MY LORD SHOLTO'S CHOICE.

HE SEEKS MARRIAGE WITH A SONG AND DANCE GIRL.

One of the Sons of the Marquis of Queensberry Crazy over an Actress now in San Francisco—He Seeks the Consent of His Father—Don't Like Americans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 27.—Lord Sholto Douglas, last night, told for the first time the story of his romance in America, which began when he first met Loratta Addis, the music-hall performer, in Bakersfield, the next chapter of which she will play at the altar, when he receives the consent of his father, the Marquis of Queensberry, to marry the light American song and dance girl. Lord Douglas has been confined to his bed for some time with a cold, and, last night, he celebrated his return to health by telling the story of his love to a party of friends. He said the engagement between himself and Miss Addis was a conditional one, and had been effected since the return of Miss Addis to this city from Bakersfield, one week ago. The only condition is the consent of his father and he has written for that, fully explaining all about the young woman he hopes to marry. He told his friends of his first meeting with Miss Addis, saying it was a case of love at first sight, and that after that he went back each evening to the threatre where she was playing. In fact the love-making of Lord Sholto on this side of the water was not a bit unlike that of titled countrymen in the music halls of London.

Lord Douglas says that as soon as he is married to Miss Addis he will leave this country and get some place under the British flag, as he does not like Americans or American ways. The Addis girl opens an engagement at a music hall here tomorrow night, despite the protests of Lord Douglas.

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Thos. Cotie Killed at Castleford—Bruised Beyond Recognition.

RENFREW, May 27.—A very sad accident occured at Castleford by which Mrs. Thos. Cotie (daughter of Henry Shaw) met with a shocking death. Mrs. Cotie was driving with a young brother, and was just starting homewards from Dickson's store at Castleford station. Something startled the horse, and it started to run away, taking the direction opposite to home. In crossing the C.P.R. track, the boy, who held the reins, was jostled out by the jolting over the rails. The horse then became unmanageable. Mrs. Cotie rose to jump out, but in some manner her foot caught in the wheels or springs, and she was thrown forward to the ground and dragged along a very rough piece of road at a very rapid rate. When the horse was stopped, a mile away, Mrs. Cotie was picked up dead, and her head bruised and torn almost beyond recognition. It is said that both her neck and her back had been broken. Mrs. Cotie was a young woman of about twenty-two years of age and leaves a child of only a few weeks old. With her husband, she lived on the Quebec side of the river; but for some weeks had been staying at her father's home at the Point. The horse was known to be of an ugly disposition; but Mrs. Cotie was a good driver, and had no fear. It was either Mrs. Cotie or her sister who won the prize as the best lady driver at the Renfrew fair a couple of seasons ago.

JEALOUSY THE CAUSE.

The Murder of a Young Woman—Her Skull And Arm Broken.

MANIWAKI, Que., May 27.—Miss Jones, murdered at the Baskatong, on Friday morning last, was a quiet and inoffensive girl, twenty-four years old. Her skull and arm were broken and her body otherwise horribly mutilated.

A blood-stained poker and smoothing iron were found near by, showing clearly the weapons used in committing the fiendish deed. She was alone in the house at the time of the tragedy.

Suspicion strongly points to a married woman living in the vicinity and who has been a neighbor of Miss Jones for a number of years.

Full particulars have not yet reached here, but jealousy is the alleged motive for the deed. Dr. Synek, deputy coroner, and Dr. Comeau, who left for the scene of the tragedy, yesterday morning, to hold an inquest and make an investigation of the affair, are expected back here this evening, when full details will be available.

Lord Pembroke's Successor.

LONDON, May 27.—The late Lord Pembroke left no issue and is succeeded in the title by the Hon. Sidney Herbert, his brother, the conservative member for Croydon. His prolonged illness was due to the after-effects of scarlet fever, from which he suffered when a youth and never completely shook off. At the age of thirteen the deceased peer had already outgrown his strength, and was six feet in height. The Herbert family inherit their tall stature from the Woronzoffs, the mother of Lord Herbert of Lea having been a princess of that noble Russian house. The Hon. Michael Herbert, brother of the late earl, was drowned when the Captain capsized in the Bay of Biscay. The wealth of this branch of the Herberts is chiefly derived from town property in Dublin, inherited in the last century from the Fitzwilliams, bringing in £50,000 a year.

Gladly a Witness.

Rev. W. E. Hassard, Bruce Mines, Ont.: "The package of K. D. C. you sent me some time ago was duly received and I have been giving it a fair trial. First of all I must thank you for it, and then proceed to say—and that gladly—that it did and is doing me a wonderful amount of good. It is just the thing I need, I believe, as I have cultivated an aversion to cathartics. Have also used the pills once or twice, and find them very mild in action."

Salvation Army Troubles.

TORONTO, May 27.—The decadence of the Salvation army in this city and province is shown by the large number of desertions of officers within the last few months. The News publishes a statement giving those who have left. They are: Capts. Philpott, Bolton, McHardy, Beatty, Hall, Markle, Brigadier De Barrits, ex-commissioner Adams, Lieut. Hunter and F. W. Fry, Commandant Booth's private secretary. It is stated there are only 450 members of the army now in Toronto, and there are 250 ex-officers in the city. The reason the paper gives for the rapid disintegration of the organization is the tyranny of Commandant Booth.

Have Made Compensation.

New York, May 27.—The Herald's special from Guatemala says although the castigation of Argle, an American citizen, was not ordered by the Guatemala government the latter has answered fully and cheerfully the demand for reparation made by Minister Young. Ample compensation has been made by President Barrios for the punishment inflicted on Argle and two other Americans by the prison guard.

To Draw Up Another Document.

IN PENTONVILLE PRISON

Where Wilde and Taylor Will Spend Their Years of Servitude.

LONDON, May 27.—Oscar Wilde and Alfred Taylor were, after the conclusion of the trial, taken without delay to the Newgate gaol, where they waited until warrants were signed for their detention. Both men were then conveyed in the prison van to Pentonville, where they will serve out their sentences unless a pardon should be granted, or they should be transferred to another prison before the expiration of the term or their imprisonment.

The Marquis of Queensberry has applied to the treasury to recoup him the £2,000 expended in the Wilde case. The treasury offered him £100. The marquis, in reply, says that unless he is reimbursed he will raise the question in parliament.

The punishment Wilde is sentenced to undergo is the severest known to the law. It practically means a continuous period of solitary confinement for the two years' term of his sentence. Regular "jail birds" always prefer five years of penal servitude to two years' imprisonment, owing to the easier conditions of the former. Wilde will not be permitted to see any visitor for three months, but by exceptionally good conduct he can secure a slight reduction of his sentence.

Lord Alfred Douglas said that if Wilde was convicted he would take a house near the prison until Wilde's release, but it is now clear that if Lord Alfred returns to England he will be arrested on the same charge as Wilde.

Wilde and Taylor attended the prison chapel at Pentonville Sunday. Their hair was cropped, and they were in the prison garb. The two prisoners will be allowed to see their friends only four times in the year, and that on condition of their good conduct.

While the jury was out Wilde's counsel procured the following signed statement from Wilde, waiting in the prisoners' room below the dock: "The charges alleged against me are entirely untrue. Youth in every form always fascinated me, because youth has naturally that temperament to which the artist has to try to attain. All works of art are works produced in the moment of youth. I have no sense at all of social grades. I love society and the rich and well-born on account of their luxury, culture, the grace of their lives, the external accidents of comely life. But anyone, ploughboy, fisherman, or street arab, has an interest for me. Mere humanity is so wonderful. I do not ask of the young what they do. I do not care who they are. Their ignorance has its mode of wisdom; their lack of culture leaves them open to fresh and vivid impressions."—OSCAR WILDE.

Immediately after the verdict was rendered C. F. Gill, the counsel for the prosecution, said: "I am somewhat surprised at the verdict myself. I thought that surely one member of the jury would stand out." When Mr. Gill was asked if there was any chance of a new trial he replied: "No, indeed, it is now disposed of for ever; thank heaven."

Traverse Humphreys, of counsel for Wilde, also said the verdict was a surprise to him. He added: "The sentence is for two years on all the counts of the indictment, and not on each count separately. Now that they have hit their man, I am certain his health will break down, and possibly the authorities will favorbly entertain the idea of a pardon."

DUEL ON CHURCH STEPS.

Two Brothers-in-Law Meet After the Service and Shoot With Fatal Effect.

VERSAILLES, Ky., May 27.—At noon, yesterday, the steps of the Troy Presbyterian church, seven miles south of here, were converted into a dueling ground, George R. Montgomery killing his brother-in-law, Archibald Riley, and being himself mortally wounded by Riley. The duel was the culmination of a sensation that upset society in the Blue Grass section three years ago, when it is said Riley betrayed Montgomery's sister and fled to Mississippi. He was brought back at the point of a pistol and forced to marry the girl. He immediately deserted her and did not return until recently. Both men attended church and after the service they met face to face on the steps. Both began firing at once and did not stop until one was dead with five bullets in his body and the other dying with an ugly wound just above the heart.

The congregation became panic-stricken. Scores of women fainted and several were badly trampled in the stampede. The affair took place so quietly that no one thought of interfering. After firing the last shot, Montgomery turned to the bystanders and said: "Gentlemen, I hated to do this, but was compelled to; my conscience is now easy." Riley was thirty years old. Montgomery is twenty-nine and unmarried.

Death From A Revolver Shot.

PRINCETON, May 27.—Geo. Crawford, a young Englishman, employed by J. Lower, a farmer, three miles east of Princeton, in company with George Hess, twelve years of age, were out together on Friday when Crawford allowed Hess to handle his revolver. While in Hess' hands the revolver was accidentally discharged, the ball entering Crawford's abdomen at the right side and passing through the bowels, lodged near the back.

Crawford immediately started for home and on reaching there two doctors were immediately called who did all in their power to extract the ball but failed. Crawford passed away this morning at two o'clock. He was eighteen years of age and leaves a sister who lives at Wyton.

Trouble in Guelph.

GUELPH, May 27.—Stephen Peer, aged about forty, and Walter Hyde, a young man, reside in houses adjoining each other on Queen street. Peer forbid Hyde using water from his pump, although Hyde's landlord, who owns both houses, gave him permission. Saturday night Hyde's father went to the pump for water, Peer interfered, and it is alleged struck him in the face.

Walter Hyde came to his father's assistance and inflicted such serious injuries to Peer that he now lies at the hospital in a serious condition. It is thought his skull is fractured. Hyde is under arrest. It is said the weapon Hyde used was an axe as it was found on the spot all covered with blood.

THE REVOLT SPREADING.

Cubans Want Better Evidence of Marti's Death Than the Government's Word.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The united press correspondent, writing from Havana under date of May 24 says: The government claims to have absolute proof of the death of Marti, but Cubans here declare that the body must be viewed by others than Spanish army officers before its identity is established. Marti's aged mother, who lives here, has asked the government to bring the remains here for interment. Marti's private letters, which were captured at the battle of Dos Rios, were from Cubans in this city, Santiago and Holguin. The writers are now under surveillance by government officials, but no arrests have been made. La Lucha, of the 23rd, published a letter from Marti's wife requesting that she be allowed to view the body of her husband. The request was refused by Gen. Arderius, governor of Havana.

Rojo, the assassin of Flor Crombet, was captured by Antonio Maceo and hanged. It is reported in Havana that a serious uprising is expected momentarily in Puerto Principe, which will be led by prominent Cubans of the last revolution.

In this city many Cubans say they will go out if the rebellion comes this way. The entire province of Santiago, with the exception of the fortified towns, is in arms. The insurgents, who numbered 3,000 when Campos landed, now number 8,000. They are constantly gaining recruits. Idle negroes attracted by free beef and a roving life in the mountains are joining the different bands, and white men from the towns and cities are also going out. These men form only a bush-whacking army, but with the climate, the impregnable mountain retreats, and the impenetrable forests on their side, they can defy Spain for months and for years if needs be. Battles are fought only from ambush or when they can surprise the Spaniards in a poor position. The insurgents are now fairly well armed. They have captured many rifles and large quantities of ammunition from the Spaniards. The filibustering expeditions about which so much is printed do not materialize. Whether their projectors pocket the money or what becomes of them is not known in the insurgent camps. Maceo is very anxious for arms and ammunition from abroad, as he can now get more recruits than he can arm.

Puerto Principe is counted upon by the insurgents to spread the rebellion west. The rebels in Puerto Principe are mostly whites; in Santiago they are nearly all blacks. Spain has sent over 20,000 regular troops and is preparing to send more. The hospitals of Santiago, Guantanimo, Manzanillo and Havana are filled with sick soldiers. Most of them are down with malarial fever; a few have yellow fever. Smallpox is now epidemic in Havana, but as only a few soldiers are stationed here, it will not affect military operations. The insurgents count upon the climate killing more Spanish soldiers with fevers than they will with bullets. It will cost Spain many millions of money and the time of many thousands of men to retain Cuba, even for a few years. Eventually Cuba's destiny is either independence or annexation to the United States.

TRUE LOVER'S STYLE.

They Met in the Water and Later They Eloped.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 27.—Advices from Tahiti bring the intelligence of the marriage there of United States Consul, Jacob Lamb Doty, of New York, to a half-caste native girl named Mauen Tameou Rraural, aged sixteen. What makes this marriage peculiar is that young Doty did not call in a missionary to tie the knot, but was wedded after the native fashion, which does not call for a license or a preacher.

Doty, when he was appointed by President Cleveland nine years ago as consul to the Society islands, was the youngest member in the service. He afterwards was appointed consul for Tahiti. Doty met the girl who is now his wife in a romantic manner. He was cruising in a small yacht with a friend when he espied a native girl trying to bring to land an overturned canoe. He swam out to help her, and the acquaintance thus began ripened into love. Her guardian objected to her marriage because of her youth, but Doty took her to another island, where he went through the native wedding ceremony. Then he returned to Tahiti and began housekeeping. The guardian pursued the lovers, but when he found they were married and settled he reluctantly gave his consent.

The girl has been well educated and speaks three languages. Doty has many influential friends in Washington. His brother is an Episcopal clergyman in Washington, and his mother is a close friend of Ambassador Bayard.

Or To Be Re-Sentenced.

SING SING, N.Y., May 27.—Dr. Buchanan, the condemned wife murderer, left this place on the 8.45 a.m. train for Albany, to-day, for re-sentence before the court of appeals. He was handcuffed to Keeper Bell.

ALBANY, N.Y., May 27.—The court of appeals has ordered that Dr. Buchanan be electrocuted during the week beginning Monday, July 1.

Mr. Gibbons said he had a new expert to show that Buchanan did not poison his wife, but that she died from natural causes. The defendant was not guilty of murder, and should not be electrocuted. He said his interest in the case was one of charity, and induced by a feeling that Buchanan was innocent. All his efforts for the condemned man were sincere and honest.

The chief judge then said: "Has the prisoner anything to say why the court should not pronounce sentence?"

Dr. Buchanan stood up and said in a low and firm voice: "I am innocent. There was no crime committed in connection with the death of my deceased wife. I certainly protest against the extraordinary proceedings being taken."

Buchanan received the sentence silently and calmly. He was remarkably cool and collected during the proceedings and evinced no interest in the crowd of spectators through which he passed in going to and from the court room. He was taken back to Sing Sing on the 2:40 o'clock train.

Killed By Chloroform.

BOLIVAR, N.Y., May 27.—Miss Bridget Dougherty, a teacher in the graded school at Allenton, seven miles east of Bolivar, died very suddenly under peculiar circumstances. Friday afternoon she went from the school house to her boarding-house and complained of a severe nervous headache. The landlady advised her to lie down and she did so. At 7:30 o'clock the landlady went to wake her for supper and found her lying face downward on the pillow in an unconscious condition. Efforts to rouse her were useless, and a doctor was quickly summoned. Artificial respiration and a battery were of no avail, and at eight o'clock she was pronounced dead. Under the sofa a small bottle of chloroform was found and the cork was firmly grasped in her right hand. She attempted to ease the headache with chloroform, and accidentally used too much. Miss Dougherty's home was in Bolivar. She was a talented young woman and a very successful teacher. Her age was about twenty-two years.

An Oklahoma Religious Crank.

WICHITA, Kas., May 27.—Near Round Point, Oklahoma, a farmer named Eugene Busch yesterday concluded a forty days' fast, which he claims to have taken because commanded to do so by God. Busch has instituted a new religion, which he denominates the "Evening Light." There are already forty adherents to the new sect, and they look upon him as a direct mediator between themselves and God. He has instructed them to abandon all their worldly possessions and take up a nomadic life.

CATARAQUI CEMETERY.

REPORTS BROUGHT DOWN AT THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The Financial Standing of the Company—The Grounds Have Been Much Improved—An Increase in the Number of Burials—Some Lot Holders Very Negligent.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Cataraqui cemetery company was held on Saturday afternoon in the police court room. The financial statement showed the receipts, $2,815.90; expenditure, $2,345.51; general funds increased $470.39; perpetual care fund, $100; total increase for the year, $570.39.

The directors elected for 1895 are: Lt.-Col. Duff, chairman; T. Briggs, J. S. Muckleston, H. W. Richardson and R. V. Rogers.

The report of the retiring directors for the year ending April 30th pointed out that the finances are in a healthy condition. After paying all liabilities there remains on hand $1,038.58, in addition to which there is $3,200 secured by mortgage, and the sum of $1,000 on special deposit. This fund shows an increase of about $500 for the year just ending. In addition to this there is the perpetual care fund, which stands at the sum of $1,000. This fund was increased during the year by $100, the interest on which is annually transferred to the credit of the general fund and so used.

The cemetery has been improved during the year. Two ornamental figures were purchased and placed in the most suitable localities. The many suggestions of the superintendent by way of local improvements have been adopted and he has on all occasions cheerfully carried out the wishes and desires of the board.

The directors expressed their regret at the loss sustained by the death of their earnest co-worker, R. M. Fogl, recognizing as they did in him one who was ever ready to devote his time and attention to the best interests of the company.

George Nicol, superintendent, reported that during the year ending May 1st, 1895, 245 interments were made, being an increase of ten as compared with the previous year. No railings, hedges or enclosures have been erected during the year. Sixteen overgrown hedges and one railing were removed. Besides the ordinary work of attending to interments, mowing and cleaning the grounds, dressing lots and trimming hedges, cleaning and repairing roads, renewing fences, planting and attending to ornamental plots, twenty foundations for monuments were built, for which $116 was received, and for sodding lots, graves, etc., $89 was received; 200 old stumps were removed from sections L, M and N. The flower beds have been extended to double their former size, and 140 shade trees, a number of shrubs and evergreens and 1,000 bulbs were planted during the year. Two statues were purchased and placed in position, namely: "Flora," section N, and "Meditation" in section L, near the quarry.

Forest pond was extended and the stones taken out were used in the construction of foundation for monuments. This pond can be further extended and the stone used to advantage.

There has been a great increase in the interest exhibited by lot holders in the appearance of their lots. There are still a great number of lots entirely neglected which detract from the appearance of the grounds. All the reports were considered satisfactory and fyled.

SCALDED BY OIL.

The Injury Caused to a Woman—Cases at Quarantine.

QUEBEC, May 27.—The local government will send Mgr. Lafamme, the well-known Canadian geologist to the river St. Anne to report on the condition of the river banks, etc.

Several squads of Chinamen have passed through here lately, bound to the tobacco plantations in the West Indies.

While boiling oil in a can a woman, named Gingrass, was badly scalded. As she tried to lift the can the bottom fell out. The woman fainted, and would have been burned to death had not help come just in time to save her.

Since the beginning of navigation there has been seventeen cases of disease at the Grosse Isleq quarantine, most of which were measles, and one death from consumption.

The SS. Ilesworth, from Iloilo, while coming up the river on Saturday afternoon, is reported to have touched ground on a mud bank near Crane Island, but sustained no damage and proceeded.

Calabogie Clippings.

CALABOGIE, May 25.—The continued cold weather with severe frost has told its tale in this neighborhood. Everything is at a standstill, and not a little of the early seeding will require to be sown again. Quite a number of men have been busy for the past week building a pier under the railway bridge which was so near collapsing some time ago. The work is almost completed, and in a few days trains will again be able to pass over in safety. R. Armstrong, of Renfrew, spent a couple of days here this week, endeavoring to persuade some of the young men that they needed bicycles. Two decided he was correct, and gave him orders accordingly, others are hardly convinced yet, but in a few days may order also.

Mr. Scott, Renfrew, has started a singing class in the village with about thirty members. We hope that it may prove beneficial to all attending. The twenty-fourth of May was duly observed here as usual. Four boat loads of young people spent the day at the head of the lake, while the school children, with their parents, enjoyed a picnic at Squaw Point. Quite a number of visitors were in town or about the lake for the day from other quarters.

She Kept Her Word.

OMAHA, NEB., May 27.—A Missouri river fisherman found the bodies of Mrs. Ida Notsen and her two young children. Mrs. Notsen is the Omaha school teacher whose mysterious disappearance with her children last fall created such a sensation in Omaha. Disappointment in politics, she alleged, was a reason for committing suicide. She left a letter saying she would kill herself and her children because she had not been appointed to a position in the office of state superintendent of public instruction. The bodies were found firmly tied together with heavy rope.

The Bright Side of Sheep Husbandry.

The bright side of sheep husbandry is emphasized by Frederick Chambers, one of the most progressive of eastern sheep men. He claims that although wool has dropped from forty cents to less than fifteen cents per pound, sheep (including mutton and manure) have paid better than any other branch of agriculture except the dairy. Even at present prices, wool pays better than wheat, and the decline in price of what the wool grower has to buy is as great or greater than the drop in wool values. He believes that dairying is likely to be overdone, that the rush to quit sheep husbandry is a mistake, and that we shall never obtain a full degree of agricultural success until the waste places are made glad with sheep. "As with other products, a low price has come to stay, but faith in the sheep business should not waver."

Teach the Young Folks How.

We have urged the utility of teaching the young folks on the farm to bud and graft. The means for the latter is now at hand. Get the boy a pruning knife, show him how to make grafting wax and then give him a tree of some worthless fruit on which to operate, or let him select some chance seedling along a hedge row and convert it into a valuable tree. If you do not know how to do it, get some one who does to come and teach both father and son at once.—American Agriculturist.

Lawyer—This case is likely to go hard with you, for the jury has accepted Diggington's plea that you hypnotized him into the commission of the crime. Prisoner—Oh, I guess not. I can prove this another fellow hypnotized me before hypnotizing Diggington. As to who hypnotized the fellow that hypnotized me, that is his look out.—Texas Journal.
