A despatch from Rome announces that the Pope intends to proclaim an amnesty on the 10th of April.

A dreadful catastrophe occurred in Paris on the 17th ultimo. A number of essences collected in a perfumer's laboratory exploded and three men were literally blown to pieces.

It is now the fashion in Paris cemeteries to engrave the dying words of the interred on the tombstones. "Oh, mamma!" is the general exclamation with children, and "Oh, God!" with adults, says a curious mortuary statistician.

The ladies of Hungary are determined to have their rights. They have asked the Parliament to authorize the Queen of Hungary, the Empress Elizabeth of Austria, to appoint twenty female members of the Hungarian House of Magnates.

Lord Bury, at the dinner of the Colonial Society, spoke very plainly in reference to Dr. Goldwin Smith, whom he accused of a desire "to dismember the Empire by persuading Canada to annex herself to the United States."

Sir. George E. Cartier was one of the guests at the Right Hon. Chichester Fortescue's official dinner on the 17th March. Sir George and the Hon. Mr. McDougall attended Mrs. Gladstone's Assembly on the same evening.

The London Morning Post says that his Royal Highness Prince Arthur will leave Woolwich, on the occasion of his visit to Ireland, on Monday, the 5th of April. The Prince will travel for three or four months through Ireland, and probably return to Woolwich at the end of the summer, and continue his military duties till winter, when His Royal Highness will leave on a visit to Canada.

Two impostors, looking much like each other, and got up to look more so, are said to be acting the part of the Siamese twins in the west of England, where the people are a little slow at reading the papers. The India-rubber flesh that binds them is filled with warm water, so that the curious, on touching, have the truth averred by the best demonstration that both are living.

About a hundred years ago some good old soul left a house and garden in the city of London as a perpetual maintenance for three poor women and their cat. This property is now worth £40,000 a year. The poor women and their cat, friends of the trustees, are maintained, and the rest of the income, £38,650 per annum, is expended on salaries, on uncles, aunts, cousins, appointed as secretaries, treasurer, chaplains, visitors, &c., who see to the proper distribution of the alms, catechise the old women, and stroke the cat.

From an official report on the English Telegraph system, it appears that there are at present in England and Wales 904 telegraph stations, used by railways and the public, and 717 stations used only by the railways; the total length of wire under their control is 11,635 miles. In Scotland there are 270 telegraph stations, with 2,896 miles of wire open to the public and the railways. Ireland has 63 stations, of which 21 are for the railways exclusively. Besides these there are 215 stations belonging to the several telegraph companies, with nearly 80 000 miles of wire, and 4,638 miles of under sea telegraph cable.

The question of army reform is now agitating the public mind of England very considerably. The present regular force 200,000 regulars with the reserves of 300,000 militia and volunteers, while amply sufficient for defensive purposes, is not considered strong enough to uphold the honor of the Empire in case of its becoming necessary to carry on a war beyond the limits of the United Kingdom. Various schemes are proposed—the great desideratum being, not to increase, but rather to diminish the strength of the peace establishment, but at the same time to the reserve forces capable of strengthening the regular troops at short notice. One plan is to add fifty battalions to the present infantry force, to reduce the strength of each battalion of the line to 500 men in the time of peace, and to have 100,000 militiamen ready to be added to these battalions in the event of war.

The recent pastoral denouncing Fenianism issued by Bishop Ullathorne, of Birmingham, has naturally provoked the displeasure of Father Lavelle, who is popularly known in his own neighborhood as "the patriotic priest of Partry." The Father endeavors to show the Bishop that the Fenian conspiracy is in no way opposed to the principles of a good Roman Catholic, but into this argument we do not enter. In one point, however, he has clearly the best of it. The Bishop had said that "nothing was worth having, nothing was blessed, that was gained by bloodshed;" and in reply, Father Lavelle adduces the field of Montana, and thus drives the nail home:—"Is the Vatican worth having to our Holy Father? and is it secured from being gained and saved by the blood-bed of that day? If "nothing is worth having, nothing blessed, that is gained by bloodshed," why does his Holiness keep up a standing army of his own? We now cordially thank the great truer of the two for his armed standing laid in support of what remains of the Papal patrimony, by the means of "bloodshed" if necessary?"

THE EDITOR'S TABLE—No. 485.

IS PROTESTANTISM A FAILURE? In Five Lectures by the Rev. John Cordner, John Lovell, Montreal. 12mo. pp. 96.

This is an offensive subject for a Protestant Minister to question, no matter that he determine it in the negative. No Roman Catholic questions the truth of his creed, why therefore should the Rev. Mr. Cordner throw the shadow of a doubt upon the benefits of civilization arising from the Reformation? It may be a matter of dispute, whether the peoples of Catholic Europe are more moral or more religious than [illegible] ples of Protestant countries; [illegible] be no question, as to the sup[illegible] point of education, learning, [illegible] science of those of Great Britain, Prussia, and Holland, over those of Austria, Spain and Italy. France is the only exception, and that only in name, for the able men of France profess no creed whatsoever. Having answered the question asked satisfactorily (to ourselves at least) we see no occasion to look into Mr. Cordner's Lectures on the subject, and in fact do not intend to do so.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for March. L. Scott & Co., New York; John Creighton, Kingston. $4.

The March number has come to hand. It contains another of those charming "Historical Sketches of the Reign of George II," the subject this time being "The Novelist," Richardson. Politics are wanting; the events of the time not, we suspect, presenting a very inviting subject to Old Ebony. But "New Zealand and its Goldfields"; "The Northmen, Heathen and Christian" furnish themes quite as inviting in all probability to most readers. The other articles are on "Stage Morality" and "The Arts in the Household" with the continuation of the story "Double or Quits," and a short tale entitled "A Whist Reminiscence."

THE TEMPERANCE HYMN BOOK. J. N. Stearns, New York. 18mo. pp. 128. 12½ cents.

The National Temperance Society have just published a new Temperance Hymn and Song Book, consisting of hymns and songs set to old and familiar tones. A large number of hymns and tunes are given, specially adapted to Temperance Prayer Meetings, which are now being held with so much interest and benefit in very many places. The Odes of the Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, and Templars of Honor are also given, making the book a valuable "pocket companion" for all occasions.

☞ Judge Gowan, of Barrie, has been appointed President of the Board of County Judges, which assembles in Toronto today.

It is reported that the Judge of the Counties of Lennox and Addington will be brought down here to fill the vacancy of that of Frontenac, and Mr. John Maule Machar, a partner of Sir John's, will be appointed to that of Lennox and Addington.—Globe.

 Such was the report in town last week, but great uncertainty prevails yet about the appointment, as Mr. Cartwright, M. P. for Lennox and Addington, is said to be strongly opposed to the arrangement

SWALLOWS.—To-day we may say that Spring has set in, as the swallows have arrived—dozens of them having been observed flying in the air. These harbingers of spring will be greeted with pleasure by our country friends, who may now look forward to commencing farm operations soon.

 There are no swallows in or about Kingston. There is not open water to raise an insect for them to feed on.

St. Catharines is noted all over the Dominion, and in other places too, for her manufactories, and justly so, as there is no town of the same size in Canada that can boast of so many and varied interests in that line.—St. Catharines Times.

 Gananoque, a village of one quarter the size of St. Catharines, and with one eighth of its population, has just as many, if not more manufactories.

WEST INDIES.—Late West Indian news to Feb. 24th, represent that the Jamaica authorities had proclaimed all the ports of Cuba as infected with cholera. The Government of Jamaica had received permission from the Colonial Secretary to apply £216,000, the amount of the sinking fund, to the reduction of their debt of £600,000, which would save them £15,192 a year. The state of the finances required some relief. The several West India Governments had passed the subsidies required to connect them by telegraph to the United States; Guadeloupe £2,000; Martinique £2,000; Barbadoes £2,500; Trinidad £2,500; Demerara £3,000; all for ten years. Sugar making had become general, and the quality improving; in Grenada the quality was superior, but the yield of juice not up to the mark.

A TOUGH STORY.—We do not like to doubt the truth of any of our contemporaries' statements, but the following from the Elora Lightning Express, appears to us rather too tough for deglutition:—Mr. Jas. Gerrie's hired man was driving a team down the 10th line of Peel, a few days since, when he was thrown out of the sleigh, and the spirited team started on the run. A large dog, owned by Mr. Gerrie, seeing the accident, leaped into the sleigh, secured the lines in his mouth, and stopped the team.

THE HIGH CHURCH DOCTRINE AT CHICAGO.—The movement of the low churchmen of Illinois for a convention at Chicago to rebel against Bishop Whitehouse's high church doctrines, is exciting a good deal of attention in the West, and the Bishop's utterances are being reproduced to stimulate action. One of these is as follows:

In the regeneration by Holy Baptism, in the spiritual and ineffable presence of our Lord in the Eucharist, with the Mystical Nutriment through His body and blood, as well as in the definition of sacraments generally, there is a virtual concurrence in the accepted standards of the historical churches, Eastern, Western (or Roman) and Anglican. In addition to this substantial agreement in orders, creeds and sacraments, the rite of confirmation, &c.—Convention addresses of Bishop Whitehouse, 1868, page 29.

The Cincinnati Gazette, in which we find the above quoted, thinks the developments of the next few months in the Episcopal Church are likely to be interesting and important.

New Steamers—Spanish Affairs—Conspiracy

London, April 3.

The steamship Java, which sailed to-day took out £82,000 sterling in specie on American account.

The Cunard line will immediately proceed with the construction of two new fast steamers. The contract for carrying the mails between Liverpool and New York has finally been awarded to the Cunard line by the post office department.

Florence, April 3.

A conspiracy against the government has been discovered at Naples and Ancona and the ringleaders are arrested.

Madrid, April 4.

Marshal Prim, the Minister of War, has asked the Cortes to grant a contingent of 80,000 men for the army of 1869.

The Provisional Government has requested that the late Prime Minister of Queen Isabella, Gonzales Bravo, now living in France, be examined by the French authorities in regard to a plot which has been discovered against the life of Admiral Topete, in which they have reason to believe Bravo was concerned.

London, April 4.

A despatch from Alexandria says another plot to assassinate the Viceroy of Egypt has been discovered and frustrated. A loaded bomb was found under his chair in the theatre, and withdrawn before it exploded. A large number of arrests have been made of suspected parties.

Ottawa.

Ottawa, April 3.

The Privy Council met this afternoon. Sir John A. Macdonald and Mr. Walsh arrived this evening.

Several railway contractors are here, including Messrs. Elliott and Worthington.

Forty different parties have already sent in tenders. Tenders will be received up to Monday night and opened on Tuesday forenoon.

THE ICE TRADE.—At Toronto there are loaded and chartered for Cleveland the propellor Acadia; schooners Garibaldi, Persia and New Dominion, and barques Malta and J. C. Woodruff. For Chicago barque Cambrian and schooner Sweepstakes. These eight vessels carry altogether about three thousand tons. Mr. Edward Browne has the barque Southampton and schooner Victor loaded on his own account. The opening of spring freight business will determine whether they carry ice first trip or not.

United States.

A well informed correspondent says that annexation with the United States is no longer spoken of in Cuba.

The cure for the Grecian bend has been discovered by a farmer in Monroe county, New York, who had a daughter afflicted with this terrible malady. He dipped her in cold water, and held her in the sun till she straightened into place.

The entire gift of Sara Cornell to the Cornell University will amount to about $2,200,000. Twenty years ago or so, Ezra could not pay his grocer's bill.

An owner in one of the mines in the White Pine District, Cal., values his interest at a million dollars. A few months ago he was a poor man. Some of the ore taken from the mines there has yielded as much as $2,000 per ton.

At St. Louis, on Monday, one Peter Muthel had discovered his child playing upon the railway track, just in advance of a rapidly approaching train, and ran to the rescue. He threw the child from the track, but, slipping himself, he was run over and killed.

It is expected that the Spanish Minister will present a remonstrance to the State Department against the recognition of Cuba, and that he will leave the country in case of the adoption of Mr. Banks's resolution.

"Snake stories" are proverbially unreliable. One told by the captain and crew of the steamer "Mexico," lately arrived in New Orleans, seems to be of the usual stamp. During their last trip to the Tortugas, they report that for upwards of 1½ hours they were steaming through a horrible mass of writhing reptiles of all sizes, from the ordinary water snake two feet in length, to Oceanic Pythons fourteen or fifteen feet long.

A Memphis jury having convicted a prisoner of murdering a man who is still alive, found themselves in a quandry whether to rescind their verdict or let the prisoner kill his man and justify it.

GRANT'S CABINET. — Attorney-General Hoar is a Unitarian. Secretary of the Interior Cox is a Swedenborgian, Secretary of the Navy Borie is a Catholic, ex-Secretary of State Washburne is a Universalist, Secretary of State Fish is a Dutch Reformer, ex-Secretary Stewart is a Presbyterian, and Postmaster-Gen. Creswell eschews churches altogether. The religious faith of Boutwell and Rawlins is not yet known to fame. Grant's family are Methodists, and that is the church which he usually attends. From the above it will be seen that it would have been difficult to have obtained a greater variety of religious creeds in the Cabinet.

Canadian News.

The Quebec Fire Assurance Company has received a license to transact business of Insurance in Canada.

After a discussion on prison labour the County Council of Hastings authorized the Warden to set the inmates at work on sawing wood and breaking stones for municipal purposes.

The robbers who stole a number of the Western Union Telegraph bonds in New York a year ago, have been traced to Canada, and parties are on their track. Payment of the bonds have been stopped.

There are being now three prisoners in Goderich gaol, charged with being implicated in the Melady murder. It will be necessary to draft a jury panel of 84 for next assizes, instead of the 72 proposed.

Four packages of raw leaf tobacco, valued at $8,000, have been seized by the Inland Revenue Officers at Toronto. The seizure was made in virtue of an order issued on the 18th of December, directing an account of all imported raw leaf on hand prior to that date to be made to the department before the 1st of February.

The British and Colonial Steamship Company having resolved to dispose of their ships and to cease running between London and Montreal, has induced others to enter this trade. Messrs. Temperley, Carter and Darling who were formerly the agents for the British Colonial Company, will despatch the 'Dacia' on the 22rd inst. for Montreal, and will follow during the season.

THE REDUCTION IN THE ARMY.—The net saving in the army estimates is 1,089,000. It is proposed to reduce the force by 11,121 men. A general order has been received by officers commanding various regiments at the camp at Aldershot, directing them to bring forward for immediate discharge from the service a large proportion of men at present serving in their corps. The men to be thus discharged may be classed as follows—viz., men who are undergoing certain terms of imprisonment in the military prison: men of general bad and incorrigible character, who are not likely to become good soldiers: men of weakly constitution: and men who have completed, or about to complete their first term of service, and who are not willing to re-engage for a second period. As soon as the discharge documents of these men have been approved and confirmed by the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, their certificates of discharge will be given to them, and they will receive railway or passage warrants to proceed to their respective homes at the public expense.

Scan. Mag. in London

There is now a sensation every Thursday in the world of peers and Court politicians. A high priced paper, about the size of the Pall Mall Gazette, comes out once a week with some new attack upon public men through their private lives. This is a novel thing to the present generation. Half a century ago such a mode of warfare is known to have been common; but the feeling of society has long been bitterly against it. The new organ which has just reached its seventh number, is called 'The Queen's Messenger: A Weekly Gazette of Politics and Literature.' On its first page, after the title, are the words 'He, all ye who have suffered wrong!' The first individual against whom the poisoned arrow was directed was Lord Stanley. In direct language he was accused of practices of theft, and of disgracing his name by this criminal offence. The first authority for this statement is a traditional story to the effect that some years ago, at a meeting in behalf of an institution for the reformation of juvenile criminals, Lord Stanley said, in his own case he had, when a boy, a tendency to appropriate other boys' possessions, and this was taken up and enlarged upon in a hundred ways, until every gossip has come to believe that Lord Stanley, when a boy, was an incorrigible thief, and is now a kleptomanaic.

The last number has a ferocious attack upon a Royal Duke, under the thinly veiled disguise of the 'Duke of Faretrother.' The latter name is taken from the supposed intimacy of the Duke with an actress of a similar name. The writer begins with saying that 'Once upon a time, very long ago, there lived in a remote country, and among a forgotten people, an uncouthed man of confused intelligence. This man was a prince of the reigning family, and soon became notorious in various discreditable ways. He debauched the daughter of a nobleman, who never afterward could bear to look upon his polluted child so she died far away from home and kindred, an alien in a foreign land. Then he pledged his faith to the most beautiful women of her time who was lured into loving him partly by the loyalist traditions of an ancient courtier family, and partly by the pride with which her own queenly loveliness had filled her heart. Of course he broke his promise to her in a manner which humbled her to the dust: and she died, also, a towering lily broken—not stained, but blasted. A midnight riot on the stage of a theatre, about a public singer: two infamous public trials, a low intrigue with an immodest dancing girl, not even conducted with the outward decency due to public morality, were the next exploits recorded of this Prince: and then, a great war breaking out, he was placed in high military command.'

This is a war with Russia, in which the Duke in question certainly did not distinguish himself. It is gross exaggeration, however, to say:

'History has no parallel to this craven leader of a mighty host: cursing, praying, crying, quaking and finally running away from his legions in presence of the enemy, having disgraced himself more contemptibly than any other captain ever seen in action, he fled home, and, according to the usual manner of bestowing State places at that time in that country, he was made Commander-in-Chief of the Royal forces.'

That the Duke should be Commander-in-Chief of a nation's army is unquestionably a farce. At the first note of war he would be set aside. The writer proceeds to describe his violence of temper, and his coarseness of language. Not far from the reality is the last part of the portrait:—

'As he grew older he acquired a striking resemblance to the pictures of Falstaff, and became a vain, dirty, over-fed sloven, too slothful to dress himself with propriety. His clothes fitted him ill, and hung upon him in all ways; his very star of Knighthood was dim, his blue ribbon was soiled and crumpled: and his linen unclean. But there was no deliverance possible from this coarse, stupid monster, who did so much wrong and caused so many heartaches, because it was the custom of the country never to say a word against the rich.

There has not been such writing as this in the English press for many a day, and to wonder the consternation and disgust are great.

AGENTS WANTED.—Agents can make from $10 to $25 per day, selling Blake's Dollar Patent Chair Springs. They make a Spring and Rocking Chair out of any common chair, by attaching them to the front legs. They fit any chair and cannot get out of order; they will last a lifetime. The old fashioned rockers are dispensed with, for the house and office they are indispensable. Ladies pronounce them unequalled for a sewing chair. If you want an Agency, call and see sample, or send for Circular, with terms, &c. $500 Reward upon the conviction of any person or persons who shall infringe upon Blake's Patent Chair Spring.
