OVER THE TEA CUPS.

"Suspense," by Henry Seton Merriman (The Copp, Clark Co., Toronto) is a story which centres mainly around two strong, self-reliant characters, Theo Trist, a famous war correspondent for a London paper, and Brenda Gilholme whom Theo Trist loves but on that subject Brenda and the readers of the book are kept in suspense until the last chapter. Theo is at Plevna during the Turko-Russian war, and Merriman's account of the siege is wonderfully graphic. Suspense attends each division of the book, so the name is well chosen. There are no mediocre characters; the line of demarkation between the strong and the weak is clear and distinct. Belonging to the former class are Theo, Brenda and Mrs. Wylie, while Captain and Mrs. Huston and Willie Hicks are of the latter class, all three being shallow, weak, and uninteresting. Their part is unimportant in the story, however, and the predominating characteristic of the book is the quiet forcefulness and dignified reserve supplied by the three strong personalities who figure in "Suspense."

I carried the old bishop a bunch of roses this morning,
And when I handed them to him
he said,
"Wait, my daughter, there are thorns upon them."
Then he took out his knife, saying,
"Give me one at a time."
I watched him while he carefully
cut away each thorn.
"Do you always cut off the thorns, bishop?"
He looked at me with an appreciative twinkle in the dark of his eye,
Set, deep under the shaggy brows,
and said,
"Yes, don't you?"
No," I said, "I am a woman,
I only hold my rose tight and smile,
And let the blood trickle, and say,
"My rose has no thorns."

We do not like to be told of our faults. We do not like to hear references to occasions when we appeared at a disadvantage. Yet we deplore the prevalence of flattery. We make all manner of fun of our friends who display a weakness for that social pest. And yet there are few of us who, if the flattery be not too freely administered, as "with a shovel," do not imbibe it greedily and pine for more. Everyone remembers the anecdote of Dr. Holmes, when he was enthusiastically applauded, and to a somewhat exaggerated length. "Don't you get awfully tired of this sort of thing, Dr. Holmes?" "Not at all," said the dear old man, frankly. "They never clap quite hard or long enough to please me. I presume that I could stand it for hours."

Mrs. Paul Kruger is said to have accepted her husband's offer of marriage with the words "I can bake, I can cook, I can sew, I can clean, I can scrub." Whether or not that is the customary Boer formula is not explained, but it is true that the wife of the President of the Transvaal has lived up to her words. Oom Paul is said to be worth several millions. Much of this accumulation is attributed to the thrift and economy of his wife, who was not only able to do the things that could help to make a man rich, but was not ashamed to. She is still a gentle-mannered, blue-eyed woman, who has not changed her method of life because the husband she married as a poor man has come to have riches and power. She still attends to the duties of which she told her husband she was capable. The household work is her exclusive duty. That begins at five o'clock in the morning with the preparation of breakfast. For making the Dirt coffee with the smallest amount of the bean she is famous in the Transvaal. Her days are passed, between the intervals of heavier labor, in sewing and darning.

The wife of Oom Paul never had a dress that she did not make herself, and at no time ever had more than three dresses. The best of these is likely to become very familiar to church-goers in Pretoria, before it gives place to a new one and becomes second best. The Kruger household is to this day without a servant and is kept carefully by the wife of the president of the south African republic. Darning her husband's socks is, in spite of these responsibilities, said to be the severest duty of her life. Outside the household her interest is chiefly in animals. She has always refused to put any kind of a feather in any of her bonnets, and has used her influence to interest the women of her country in the same renunciation of feather ornaments. Her task has not been as severe in the Transvaal as it might have been in other places where modes are more exacting. Another instance of her interest in birds was shown when the sculptors who designed the statue of her husband brought some of the early sketches to her for an opinion on the likeness. The statue shows Oom Paul as he appears ordinarily wearing his top hat. Mrs. Kruger liked the designs, but had one suggestion to make. "Don't you think that the crown of the hat," she asked, "might be left hollow, so that the water could be caught in it when the rain fell? Then the birds would be able to get a drink." That suggestion was followed, and now infrequent showers in the Transvaal always bring a circle of sparrows around the top of Oom Paul's hat.

The London Outlook of November 9th says: Surely the romance of war was never more forcibly demonstrated than by the marriage of Lady Evelyn Crichton to Lord Dudley's youngest brother. Boy and girl lovers, it was no surprise to their friends when they desired "to bind their lives up in a holier tie," and the ceremony was to have taken place next season. But Mr. Gerald Ward is ordered to the Cape to-day; therefore last Tuesday, at a very pretty wedding, amid general good wishes, Lady Evelyn became his wife. The honeymoon, of only two days' duration, was spent at Windsor. Mr. Gerald Ward is tall and slight, but good looking. He was educated at Eton, and found a place in the eleven; he is now in the 1st Life Guards, and is barely two and twenty. His bride is two years his junior.

A Complete Hospital.

That's what Merrill's System Tonic is. It is one of the most powerful blood purifiers and the best bowel regulator known, besides being a muscular and nerve tonic. Hence it cures a wider range of disease than most medicines. It is skillfully prepared in one of Canada's largest drug stores and is extremely pleasant to take. Price, 50c. for three weeks' treatment. Sold by J. B. McLeod. Explanatory pamphlet free.

WHAT MUST BE DONE.

More Troops Must be Sent—What the Papers Say.

London, Dec. 14.—The Times prints the following in its editorial columns this morning: "At least 30,000 additional men must be sent out. The entire available reserve must be called upon and the militia and volunteers rushed to the front. Efforts must be made to increase the local colonial forces, and further offers of troops from Canada and other colonies must be sought and accepted."

The Times also says: "It would be idle to attempt to hide the gravity character of the news. The lesson to be drawn from Monday's defeat is the old lesson."

The Morning Post, which throughout the struggle has not blinked at the magnitude of British task, now faces a critical review of Gen. Methuen's fight with the following significant words: "The news that reached us last night will make every Englishman close his lips with a certain grimness, expectancy and determination. But it may do more. We learned with a measure of ironical contempt that the Boers had appointed a day of national humiliation. There are worse things than such an announcement by a nation that would purge itself of pride, and the worst thing the worst way, has been ours. Face to face with a nation in arms, a nation confessedly brutal in many of its dealings, but brave, strong and united, we have discussed as a conqueror the terms of settlement, have divided as victors the spoils of battle. It is a pity that, as a people, we had not left boastfulness to the man who takes off his armor. We have had our day of humiliation appointed for us. Let us accept it humbly and soberly, and be better and stronger for the lesson it has taught us—the lesson of silent, unboastful determination to prove ourselves worthy to hold the empire our forefathers won. Let us renounce all boastfulness, our schemes for governing what we have not won, and our depreciations of a people whom we have not beaten. The day is still before us, but it must be won in a spirit different from that in which it begun—in a spirit of humility, less assertive, but no less determined, no less assured."

The Standard says it fears that the advantage of the engagement was with the Boers, and wonders concerning the enemy's strength. It adds: "How all these fighting men can be supplied out of a population estimated at 250,000 is one of the mysteries of the situation. We are driven to conjecture that a substantial part was permitted from the Cape Dutch." The paper concludes with an expression of a misgiving that it will be some time before tranquilizing operations begin.

The Daily News says the position is necessarily one of considerable anxiety. It declares that Gen. Methuen ought immediately to be reinforced, but it doubts whether Gen. Sir Fred. Forestier-Walker has any troops to spare.

The Daily Telegraph says: "We have thought too lightly of the military resources of the Boer republics, which have been steadily piling up. We have not realized, as we ought, the enormous physical difficulties of the country, and in the pride of our limitless strength of empire, have looked forward, impatiently to sweeping aside and trampling under foot the Boer commandos. The forward march of steadying incidents of the past few days will give us a truer perception of the magnitude of the task before us." The Daily Telegraph, like the other papers, urges a grimmer determination to see the matter through.

"SUFFERED UNTOLD MISERY."

South American Rheumatic Cure Thwarted Disease and Cured Him Outright.

Robert E. Gibson, merchant, Pembroke, says that ten years ago he contracted rheumatism in a very severe type, suffered untold misery—resorted to fly blisters and other severe treatments with no lasting good or relief. When hope of recovery was well nigh gone he was induced to try South American Rheumatic Cure. The first dose gave him instant relief, half a bottle cured him outright. His own words were: "It is the best rheumatic remedy on earth." Sold by W. H. Medley.

Be Cured of Catarrh.

It is quite easy to cure yourself of catarrh or asthma if you use Catarrhozone, the medicated air treatment for all diseases of the nasal and respiratory organs caused by germ life. Catarrhozone will cure—absolutely cure—catarrh, and is a very pleasant remedy that can be used without any danger or risk whatever. When inhaled it rapidly volatilizes, and finds its way to the very seat of the disease, where it kills the microbic life that causes catarrh and at the same time restores all irritating membranes to their normal condition, effecting a permanent cure. You simply breathe; Catarrhozone does the rest. One trial will demonstrate its worth. For sale by all druggists. Price $1; trial outfit ten cents.

Writes From British Columbia.

William Adams, the Brock street shoe maker, yesterday received a letter from his son William J., who left here about a year ago. He is now settled at Vernon, B.C., which place, he says, is very dull. Seven families have left in three weeks because their bread-winners could not secure employment. Among those who left was Mr. Graves, late of Pittsburg township, who has come east as far as Calgary, N.W.T. Mr. Adams writes that butter is now selling there at 40c. lb., eggs 40c. a dozen, beef 10c. to 15c. a lb., and other commodities in proportion.

Eczema Partly Cured.

Merrill's System Tonic has cured more cases of blood and skin diseases, such as eczema, scrofula, pimples and syphilitic sores, than all other remedies combined. Besides being a most powerful blood purifier it is an excellent tonic and cures by assisting nature to throw off the disease. A fifty cent bottle lasts three weeks. Sold at J. B. McLeod's pharmacy.

Will All Get Increases.

It is expected that the committee of management will recommend that the board of education grant the yearly increase to all the public school teachers who have not reached the maximum salary. Last year five teachers were refused increases owing to somewhat unsatisfactory work, but no such cases are likely to occur this year.

Effects of Late Hours.

Late hours are apt to effect the system very seriously. This is only one of the causes which bring on nervousness, exhaustion, general debility and sleeplessness. Wade's Iron Tonic Pills, the great blood maker and nerve strengthener, restore the constitution to a healthy condition, positively curing all such troubles. Fifty pills in a box for 25c. at Wade's drug store.

Miller's Granules cure constipation.

The Scourge Of Scrofula.

Scrofula is a disease closely allied to consumption of the lungs. It is often caused by poor nutrition, low vitality, impure blood or a vitiated condition of the system.

Some of its common symptoms are sores, abscesses, swollen glands, enlarged joints, thick lips, loss of flesh and pallor of the face.

It is one of the most difficult diseases to cure known to medical science.

That Burdock Blood Bitters has made many permanent cures of the worst cases of scrofula goes to prove the wonderful power this remedy has over the most malignant diseases.

Mrs. James Carr, Umfraville, Hastings Co., Ont., says:

"My little boy, two and a half years old, was so bad with Scrofulous Sores that he was in a terrible condition. My husband got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters for him and by the time he had finished the first bottle there was not a sore to be seen on him. On account of this wonderful cure in my own family I can honestly recommend B.B.B. to all who suffer from any disease arising from bad blood."

DEATHS ABOUT NAPANEE.

TWO AGED LADIES LAID TO REST.

The Remains of the Late Rev. A. Young Will be Brought From British Columbia to Napanee Cemetery—A Heavy Rain That Was Needed—Affairs About Town.

Napanee, Dec. 14.—The past three or four days have been exceedingly wet, leaving the streets and roads in an almost impassable condition. The rain was very much needed and if snow comes now, as there is every indication, the streams will be in a better condition for the winter supply of water than before the rain. Farmers from many sections were complaining that their wells were likely to give out before the winter was over. The rain was general, and more like an April shower than a December downpour.

Yesterday morning death claimed one of our oldest and best known citizens in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Pugh Walsh, relict of the late John Walsh, at the advanced age of ninety-four years. Deceased was ill only a few days, and retained her mental faculties until the last. She was a kind neighbor and a friend to many who will miss her kindly greeting and good advice for many a year. She was tenderly cared for by her daughters, Misses Mary and Jennie, whose pleasure it was to minister to every wish of their loving mother. One son, John F. Walsh, of South Africa, and a married daughter, Mrs. Thomas Trimble, besides Misses Mary and Jennie are left to mourn a loving mother. Deceased was a member of the Roman Catholic church and a woman of deep piety. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at two o'clock to the Roman Catholic church, thence to the vault.

Lucinda Earle, an old and respected resident of Violet, died on Tuesday last, aged eighty years, three months and twenty-six days. The funeral will take place from Violet this afternoon at one o'clock.

Alfred Kent arrived home yesterday after a year and a half's absence in the west. James Taylor, so seriously injured a couple of weeks ago, is recovering and will be about again.

Mrs. J. R. Dafoe is spending a week with friends in Toronto. Mrs. Milne, Stirling, sister of Mrs. W. A. Daly, Napanee, died on Tuesday last at her home in Stirling. Deceased leaves a husband and three young children to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. J. W. Mains arrived home last week after spending three months with his children in Minnesota.

Peter Gould has opened a grocery store at the corner of Dundas and West streets, on the site formerly occupied by J. H. Clapp. The late Rev. A. Young, who died a few months ago at Nanaimo, B.C., requested that his body be interred in the Napanee cemetery beside that of his eldest son. The request will be complied with some time during this winter.

Christy's Stand Upheld.

Regarding the stand made by alderman Graham at yesterday's meeting of the city property committee, touching the payment of $10 to architect Newlands for an estimate as to the cost of a heating system for the city buildings, an alderman remarked this morning that the point made by alderman Graham was perfectly correct. While architect Newlands should be paid for his work, at the same time the city should receive something tangible for the outlay, and alderman Graham was only looking to the city's interests when he demanded that architect Newlands furnish a plan of the proposed heating system along with the estimate of the cost. As it is now the city has nothing to show for the expenditure.

Can Hold The Track

The engine driver of the G. T. R. suburban in running his train over the hose the firemen had just laid over the track at the foot of Princess street last night, was not to blame, as no warning was given to him, and he could not see the hose. The firemen thought the train had already passed and did not leave a lighted signal on the track. The hose had just been placed in position when the train came along at a good speed. On occasions of this nature, the track can be held against trains until a fire is under control and then the hose is generally shifted and placed underneath the track. At first, however, the firemen are expected to put the hose in any position until they get the fire under control.

SOUVENIR

The great financier pays his cook $10,000 a year to have his stomach treated fairly. The "thousand and one" delicacies that this king of the kitchen prepares for his master, if not cooked in a good stove, would count for naught. Cooking, whether by a Vanderbilt cook or a Mrs. Rorer, depends finally on the stove—THE OVEN OF THAT STOVE.

Here's where the Souvenir kitchen range excels. It is the only stove with an aerated oven, which insures, by its peculiar methods of construction, perfect cooking.

Mrs. W. Marriott, writes: "Bread bakes a lovely nut-brown all over, and it never has to be touched from the time it is put in until it is taken out." Again: "The convenience of the aerated oven is the great saving of time, patience and nerve to the cook, for she can have as hot a fire as she needs in preparing the dinner, and the bread, meat and pudding (all of which may be in the oven at the same time), never burn or dry up, as they do in ordinary ovens."

JAMES REID,

MEN WITHOUT THE FIRE OF YOUTH.

I have spent years in the careful study of Nervous Debility and private weaknesses of men which result from secretions and later excesses. As a result of this experience I propose the following statement ready to prove my claim to any one who will avail himself of the opportunity for so doing. I say, as man to man, that if properly advised use of galvanic electricity be returned. A man at sixty should retain his vigor and physical vigor. I have learned from the treatment of probably one hundred thousand cases. I am the inventor of the celebrated with suspensory attachment, the great home self-treatment for weak men. I consider this appliance the best known method of giving electricity, mainly because of its portable form, which enables the wearer to get at least seven hours of the life giving current each day. The Dr. Sanden Electric Belt is composed of eighteen little double element cells in form of chain, fitting inside of an insulating cover the whole weighing but five ounces. This rests comfortably around the waist at night, curing while the patient sleeps. The current, though instantly felt, is regulated to just the proper power by turning a little thumbscrew. The effect of electricity upon the system is often almost marvellous. I have never known a weak man to use it who was not materially benefited or entirely cured if common sense was exercised. It takes all the tired, weak feeling out of the small of the back and checks drains. My space here is too limited to go into details, but if the reader will call upon or write me I shall be pleased to give further information. FREE CONSULTATION AT MY OFFICE, where the belt may be seen in working order and current tested. It is really a pleasure to show an appliance such as I offer, and I am glad to give any advice that my caller may need. Remember we are not here to force you into purchasing. We do not want you to buy until you are thoroughly satisfied. To those who live at a distance I shall be pleased to send my little descriptive pamphlet in plain sealed envelope. I answer all letters personally, advising and diagnosing accurately by mail. Write or call to-day.

Office Hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

DR. D. SANDEN, 132 St. James St., Montreal. 140 Yonge Street, Toronto.
