Charge of the Dress Brigade.

Half a league, half a league, half a league rearward,
Right through the mire and dirt,
Much to its beauty's hurt,
Dragged the rich silken skirt,
Half a league rearward.
Half a peck, half a peck, half a peck, fully,
Hirsute and woolly,
Right into the liquid air—
Rose up the pile of hair.

From other heads sundered;
While straddled upon it,
Rode the brave bonnet—
Rode, though it wondered.
Curls to the right of it,
Curls to the left of it,
Curls to the rear of it,
Curls that were blundered.

What though men shout "O, fie!
Fortunes you have squander'd!"
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs but to dress or die—
"Charge!" to the clerks they cry—
"Charge by the hundred!"

THE SEVERITY OF THE STORM.—On Monday morning last, Mr. Sheriff Treadwell left L'Original to proceed to Cornwall, but was compelled to put up for the night at the house of Mr. Angus McCuaig, only a short distance on the way, the roads were so badly blocked up. In the morning although it was storming, Mr. Treadwell determined to proceed in spite of the urgent request of Mr. McCuaig that he would remain. In company with other two sleighs and himself driving a pair, Mr. Treadwell started,—and they proceeded, one sleigh taking it in turns to go a head and break the road; but getting tired of the never ending work and slow progress, the others left the Sheriff to go on alone. Fairly exhausted the horse at last refused to stir, and for hours remained about a mile and a half from Alexandria, not a soul being on the road to help, and the wind and snow raging furiously, till it had drifted nearly three feet over the sleigh. Things were looking black, when Dr. McMillan who had been visiting some patients, came up, and by breaking the road a little in front, the horses were encouraged to advance a few rods, but another heavy drift terrified them, so that they came again to a stand still. The doctor then rode on to Alexandria, and Mr. D. A. McDonald sent on a strong for force to open the road and rescue the Sheriff, who got to the end of twenty-six miles after two days heavy and laborious travelling. Fortunately the weather, although very boisterous, was not excessively cold; and the weary traveller was soon thawed out and completely restored.

A few days ago, while the cure of the Madeline Church, in Paris, was discussing bashfulness in the vestry with a friend, a small, insignificant looking person entered and desired to speak with him. The cure curtly told him to sit down and wait. The small man remained standing. This displeased the cure, who exclaimed, Monsieur, I desire you to seat yourself. Instead of complying, the gentleman paced rapidly up and down the room, until the cure fairly irritated, insisted in as peremptory a manner as to compel obedience. In about a quarter of an hour, business being finished, he turned to the stranger. Monsieur, what is your desire? The latter replied, in a thin shrill voice, M. le Cure, I wish to inquire at what hour to-morrow you will be able to baptize an infant for whom I am to be sponsor? An hour was named, and he was told to write his name and that of his godmother at full length in the register book, which was presented to him for that purpose. To the surprise of the cure he wrote down. Francois d'Assise, Roi d'Espagne, and Isabella, Reine d'Espagne. To complete the scene, there entered immediately afterwards the ex-Queen herself, attended by the notorious Marfort. They had waited until they were tired for the reappearance of the ex-King, and had at last come in search of him.

"Mamma," exclaimed a beautiful girl, who suffered affectation to obscure the little intellect she possessed, "what is that long, green thing lying on the table before you? "A cucumber, my beloved Georgiana," replied her mamma, with a bland smile on her daughter's commendable curiosity. "A cucumber! gracious goodness, my dear mamma, how extraordinary! I always imagined, until this moment, that they grew in slices!

A Word on Climate.

The late Mr. Halpine (Miles O'Reilly) in some pretty verses upon the death of McGee speaks of him as lying in his dreary Dominion. The term may be apt enough as applied at this present moment, the climate of Canada being compared with that Carolina, where roses are in bloom, and green peas have ceased to be a luxury on the dinner table. Yet the word 'dreary' is no more applicable to Canada than to Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin, or Northern New York. Winter ranges about the same in all, and if monotony exists it is equally distributed. But there is the dreariness of head as well as cold, which, to most people, is far more insupportable. The climate of Canada is exempt from those burning periods which afflict that immense territory to the south of Virginia. But the notion seems to have got abroad that Canada is unfortunate in respect of its climate. A greater mistake does not exist. The number of fine, enjoyable days to be found here is in excess of most other countries. In England it is humid, foggy, rainy; and the umbrella is a necessity which no prudent man overlooks. Scotland has its mists and its cold, and the east wind delights to roam through it. In Massachusetts a cutting, bone searching wind prevails, which is far more dreary in its effects upon spirits and lungs of the inhabitants than anything that presents itself in Canada. As a rule, the country is remarkably free from fog, and the appearances of the people betray the prevalence of a state of things not dreary. Mr. Halpine seems to have adopted the idea current in the States respecting Canadian Climate, but one quite the reverse of the fact when brought to the test of experience.

Disease appears to be confined to the Russian journals. In Followyuk, in Siberia, of the party C. S. Ross, not less than twelve; Thos. Kirkpatrick upward; of that Saml. Muckleston two had reached Kingston, Dec. 2, died at the age of

JAMES BARRIS'S Successful Experiment.—We are very few simple articles of food which can boast of so many valuable and important dietary properties as cocoa. While acting on the nerves as a gentle stimulant, it provides the body with some of the purest elements of nutrition, and at the same time corrects and invigorates the action of the digestive organs. These beneficial effects depend in a great measure upon the manner of its preparation, but of late years close attention has been given to the growth and treatment of cocoa, that there is no difficulty in securing it with every useful quality fully developed. The singular success which Mr. Epps obtained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalists. Far and wide the reputation of Epp's Cocoa has spread by the simple force of its own extraordinary merits. Medical men of all shades of opinion have agreed in recommending it as the safest and most beneficial article of diet for persons of weak constitutions. This superiority of a particular mode of preparation over all others is a remarkable proof of the great results to be obtained from little causes. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtile maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame. Home 29

About Straw Paper.

The Rochester Union chronicles the suspension of the paper mill company at Clyde, after spending, from first to last, about $84,000, and adds:—

The Clyde mills have gone the way of many other mills erected in the same way for the manufacture of straw paper, and more will follow ere long. Printing paper is sold now at only twenty per cent. more than it was sold when the war began, while the cost of everything else is twice as great. Farmers, clergymen, and plenty beside, who knew nothing of manufacturing, went crazy to obtain paper mill stock during the prevalence of the war when paper was dear. They thought that the conversion of so cheap a commodity as straw into paper that would sell for twenty cents per pound was a "big thing." They did not understand that the expense of manufacturing, including the cost of large quantities of high priced chemicals, was the great item in paper making. They listened to the tales of men who had patents for bleaching straw to sell, and in many instances took in these patents at high figures against their cash, and now find the patents and mill stock alike worthless. It is questionable to-day whether straw printing paper can be purchased as cheaply as that made from rags, and no one who uses paper will admit that it is as good. The rag paper mills all over the country are at least self-sustaining, while the straw mills are going to the dogs, or running without profit to the owners. If there is a straw paper mill owned by a stock company that is making regular dividends it would be interesting to know where it is located. Diligent inquiry has not enabled us to find one.

EVENTFUL VOYAGE OF A WHALING SHIP.—The brig Victoria, now anchored off Long Bridge, arrived here last fall from the Arctic Ocean, and is soon to be fitted out for another voyage in the far North. The history of this vessel is somewhat eventful. She was built in Bremen for a German house in the Sandwich Islands, who placed her under the Hawaiian flag, and sent her to the Arctic Ocean—either as a whaler or the seal fishery. During the winter of 1867 the brig encountered fearful weather and vast fields of ice, by which she was effectually anchored, and while being helplessly drifted about, her rudder was twisted out and other damages were sustained, until she was driven into a bight in the inhospitable coast, where an attempt was made to rig a temporary rudder. With this she proceeded as far as Plover Bay, on the Asiatic side of Behring's Straits, beyond which it was unsafe to attempt to navigate in the crippled condition of the vessel. Her commander finally abandoned all hope of saving her, and as the ice closed in about her everything indicated that she would prove a hopeless wreck. While the crew were speculating on their chances of being shut up and starved in the bulk, or of attempting an escape across the country, the American brig Manuela, Capt. Redfield, passed by on her way out of the Arctic bound to San Francisco, and the crew of the ill-fated vessel were brought to this port. She was considered a total loss; the insurance was duly paid, and the captain returned to Honolulu to report to the owners the result of the voyage. The underwriters gave directions to have her sold at auction as she lay, provided that anything remained of her, which was done the following season, when she was found firmly imbedded in the ice, situated in all respects as when she first arrived there, and Capt. Redfield, of the Manuela, bid her in for $150. As the season advanced the ice broke up and liberated the brig, when her new proprietor hauled her into a sheltered cove, and, finding the hull uninjured, save as to the rudder, anchored her securely and proceeded with the objects of his voyage in the North, and returned again to San Francisco as the winter set in, leaving the brig to another season of Arctic weather. Last season he returned to Plover Bay in the Manuela, with an extra crew for the brig, and carrying a new rudder. The vessel was found all right, after her second winter in the frozen regions. The new rudder was shipped, provisions put on board, and she safely arrived here in September, decidedly the worse-looking for her rough experience, but sound as a nut, and perfectly tight and dry, although she had not been pumped for two years. Her heavy 32-ounce copper was intact, and with the exception of a new foremast, she will require no repairs, nor will it be necessary to dock her. It was essential to get her from under the Hawaiian flag, which has been done by special act of Congress, and the Stars and Stripes now wave over her deck. Capt. Redfield will take command of her in the spring, and start again for the Arctic fisheries.—San Francisco Times, Jan. 28.

Choptanks had his wife arrested for assaulting him with a fire shovel while at his devotions. It was an aggravated case. But Mrs. Choptanks kicked to be heard, and she said that little Choppy "didn't dare give her any of his sarse in his talk; but he abused her in his prayers, and on this occasion he was on his knees, with a crowd about the door, gathered there by his 'hollerin' and 'a calling on the Lord forgive the black-hearted woman;' 'make her tell the truth, O Lord,' he hollered 'and make her quit gaddin about and lyin to the neighbors,' and I couldn't stand it, and just took him a swipe with the flat of the shovel, and I'll do it again."

NEWS OF THE DAY

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1869.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The Rev. P. Grey will deliver a second lecture on the "Crusades" this evening. We would bespeak a full house for him. His first lecture had the rare quality of research combined with humor, and afforded a most pleasant evening to all who listened to him. The lecture will be given in the Hall, William Street. Chair to be taken at 7:30 p.m.

THE ENGLISH MAIL.—The Mail by the Moravian, which arrived at Portland more than a week ago, reached Kingston yesterday at noon. The snow on the Road between Montreal and Portland was very heavy, and in many places entirely blocked for miles.

SOCIAL AT CATARAQUI.—One of those pleasant re-unions which materially assist in relieving the tedium of winter life at Cataraqui, was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, in connection with the Wesleyan Church. The young gentlemen of the Church had a "social" a short time since, and managed it so well, that the young ladies could not do otherwise than emulate their example and give a return. This "return" came off on Wednesday evening, and those present were unanimous in pronouncing it a capital success, and we feel sure it was, though this is our first experience of "socials" at Cataraqui. It is on the general freedom and affability of the assembly that these socials depend, for it must be remembered that they partake of the nature of drawing room gatherings, rather than formal and insipid meetings. This society was very plainly spoked on Wednesday evening. The young ladies have a tact for management, and every thing went off well. A fine table was spread in the hall, and tempting morsels displayed to tempt the palates of the guests. Mr. John Simpson, jr., presided on the occasion at the wish of those present, expressed through the Rev. Mr. Case, the Pastor. The young ladies played and sung several solos and duetts, in a manner which pleased everybody, and called forth deserved plaudits. Mr. Wm. Cunningham, of Kingston, was present, and performed several piano forte pieces, at an urgent request expressed by all, and showed himself to be the best of good natured fellows. Mr. John McIntyre, also of Kingston, read the irrepressible trial scene from "Pickwick," and from his renowned ability to appear before an audience, a fine reading was expected, and in this respect there was no disappointment. Mr. Nichol gave an exhibition of his powers of Ventriloquism, of which art he is quite an adept, and for some time highly amused the audience. Some of the young men of the village recited two clever little dialogues, and filled up a good space. The piano used on the occasion was kindly furnished by Mr. Wm. Cunningham, from the manufactory of Mr. John Breden, jr., of this city, and the audience as well as the players were highly pleased with its beautiful tone and elegant appearance. The Social broke up at a late hour, after God Save the Queen had been sung, with many expressions of "sorry to part," and "hope you will have another soon."

Arnot's Arnica Anodyne.

A correspondent of the Brampton Times thus writes to that journal: "Some time ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism in both limbs and feet, and confined to the house for several weeks. Hearing of ARNOT'S ARNICA ANODYNE, I got a bottle, and after using it a few times obtained the greatest relief. It took all the soreness out of my feet, and I am now able to walk nearly as well as ever. I will always recommend it as the best thing I ever used for that disease."

DYSPEPSIA.

There is no disease which experience has so amply proved to be remediable by the

Peruvian Syrup,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) as Dyspepsia. The most inveterate forms of this disease have been completely cured by this medicine, as ample testimony of some of our first citizens proves.

FROM THE VENERABLE ARCHDEACON SCOTT, D.D.

Durham, Canada East.

"I am an inveterate Dyspeptic of more than 25 years standing."

"I have been so wonderfully benefited in three short weeks during which I have used the Peruvian Syrup, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality. People who have known me are astonished at the change. I am widely known, and could recommend to others that which has done so much for me."

ANOTHER CLERGYMAN WRITES AS FOLLOWS:

"My voyage to Europe is indefinitely postponed. I have discovered the 'Fountain of Health' on this side of the Atlantic. Three bottles of Peruvian Syrup have restored me from the fangs of the Dyspepsia."

A pamphlet of 32 pages, containing a history of this remarkable remedy with a treatise on Iron as a medicine, will be sent free to an address.

The genuine has Peruvian Syrup blown in the glass.

LOOK TO CONSEQUENCES.—Remember that Dyspepsia is not only a terrible disease in itself, but the direct cause of a whole host of maladies. No human being is so unacquainted with the laws of health as to be susceptible to all unhealthy influences as the confirmed dyspeptic. Why, is the same of reason, does any one continue to yield to the consequences of indigestion, when a course of Radway's Regulating Pills will effect a perfect cure in any case, however aggravated.

CONSUMPTION.

Letter from Capt. Cofill, Master of the Brig "Potosi," of Windsor, N. S.

ST. JOHN, N. B., 22nd May, 1868.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Chemist.

Dear Sir,—In May, 1866, I was attacked with a severe dry Cough, which continued in hardness for some time, when I commenced expectorating a thick white substance, then I raised a greenish yellow and slate coloured matter, then bleeding of the lungs set in, and other symptoms of alarming character showed themselves. I consulted the leading Physicians in Philadelphia and other cities, who gave me no encouragement, as my disease was consumption. I spared no expense to obtain relief, but found none. In August, I had fallen in flesh from 185 to 136 lbs. and sinking rapidly every day. My friends in Philadelphia advised me to leave the ship and go home. At home they considered my case hopeless, and wished me to remain there and not die in a foreign country. I visited St. John in October of the same year on my way to Philadelphia to join my ship, and was advised by a stranger who noticed my shrunken form and racking Cough, try your and, as a drowning man will grasp at straws I saw a ray of hope in the suggestion, and procured a bottle. The effect warranted further trial, and I bought a dozen bottles and left St. John, and have been knocking about the Atlantic ever since. As this is the first time I have visited your city since, I feel under an obligation to let you know the effects produced by the Syrup. I continued taking the remedy regularly. At first my appetite improved,—I regained strength—then my cough gradually left me, and finally the expectoration ceased; and although the benefit was gradual, I could note the change for the better every day, so that after having taken ten bottles I considered myself well. This was about five months from the time I commenced taking the Syrup. A short time after I had considerable trouble with a Barrer pleurisy, and feeling the old symptoms returning, I finished the other two bottles, and now I consider myself as well as ever I was in my life. My present weight is 162, seven pounds above my usual healthy standard. My nerves are good, my appetite good, and general health excellent. I heartily recommend your Syrup to all persons troubled with any difficulties or Disease of the Lungs or Nervous system, firmly believing that had I not used it, I would not now be living.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES,

Hoping this letter may meet the eyes of other similarly affected, and induce them to use the same means of cure.

I remain, yours very truly,

At the original and Principal Factory,
Corner Princess & Ontario Sts.,
KINGSTON, ONT.

Under the supervision of Mr. William Cunningham, whose name appears on every instrument.

THE reputation of these Pianos is fully established and their qualities appreciated throughout the Province, and still further improvements have been introduced in the action by Mr. Cunningham, which renders them unparalleled for BRILLIANCY AND EQUALITY OF TONE, ELASTICITY AND INSTANTANEOUS REPETITION OF TOUCH, which last is of much importance in the performance of rapid passages. In addition to these the Aigraffe system has been introduced, extending throughout the Scale.

Another great improvement in the action of these Pianos is the bushing of all pivot bearings, which renders the action perfectly noiseless after being in use for years.

The public and intending purchasers are respectfully invited to visit the Factory and inspect the instruments, which will bear the examination and give satisfaction to the most critical judges.

The Manufactory possesses the following advantages:—THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF Fox's IRON-CLAD SOUNDING BOARD, the acception of every known, and the introduction of many original improvements, and first-class workmen.

Each Piano is guaranteed by a written warranty, and references can be given to parties throughout the Provinces who have been purchasers.

Manufacture LEFFEL'S CELEBRATED AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, the most perfect and economical Water Wheel in use.

We are the only manufacturers who can furnish the genuine "Leffel Wheel" in Canada, as will be seen by the following certificate:—

Springfield, Ohio, Dec. 25th, 1868.

We take pleasure in informing the public of Canada, that we have sold and furnished Mr. F. W. Glen, of Oshawa, Ontario, Patterns, Drawings, Gauges, and all other necessary information, to build our celebrated Double Turbine Water Wheel, invented by James Leffel; and known as the "Leffel Wheel." We have also obligated ourselves to furnish the same facilities for manufacturing to no other parties in Canada. Without the information we have given Mr. Glen, no one can successfully build our Wheels, and we advise parties in Canada to purchase our Wheels of no other manufacturer. Mr. Glen's facilities are unsurpassed, and we feel sure that he will build a Wheel that will give perfect satisfaction. We therefore commend him to the public of Canada with entire confidence feeling sure he will manufacture a Wheel in all respects equal to our own.

(Signed,) JAMES LEFFEL & CO

WARRANTY.

Our wheels are warranted to work to entire satisfaction, if properly put up, run, and taken care of,—and then if they do not perform to the entire satisfaction of the purchaser, after running 60 days, they may return the wheels to us, and we will pay freight, both ways, and refund all payments made to us thereon. This guarantee will be strictly adhered to.

We call especial attention to our superior Gearing of all kinds for attaching our wheels, made light and adapted to the high speed at which the wheels run. We caution purchasers against using heavy shafting and gearing.
