CITY AND VICINITY

GOLD in New York at 3 o'clock 102¼

For a Good and Cheap Overcoat of any color or quality go to A. A. LEVEY'S Clothing Emporium, Wellington Street.

REMEMBER the St. Andrew's Society's Concert in the St. Andrew's Hall, on Friday evening, the 30th, at 8 o'clock. A rich treat may be expected.

BARLEY.—The Bay of Quinte people are rejoiced to learn that Canadian barley has been found so acceptable in England.

MISSION.—The Union Missionary meeting will be held this evening in Chalmer's Church. The attendance should be large.

BREAK DOWN.—That was a bad break down on Gore street yesterday. The cart was stuck in the hole in the street all morning.

OUR little rooster has come to the front again. He seems to be as healthy as ever, and capable of giving as vigorous a crow as ever he was able to get off. And he's game in a fight, too.

THE ILLUSTRATED.—This week's issue of the "Canadian Illustrated News" is an admirable one. It has some good cuts of the work on the Lachine Canal, an expensive work, but one that will be of immense benefit to the country.

SHOOTING HOME.—The office of our contemporary was brilliantly lit up last evening, and a number of the "pairty" awaited the Quebec East election returns. When they came, it is understood the office was quickly emptied via the back door.

RED RIBBON.—The medicos wish to be distinguished from the commonalty, so they have taken to wearing a strip of cardinal red ribbon around their hats. The effect is good, but the ribbon, in some cases, has a tendency to exhibit any little minor defects in the hat itself.

Mr. Justice Patterson and Vice-Chancellor Blake have agreed to submit the question raised by Mr. Bethune in the Lincoln election case as to the validity of the votes of St. Cathrines, Port Dalhousie and Niagara on a technical ground to the Court of Error and Appeal before giving their judgment on it.

NO TELEGRAMS.—We are to-day without any telegrams from the American side. This is Thanksgiving Day in the United States, and all men are all things to all men, the nation rejoiceth and the consumptive gebbler is no longer heard in the land. Thanks are now in order since across the line this is the season of feasting and the return of gold.

DISAPPOINTED.—There were quite a gathering of Conservative gentlemen at the two telegraph offices last evening, rather impatiently awaiting the news from Quebec East. But when it did come there was a sudden scatterment, and the castles in the air came down with tearful crash. Each departing Tory was said to be chewing a cud of disappointment.

M.L. HYMAN has the finest selection of ladies' and gents' furs ever shown in the city. Please call and examine stock before purchasing elsewhere. Gents gauntlets in Persian lamb, seal, beaver, hair and plucked otter. Ladies' astracan sacques, raccoon and black hare trimming. Gents' raccoon and buffalo coats; also buffalo and fancy wolf robes. N.B.—Black hair muffs and squirrel tail boas very cheap at M.L. Hyman's.

SMART OFFICIALS.—Some exceedingly clever post office official added additional postage, and sent along a circular defining the law, because a newspaper correspondent, in transmitting manuscript to this office, placed a roll of twine around the endless envelope to prevent the contents from falling out. The young clerk is such an adept he should be rewarded as early as possible by promotion.

SNOW.—The first fall of the season took place this morning. It fell as the gentle dew from heaven upon the earth beneath. Slowly the virgin flakes dropped to disappear in the muck and mud which meet the eye on every hand. Vennor has given us the benefit of some very profound and mysterious philosophy. We hardly know what to think of him or it.

RIDEAU WARD.—At the meeting of the electors in McConnell's inn, last evening, and at which the attendance was limited, we believe Messrs. McCrae and Carnovsky were nominated for places in the Council. The question is, was the meeting last evening a representative one? and is it supposed that those now in office should step down and out? The position is an embarrassing one to candidates and electors.

CHEWING THE CUD.—Our amicable contemporary yesterday assured the public that before the shades of evening fell, some would be chewing the cud of disappointment in Quebec East. The returns indicate which party occupied that unfortunate position. But Quebec East does not contain all the unhappy souls. There are a few in Kingston, two or three being found in the upper sanctuary of our beloved and exciting contemporary.

MUD, MUD, HORRIBLE MUD.—The farmers, who came to market to-day were covered with splashes of mud from buggy wheels, have struck many a soft spot on the way, but they give the palm for a deep and hopeless slough to that part of Princess street near Division street. They ready credit the statement that one of Mr. Waldie's lime carts was stuck in the centre of Princess street for three hours yesterday morning.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.—There is considerable enquiry already at the fancy goods stores for Christmas goods, and dealers should have their stocks completed at once to secure the favor of buyers. A good assortment displayed now will bear fruit a month hence. The advertisement of Hodgson, Murphy & Summer, of Montreal, favorites in Kingston, suggests a place to purchase cheaply and reliably.

WIND WAFTS.

—Cold sailing on the water these days.

—Remember the Rine concert in the City Hall this evening.

—How turkeys will suffer on the other side to-day.

—Mr. Clyde will again run as Reeve of the Township of Kingston, and will be opposed by Mr. A. Vanluven.

—Cape Vincent people participated in an excursion to Grenadier Island on Monday.

—The Kingston School of Gunnery was toasted at a supper given by the Toronto Garrison Artillery the other evening.

—"What are the flags flying for?" enquired a Tory this morning. "For Laurier's election," was the reply; and the first speaker vanished in disgust.

—The holidays approach and address cards will be ready. Call at the WHIG office and examine new styles of stock and card text.

—A petition is in circulation for signature in Brockville, which will be forwarded to Mr. Rine, the great temperance worker, asking him to hold meetings in that town. We don't know any place which needs revival more.

BURGLARY.—The Napanee Standard reports: On Tuesday night of last week a man named John Wass was caught in the act of attempting to break into Ewart's Woollen Mill, Yarker, and before he could escape he received a charge of small shot in his back, a little to the left of the spine. He turned and ran, and paying no attention to the repeated order to halt, was again shot, the charge taking effect in his back to the right of the spine. He ran a little further and was overtaken. Subsequent proceedings before Squire Shibley resulted in his commitment to the County gaol to stand his trial. He elected to be tried by the judge without a jury, when he pleaded guilty. There are other charges against the prisoner, he having stolen wool, &c., from the same mill on previous occasions. It is said that his condition is somewhat dangerous, and his wounds may prove fatal at almost any time.

LISTEN!—Says the Hamilton Times: A white chokered lunatic in Kingston took occasion on Thanksgiving Day to give it as his official opinion from the pulpit that the newspapers of Canada are "a disgrace to the country." In doing so he probably judged the whole press of Canada by some exceptionally bad journal, which he, in his desire for vulgarity and foul language, was a regular subscriber to and reader of. But to judge a whole profession by one or more of its members is not just. For instance, were we to judge of all Canadian clergymen by the Kingston "Pulpiteer," we would pronounce them all asses; whereas the only one justly entitled to that mark of distinction might be the Kingston fellow.

ENDORSEMENT.—In our defence of the Press, consequent upon an attack made on it by a local clergyman, we have received another endorsement—that of the Frontenac Gazette, which says: "In justice to the press of Canada, we must conscientiously endorse a good many of the strictures in the WHIG, severe as they may seem to be, and coincide with that paper's ideas when it states that sometimes the clergy endeavor to coerce the laity to their opinions, whether the conscience of the latter will suffer them to agree with their churchman's peculiar dogmas or not."

THE KICK OF AN EARTHQUAKE.—She was sitting on a three-legged stool, in the Market Square, this morning, chewing gum, when she was accosted by a woman who remarked, "Did ye ever see such butchiful weather Mrs. Jones, for the saizon av the year?" "'Tis foine, indade," answered Mrs. Jones. "Praises be to the Lord," said the new comer, "it sames as if the foot of Vasuvains or some other earthquakist crathur had kicked Canada nearer the green sod of ould Ireland durin' the last earthquake."

THE BONFIRE.—During the past week the heads of the L.C.A. were knocked together in solemn conclave, and it was decided to have a bonfire and a general jubilation in the event of the election of the Opposition candidate for Quebec East. The material may have been collected, but it has not yet been used, and will not be, unless the original projectors should join with those of an opposite way of thinking, and celebrate another kind of an Opposition victory. Don't waste your tar barrels!

THE MODEL SCHOOL.—Writing to the Newburg Reporter a Kingston correspondent says: "It is certainly to be regretted that the County Council should, at its late session here, have shirked the responsibility of dealing with the Model School question. Things have come to a pretty pass when men elected by their constituents to transact the business of the county, should meet and adjourn, and take no action on a matter so intimately connected with the educational interests of the county."

THE Governors of the Kingston Hospital acknowledge, with grateful thanks, the following amounts contributed by the respective congregations on Thanksgiving Day:—United Presbyterian congregations, $50.47; First Congregational, $27.55; St. George's, $17.22; Christ Church, Cataraqui, $4.77, St. James', $13.54; joint collection Baptist and Bethel Churches, $13 00. Total, $126.53. Note—The Methodist congregations promise a handsome sum.

THE MILITARY ENQUIRY.—Captain St. George B. Crozier, (ahem!) Captain and Quartermaster 15th Battalion, Belleville, sends a communication to the Globe. He says: "As the item in relation to the Court of Enquiry would tend to give a wrong impression, I beg to state the facts: Lieut.-Col. Lazier reported me for alleged neglect of duty, in consequence of which I asked for the Court, which is to sit here on Thursday, the 29th inst., and not on Friday last, as stated."

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.—To-morrow will be the anniversary of St. Andrew's Day, when the sons of Scotia will meet "the gether" and revive the memories of other days. The remembrances will be pleasant, for

Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And never brought to min'?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And days o' auld lang Syne?

THE RIDEAU MEETING.

MR. MACINTYRE'S UNTRUTHS—A SKIRMISH!

The meeting held in Rideau Ward last evening, and called for the ostensible purpose of nominating candidates for the Council, turned out to be a nice little farce or by-play, as we expected it would be, since most of these ward meetings held in the interests of everybody, and of one or two persons in particular, are usually attended by lively if not disagreeable scenes. The attendance last evening was small, and the results of the meeting simply amount to nothing. The affair seemed to be a kind of caucus, brought about in a round-a-bout way, and intended as an opportunity for Mr. Ald. McIntyre to display his plumage, and put in his say on the Mayoralty question. Some half a dozen nominations were made, but the Ward cannot be expected to endorse them, nor would it be a sensible act to take up all and run them wildly and without regard to a reasonable distinction. All the names put in nomination were allowed to stand, the choice of a hole-and-corner meeting, which, however, neglected to form a ticket, or indicate in any way to whom preference should be given. Mr. McIntyre made a speech, dwelling but little upon municipal affairs, but putting in his best licks in favor of his candidature for the Mayoralty. He attacked Mr. Gildersleeve in his absence, and delivered himself of allegations which cannot be supported by fact or evidence. For instance, he represented Mr. Gildersleeve as being responsible for the employment of Americans in the building of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. The charge is incorrect and untruthful. The Railway Company, or Mr. Gildersleeve as its President, had nothing to do with the engaging of labour. The contractor had the matter entirely in his own hands, and he would be a soft head surely who would permit of any interference or submit to the dictates of any one in the carrying out of the work, and the fulfilment of his obligations. If men came from Watertown and other points in the United States, and performed service on the railway when under contract, that is a matter between the employer and the employee, in neither of which capacity Mr. Gildersleeve acted. The statements of Mr. McIntyre were contradicted by gentlemen at the meeting, who knew them to be false, and because they dared to rub against the aspirant for Mayoralty honors, they were treated to an exhibition of bad temper and spicy language, which was more abusive than decent. It is well that the electors should know the tactics that are being exercised in the present municipal campaign.

The Installation.

We believe the following to be the programme to be followed at the installation of Principal Grant, in Convocation Hall, on Wednesday next:

Prayer by the Chancellor
Statement of object of meeting by Chancellor.
Reading by Registrar of Council of certified minutes of the proceedings of the Board of Trustees, anent the appointment of Principal Grant.
The putting of questions by the Chancellor according to the statute, and the willingness of the principal to sign the declaration required of him.
Declaration of induction.
Presentation to the Principal of the Professors.
Benediction.

In the evening, in the City Hall, the following routine will be observed:

Prayer by the Chancellor.
Address by the Chancellor.
Inaugural address by the Principal.
Congratulatory addresses by College Societies.
Benediction.

The Professors of the Arts and Medical Colleges, Trustees, members of Council graduates, alumni, and students will meet in Ontario Hall, and enter the City Hall in a body, in academic costume. The adjourned meeting of the College Council will be held on the 5th.

A Fortune.

If report be true, and very often it turns out to be such, there is one happy and very lucky gentleman at the lead mines. He is of humble disposition, and has been humbly employed as a miner; but he has been related to those who have rolled in the lap of luxury and wealth. Some one having passed away, has left an inheritance of some £50,000, upon which the miner aforesaid may enjoy himself and indulge his most extravagant fancies. It is said, however, that the labours of a life time have so curbed his ambition that he is not so anxious to change his mode of living. The situation is singular and sensational; the future seems to be

"A mighty maze, and all without a plan.

Ontario Diocese.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.—Next week the meetings will be opened at the Synod Office, Kingston. Foreign Missions, Tuesday, December 4th, 7:30 p.m.; Insurance, 7:30 p.m.; on Discipline, Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.; Mission Board, at 10 a.m.; Clergy Trust, 3 p.m.; Episcopal Trust, 4 p.m.; Widows and Orphans', Thursday, 10 a.m.; Book and Tract, 11 a.m.; Divinity Students, 11 a.m.; Executive, 2:30 p.m.

REVIVAL SERVICES.—The Newburg Reporter understands that the revival services in connection with the C.M. Church, Switzerville, will close this week. The labours of Revs. Messrs. McCann and Ellery have been recompensed by witnessing the testimony of about sixty converts, who will be admitted into membership at the close of the services.

MAIL AGENT.—The Cape Vincent Eagle announces: It is reported that a mail agent is to be placed on the Cape Vincent branch of the R. W. & O. Railroad. This will relieve our Kingston friends immensely in the way of prompt delivery of the American mails at that city. It will also be a great advantage to the stations along the branch.

PROBABILITIES for the next 24 hours. For the lower lake region, fresh to brisk southwesterly to northwesterly winds, cloudy to fair, and decidedly colder weather, with flurries of snow. For the St. Lawrence, cloudy to fair weather, with areas of rain or snow.

RINE ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Rine reached here this afternoon, and received a warm reception at the depot from those who have developed an enthusiasm for temperance. The visitors will attend the concert this evening, and Mr. Rine is announced to make a speech which all will like to hear.

Mr. Rine has been very successful in his labors in Gananoque. Small as the place is the hall has been filled every evening, and several hundreds have signed the pledge. A club has been organized on a good working basis.

Could Not Eat It.

Last night a strong grist of the city fathers, of the blue blood kind, and a file of their backers met at a fashionable restaurant on Princess street to celebrate the defeat of Laurier over a nice little supper. Everything being prepared, one of the faithful was despatched to the telegraph office to await the news, which must arrive soon. Now the eager glances cast on that door by the waiting party was awful to observe, and when that bunch of auburn whiskers showed itself and it was said 316, "THE WRONG WAY," faces that before were ruddy and jovial now turned pale, and instead of being round and plump became about a foot longer than they should be by the falling of the lower jaw. (Silence.) Then the first words that I could catch were: "Bhoys, O bhoys, it's a divil av a side show! Japers cripes! Hem, hem, just so," and a few other mild expressions not to be mentioned. In considering the matter over they concluded to let the supper stand over and crack Loo for the drinks, as no one would be responsible, they being the losing party. The scene was rich, and a few poor Grits who chanced to be present enjoyed it.—COM.

KIND AND CHARITABLE.—This morning the Secretary of the St. George's Society received a letter from Mr. R.W. Barrow, enclosing a post office order for $20, to be applied to the friends of the Society, to help any deserving members of the Association during the coming Christmas, or to go towards the foundation of a special account, the income from which shall forever be given to charity alone. Mr. Barrow also sends his Christmas greeting to the officers and members of the Association.

THE street cars did a rushing business last evening. They carried home a number of gentlemen who were politically much disappointed, and had to chew the cud of disappointment. Quebec East had gone against them.

THE TURKISH WOUNDED AT PLEVNA.—Late in the afternoon several hundreds of Turkish wounded came through this village on the way to the Russian hospitals in the rear. This train presented a strong contrast to the fate of the Russian wounded at the first attack on Telis, not one of whom was received in the hospitals in the Turkish lines. All those left on the field were murdered by the Turks. The barbarity of the Moslems is not confined to their treatment of the Russian wounded; they do not behave much better to their own. Four thousand five hundred wounded from Plevna passed through the English Ambulance at Orchanic and received their first dressings at that place. I am informed by the English surgeons centered at Telis, who belong to this Ambulance, that the wounds were full of maggots and the men covered with vermin. Some of them had been lying wounded for weeks before being sent to Orchanic, without bandages, all the cloth in Plevna having already been used up. Yet when the English ambulance proposed to enter Plevna with a large quantity of bandages and other hospital stores, Osman Pasha refused them permission to send in the supplies. An Irish surgeon named Ryan, in the Turkish service, used to employ himself in leading the troops when not otherwise occupied, and Osman Pasha declared "that was the kind of doctor he wanted, and he did not see the use of any other." In consequence of the refusal of Osman Pasha, the English surgeons were compelled to establish their ambulance at Orchanic, two days' ride from Plevna.

THE DETECTIVE CASE.—The learned Attorney General, in opening for the prosecution of the Scotland yard detectives, on Wednesday last, thus referred to the charge against Mr. Froggart, one of the defendants, when commenting upon the duties of professional men: "Now Froggatt is a solicitor, and his duty is to use his best exertions to obtain the acquittal of his client. He is bound to use all the knowledge and skill he is possessed of, and to do everything that is proper to secure the interests of his client. But then if he goes further than that, and, knowing his client's guilt, tries to get rid of the evidences against him, and endeavours to obtain the acquittal of his client by such means he ceases to be his advocate, and becomes his accomplice." It is difficult, writes the Law Times, to take any exception of the general proposition here laid down by the chief law office of the Crown. The word "proper," as here used, is one the precise meaning of which it is not always easy to determine. So the expression "knowing his client's guilt," must be taken to mean "believing his client's guilt."

BEACONSFIELD'S POLICY.—Though Lord Beaconsfield's Turkish sympathies, says the London correspondent of the Dundee Advertiser, have given him a temporary popularity in the city, he is by no means a favourite in what may be called "civic circles." The truth is that since the accession of the present Government the distribution of the honours of the Crown on civic dignitaries has been exceedingly sparing. Not a single Lord Mayor has been made either Baronet or Knight since Lord Beaconsfield became Prime Minister, and, considering that two of the Lord Mayors have been Conservatives, the aldermen and Common Council think that the Government have treated rather shabbily the members of their own party in the city. Matters have not been made more pleasant by the honours recently bestowed on the Mayor of Liverpool and the Lord Provost of Glasgow.

August Flower.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people of the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects; such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming after eating, low spirits, &c. Go to your Druggists, Heath & Gunn, or Wade & Cornell, and get a 75 cent Bottle of August Flower, or a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Try it. Two doses will relieve you.

—General Grant is an object of exceeding curiosity to foreigners. When he went to the American chapel at Paris, on a recent Sunday, one person not satisfied with a back view of the General, left his place, walked down the aisle, stood for a few moments contemplating the American, and returned to his seat quite contented.

—There was a scene in court in St. Louis on Wednesday. An unpleasantness occurred between Judge Cady and the Hon. James J. McBride, and the court committed the latter to jail for three days, and sentenced him to pay a fine of $10. McBride is a prominent lawyer, and his imprisonment created great excitement.

A Story About Russian Spies.

A gentleman, formerly in the employment of the Foreign Office, writes as follows:

I read in the papers some extraordinary stories respecting the omnipresence of Russian spies in the East, but I think I can cap them all with an anecdote from my own experience. Some fifteen or sixteen years ago I was deputed by the English Government to purchase a number of horses in Syria. When I landed at Beyrout, I engaged followers or servants to accompany me throughout my trip. They were all Syrians, and consisted of six individuals—namely, a dragoman, or interpreter; a butler, or table servant; two men to look after the tents, a cook, and a syce, or horse keeper. They did not come to me together, nor did any one of them recommend any other, but each came, as it were, on his own account. Matters went smoothly enough until we reached Jerusalem, when afire happened to break out in my servants' tents. A small box of manuscript papers were saved, and were put for safety in my tent, and left there for some time. One night a French gentleman was my guest. In the course of the evening I mentioned to him what had happened, and he volunteered to inspect the manuscript in the box. To make a long story short, I discovered all my box servants to be Russian spies, who had been ordered to watch my doings in Syria, and report them regularly to the Embassy at Constantinople. In the same box were found the most minute details of all who had said and done during the month or six weeks that the scoundrels had been in my service.

GOOD POSITION.—An English correspondent at Plevna reports that the ground recently occupied by the Russians enables them to see every part of Turkish position. Should Osman Pasha attempt any concentration for an attack on the part of the Russian line, or for the purpose of cutting his way out, his movements would be observed, and preparations made to meet them. He can, under the circumstances, gain little time by making feints.

Very Sensible.—Horse dealers who are supposed to know what affects their own interests purchase Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy by the dozen, and feed it to their horses for the purpose of improving their condition, which it always does—others should profit by their example. Remember and see that the signature of Hord & Co. is on each package. Sold by all medicine dealers.
