GOLD in New Yorkst 3 o'clock 102½

CITY AND VICINITY

For a Good and Cheap Overcoat of any color or quality go to A. L. LEVEY'S Clothing Emporium, Wellington Street.

TAXES.—The City Collector has already received a great many payments upon the taxes of 1877.

THE JOURNAL.—Letters of subscribers to the Queen's College Journal almost invariably speak of the handsome style of the publication.

THOSE wishing badges and pledge charms for the Rine Total Abstinence Club can obtain them at S. Woods' book store and at the Whig office.

QUICK PASSAGE.—The Globe says that the steamer Rothsay made the passage from Kingston to Toronto at the rate of seventeen miles an hour.

ELECTIONS.—There is not much public display, but we believe the candidates for the next municipal elections are prosecutingely their canvass vigorously.

PROBABILITIES: For the lower lake region moderate winds and fair cold weather; for the St. Lawrence moderate to fresh northeast to north winds and fair cold weather.

THE YOUNG MEN.—The Rev. Professor McKerras will occupy the pulpit tomorrow morning at St. Andrew's Church, when an eloquent address to young men may be expected.

GEORGE NEWBOLD.—The residents of Sydenham village as well as many in Kingston will have anything but a fragrant recollection of this now notable bigamist.

QUEEN'S COUNSEL.—Mr. Britton, Q.C., is conducting the Crown business at the Brockville Assizes. He makes a very successful public prosecutor, and the Government seeks a frequent use of his services.

SYDENHAM STREET CHURCH.—Mr. Taft, late of Adalphustown Methodist Circuit as pastor, and now a student of Queen's, will conduct the service in Sydenham Street Church to-morrow evening.

TEA MEETING.—The Brock Street Presbyterian Church will have their tea meeting on Tuesday next. It should be well attended. It is always good, and has been among the social, pleasant affairs of the season.

INSPECTORS' ASSOCIATION.—It is possible the Inspectors of Schools for Eastern Ontario may eventually form themselves into an association for mutual benefit and advantage. Such, at any rate, has been suggested, and the suggestion has been favorably received.

THE COUNTY CASE.—The recent case of investigation has been termed "Pope vs. Irvine." In fact, however the case is that of the County vs. Irvine, Mr. Pope being only a witness in the case and the formulator of a part of the charges.

THE MODES DE PARIS.—Mr. J. T. Anglin is keeping up the reputation of the fashionable millinery establishment where Mrs. Anglin has presided for so many years, and never failed to please her patrons. His fall importations comprise all that is pretty and fashionable, and the show rooms are worth a visit.

HARPERS' HALF HOUR SERIES.—The Harper Publication Office of New York are issuing a series of useful little books. The latest out contains in neat form a collection of cooking receipts, first made popular through "Harpers' Bazaar." It is the cheapest and most handy cook book out. It can be had at Mr. John Henderson's.

LODGING HOUSE.—The Rine Total Abstinence Club, of Montreal, have leased a large building which they propose fitting up as a headquarters for the movement, as well as to provide lodgings and meals for those who are in need and struggling against the appetite for strong drink. It is to be hoped that such friendly inns shall be a result of this cause everywhere they are needed.

THE CLERICAL ASSESSMENTS.—The course taken by the Rev. D. J. Macdonell, of Toronto, in submitting the actual value of his property, with a view to the rightful increase of assessment and taxation, is highly commended. But it is nothing more than the Rev. Prof McKerras has done yearly in Kingston. He refused to accept any exemption from taxation.

LAKE OPENICON.—The Gazette says that a large show of phosphate of lime has been opened up at the Rock Lake Mines near Openicon, measuring 42 by 3 feet, and of the finest quality, which will give full employment to the miner for some time to come. A large quantity of hay and oats, which were seized, and stacked after removal on the farm of Robert Bruce at Lake Openicon settlement, has has been totally burned up.

WIND WAFTS.

—Very large market this morning.

—Heavy frost at night.

—Mr. Rine is doing a grand and glorious work in the city.

—Blue ribbons are becomming all the fashon.

—Notwithstanding an abundant yield, potatoes are worth fifty cents per bushel in Cape Vincent.

—The people of the County are looking into the excellencies of a new clothes dryer.

—Mr. Devlin, chief of the Kingston Fire Brigade, visited the fire stations of Ottawa on Thursday.

—Philosophy is a good thing. Philosophy gives a man cheek enough to pay one cent for a newspaper and five for a poor cigar.

—A Belleville, Ontario, paper remarks. The late heavy frosts have sent most of the snipe and plover off upon their annual journey to the south.

—Mr. J. S. Cartwright has sold his residence, corner of John and Graham streets, to Mr. Edwin Daly, for the sum of $3,500.

—Suspend a sweet potatoe in a jar of water so that the potato is in the water. It will sprout luxuriantly, and you may train the vines about your window during the winter.

—To-morrow evening his lordship Bishop O'Brien will deliver a free lecture in St. Patrick's R. C. Church, Napanee, on the subject of "Can the priest forgive sin?" He will also preach at the morning mass.

Inspectors' Meeting.

The meeting of Public School Inspectors was yesterday addressed by Mr. Jessop, Superintendent of Education for the Province of British Columbia, who is on a visiting tour for the purpose of examining the school systems of this and the sister Provinces. The address was highly interesting and instructive. Mr. Jessop minutely described the working of the British Columbia school system, which he said was but yet in its infancy, but making rapid strides towards perfection. The salaries of teachers are paid monthly, $600 being the minimum and $1,500 the maximum salary. Woman's rights are greatly respected in this Province, as female teachers, if competent to do the work, receive the same salary as males. No Board of Trustees is allowed to dismiss a teacher unless sanctioned by the Board of Education. A vote of thanks to Mr. Jessop for his very entertaining address was unanimously passed by the Association, which adjourned, after a vigorous discussion relating to third-class certificates, until the 28th prox.

Elocution Association.

The Elocution Association of Queen's College held its annual meeting in the classical class room of the College last evening, for the election of officers. The meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, Mr. Hugh Taylor in the Chair. The retiring Secretary and Treasurer gave, each of his respective sphere of duty, a very clear concite and encouraging statement of the present condition of the Association.

The election of officers was begun on motion of Mr. George Bell—that the the Rev. Prof. McKerras, who has given the most zealous attention to the interests of the Association, whose pleasant manners and genial presence have ever inspired all with confidence and esteem, whose sound, refined and cultivated taste have always prompted friendly and instructive criticism, and therefore that one so popular, estimable and efficient as the retiring President, be re-elected. Carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The remainder of the officers were elected in order; Mr. D. Givins, Vice-President; Mr. Bissonnette, Secy.; Mr. W. Breden, Treas. The meeting adjourned to meet one week hence, at which meeting a public entertainment will be discussed.

THE CLOSING MEETING.—On Thursday evening next Mr. Rine brings his meetings to a close in this city. He finds it impossible to remain any longer, he being under engagement to return to Montreal and resume his campaign there on the following Friday. On Monday evening next, after the general meeting, the constitution of the Rine Total Abstinence Club will be adopted, and the organization permanently formed.

MR. BRAY AND RINE.—The other day we criticized some remarks of the Rev. Mr. Bray, as reported in the Montreal Daily Witness. The Rev. gentleman today communicates to us the exact words he used, and as he corrects in a great measure the impression which could not fail to be extracted from the previous report, and as he denies any opposition to Mr. Rine and his movement, we are pleased to have heard from him.

HERE ALREADY.—"Peterson's Magazine" for December is on our table, ahead of all others! It has two fine steel plates, one of them, "Among the Roses," a mammoth colored fashion plate; a colored pattern for a chair stripe; nearly fifty wood-cuts of fashions and patterns. The stories are by clever authors. For 1878 great improvements will be made including monthly Supplement, containing a full-sized paper pattern for a lady's or child's dress, thus giving to every subscriber twelve such patterns, extra. Certainly this Magazine has no equal at its price.

IN MEMORIAM.—Just as we go to press we regret to learn of the death of Mr. J. G. Stratton, which took place at his residence this afternoon. Mr. Stratton was an old and much respected resident of this city. He came here about 1850 and with the exception of two years he spent in California in company with the late Mr. James Mostlyn, he has been in business here. He was not a prominent society man; he buried himself in little outside his own affairs, excepting in the church (St. Paul's) of which he had been a Warden for eight years. His demise was not sudden. He has been suffering from bronchitis and a complication of other internal complaints for some time, gradually sinking until death to-day brought his earthly troubles to a close.

The K. C. I. Concert.

The concert of the Collegiate Institute, held in St. Andrew's Hall last evening, was a success. It being their first attempt at anything of the kind reflects deserved praise upon the editors of the Collegiate Institute Herald, and Mr. Knight and Mr. Godwin, for their untiring efforts. The playing by Misses McIntyre and Strachan was well rendered. The programme was opened by them in the overture of "Zampa," played as a duet by these young ladies in a very artistic style. Both ladies have greatly improved in their execution, which reflects great credit on Mr. DesRochers, under whose teaching they have been. The song by Mr. F. Sharp was excellent, and was sung with feeling and effect. Mr. Oxley's recitation was very good, and showed that he is a thorough elocutionist. The piano duet by the Misses Shannon was very good. The audience was delighted with the rendering of Miss Sophia Burton's "Beautiful Girl of Kildare," and "Far Away." She evidently won the laurels of the evening. Her voice evinced cultivation and a vast improvement, consequent on the recent training of her teacher, Prof. Oldham, who accompanied her. It is unnecessary to comment on Mr. Taylor's reading, as he is so well known in Kingston. Mr. Keeley sang in his usual comic style; his song was productive of much mirth. The vocal duet by Messrs. Armstrong and Sharp was much enjoyed. Mr. Morrison deserves much praise for entertaining the audience with his excellent readings, and his piece to the pupils of the K.C.I. was highly appreciated by them. The song "Larboard Watch, Ahoy!" was immensely enjoyed, and thanks are due to Messrs. Heath and Daly for their kindly aid. The "Blue Bells of Scotland," by Prof. Oldham, was rendered with a brilliancy that could scarcely be excelled, and after repeated encores he kindly favored the audience with an imitation of the banjo, on the piano, which was likewise appreciated. Mr. Knight returned thanks for the very liberal donation of Mr. John Carruthers, and also for the kindness of the Weber factory in lending a new piano for the occasion. The concert was closed by "God Save the Queen," Miss Burton taking the solo and the audience joining in the chorus. A vote of thanks was then tendered by Mr. Knight, and the editors of the Collegiate Institute Herald, to those who contributed to the success of the entertainment. The concert, on the whole, was very fine.

St. Andrew's Society.

At the annual meeting of St Andrew's Society, held in the Council Chamber last evening, the following members were elected officers for the ensuing year:—

President—Mr. R. Thompson.
First Vice President—Mr. J. Richmond.
Second Vice President—Mr. E. Law.
Physician—Dr. J K. Oliver.
Chaplains—Revs. T. G. Smith and F. McCuaig.
Auditors—Messrs. J. Craig and W. R. McRae.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. James Yule.

The thanks of the meeting were tendered the retiring President, Mr. W. R. McRae, for his handsome donation of $20 to the Society's funds. Notwithstanding the many calls made upon the Society for aid this past year the Treasurer was able to show, by his report, that the Society is in a flourishing condition. Mr. Andrew Waldie having been elected a member the meeting adjourned.

Rine Announcements.

There will not be a meeting this evening. Mr. Rine is taking a rest and preparing for the labors of the morrow. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock he and Mr. Jolliffe have a Bible Reading in the Primitive Methodist Church; in the after noon he visits the gaol; but in the evening the most important meeting will be held in the City Hall. The speaking will begin at 8:15 o'clock. The arrangements for next week are not yet complete, but we believe a meeting will be held on Monday evening in the City Hall; on Tuesday evening the Sydenham Street Methodist Church will be used for a similar purpose; on Wednesday evening Mr. Rine will visit Portsmouth for the benefit of those living in that village who would like to hear him but cannot attend the city meetings. Other announcements will appear in good time.

PUFFING.—In a moment of self-forgetfulness, a writer in the News penned the following: "From what we see the Grit papers appear to have reduced the reciprocity of puffery (!) to a system." Is it possible! And none but the Grit papers indulge in such a naughty, nasty thing! Surely our contemporary must be beside itself, as it stands unrivalled in the art of puffing, being ever ready to smother a pet with the most fulsome flattery, or accept with gushing fondness the simplest phrase expressed in favour of its beloved, modest and blushing staff. We don't believe in having shots fired this way without a little rally in return.

SUSTAINED.—The report of the County Council proceedings in another column gives details in reference to the manner in which the Treasurer's case was considered and disposed of. Mr. Irvine has been sustained in office, the majority of the Council acting upon the recommendation contained in Judge Macdonald's supplemental report. We accept the result with satisfaction, believing the decision arrived at to be one that will best please all parties. Mr. Irvine is to be congratulated that the suspense is over.

FOOT BALL.—This morning some fifteen or sixteen members of the Victoria Rifles, Montreal, arrived here to kick foot ball with the cadets of the Military College. Play was to begin on the College grounds at 3 o'clock. We have not heard of the result at the time of going to press, but we are assured that the clubs had a good game, and—that the cadets won; if they didn't they should have.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—In accordance with the programme of the International Association, a series of special services in the interest of young men will be commenced this evening in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. On Sunday sermons of a suitable nature will be delivered in most of the churches; in the evening an evangelistic meeting will be held in the Association's rooms, and on Monday evening a Gospel meeting will be held under similar auspices.

RINE MOVEMENT.

The Successful Meeting Last Night.

Last evening the third of the series of meetings now being conducted by Mr. Rine was held in the City Hall, which was filled to overflowing. There were many present who could not obtain seats, and had to stand throughout the service. The platform was occupied, beside the Chairman, Mr. S. Woods, and Mr. Rine, by Revs. Messrs. Jackson, Jolliffe, Chambers, McKay and Mowat. There was a full and efficient choir, which sang very effectively during the evening. The meeting opened with the hymn "Rescue the Perishing," after which Rev. Mr. Jolliffe read a portion of the 1st Psalm, and Prof. Mowat led in prayer. Again the choir sang "Ring the Bells of Heaven," and then

The Chairman said it was gratifying to notice that there was still no diminution in the interest taken in this Rine movement. It could not be doubted but that it was doing an immensity of good. Long ago one of the servants of the Lord saw in a dream a messenger come from the other sphere and stand beside him, and, assuming the form of man, gave forth that wail which led to the salvation of thousands, "Come over to Macedonia and help us." On previous occasions he had spoken of two ways in which the movement might be considered. He had now to speak of a third point. Since the meetings had been commenced no person had heard a single word said which could injure the feelings of any one; and as a result they had been approached by men who had alleged it to be their duty to join the movement, and to change the style of living to which they had been accustomed in the past. Did they not think God was in the movement? Did they not think some Divine influence was at work to make men pause and seriously think of the way they were going? Long ago, they read in the New Testament, that a servant of the Lord, in an hour of sorrow, fled from the presence of the Lord and took refuge in the mountain of Horeb, and while there heard earthquake and whirlwind, and saw fire, but the Lord was in none of these. But he heard a still, small voice, which said "What does thou here, Elijah?" Such a question each of the audience could propound to himself, "What dost thou here?" He advised all to help along the Rine movement, and concluded with the following quotation from Hood:

Oh! men with sisters dear,
Oh! men with mothers and wives,
It is not your money you're drinking up,
But human creatures' lives.

[Applause.

Dr. Jackson also made a few remarks. He believed they came there to hear Mr. Rine, but they came for more—to help along the great moral reformation. (Applause.) He sympathized with the movement. He liked its principles, because guided and controlled by a spirit of love and kindness, a Christ-like influence which won souls and lifted them to a higher life. The movement was based on the right foundation. Its promoters trusted in God, and signers took the pledge, and hoped to keep it, "God helping them." He spoke of the terrible suffering and sad consequences of intemperance, to which some were wedded beyond hope of redemption. He said the cry to men and women now was this "Awake, awake, thou that sleepest, arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee life." Every girl and boy should sign the pledge for themselves, for God, for time, and for eternity. (Applause.)

"Pass me not" was sung, the Chairman made the announcements, and

Mr. Rine was introduced. He proceeded that the temperance movement was a new one. It was different from other temperance meetings. It came to them as it went every place, dressed up in all its independence. It had a grand and most specific object in view, namely, the amelioration of the condition of mankind. The sufferers were not confined to those of scanty home comforts, to the women with broken hearts and children of ragged garments; the same sad results seen among the poorer class were apparent in the luxurious mansions of the land, among the upper class of society, the refined and the wealthy. He instanced one case where he had bent over the form of the President of six banks in his own parlour, and wiped from his mouth the froth of intoxication and delirium tremens. Some thought drink could never get the mastery over them. No young man, flushed with the ambition of youth and inspired with the power of manhood, would admit such a weakness. But few could stop with the genial glass. He thought he could do so at one time, but he had failed, and so had three others who formed the social circle and enjoyed together that genial glass. It had been said by some persons—and those of a lower order of intellect had believed it—that temperance lecturers could not keep from the use of liquors, that it was necessary in order to keep them up! He declared such an assumption and assertion to be false. (Applause.) He pointed out that intemperate men should be approached gently and that they disliked to be called drunkards. Thought was the fundamental grond work of all personal effect to do right. Imagination was a sort of supernatural something or line which is continuously passing through the mind, but will, with force and strength, reaches up and grasps that which it retains and it becomes thought. When those thoughts are pure and good, in the providence of God they are susceptable of leading to good impressions, and capable of being usefully employed. He then descanted upon the nature and appearance and occupation of bummers—real live bummers, to an audience of about five hundred of whom he had made his first speech. He described their woeful, pitiable condition, the degradation to which they had fallen by being a slave to liquor, of their value. He said a licensed victualler considered one worth from 75c to $1 25 per day. He stood behind the store usually shivering and miserable, his coat fastened with a crooked pin, and hiding something which he had not on. In reviewing the characteristics of an intemperated man, he provoked a few smiles as he noted the funny side of the case, but when he depicted the adverse, and dwelt upon the sad scenes he had witnessed, he created a marked sympathy for the fallen and an occasional sensitive one was observed to wipe away a falling tear. Low, however, as the drinking community reduced themselves, he commented on one singular fact—that the unfortunate are generally the best hearted of men, good natured and liberal so far as they went, spending their money freely for the benefit of friends, and sharing the last crust with boon companions. He alluded to the failure of some men in the temperance work, and attributed it to their refusal to come down to the level of the man they are striving to reclaim. They should wring the starch out of themselves, and go to work in real practical earnest. Theories were well enough, but practice was better. A grasp of the hand was better than all their cold metaphysics jammed together. He spoke of the grand sight which he saw on Thursday. In the midst of all the storm five young men visited him, signed the pledge, donned the blue ribbon, and as they left him they talked like men, walked like men, and were men indeed. (Applause.)

After a few more kindly references he asked all to assist in making the movement one of unparalleled success. The choir sang as usual while Mr. Rine invited those who had not already signed to step forward and do so. His voice could be heard above the music, and each time he called "come on, boys," men advanced and enrolled their names, and not the men only, but the ladies also. Mr. Rine's mode of conducting the meeting seems to be getting popular and pretty well known; but few, if any, expected the coup de main to last evening's proceedings. A temporary lull had occurred in the signing, when the lecturer asked them to stand up. When about all in the hall had risen, he requested those who had taken the pledge to be seated, whereupon he distinguished those who had not identified themselves with the Club, and thus detected many thought discretion the better part of valour, and gave in their names to the Secretaries. About 150 were obtained. The meeting closed with the doxology and benediction.

Experimental.

When we stated the other evening, anent Mr. Shannon's exhibition and illustrations at the Collegiate Institute, that the pupils knew more than he did on some points, we had not only the pupils' word for it, but the confirmation of one of the Masters. And when we refused yesterday to retract the criticism we knew very well what we were doing, though the Daily News endeavors to show us that we did not. Since our contemporary rested its correction upon Mr. Knight's letter we are very well satisfied, for Mr. Knight has demanded that letter back again, and Mr. Shannon, seeing the force of his request, has engaged to surrender it. Mr. Knight did not intend that any use should be made of it to endorse Mr. Shannon's handling of the Queen's English, or his philosophical reasoning, but still he has withdrawn his recommendation upon other grounds, such as must make the News proud of its protege, or rather its client, as there was a fee in question. Our criticism is proven to have been more than justified, and even generous, and the proof of this any busy body may learn upon reference to Mr. Knight, who has been accounted referee in the matter. We have no acquaintance with or prejudice against Mr. Shannon, and shall not enquire why the Inspectors in session yesterday would not recommend him, and why he has been refused the freedom for lecture purposes of the city and county schools.

SATURDAY'S GLEANINGS.

—Two workmen were killed last week on section 15 of the C. P. R.

—Sir E. S. Smyth has set out on a tour of inspection through Ontario.

—The Spanish Government intends to give General Grant an official reception.

—Carl Sack of Eichberg and Sack, Cincinnati, has absconded with $20,000.

—The striking cigar makers in New York would be glad to get back to work.

—The shipment of eggs from Montreal to England has assumed large proportions.

—True bill found at Cornwall against Hank Cox, for the murder of Fry, the circus man.

—A meeting was held in Hamilton yesterday to organize a Dominion Poultry Association.

—The annual meeting of the Dominion Board of Trade will be held on the 15th of January.

—2,000 French residents of Montreal have sent a letter of condolence to Madame Thiers.

—Dr. Forbes, having recovered his health, proposes to return to Bulgaria early in December.

—The Mail denies the rumor that Dr. Tupper intends retiring from active public life for a short time.

—Charlottetown, P. E. I., imposes a tax of $50 on commercial travellers. Considerable grumbling is the result.

—Patrick Welsh, aged 70, was tried at Cornwall yesterday for the murder of his wife, and acquitted.

—Mlle. Titiens left $150,000 to her sister, Mrs. Croix, with the reversion to her two nieces, one of whom is married.

—W. Willis, who was acquitted at the last Middlesex Assizes on a charge of murder, has since drank himself to death.

—Several hundred coal miners at Braidwood, Ill., have resumed work on employers' terms, after seven months' idleness.

—The shipment of eggs from Montreal to England is on a large scale. 24,000 dozen go by the steamer Lake Nepigon this week.

—The W. C. Association of London intend to start a coffee and boarding-house instead of the Refuge for Fallen Women, which has not been a success.

—Americans never make two bites at a cherry when one will suffice. The vessel that sailed from an American port the other day with a cargo of arms for the Turks, also took numerous letters of sympathy directed to Russia.

—Two workmen were killed last week on contract 15 of the Canada Pacific Railway. One was struck on the head by a derrick, and had his skull smashed in. The other was blown to atoms by the explosion of a nitro-glycerine can.

—Mr. E J Barbeau, Manager of the City and Districts Savings Bank, of Montreal, testifies that the publication of the despatches in the conspiracy case had caused 250 depositors to withdraw their business from the bank.

THE BENCH.—It is almost definitely understood that Mr. Thomas Hodgins, Q.C., M.P.P., is to be elevated to the Bench, and it is generally believed that Chancellor Spragge will take the Presidency of the Court of Error and Appeal, that Vice-Chancellor Blake will take the Chancellorship, and Mr Hodgins the vacant Vice-Chancellorship. Whether this arrangement be carried into effect or not is not certain, but it would give the utmost satisfaction to the whole profession.
