the bubonic plague. Another case was reported to-day.

Will Remain In Europe.

New York, Nov. 23.—The Journal's Marseilles correspondent cables the following interview:

"I come to Europe simply to appeal for intervention," said ex-president Kruger. "No, the Boers will not migrate to Damara (German West Africa), and they will conquer or die on their own soil."

"It is reported that the Boers are out of funds and that you are bringing all the available cash with you. Is it so?"

"That is untrue," replied ex-president Kruger.

"What will you do if intervention fails?"

"I shall remain in Europe."

"Where will you go from here?"

"To Paris, Brussels, The Hague, Amsterdam and St. Petersburg."

The Boer president wore a long grey coat and held his well-known high hat with a heavy crepe band in his hand. He wore gold spectacles and his eyes appeared weak. He was visibly affected by the enthusiasm of his reception. On saying good-bye he extended a big fist with a tremendous grip.

A Valuable Catch.

Lorenzo Marques, Nov. 21.—A wounded Boer prisoner taken at Lebombo stated before dying that the Boers now in the field have taken an oath. "Independence or death." They wear a badge, to which is attached the skull and cross-bones.

Defends The Army.

London, Nov. 23.—Speaking last evening at a banquet given in his honor, Gen. Buller, defended the British army against the charges of barbarous treatment of Boers, declaring that all were false. He said that in three cases of alleged assaults upon women that were brought to his attention, two of the accused were Hottentots, following the forces and that the third was a local Kaffir. "No army ever behaved better," said Sir Redvers. "There is no doubt that the fact that the war has come to its crisis induces severe treatment, but why is it so? are the real patriots fighting for their country? The whole people whom we know as Boers, either have already surrendered, or are prisoners, or are doing their level best to surrender. The people left in the field are either mercenaries or bandit." Gen. Buller quoted an Orange River Colony judge as saying that the moment when the men in the field ceased to be paid the war would end.

Boers Attack A Fort.

Maseri, Basutoland, Nov. 20.—Natives report that former president Steyn and Gen. Dewet, with a force of 1,000 men traversed the British lines between Alexandra and Warringham's store, and attacked a British fort, but the Boers subsequently retired and took the road to Dewetsdorp in the Orange River Colony.

Killed In A Cave-In.

Catskill, N.Y., Nov. 23.—There was an accident at the plant of the Eastern paving brick company, in which one man was killed and five injured. They were raising centre beams to prevent a cave-in, when the earth suddenly gave way, burying the men so that not one could be seen. Erasmo Cazaregola was the only one found dead. Walter Johnson was so seriously injured that he died. Others badly bruised will recover.

Became Recluse For Love.

Brockville, Ind., Nov. 23.—Miss Phoebe Meeks, eighty-five years old, died in this city yesterday. Sixty years ago she was disappointed in love and made a resolution to keep herself apart from the world. From that day she never left her dooryard, and notwithstanding there is a railroad within a hundred yards of her home; she absolutely refused to look at the cars.

Bishop Potter Writes.

New York, Nov. 23.—Bishop Potter will not deal with the police department in the matter of vicious conditions in the pro-cathedral district or in relation to insults offered last September to the Rev. Robert J. Paddock, of the pro-cathedral. He will deal solely with the mayor of New York. The bishop wrote a letter to president York last night to this effect.

In Three Weeks.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Chancellor Boyd is presiding at the weekly sitting of the high court of justice. He had a short conference with judge McTavish, and it is learned that the election enquiry commission will probably commence its sittings about the middle of December.

An unknown vessel went down near Port Maitland in the storm.

The czar continues to make satisfactory progress.

S. H. BLAKE IS CRITICAL.

University Fees Should be Lowered, Not Increased.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—In an address before the political science club of Toronto university, Thursday, S. H. Blake made an energetic attack on the policy of steadily increasing the fees at the university. If the policy were not reversed the state university, Mr. Blake said, would be barred to the children of the poor. He desired to see conditions at the university such that every young man or maiden of talent, no matter how humble in circumstances, might avail himself or herself of its advantages.

The fees have been increased materially of late and Mr. Blake's remarks were received with loud applause. He also criticized rather freely the ideals of the university staff, suggesting a number of points in which the ideals should be higher.

Prof. Manor arose to make a defence of the staff, saying Mr. Blake's views of the ideal university were the result of a misconception. Mr. Blake told the professor that he was too busy to remain to listen to his speech, and as he walked out the students cheered him to the echo. The incident is important as showing how the undergraduates regard the present mode of conducting the university.

DOVER CANTEEN SCANDAL.

Acquitted on Charge of Plotting Against Lieutenant.

London, Nov. 23.—The extraordinary interest taken here in the Dover canteen scandal, which has been dubbed the "British Dreyfus case," was accentuated to-day by the acquittal of master gunner Acheson, accused of initiating a conspiracy against Second Lieut. a-Beckett, of the Royal garrison artillery. The latter was acquitted Oct. 13th, of embezzling canteen money, and Acheson demanded a trial by court-martial on the allegation that he had hatched a plot. His acquittal is taken to mean the reopening of the charges against a-Beckett.

As a coincidence DuMaurier's son was selected as a member of the court-martial, while a-Beckett's father was a colleague of DuMaurier on the staff of Punch.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HIMSELF

Sad Accident at Winnipeg—Cold Weather Experienced.

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—Peter C. Graff, of Edmonton, accidentally shot and killed himself while out hunting. He was pulling his gun out of his rig by the muzzle when it discharged. He was a Galacian, aged about twenty-eight and unmarried.

The thermometer hit twenty degrees below last night. Many of the hockey teams in the city have started practicing. The Victorias and Winnipegs will start next week. The personnel of the Victoria senior team will be little, if any, different from that of last year.

Richardson, independent, was declared elected in Lisgar yesterday by a majority of 246.

The Porte Is Stubborn.

Constantinople, Nov. 23.—The porte has definitely rejected the request for an exequatur for a United States consul at Harjoot. This refusal is regarded by the United States legation as a direct violation of treaty rights. Consequently, despite the refusal, Dr. Thomas H. Norton, who was appointed by president McKinley some time ago to establish a consulate at Harjoot, has been directed to proceed to this place. The expected visit of the battleship Kentucky to Smyrna is believed to relate quite as much to this matter as to indemnity questions.

Montreal Registrar Dead.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The death is announced of W. H. Ryland, registrar of Montreal, and a prominent citizen. Mr. Ryland was born in Quebec in 1835, and came with his father to Montreal about 1848. He married Miss Kaulbach, daughter of senator Kaulbach, of Nova Scotia, who died six years ago.

Hackett Declared Elected.

Halifax, Nov. 23.—The recount in West Prince, P.E.I., was concluded yesterday afternoon and Edward Hackett, conservative, was declared elected by a majority of nine. This is the case in which a ballot box was lost and was subsequently found lying broken and empty on the railway track.

The Elder In Custody.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 23.—After hearing part of the evidence in regard to the death of a three-year-old boy while under treatment of Zionites, the coroner's jury asked the coroner to order the detention of elder Eugene Brooks, who attended the child.

To Back Up H.M.S. Pheasant.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 23.—H. M. S. Phaeton, the flagship of commander Fleet, senior officer of the Pacific fleet, has been ordered by the admiralty to be kept in readiness to follow H.M.S. Pheasant, which sailed this morning for Panama.

The Pope Is Frail.

Paris, Nov. 23.—A despatch to the Temps from Rome says the pope yesterday visited the basilica of St. Peter's, and experienced such fatigue that he had to take to bed. It is further stated that he fainted twice.

Ship A Total Loss.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 23.—Contractor Reid, whose failure to carry the Newfoundland elections was so costly to him, sustained another loss yesterday, when his new steamer Fife, one of his fleet coastal ships, ran ashore in the straits of Belle Isle. She is a total loss. She was worth $100,000, and it is understood that there is no insurance. The crew was saved after a terrible experience, being adrift during a storm in open boats.

Unknown Vessel Lost.

Dunnville, Ont., Nov. 23.—An unknown vessel is supposed to have gone down near Port Maitland in the recent storm. Quantities of wreckage have been driven ashore and a portion of the cabin was found at Gull island. The vessel was probably loaded with pulp-wood, as much spruce has been picked up. Of the crew nothing is known.
