The Storm.

SNOWED UP ON THE GRAND TRUNK.

The storm which occurred here on Wednesday last was the worst of the season, though a person in the city could hardly be led to believe it, the previous visitations having been complete terrors in their way. But, nevertheless, occurrences have shown that the last storm has decidedly been the severest experienced in this section at all events, and the railwaymen can give convincing testimony of the fact. The line of the Grand Trunk for miles in either direction from Kingston was blocked up completely. In places where the track was low and the fences high, the snow effected a lodgment, and every blast of the storm added to the accumulation, until here and there the snow was piled up to the level of the fences. The railway-men anticipated a fierce struggle with their old tormentor, and were not disappointed.

The trains both from the East and West experienced numerous difficulties and adventures. The express left Toronto on Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock as usual, with the mails and about sixty passengers, including Dr. Henderson and C. F. Gildersleeve, Esq., and wife, of Kingston. At Toronto there was no appearance of any heavy storm, but a snow plough was brought along as a precautionary measure. All went smoothly, considering that it was winter travelling, until the train reached Belleville, where a delay of an hour and a half occurred. Then the train proceeded on, and it was very apparent that the snow and the difficulties increased as it advanced, showing that the storm was more severe in this quarter. From little drifts the snow rose to the height of complete barriers, and it was not at all unexpected that the train would be stuck, as it was subsequently a mile above Colinsby station, and eight miles from Kingston. The two engines which headed the train were powerless to move it, and in the dilemma, the judicious plan was adopted of disconnecting the locomotives and baggage car from the rest of the train, and transferring passengers and mails to them; with this light burden, and the advantage of the down grade from Colinsby to Kingston, it was thought that the train might get through the eight miles. But not so; scarcely four miles had been traversed when it came to a dead stop some distance from Cataraqui crossing (4 p.m.) and there it rested helplessly, the loose snow packing it in more securely. There was nothing left it, but to let it pass the night there, while the passengers and employees sought the generous hospitality of the farm houses near the line, and were offered accommodations for the night. Word of the position of affairs reached the station here, and it was proposed to bring the passengers into the City by sleighs, but the proposition was abandoned, as it would have been impossible to reach them in such a blinding snow storm, especially at night. It is said that the roads were in such a fearful condition, that a sleigh in travelling a single mile upset twelve times. Yesterday morning the storm was entirely over, and a locomotive with a relay of 30 men left the station to relieve the train, the locomotives of which were out of wood and water, and thereby rendered helpless. Sleighs also went out from the city at an early hour, in spite of the bad roads, and at eleven o'clock the passengers arrived in the city. The mails were also brought in a couple of hours later. The relieving party shovelled for hours at the snow, and about two o'clock reached the disabled train. At four o'clock the train was brought into Kingston Station, to be recruited and forwarded as soon as the track Eastward was reported clear. The through passengers, though, would scarcely risk the vicissitudes of another trip so soon.

The Express which left Montreal on Tuesday evening was in a still worse plight. It had double engines, but was blocked in all Wednesday and part of yesterday at Lansdowne, with no means of getting out. The conductor reported that the passengers were making themselves as comfortable as possible under the circumstances, which, at the best, could not be any comfort at all. Mr. Neilson, Station Master at Kingston, left with a snow-plough, engine and a party of men on Wednesday afternoon to its assistance, and after hard battling reached Gananoque yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. He still pressed onward with such success that at 4 p.m., yesterday, the storm-staid train was enabled to proceed. No trains left Montreal yesterday morning or the day before for the West.

Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock an express train was despatched from Toronto for Kingston, and as it was not likely to experience much difficulty, the mails may be expected to arrive this morning.

The people from the country who faced the storm say they never experienced one more severe, and we believe they will not be opposed on this point.

A telegram from Hamilton says that the trains are delayed, and another from Montreal says:—

No trains from the East, West or South were received or despatched last evening or this morning.

☞ The Czar's grandson, and both the boy's parents are in feeble health and likely to die soon.

☞ The crews of both the Oxford and the Cambridge University Boat Clubs are in training for the usual annual race on the Thames, which is expected to be rowed on the 20th instant.

☞ The propeller Georgian was sold at auction at Montreal to M. H. Irish of Toronto, for $8,450.

☞ A large and influential deputation from Montreal and the Eastern Townships have proceeded to Quebec, to have an interview with the local government on the subject of Protestant education. So far as Montreal is concerned there is a good deal of uneasy feeling existing on the part of men not inclined to take a fanatical view, but on the contrary of liberal mind, at the position which Mr. Chauveau seems to have assumed on this question.

THE CANADIAN CHURCH.—The friends of the great measure, the Disestablishment of the Irish Church, quote Canada as a bright example of the excellence of allowing Synods to govern the Church, and among other things elect their own Bishops. A very unfortunate reference, for at this present time the Metropolitan Diocese of Montreal has no Bishop, nor is likely to have one soon, because the Clergy and Laity can't agree upon the man. The Laity want the best man, and the Clergy want the man whom the Bishops recommend. Thus it is. And then again, while his Dioceses, with one exception, will have the title of 'Lord Bishop,' the Metropolitan can be nothing else but 'Right Reverend,' unless he assume a dignity to which he has no claim.

APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. James Ross, of Belleville, brother of the Hon. John Ross, has been appointed Clerk of the Council of Ontario in the place of Mr. J. Shuter Smith, who has resigned on account of ill health. The Toronto Telegraph mentions a rumor that Mr. Webster will be appointed Registrar of Wellington, and that Mr. Eyre, of Brighton, M. P. P. for Northumberland, will receive the appointment of Registrar for that County.

OBITUARY.—About a year ago we were called upon to chronicle the demise, after a long and painful illness of Mrs. Stanbury, wife of Mr. George W. Lester, and to-day we record the death of Mr. Lester, who expired at his residence, on O'Connor street, about six o'clock on Wednesday evening last. Born in the County of Kent (England) on the 18th of June, 1815, he at an early age entered the British army as an Ensign, and served for some time in India. A military life in a tropical climate, not presenting all those attraction and social charms which the bent of his inclination seemed so much to admire, he resigned his Commission, and shortly afterwards married the daughter of Captain Stanbury, her grandfather being at that time an Admiral in the Navy. Mr. Lester and his wife, immediately after their marriage adopted the stage as a profession, which they followed for a number of years in the principal cities of the United States with varying success, after which they turned their attention to Canada, and settled in the town of Belleville, where, with that ardor which chrracterized all his theatrical movements, he sought to establish a love for his profession by building an Athenæum, which was erected opposite his residence on what is there known as Taylor's Hill. We will not follow him through all his devoted exertions in trying to make his project a success, but simply add that after the wearying struggle which he maintained for a number of years, the building and the project were abandoned, and about three years since he became a resident of Ottawa. Here his old love of amusement seemed to revive, and what had proved a failure in Belleville he desired to make a success here, and exerted himself to have erected a new and handsome theatre, but failing in this he prevailed upon the stockholders and managers of the Skating Rink, to have that building made available for summer service, and with what success all who have attended the entertainments there can testify. A short time ago he contracted a severe cold being out at a fire one night, and ever since had been gradually sinking, until he closed his eyes on Wednesday evening in his last long sleep. May he rest in peace.—Ottawa Citizen.

 The late Mr. Lester was a Cornet of Irregular Horse in India, and so good a horseman, that he made the tour of the United States, under the cognomen of 'Llewelyn,' playing the part of Mazeppa in the drama of that name. The horse he trained was then as well known as himself. He left the stage at the entreaties of his family.

WASHINGTON.

Grant's Cabinet.

Washington, March 9.

In the Senate,

Mr. Chambers reported the New York and Telegraph Bill, as passed.

Mr. Borie was qualified as Secretary of the Navy, and entered upon his duties.

In the House of Representatives,

Mr. Washburne's resignation as a member from Illinois was received.

This morning Alexander T. Stewart executed a transfer of his entire interest in the profits of the business of A. T. Stewart & Co., during his official term to be applied to charitable purposes. This course met the general approval of some leading Senators and members of the House, but did not satisfy others.

When the transfer was yesterday proposed to the President he approved of it, provided it could be done to meet the legal obligations, and expressed his high appreciation of Mr. Stewart's purpose. In this spirit they met this afternoon, and the conclusion at which they arrived was that it would be less embarrassing to the administration of President Grant for Mr. Stewart to place in his hands a formal declination of the Secretaryship, and in this manner avoid any comment by those who considered the laws must be strictly complied with. The interview was long and marked by the utmost cordiality.

The President accepted the declination, and thus the office of Secretary of the Treasury becomes vacant.

NOVA SCOTIA.

The Halifax Reporter publishes a letter signed by twenty-nine electors of one district in Lunenburg, approving of the course of Messrs. Howe and McDonald.

Mr. McDonald, M.P., has been for some days amongst his constituents in Lunenburg. Printed addresses were forwarded to the County by the Repeal League, calling on him to resign his seat. McDonald held a meeting on Saturday in Bridgewater. A party of leaguers moved resolutions condematory of his action, which were passed by a large majority. Bridgewater is exceptional in its views, and a large majority of influential Anti-Confederates in every other section of the county sustain him.

A statement is made in one of the Halifax papers which is rather damaging to Mr. Jones, member of the House of Commons for Halifax County, who is now doing all he can to hound down Mr. Howe in Hants. It is to the effect that some time ago he urged Mr. Howe in vain to go to the Lieutenant Governor and request him to get a despatch from Earl Granville which would destroy all hopes of repeal; that he then went himself and assured His Honor that such a despatch would enable him to leave the repeal party and save his honor. A despatch of this kind has since been received and published; but Mr. Jones is still as violent as ever. If the facts stated above be true, they exhibit Mr. Jones in a very bad light, as a man treacherous to his friend Mr. Howe and to his own party besides.

QUEBEC.

The Legislature.

Quebec, March 8.

The principal items of the estimates for the 18months ending June 30th, 1870, are Legislation, $151,661; Civil Government, $203,243; Administration of Justice, $547,555; Education, $325,460; Literary and Scientific, $3,600; Arts and Manufactures, $3,000; Agriculture, Colonization and Immigration, $3,801,707, including $45,000 as interest and guarantees for wooden railroads; Public Works and Buildings, $721,322; Charity, $1,881,145; Miscellaneous Services, $69,242; Collections and other Revenue Charges, $155,258; Postage Expenditure, $74,493; estimates for Immigration only $14,000.

There is a movement on foot among the members of the Local Parliament, to have their indemnity raised to the standard of the Dominion House—$6 per day.

Quebec, March 9.

In Parliament, to-day, M. Joly appeared as leader of the Opposition. A caucus had been held in the course of the morning, at which he was selected, and a decision arrived at to oppose the financial arrangements. When the Treasurer moved the House into a Committee of Supply, Joly announced his position, and criticised many points of budget. He stated that he had come to the conclusion that the surplus of over $600,000, stated by the Treasurer, should in reality be less by a quarter of a million, as the Province was indebted to the Dominion in the latter amount for interest on excess of the Province's share of debt for eighteen months. He asked the House to beware, before launching into extravagant expenditure, of the danger which threatened them, as they were working on a promising, but, to his mind, fallacious base.

Messrs. Dunkin, Langevin and Cauchon argued that the Province could not really be considered in debt to the Dominion, as the actual debts were sufficient and might be properly set off against the amount.

Mr. Langevin in the course of his remarks, referring to the railway schemes, asked the Government to offer them every encouragement possible. The realization would be extremely beneficial to the country.

In committee a number of items were adopted, and the House adjourned at midnight.

Whittaker has taken a change for the worse to-day; inflammation has set in, and he is said to be now fast sinking.

LATER.

Ensign Whittaker Dead.

Terrible Storm.

Quebec, March 11.

The second act of the Whittaker-Challoner tragedy is over. Ensign Whittaker died between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. An inquest with a most intelligent jury, commences this evening, and may last several days.

A terrible snow storm yesterday has done considerable damage, attended with loss of life. A wooden house at Levis was blown to atoms, and the people within, comprising a family of three, were buried in the snow. The bodies have not yet been recovered. All kinds of rumors are afloat concerning the loss of life in the vicinity of Quebec by the gale.—News.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

St. John, March 9.

The new Surveyor General, Mr. Flewelling, was re-elected yesterday for King's County without opposition.

In the House of Assembly in the debate on the address,

Mr. Hibbard, of Charlotte, moved an amendment expressing want of confidence in the government.

The Attorney General replied, declaring the intention of the government to dissolve the House should the motion be carried.

The debate adjourned.

The Hudson Bay Territory.

The London correspondent of the Chicago Tribune has a long notice of the doings of Sir George Cartier and Mr. William McDougall on the subject of the transfer of the Hudson Bay Territory to Canada. He says that the Duke of Buckingham's plan was that a compensation was to be paid to the company out of funds that would accrue to the Canadian Government from the future sale of the lands, but that the company would not consent to this. The new ministry being in power, Sir Stafford Northcote, who as a member of the late ministry, had agreed to the Duke of Buckingham's proposal, has now become the Governor of the Company, and is prepared in the House of Commons to oppose his own scheme. On the other hand, Lord Kimberley, the late Governor of the Company, is now in the Ministry, and he is also to oppose the Duke of Buckingham's project. The plan of these gentlemen is a lump sum, which the Canadian Government will have to pay.

A Polite Request.

The London Weekly Register, a Roman Catholic journal, courteously, but earnestly, requests Anglican clergymen to leave Roman Catholic priests their collars. Year by year the first have been adopting the outward characteristics of the second, until it is now all but impossible to distinguish between the two. There was until lately the stiff muslin dog collar, but even that is now being taken by Anglicans with a Roman tendency. If they are so fond of the Sarum rite, says the Register, why don't they find out a Sarum collar? The Roman collar was introduced by Cardinal Wiseman, and "is very well and very proper upon a real priest. But when you add it to fantastic whiskers, and to the whiskers perhaps a fancy beard, and to the beard slate-colored kid gloves, and to the gloves croquet playing, and to croquet playing a little flirtation, or a wife and a numerous offspring, the Roman collar is not, as an American would say, according to the eternal fitness of things. Why can't they leave us alone?" Our contemporary should remember that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

United States.

It is said that the Indians of the Plains will not take scalps from the heads of negro soldiers killed in battle.

A thirsty fellow in Cheyenne recently borrowed a baby from its mother and pawned it for a dollars worth of whiskey.

Massachusetts ought to be a State in good standing, as she manufactures shoes and boots to the value of a hundred million dollars annually.

A negro in Richmond attempted to commit a rape upon a child 12 years of age, and then attempted to poison a woman who detected him in the outrage, to prevent her from disclosing it.

Mrs. Mary Ann Reynolds, of Chicago, was disgusted to find, last week, on applying for a summons to compel her husband to leave the woman with whom he was living, that he was married to that woman and divorced from herself.

A New Bedford ship's catch of bone on her last voyage, amounted to 36,000 pounds, whose sale fetched the handsome sum of $106,000. Years ago whalebone was hardly considered worth lumbering up a ship.

On the arrival of the steamer New York, at New York on Wednesday, she was boarded by detectives, who on a cablegram from Bremen, arrested Herman Newport, charged with embezzling 10,000 thalers from G. C. Bemkener, of Bremen. The prisoner will be probably discharged, as the case does not come under the extradition laws. He offers to make restitution.

A New England clergyman, one Monday last summer, visited the market early in the morning. While there his attention was called to some very fine strawberries. He wished very much to purchase some, but it being so very early in the morning, it occurred to him that they must have been picked on Sunday, and of course he could not purchase or use anything which had been procured under such circumstances. He inquired of the farmer (Mr. Smith) were these berries picked on Sunday? Mr. Smith, with a sly twinkle in his eye, replied? "No Doctor, they were picked this morning, but they grew on Sunday."

A telegram from Memphis says: Capt. Haines, of the Arkansas militia, accompanied by Sergeants Brown and Finch went to Horn lake, Miss., yesterday, for the purpose of arresting Cub Harland, a notorious Choctaw Indian, who had fled from Arkansas. On their approaching the house, Cub met them at the door with a revolver in each hand, and opened fire, shooting Finch through the body. He has since died. Capt. Haines was also shot twice in the groin and dangerously wounded. Cub then fled.

Coroner Jones of New York held an inquest, on Saturday, on the body of Mrs. Catharine Hamilton, who died under circumstances of a peculiar nature. She had enjoyed excellent health up to within about an hour previous to her death. She was seized with giddiness, with violent retching, and in a few minutes thereafter dropped ever dead. An ante-mortem examination revealed the presence of a large hydrated cyst in the right lobe of the liver, about the dimensions of an ordinary sized duck's egg; and the cyst was constituted of ecchomic, or diminutive tape worms, to the number of millions, as supposed.

Poor Grant—Poor Cabinet.

The cabinet of the big President has gone to pieces. The great radical whale has come to grief against the rock of too much conceit and stubbornness.

Grant got up his cabinet without advice. As he is the greatest man that has ever been elected to the Presidency, of course he could assume this great responsibility which no other chief executive had ever before attempted.

There is a touch of very much smartness about Ulissus that we don't often find in great men, but there have been cases where this smartness has been altogether too much for some people.

We think this is Grant's fault.

He has been so persistently flattered for his silence by the whole Radical press, that he had come to believe there was great wisdom in holding one's tongue, and it has transpired that he believed correctly in his own case, for the moment he opens his mouth he distinctly establishes himself as the foremost ass of the nation. He selected his cabinet advisers without even consulting with those whom he had resolved to choose, and when their names are read to the Senate of the United States, the leading men of the very party which elected him break out in open guffaws at the absurdity and weakness of the combination.

This is not the worst.

The very men whom he has appointed are astonished, some of them disgusted, and others ineligible under existing laws, of which the President of the United States, in the fullness of his wisdom, knew nothing. Grant tried to flank the politicians in his movements, but no one was ever more completely beaten in such a game than he has been. He has shown his utter want of even good sense, as well as experience and observation, and it is decidedly amusing to see the attempts of the Radical press to let him down as softly as possible, when the truth really is that he has let them down severely.

Mr. Washburne, the appointee to the position of Secretary of State, does not purpose to continue in the position, and probably could have saved Mister Grant the trouble of appointing him, if the wise man of silence had intimated that Elihu would be chosen.

Mr. Stewart was ineligible to the Treasuryship, but Grant didn't know that, while the politicians did, and the politicians alone having the power to make him eligible, they refuse to do so, and Mr. Stewart is compelled to resign, to prevent a general Radical smash up. Ex-Governor Boutwell, of Massachusetts, is ambitious to take Mr. Stewart's place, but there is the difficulty of a member of the cabinet from that State already. The politicians want Boutwell. They don't want Hoar. Hence they arrange a nice little pressure upon the latter gentleman, who has already been confirmed as Attorney General, and Mr. Hoar is requested to resign in a magnanimous manner, in order to let Mr. Boutwell into the cabinet.

Thus it stands now.

The politicians have complete control of the whole affair, and Grant has little more influence, and not so much good sense, than if he had never left the tannery at Galena.

The election of such a totally unqualified ignoramus as this man Grant to the Presidency is one of the most disgraceful frauds and farces ever perpetrated upon this country, and it is very evident that if Radicalism is to have the exclusive power of filling the chief offices of the land with their own selections, that something should speedily be done to compel them to select those who are capable of at least something that has semblance of decency.

We have recently had enough of drunken, ignorant, unprincipled men in office, and patience will not permit much longer continuance of it.—N. Y. Democrat.

BEAUTIFUL ANSWERS.—A pupil of the Abbe Secord gave the following extraordinary answers:—

"What is gratitude? Gratitude is the memory of the heart.

What is hope? Hope is the blossom of happiness.

What is the difference between hope and desire? Desire is a tree of leaf, Hope is a tree in flower, and enjoyment is a tree in fruit.

What is eternity? A day without yesterday or to-morrow; a day without end.

What is time? A line with two ends; a path that begins in the cradle and ends in the grave.

What is God? A necessary being—the sum of eternity; the machinist of nature; the eye of justice; the matchless power of the universe; the soul of the world.

Does God reason? Man reasons because he doubts; he deliberates, he desires. God is omnipotent; he never doubts, therefore never reasons.
