

Amusement.

A young man in Nebraska sent an offer of marriage to a girl whom he fancied, and in reply received a telegram: "Come on with your minister."

Don't mother to young lady who is burning up letters: "What are you doing there, dear? Are you burning letters?" Young lady: "Oh, no; I am only burning noses."

Here is an extract from a little boy's composition: "When I was a swain and a blafelous, I was a tryin' the gages of the steam fliers in the back yard at night, it makes a fellow old, it don't sleep in with his big brother."

Nor so bad.—A traveller in Portugal was informed that widows over fifty cannot marry in that country. "That may seem hard on you," said his informant, "but it amounts to nothing, for there never was a widow in Portugal over fifty."

The Amherst Mystery. LATEST DEVELOPMENTS. (From the Montreal Star.)

"Who are you, my dear?" was the next question, uttered by three clear hearty raps. "Who are you after, Miss Cox?"

Who are you after, my dear? he whispered through a hole in the fence of his beloved's back yard. "Yes, darling," he did so: "jump right over!"

An actual dialogue on Broadway, New York:—"Polite Englishman to Gothamite:—Aw, beg your pardon, but will you please be good as to infame where the elevated road is?"

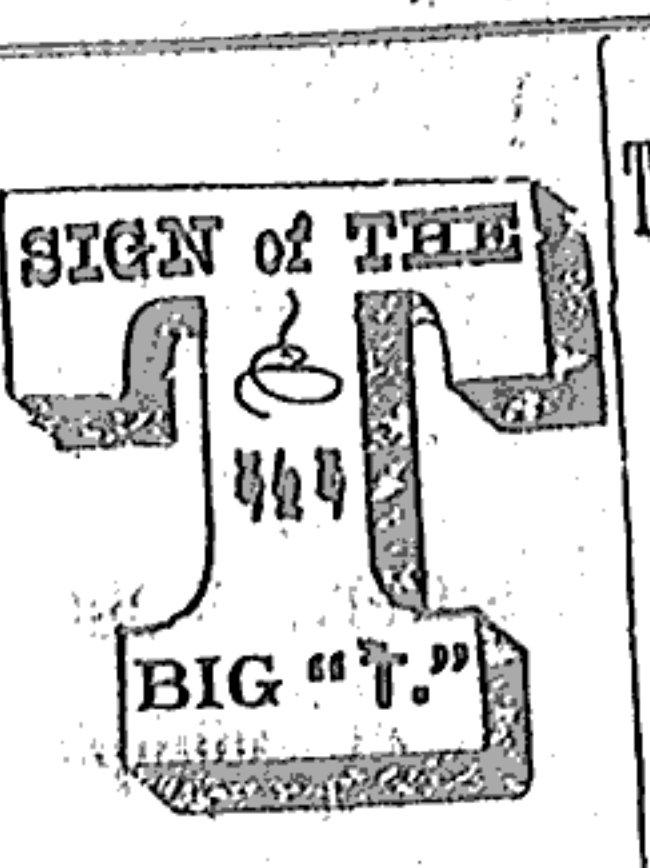

Either pushed it back each time, saying, as she rose to move away, that the chest was following her. Mr. White desired her to sit down again, and looked over the counter, so that he could see both girl and chest.

At the back of the saloon is the kitchen. A door leads into it, and on the right hand side, in the corner, is a cooking stove. Along the wall, on the right hand side, is a wall, with a barrel of oysters in front, and at the further end an old brandy cask, iron-hooped.
