Common School Examinations.

GORDEN STREET SCHOOL, MISS FRANCES CRAMPTON AND MISS SOPHIA SCALES, TEACHERS.

This pleasantly situated School was examined on Thursday forenoon. Mr. Woods commenced the work promptly at nine o'clock. The number of pupils present considerably exceeded a hundred, ranging from 5 years to 14 or 14, all neatly dressed, and altogether presenting a very attractive appearance. In addition to the Superintendent there were present the Chairman of the Board, Messrs. McRosie and Britton, Trustees, also Mr. East, a resident of the neighborhood, and a large number of ladies, parents and relatives of the School. The examination was a very searching one as usual, (for Mr. Wood's examinations are no "make believes") and when Mr. Wood's pronounced it satisfactory, his decision met with the hearty approval of all present. At the close of the examination Mr. Ford addressed the pupils and their parents, expressing the pleasure he felt in the proficiency displayed by the pupils, and adding many important hints, among others one to the parents of the importance of making their children attend school regularly. This was, he judged, the cause of some little deficiency which he had noted in some of the pupils, and it was not fair to the teacher, who was liable to be blamed for what was in fact the fault of the parents, for every day a pupil stops away from school, he or she falls two days behind. Mr. Ford concluded with an apology from Mr. David Cunningham, the Chairman of the School, who was not present. Mr. Cunningham has always made it a point to be present on these occasions, for he takes a great interest in the school; indeed it was largely owing to his energy and that of Mr. Carroll that the school had been established, and he (Mr. Cunningham) felt much disappointed at being called from home at the time. Mr. B. M. Britton followed the Chairman with a few remarks, expressive of his satisfaction with the examination; and Mr. East, a resident of the neighborhood, also spoke briefly and in approval of the school. Mr. Woods afterwards reviewed the proceedings, and closed in the usual manner. The Chairman, in the name of Mr. David Cunningham, presented to the following pupils

Cards of Merit—Lydia Orr, Isabella Rogers, James Downing, Thomas Dodds, Thomas Heywood, Samuel Molland, Levina E. Woods, Edith E. Woods.

CATARAQUI SCHOOL, MISS J. GRAHAM, MISS BEATTIE, AND MISS ROGERS, TEACHERS.

The first examination of this elegant new school house attracted quite a number of visitors, including, of course, the Chairman of the Board, Mr. Wm. McRosie; Chairman of the School, and Messrs. B. M. Britton, Arthur Chown, Wm. Draper, and T. M. McCrea, Trustees; also, Mr. Bajus and a number of ladies, friends and relatives of the pupils, among whom we observed with pleasure, the Mayoress, Mrs. William Robinson, the first instance we recollect of seeing the wife of the Chief Magistrate of the city present on such an occasion.

The Junior Department, under the charge of Miss Beattie, assisted by Miss Rogers, was first examined, and the result upon the whole was pronounced by the Superintendent satisfactory, although deficiency was noted in some of the classes. At the close of the examination, when Mr. Ford addressed the School, he alluded to this, and remarked, as he had done in another School, that he felt convinced that this was not the fault of the teacher, but the want of regular attendance on the part of the pupils (which, upon enquiry, proved the case), and he impressed upon the parents the injustice they were doing both to the teacher and to their children by allowing the latter to be irregular in attendance at School. Mr. Ford expressed himself in other respects highly pleased with the examination, as well as with the appearance of the pupils, which he did not hesitate to say was a credit to Cataraqui Ward. Mr. B. M. Britton addressed the pupils briefly, and it being nearly six o'clock the other Trustees and gentlemen present declined to occupy their time any longer. Mr. Woods "summed up the evidence" in that emphatic, yet discriminating and impartial manner, which makes his remarks valuable. As the company were about departing, Mr. Ford asked their patience for a few minutes to allow him to perform an unexpected, yet pleasant duty. He had just been informed by Miss Graham that a few months ago, when Mr. Thomas Conley, one of the Trustees, visited the School, he promised to give a new superfine coat to the best behaved boy at the examination, the award to be left to Miss Graham. He had just been informed by Miss Graham of this circumstance, and also that Master William Robinson had been awarded the prize, which it seems had excited considerable rivalry (where rivalry could not be otherwise than beneficial), and the good effect had been remarked by the teacher. It seems that there was one other boy who reached within a few merits of Master Robinson, and Mr. Wm. Robinson had kindly sent him an elegantly bound book to present to the disappointed candidate. Master ——, which he (the Chairman) now did with much pleasure.

This closed the proceedings of a very interesting examination.

TWELFTH OF JULY IN IRELAND.

London July 22.

In the House, Mr. William Johnstone, member for Belfast, complained of the conduct of the police on the recent anniversary of the 12th of July. He said there had been a rigid enforcement of the Party Procession Act in Ulster, while it had been systematically violated in the south of Ireland.

The Right Hon. Chichester Fortescue, the chief-secretary for Ireland, praised the forbearance and order exhibited on that occasion through the precautions taken by the government. He hoped, however, that the observance of the 12th of July would soon discontinue throughout the land.

Mr. Vance, member for Armagh, urged the repeal of the Party Processions Act.

AGRARIAN OUTRAGES.

London, July 22.

The Times, alluding to the recent agrarian outrages in Ireland, says:—"Centuries of misrule have planted perverse views in the Irish peasantry which must disappear under beneficient and enlightened legislation. For this reason we trust in such measures of justice as the Irish Church Bill, which should not be left unsettled a moment longer than can be avoided. Until it is settled there is little hope of tranquility in Ireland, and the gravest results are to be apprehended from a temporary postponement. Heavy indeed is the responsibility of those who have power to rescue the measure from delay."

Father McMahon.

We have the opportunity, this morning, of submitting to our readers the Order in Council, and also the report of the Minister of Justice in the case of the Rev. John McMahon, by which the convicted man regains his liberty.

Nothing could be added to the comprehensive and conclusive argument of Sir John A. Macdonald, except, perhaps, this, that in no other part of the British Dominions did Fenianism make less headway than in Canada. Even in England itself—as witness the scenes at Clerkenwell and in Manchester—the organization was far more powerful for mischief, than it was this country. The whole public will, therefore, understand why Sir John should have taken the great responsibility of recommending the release of Father McMahon, for the reasons so well stated by him; and those who are best acquainted with the history of Canada for the past three or four years will be best able to appreciate the value of the reasons he has laid down for his recommendation:

Copy.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
Ottawa, Saturday, 17th July, 1869.

Present, his Excellency the Governor-General in Council.

His Excellency laid before the Council a report dated 15th July, 1869, from the Hon. the Minister of Justice, which is hereinto annexed, recommending that the remainder of the term of imprisonment which John McMahon, a Fenian convict, is now undergoing in the Provincial Penitentiary be remitted, and that the prisoner be discharged from confinement.

The reasons adduced in the report of the Minister of Justice having been fully considered, his Excellency in Council has been pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the remainder of the sentence of the said prisoner, John McMahon, be remitted, and that he be discharged from confinement.

Certified,
WM. H. LEE,
Clerk Privy Council.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Ottawa, July 15, 1869.

The Queen vs. John McMahon.

The defendant in this case, who is a Roman Catholic clergyman, was convicted in October, 1866, of having, as an American citizen, entered into Canada with intent to levy war against the Queen, while having unlawfully continued in arms, and with being in Canada with other evil disposed persons while committing an act of hostility.

On this conviction he was sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for 20 years in accordance with a despatch from Lord Carnarvon, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, bearing date the 28th November, 1866.

The defendant was one of a large body of men commonly known as Fenians, who invaded Canada in June, 1866, during which time they committed various outrages, resisted her Majesty's troops, and killed and injured many of her Majesty's subjects. On the justice of the verdict, the learned Judge who tried the prisoner, declared that he entertained no doubt. The prisoner, since his conviction, has been undergoing his sentence in the penitentiary at Kingston.

At the same Assizes a number of persons were tried for being concerned in the same invasion, some were acquitted, and 22 persons found guilty, including the prisoner. Among the acquitted was one David P. Lemoine, a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

Since the conviction of the prisoner numerous petitions from all parts of Canada have been presented for his release, or a mitigation of his sentence. The Roman Catholic hierarchy and clergy have taken especial interest in his case, and the Archbishop of Halifax made a special visit visit to Ottawa to intercede for him.

Petitions have also been presented for some of the other prisoners.

With respect to all these Fenian prisoners, except McMahon, the undersigned would consider it altogether inadvisable to entertain favourably any such application, for the present at least.

The Fenian organization in the United States, which caused so great a loss of life and property in 1866, still exists in full activity; its leaders still proclaim their intention of attacking Canada, and the Dominion is put to considerable expense in precautations to ward off these threatened attacks.

Until this body is formally and finally dissolved, and ceases to threaten the peace of our borders, it would be obviously improper to add to their numbers by releasing men who would in all probability rejoin the Fenian body, and be treated as martyrs who had suffered in their cause.

The case of McMahon, in itself, presents no redeeming features, and, judged on its own merits, there would be no reason for extending to him any exercise of the Royal mercy. But, the undersigned is of opinion that it would be wise to make his an exceptional case, for two reasons, viz:

1st. That there were two clergymen tried for the same offence—one a Catholic, the other a Protestant. The former was found guilty, and the latter acquitted.

While the evidence against Lemoine showed some favourable features which might warrant an acquittal by the jury, enough was proved against him legally to support a verdict for the Crown.

If not all, a majority of the jurors, in both cases, were Protestants; and the undersigned believes that there is an impression, however ill founded, among the co-religionists of McMahon, that even-handed justice was not administered in these two cases, and a good deal of irritation has been engendered thereby.

Now, it is important not only that impartial justice should be administered in fact, but that the country should feel and believe that it has been so administered, and it is especially advisable that any contrary impression should be removed from the minds of the Irish Roman Catholics in Canada.

The second and principal reason, however, is that her Majesty's Government and Canada owe a debt of gratitude to the whole bod of the Roman Catholic clergy in Canada. They were unwearied in their exertions in the cause of loyalty and good order, they spared no pains to prevent the spread of the Fenian organization through the Provinces, and it is due to their influence and exhortations that this nefarious conspiracy made but little headway among us.

As a mark of the appreciation of the Government of their noble efforts, and in order to meet the strongly expressed wishes of the Canadian Bishops, and of the distinguished prelate, the Archbishop of Halifax, as well as for the reason first assigned, the undersigned has the honor to recommend that the remainder of the sentence of the prisoner be remitted, and that he be discharged from confinement.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
(Signed) JOHN A. MACDONALD.

OTTAWA.

Ottawa, July 21.

It is now generally believed that the Hon. John Rose has tendered his resignation of the office of Minister of Finance, and that the resignation was accepted on Thursday. It is rumored that Sir George E. Cartier will take the vacant office, and be succeeded in the Ministry of Militia by Sir Alexander T. Galt.

Lieut.-Colonel Macpherson left for Kingston this morning to perform the duties of Lieut. Colonel Jarvis, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, now absent on leave. Colonel Macpherson has been here for some time, and it was intended at first that he should occupy the place of Colonel Walker Powell during his absence in Europe for two months.

 It is to be hoped that the new Asst.-Adjt.-Gen. will not give himself airs, for the people in Kingston will not put up with them.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicina gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but howevel valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combination with other ingredients, is themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists to a remarkable degree in whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipent Consumption is inestimable.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY,

Strong Testimony.

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master of South Royalston, Mass.

"In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard dry cough, with its usual accompaniment of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health that, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon through the influence of a neighbor to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and, before using two bottles, the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had strained my wonted strength and vigor. Thus has the Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted."

Arnot's Arnica Anodyne.

A correspondent of the Brampton Times thus writes to that journal: "Some time ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism in both limbs and feet, and confined to the house for several weeks. Hearing of ARNOT'S ARNICA ANODYNE. I got a bottle, and after using it a few times obtained the greatest relief. It took all the soreness out of my feet, and I am now able to walk nearly as well as ever. I will always recommend it as the best thing I ever used for that disease."
