The Royal Canadian Bank.

Yesterday we gave our readers the names of the New Directors of this Bank. It is greatly to be regretted that the name of Mr. John Dumble is on the list. This gentleman was Solicitor to the Coburg Branch, and that Branch lost $89,000! We know nothing else against him, but we fear that confidence in the Bank will not be restored while he is a Director. To-day we furnish the report :—

THE REPORT.

The Directors of the Royal Canadian Bank beg leave to present to the shareholders, their fourth annual report.

The year just closed has been one long to be remembered in the history of the bank. Business, notwithstanding some difficulties, commenced under favorable auspices, and at the end of the first half of the year showed very favorable results, as a reference to the following figures will show :—

Net profits for half year ending Dec. 20, were	$ 89,201 72
From this was deducted the semi-annual dividend, at the rate of 8 per cent per annum	44,416 20
And there was left to be added to reserve	$ 44,785 52
The circulation at the last annual meeting was	$1,095,452 00
The circulation at the end of the first half of the past year was	1,569,611 00
Showing an increase of	$474,159 00
The deposits at last annual meeting	1,398,050 60
The deposits at the end of last year	1,684,388 00
Showing an increase of	286,337 40
Paid up capital at last annual meeting was	$1,071,260 00
Paid up capital at end of half year	1,140,183 34
Showing an increase of	$68,923 34

The above comparison discloses for the first half year a steady increase of business and public confidence, affording good grounds for the belief that the second half of the year's business would be equally successful and satisfactory.

During the month of January, however, the Vice President of the bank made a demand for accommodation to the extent of nearly one-tenth of the paid up capital of the bank. This demand was unanimously refused by the rest of the board. A series of malevolent attacks by the Vice President upon the management of the bank in connection with mischievous rumors industriously circulated by those who were interested in its downfall, caused the withdrawal of public confidence to an alarming extent, as the following figures evince :

Circulation on 31st December was	$1,569,611 00
Circulation on 21st May was	592,198 00
Showing a reduction of	667,413 00
Deposits on 31st Dec. were	$1,684,388 00
Deposits on 21st May were	828,868 69
Showing a reduction of	855,519 31
Specie, &c., on 31st Dec. was	1,163,343 04
Specie, &c., 21st May was	126,033 09
Showing a reduction of	1,037,309 95

The directors in this emergency applied to some of the local banks for a re-discount of commercial paper to a limited extent by each. Their application for assistance having been declined, the necessity for the suspension of specie payment for a time was, after much anxious deliberation, absolutely forced upon the directors, and the doors were closed on the morning of the 21st day of May.

That the directors have not since been idle in their efforts to realize the assets of the bank and reduce its liabilities, the following table will prove :—

Paid up capital on May 21st	$1,163,728 34
" " June 30th	1,178,973 34
Increase in 40 days	15,245 06
Total liabilities on May 21st	1,766,934 40
" " June 30th	1,066,069 81
Decrease in 40 days	700,864 59
Total assets on May 21st	3,169,100 70
" " June 30th	2,178,218 47
Decrease in 40 days	990,882 23

The latter decrease includes $297,000, bad debts written off.

While every effort was thus being made by the board and cashier to enable the bank to resume specie payment within the sixty days allowed by the charter of the bank they deemed it prudent to look forward to the worst possible contingency, and obtained from the parliament of the Dominion during the last session an act extending the time for the resumption of specie payment to ninety nine days from the date of the passing of the act, providing also for amalgamation with another bank, if necessary, and for liquidation, if unavoidable.

The assets of the bank, both at the head office and agencies, have been estimated as carefully as possible within the limited time between the date of suspension and the day fixed for the annual meeting. The result has been that about $300,000 of notes have been actually written off as bad. This amount so far as at present can be ascertained, includes all losses sustained by the aggregate of discounts of over forty two millions of dollars, being about five sevenths of one per cent loss—a result not so disastrous by any means as has been stated by the enemies of the bank.

Considering the amount of good this bank has done in advancing the material interests of the country, the large amount of business it has transacted throughout the Province, and its present solvent state, the Directors, in resigning their trust to the shareholders, venture to hope that their successors will except office with a determination to resume specie payment at as early a date as possible.

The Directors, as on previous occasions, bear willing testimony to the great attention of the President and Cashier to the interest of the bank during the past year.

Subjoined is the usual annual general statement of the affairs of the bank as required by the Act of Incorporation, to which the shareholders are referred for further information regarding the bank's affairs.

The following is the report accompanying the statement of the Toronto office :

To the President and Directors of the Royal Canadian Bank, Toronto:

Toronto, July 3, 1868.

GENTLEMEN,—The very limited time placed at our disposal, rendering it apparent that it would be a matter of impossibility for us to comply with the terms of the resolution of your Board, first submitted to us, viz.,—"That we should make an examination into the affairs of the Royal Canadian Bank," we were disposed to decline entering upon so arduous a task, when it was suggested that we might perform a temporary service by examining and reporting upon the paper discounted at the head office in Toronto, and our duty was consequently so limited by another resolution to that effect.

The bills and notes submitted to us for examination amounted to the sum of $283,725.77, and we have estimated the same as worth the sum of $228,941.37.

Of the papers valued, the whole was examined and inspected by us, with the exception of paper to the the amount of $50,783.34, which, being payable out of Toronto, was, therefore, not produced.

The paper considered entirely bad amounted to the sum of $18,250. The remaining deductions were made from paper considered weak and slow, a fair percentage from which we struck off for reasons satisfactory to us.

We have not made any estimate as regards paper in suits, being of opinion that the solicitors of the Bank are better qualified than we are to form a proper judgment of their value.

Congregational Convent of Notre Dame, Kingston.

The usual distribution which marks the close of the Scholastic year at the above Institution came off on Monday evening, and with an unusual degree of success. The Schools under the charge of the ladies of this eminent Canadian Order are such as to make every Catholic feel proud. They have for a long time been the gem of our educational course, and I only state a universal opinion when I say they impart not only stability but also a refinement to it, which, without them, could not be supplied. Were the opportunities of a curriculum, so thorough and extensive of its kind, offered to the other sex, we should indeed have nothing to complain of. Every Catholic parent, no matter how humble, feels grateful that his child can obtain, for a very trifling sum, the advantages not alone of a plain English education, but also a thorough training in every graceful accomplishment capable of qualifying them to occupy and adorn any social position, no matter how elevated. Hence the exhibitions at this School are always looked forward to with a great degree of interest, which seemed to have culminated at the recent one. Before the doors were opened a large crowd had collected sufficient to fill the big hall. There could not have been less than 1,000 present, fully one half of them being our most respectable Protestant fellow-citizens. The raised dais at the east end of the hall was beautifully decorated, but its chief ornament consisted of the pupils, numbering over 100, all dressed alike in white, seated on tiers one above the other. The tableau was very pretty indeed. On either side of the stage was arranged the work done by the pupils during the year. It consisted of 300 pieces of useful articles, necessary for ladies wear—proving that the Sisters do not forget the necessity of making good house-keepers of those entrusted to their care. There were also superb cushions embroidered in gold and silver, raised work in profusion, luxurious ottomans, and no less than nine magnificent chairs,—the works of Misses Swift, Brophy, Bowes, Cicolari, and Cummings. In fact, articles sufficient in number and variety to stock a bazaar. The work was only done during the hours of recreation, and is not allowed to interfere with their studies in any way. The wonder is, therefore, that they accomplished so much in so short a time. His Lordship the Bishop arrived a few minutes after seven, accompanied by the Very Rev. Father Farrelly, V.G., the Rev. Messrs. Edw. and Chas. Murray, and Keilty. On taking their seats the exercises began by a greeting of welcome to their guests in which all the pupils joined, then a Grand Overture on three pianos and harmonieum by seven players, next a beautiful floral dialogue by the smallest of the pupils followed by a grand march by five players, this was succeeded by a French dialogue entitled, "Echo de la reconnaissance," displaying the thorough training the pupils receive in French, Miss Kane a young lady possessing a rich soprano voice remarkable for its compass and sweetness together with the Misses Campbell and Brophy took the solo parts and rendered them artistically in that pretty chaunt, "The Mermaids' Evening Song," the chorus consisted of fifty voices, then came one of these very beautiful moral dramas inculcating contentment with one's state in life, in which Miss Swift, as the Countess, Miss Hopkins as Governess, Misses Brophy and Kennedy in the roles of Jenny and Rosamond, and Miss Bowes as the Granny, were each perfect in their personation and elicited frequent applause. The intervals between each act of which there were three, the time was diverted by selections from Auber, Lambilotte and Rossini. The drama concluded, Miss Kane sung with great sweetness and pathos the gem of the evening, the beautiful melody by Moore, "Silent, O, Moyle," she was warmly applauded. The pupils then together sung a piece called a "Rural Concert," in which imitations of the Cuckoo, Nightingale and Canary were harmoniously blended, one of the Sisters then advanced to the front and read a long list of prizes in every department of Literature, without being invidious. The names of Swift, Cummings, Lamb and Brophy were most frequently mentioned and bore off the largest number of prizes. The ceremony of crowning some other young ladies whose names I could not obtain, was then gone through with and was followed by a gallop played by five of the pupils; Miss Lamb in a very graceful manner read a very beautiful address, to which Bishop Horan replied. He said he shared in the pleasure which to had no doubt every one in the large and appreciative audience experienced on the occasion. He complimented them at length on the elegance and refined taste displayed by them. They had a few days before underwent a searching examination at which those who were most difficult to please had been entirely satisfied, and were forced to acknowledge it. He concluded by reminding those who were finishing their course of the necessity of preserving those lessons of wisdom and piety they had received, and encouraged those returning to come determined to gain new triumphs and successes. The young ladies then sang a parting song, and with "God Save the Queen" concluded a most delightful and decidedly the most successful exhibition of the many given at Notre Dame. We congratulate the Sisters on the flourishing condition in which their indomitable energy and unflagging perseverance has placed the school under their care. They have the gratitude of the people for whom they labor, and the only reward they receive. We were pleased to observe the presence of Sister St. Theela, niece of our late venerable and lamented Bishop Phelan. She returns to Kingston after an absence and with an experience of seventeen years spent in the largest educational establishments on this continent. The brilliant success which attended this latest effort of hers is but the harbinger of future success, and we anticipate new triumphs and greater prosperity for the School of Notre Dame in Kingston.

A man in England, charged with bigamy, makes the defence that his first wife was his uncle's widow, and that the marriage is void, so that he has really been married but once. The interesting question has not been decided.

Presentation.

We publish the following regarding an interesting affair at Portsmouth. The matter explains itself :—

To Mr. Jas. B. Mathewson, President of the St. Patrick's Society :—

SIR,—We, the Members of the St. Patrick's Society, having heard of your intention to depart from amongst us, cannot allow the present opportunity to pass without expressing our regret at the necessity which urges you to resign your situation of Guard in the Penitentiary, and to leave the country in search of a better livelihood than the emoluments attached to that situation affords.

We are proud to acknowledge your many good qualities, and to thank you for the kindness and willingness with which you have always assisted us both by advice and example, not only as an officer and member of our Society, but in any capacity in which you were placed.

Please accept this Ring as a small token of the respect and esteem in which you are so deservedly held by us.

We wish you and your family the best of success in your new undertaking, and the enjoyment of a long life in good health.

WILLIAM FINN,
Secretary.

Portsmouth, July 3rd, 1869.

REPLY.

Gentlemen, Members of the St. Patrick's Society,—I thank you for your very kind, and on my part unmerited, and wholly unexpected address. I can only say that the regret expressed at my departure from amongst you is fully reciprocated by myself and family, and it is only when I find, after a trial of ten years, the salary attached to the situation of Guard very much inadequate to support my family, that I have made up my mind to adopt another country, and leave you, my kind friends.

I thank you for your kind but over estimate appreciation of my poor services as a member and officer of your excellent Society, and I assure you, Gentlemen, that it is with feelings of deep regret I now leave your Society, where I have always experienced that courtesy and kindness characteristic of gentlemen.

Allow me to say I accept with pleasure your magnificent present, and though little merited, it will be much prized by me. It will always be my greatest pleasure and pride to point to this Ring as a memorial of the great esteem in which you held me, and as an inducement to direct my humble energies in the right direction in the future.

My reply to your concluding paragraph, is a reciprocation of your kind wishes as to the success, good health and long life of myself and family, I now, in conclusion, on the part of my family, tender you my most sincere thanks for the kindness which I have always experienced from you, and wish you and your families every success, and the blessings of God.

JAMES B. MATHEWSON.

The Royal Canadian Bank—The New Board of Directors.

It is better, perhaps, to abide the action of the new Board of the Royal Canadian Bank in preparing the way for it to resume operations, before going into any keen discussion of its personnel. Our readers, by looking over the new list of directors, will see that five-sevenths of the Board are new men; and that of the former directory, only two have been re elected—Messrs. Barber and Crombie. It is due, however, to the retiring members to say that (consulting what seemed to be the feeling of a large section of the stockholders in favor of certain changes) they did not desire to stand in the way; and while voluntarily giving place to new men, they will all (excepting, of course, the late Vice-President) heartily co-operate with the Board, as newly constituted, in doing what may seem best for the interests of the bank, and for the benefit of all concerned.

The first step of the new Board was the election of Mr. John Crawford as President and Mr. W. Thompson as Vice-President. Both names are well known in Toronto, and throughout the greater part of the Province of Ontario. Mr. Crawford, we believe, was long the legal adviser of the Bank of Montreal here. He is a man of means, of high personal character, and of good common sense. Mr. Thompson has an excellent reputation as a business man. If he can spare the time necessary to go into a thorough examination of the affairs of the bank, he may be able—along with the President and the other chief officers—to render uncommon service to the stockholders.

For the present, we can only express the hope that the new management will not trifle with the great work it has in hand. The affairs of the bank ought to be probed to the very bottom. Nothing, however disagreeable, should be concealed, and as soon as it can be done a minute detailed statement should be prepared and laid before the stockholders and the public, as the first step towards the revival of public confidence in the institution. It is surely needless to say to the new directors how essential it is that their proceedings should be conducted with harmony. There will naturally be differences of opinion among the individual members as to the policy to be pursued; but there ought to be perfect frankness on all sides. If they commence, as some of their more notable predecessors did, with backbiting, with sly and cunning efforts to undermine each other, with petty conspiracies to gain selfish ends, they may as well throw up the task they have entered on at once. Proceeding to that task in any other spirit but that of perfect frankness, good faith, and unselfishness they will simply lead the bank to a condition of hopeless, and irretrievable ruin.

The public have a strong desire to see the Royal Canadian reviewed, and become more prosperous than ever. There ought to be no good reason why this result should not be attained, provided the directors, who have taken the work in hand, exhibit judgment, courage and discretion. We heartily wish they may be successful.—Telegraph.

The Merchants' Bank.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders took place at Montreal this week. The report says the Bank has suffered several considerable losses, but the directors have written off the profits a sum sufficient to meet them, and the assets are worth what they represent. Fair progress is being made in the realization of the assets of the Commercial Bank; which come up to expectation. The rest has reached $700,000. The remaining $2,000,000 of stock, not yet taken up, is offered for subscription. The retiring directors, Messrs. Andrew Allan, Damase Masson, Adolphe Roy, and Hugh Fraser, were re-elected, and, at the subsequent meeting of directors, Mr. Hugh Allan was elected President, and Mr. Edwin Atwater Vice-President.

The general statement shows the Bank Circulation to be $1,148,510; deposits, $3,195,636; balances due to other banks, $169,274; dividends, $147,266; capital paid up, $3,585,426; rest $700,000. The amount of specie and Province notice on hand is $1,296,814; other banks' notes and cheques, $200,340; Government securities, $533,606; real estate, $306,279; notes discounted, $6,627,722.

ARREST OF A DEFAULTER.—Some time last winter a paymaster's clerk, named Bogart, employed on board the receiving ship "Vermont" left with $30,000 of money belonging to the United States Government and came on to the Eastern Townships, Canada East, where he was first arrested and afterwards discharged under somewhat singular circumstances by a Justice of Peace, named Munkittrick. About $1,300 were recovered here of the sum Bogart had taken off, besides a horse, harness, and buggy presented to Mr. Munkittrick by Mr. Bogart as a slight mark of esteem. The defaulting gentleman fled to Texas where he has been caught a few days ago, and is now on his way back to New York.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, July 7.

The Governor General left last evening by steamer for Quebec.

Rev. Donald Fraser returns home by ocean steamer on Saturday. He declined to receive a call from Cote street church.

The Ottawa and Quebec Garrison Artillery have both accepted the challenge of the Montreal brigade to a rifle match, which is to take place soon on the grounds of the respective corps.

The removal of the soldiers is said to have greatly decreased the number of unfortunate women applying to the police for protection.

THE LAKE OF TWO MOUNTAINS INDIANS.—The six Indians who were incarcerated recently for cutting wood at Oka to build a Protestant church, contrary to the wish of the priests at the above place, were brought up before Mr. Justice McKay, at St. Scholastique, on Friday last,—their counsel, Mr. Kerr, having applied for a writ of Habeas Corpus, which was at once granted. The four who were charged with an alleged threat upon the priest at Oka, and who were out on bail, were brought up, and one of them was set at liberty; and, as the priest's were not prepared to prosecute the three that remained, they were released on giving bail, but only half the amount that was demanded before was required now. There were about fifty witnesses present to give evidence on the part of the Indians.

Distinct Vision.

THE CELEBRATED PANTESCOPIC SPECTACLES are constructed in accordance with the philosophy of Nature, in the form of a

Concave-Convex Ellipsis.

They are admirably adapted to the Organs of Sight, and afford the best artificial help to the human vision ever invented. A peculiar and important feature in these Spectacles is witnessed where people have been obliged to resort to Glasses from physical debility having temporarily affected their vision. In such cases the eye regains its healthy powers, and the Glasses can be laid aside without injury; while other kinds of Spectacles, when once worn, cannot be dispensed with.
