LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

Opening of the Third Session.

The third session of the Legislature of Ontario was opened on Wednesday afternoon by Lieut.-Governor, the Hon. Wm. Pierce Howland, C. B. His Excellency proceeded in state to the Parliament Buildings at three o'clock, escorted by the Governor-General's Body Guard and was received by a guard of honor of the 60th Rifles. The band of the Queen's Own was in attendance, and when the Lieut.-Governor arrived the guard presented arms and the band played the National Anthem. He was attended by a large staff of officers. His Honor at once proceeded to the legislative chamber and took his seat on the throne.

There was a large attendance of members in their places when the Lieut.-Governor arrived, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen appeared in full dress on the floor of the House. The Speaker's gallery and the public and press galleries were also crowded to the utmost extent by a brilliant company of visitors. On the floor of the House, directly opposite the throne, were all the notabilities of Toronto, including the judges of the Superior Courts. The ladies presented, as they always do, a very charming appearance. As the weather was delightful, everything connected with the opening ceremonies passed off very pleasantly.

The Lieut.-Governor delivered the following

Speech.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly—I rejoice that I am enabled on again meeting you to congratulate you on the prosperous condition of the Province. Through the divine goodness the blessings of a bounteous harvest have been vouchsafed to the labor of the husbandman, who will thus be encouraged to redouble his efforts in the incessant warfare which the plough is maintaining with the forest; at the same time activity is every where evident among our infant but rising manufactures. Trade and commerce are extending; there is large and increasing demand for all sorts of labor; and although it might be presumed that the capital of the country would still be fully absorbed by the ordinary demands of agricultural industry and commerce, it yet seems that a portion of it can now be diverted to public enterprises in the domain of locomotion and transport, which, generously encouraged as they are by the support of Municipal Corporations and individuals locally interested in their success, promise, if conducted with prudence, to be beneficial also to the entire province. All these labor-employing sources tends to diffuse the blessings of plenty over a wider and wider area, and must result in an increased enjoyment of the comforts and conveniences of life amongst the great body of the population.

I have the pleasure to inform you that the arbitrators select under the provisions of the British North America Act of 1867 for the adjustment of the debts, assets, and liabilities of Upper Canada and Lower Canada respectively, have at length entered on their investigation, and have made such progress as to warrant the hope of an early decision of the various important questions on which they will have deliberation prior to making their final award.

Since last year energetic means have been taken for attracting to this province a fair share of that population which continues to quit the shores of Europe, and I am happy to inform you that these had for their result a large increase in the number of emigrants who have selected Ontario as their permanent abode. In striving to bring about this result I have necessarily incurred outlays to an amount beyond the means which I had asked from you for that purpose. But in a matter towards the promotion of which I believe a very strong public opinion prevails, I thought I might venture to anticipate your approval of some expenditure though not authorized. Further than that, from an over strict observance of an excellent general rule, I should have let slip a favourable opportunity of bringing about what must always be regarded as a lasting benefit to the province. To the best of my information these settlers are generally well satisfied with their reception and prospects. The reports of the country and of the condition in which they found those of their own class who at a comparatively recent date had preceded them from across the ocean, which they transmit to their friends at home, will be an encouragement to others to follow their foot-steps.

I trust that by a continuation, or, as I would recommend, an increase, in your liberality, you will enable me to extend more and more widely, and especially among your fellow subjects of the British Empire, a knowledge of the advantages here in store for the industrious emigrant, and a knowledge of which, where it exists, cannot fail to induce countless numbers to unite their fortunes with yours, and to contribute by their intelligence and industry to raise this important province to a still higher rank than it has ever yet attained among the colonial possessions of the Crown.

It having been officially announced that the Northwest Territory, lately under the administration of the Hudson's Bay Company, is about to be annexed to the Dominion of Canada; and looking to the certainty of this measure being carried out, I venture to suggest the propriety of your providing for an early ascertainment of the boundary line between that Territory and this Province.

I have the satisfaction of announcing to you that the provincial revenue for the past year has been more than adequate to the demands on it.

The public accounts with the estimates for the ensuing year will be laid before you, and on examining the latter, I trust you will find that they have been prepared with a strict regard to economy, yet without neglecting anything really essential to the necessary and efficient requirements of the public service.

It is proper that I should announce to you that the contracts entered into for the erection of the Asylums, and for the construction of the public works intended to connect the waters of certain northern lakes and streams, and for which appropriations were made by you during last session, are in all cases within the original estimated cost.

Amongst the measures which I have directed to be laid before you, there will be found Bills for effecting certain improvements in the Grammar School Acts.

Judgments recently delivered in our courts of law and equity, and in respect to lands sold for arrears of taxes, and for sheriffs' deeds had issued, have created a strong impression that there is scarcely a sale, unless of a late date, of that nature made since the year 1830 that can be regarded as valid. Hundreds if not thousands of innocent purchasers throughout the Province, for many years occupying lots and parcels of land so sold, and on which in many instances large clearings and costly dwellings, besides outbuildings, had been made and erected, are justly and painfully alarmed at the prospect of having not only their farms, but also the accumulation of years of toil and labor bestowed thereon ruthlessly transferred to perhaps a remote representative of the original owner, who may have designedly omitted to pay the taxes, or to his assignee, not unfrequently a greedy and unfeeling speculator. It is well known that the numerous instances of families being lately ejected from lots which the occupants ever regarded, though sold by the Sheriff, as held in fee simple, had led others to yield to compulsory and extortionate exactions as the only mode of purchasing the forbearance of the speculator. Besides the individual hardships to which I have referred, there arises a serious retardment in the process of clearing and improving the low lands, many of them yet in a state of nature, and all owing to the unwillingness on the part of the present claimants to embark in an outlay for that purpose while the dark clouds of uncertainty continues to hang over their title. This state of things, in my opinion, imperatively demands your earnest consideration, and a bill, having for its object the application of a remedy for a grievance so serious, and affecting, as it does, the interests of so useful a class of our community will be laid before you.

I have caused careful surveys to be made of certain swamp lands well known to exist in the heart of some of the most thriving and populous countries in the Province. The result of these surveys will shortly be laid before you, and they show that there are large tracks of land lying in a state of nature, which, being generally or periodically overflowed with water, are now utterly unproductive and useless to man, but which, by a judicious system of drainage, undertaken scientifically and on a large scale, might be reclaimed to tillage, thus greatly increasing the productive capabilities of the Province, and along with that the salubrity of the surrounding country.

A measure embracing features of a general nature will be laid before you for effecting with the aid of prudent advances to a limited extent, from the public chest, the reclamation of these or similar tracts of land, at the expense ultimately of the owners, but reimbursed in a manner which they would feel but little burdensome, whilst at the same time no loss of any sort would be entailed on the community.

To these and such other measures as may be brought before you, I would invite your careful attention, and I trust your deliberations will result in the adoption of whatever may be best calculated to promote the welfare of the province and all Her Majesty's loyal subjects dwelling therein.

The Speaker took the chair at four minutes before four and read the speech again to the House. He intimated that he had given the usual notice for filling up the vacancy at South Lanark and announced the return of Mr. A. Code.

Attorney-General Macdonald introduced a bill to provide for the administering of oaths of office to persons appointed as justices of the peace.

On motion of Attorney-General Macdonald it was agreed to take the Lieut.-Governor's speech into consideration next day.

Attorney-General Macdonald introduced the usual routine motions respecting the printing of the proceedings, appointment of the committees on elections, railways, private bills, standing orders, public accounts, and bribery.

Mr. Code was introduced by Attorney-General Macdonald and took his seat.

Mr. McKellar drew the attention of the government to the fact that the Statutes had not been distributed to the Clerks of the Peace in the country, and that many of them had received threatening letters for not carrying out the provisions. He thought that they should be forwarded.

Attorney-General Macdonald was not aware of this; he would make enquiries, and refer to the matter again.

The House adjourned at 4:15 p.m.

Martin Luther and His Times.

On Tuesday evening, in Ontario Hall, the Rev. Wm. Stephenson, of Toronto, delivered his lecture on "Martin Luther and His Times," in aid of the building fund of the new Orange Hall. On the platform, and among the audience, were ministers of different churches. The chair having been taken by Mr. Wm. Shannon, he called on the Rev. E. W. Dobbs, who opened the meeting with prayer. The chairman stated the object of the meeting, which might be regarded as an anniversary one. The committee intended that Mr. Stephenson's lecture should be delivered on the 5th of November—a day of great importance in Protestant history—but as previous engagements prevented him from lecturing on that evening, they had to select the present time.

Rev. Mr. Stephenson commenced by describing the low state of morals in the church, and the general disreputable character of all classes of ecclesiastics, from the Pope downwards, at the time when Martin Luther made his appearance in the world. The early history of Luther was rapidly glanced at, and his fearless and out-spoken denouncations of the vices of the clergy, and the absurdities of many of the leading doctrines of Romanism, were dwelt upon at length. The character of the writings, and the sentiments of the Reformer, now attracted the attention of authorities of the church. Leo the tenth issued his Bull of excommunication against the Augustine Monk, which, in presence of a large number of the doctors, students, and inhabitants, was subsequently flung into a burning pile at Wittemburg, by the intrepid Luther, who exclaimed, "since thou hast vexed the holy One of the Lord, may everlasting fire vex and consume thee." The lecture then referred to Luther being cited to appear before the Diet of Worms—a most illustrious assembly. When he was asked by the Chancellor if he would not retract what he had written, the noble reformer replied, * * * * "I cannot and I will not retract," and then gazing on the great assembly before which he stood, he said, "Here I stand, I can do no other; may God help me. Amen." The lecturer then spoke very eloquently of the principles for which Martin Luther had contended—principles which must live until all error is overthrown. He regarded Luther as one of the greatest men who had ever lived, one specially raised up by God for the accomplishment of his almighty purposes. The Rev. gentleman was frequently applauded in the course of his very eloquent and stirring lecture, with which the audience seemed highly delighted. Rev. A. Wilson moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Stephenson. He had listened to the lecture with great satisfaction, and hoped that other lectures of a similar kind would follow. A vote of thanks having been passed to the chairman, the Rev. H. F. Bland closed the meeting with prayer.

 The above should have appeared in yesterday's Whig, but so much of our space was occupied by the report of the railway meeting, it had to remain until to-day.

DEMOCRATIC TRIUMPH IN NEW YORK STATE.

Detroit, Nov. 2.

The Democrat mayor and city ticket were elected to-day.

Milwaukie, Nov. 2.

The returns from different parts show Republican gains on the roll of 67.

NEW YORK.—The Democrats have carried the State. The Republicans gain nearly 20,000 in the city, but lose heavily throughout the State, as compared with the vote for President. They probably lose Senators in the Dutchess, Saratoga, and Monroe Districts, thus giving the Democrats control over both branches of the Legislature, as the Assembly is certainly Democratic. Mr. Greeley runs largely ahead of his ticket in the city, but he thinks he is about 10,000 behind in the State. The following State Democratic ticket is elected:

Secretary of State...Homer A. Nelson.
Comptroller.....Wm. F. Allen.
Attorney-General..M. B. Champlain.
State Treasurer...Wheeler H. Bristol.
State E'r. & S'r..Van R. Richmond.
Canal Com'r.....Wm. W. Wright.
State Prison In'r Fordyce Barlin.

The Tribune says the vote polled here by Repeaters cannot have fallen below 20,000.

☞ This is the way they get rid of burdensome people at Ottawa. The Citizen's Police report says:

"Charlotte Bates, an insane woman, who is trying to reach her friends in the West, was ordered to be sent to Kingston on her way to Bond Head, where her relatives reside."

North Renfrew.

THE NOMINATION—SIR FRANCIS JUBILANT.

On Tuesday the nomination for North Renfrew took place in Pembroke, some 400 people being present. Sir Francis Hincks was in high spirits, and spoke with force and emphasis. His proposer, Mr. T. Crawford, and his seconder, Mr. A. Foster, having contended themselves with the discharge of their duty, and Mr. Findlay having been more diffusely served in the same capacity by Messrs. Caswell and Deacon, Sir Francis proceeded to address electors, putting the issue clearly and definitely as between the faction and Sir John A. Macdonald's Government. He proceeded contemptuously to demolish the clap trap that had been made use of regarding the sale of the constituency, and held up to scathing derision the inconsistencies of the opposition as personified by Mr. Findlay grasping after conservative support while opposing Sir John A.'s administration. Mr. Findlay was mercilessly dealt with. He spoke for an hour and twenty minutes. Mr. Findlay, followed, and carried personality so far as to compel Sir Fra. Hincks to brand his charges as falsehoods. Hon. Jas. Skead and Sheriff Powell then followed. The proceedings ended orderly, with cheers for the Queen.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Dublin, Nov. 2.

Archbishop Cullen, in a pastoral just issued, exhorts all members of societies similar to the Fenian organization to abandon them. He adverts to the evils sustained by Spain and Italy through the action of secret societies, and says the members of such organizations will incur the penalty of excommunication and cannot participate in the jubilee which has just been published.

The Times' to-day in an article on the influence of Rome says: "The Catholic church must be withdrawn from undue Roman preponderance and the city of Rome from ecclesiastical domination. It is only by ceasing to be an Italian sovereign that the Pope can aspire to become a universal pontiff."

ESCAPE FROM THE PENITENTIARY.—On Tuesday morning about eleven o'clock, two Indian convicts made their escape from the Penitentiary grounds. They were good conduct men, as highly trusted as a prisoner can be, and were employed as stonemasons at work outside the prison where they would enjoy more freedom. On Wednesday morning they were taken out as usual with the gangs, to work at the improvement going on in front of the Institution, in preparation for the erection of the Warden's residence. About eleven o'clock they were missed from their gang, and active search for them begun, but they seem to have had a good start, and have so far kept the war path successfully, concealing their trail. On Monday two strange Indians were seen around Portsmouth, and as they have not appeared but on that occasion, it is believed they deposited two suits of plain clothes in such a situation that the runaway convicts got possession of them, and affected a change of their prison garb in the work house, carefully concealing their discarded and despised official suits under a covering. From the work house they got away unnoticed, and the direction they took is unknown. Some farmers near Odessa saw two Indians leave a swamp and enter a field on Tuesday night, and forthwith proceeded with a lantern to search a haystack near by, but as they approached they saw the twain glide off in an opposite direction. It is a question whether these two were not the decoys seen in Portsmouth though. The following are the names of absentees, one of whom is said to be a powerful man and dangerous antagonist:

Isaac Loterage, 5 ft. 10 in., height; 40 years old; fht face; black hair.

Joseph Bombery, 6ft. 1in., height; 36 years old; slight stoop; sickly look.

BREAKFAST.—Epp's Cocoa.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favorite. The Civil Service Gazette remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb. tined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE.—A case has recently been tried at New York, the result of which shows that the courts of law are not entirely subservient to the interest of Railway Companies. An Act is in existence which provides that the Hudson River Railroad shall charge passengers two-and-a-half cents per mile during the winter months, and two cents per mile during the other months of the year. Passengers charged more than these rates can recover the overcharged sum and a fine of $50 for each instance of being overcharged. A party by the name of Johnston finding that the Hudson River Railway overcharged him determined to avenge himself by means of the law. He therefore continued to ride up and down on the road protesting each time that he paid his fare. On one occasion he refused to pay and was ejected under protest. He has now brought a suit against the Company and has recovered the overcharges, fines, interest and costs, in all $27,319. He thinks Railroads a great invention.

STILL ANOTHER HORROR.

Port Jervis, N. Y., Nov. 1.

A railroad accident occurred near Narrowsburg, 26 miles west of Port Jervis, at about 4 o'clock this morning, by which one man was burned to death, and fourteen cars, loaded with coal oil, tobacco and cotton, were entirely consumed.

When the fire had reached its height a man was seen in the midst of the glaring flames, but it was impossible to approach near enough to render the victim any aid, and he was in a short time completely roasted. His name was James Rourke, and he was a brakesman on the train. He had in some manner become fastened between the cars in such a way as to be unable to extricate himself before being suffocated by the rapidly approaching flames. He resided at Lackawaxen.

The fire is supposed to have originated from the locomotive. Eight cars of oil and six of cotton and tobacco were consumed.

FIRE & LIFE 1720

LONDON Assurance Corporation.

No. 7 Royal Exchange, Cornhill, London, England.

HEAD AGENCY OFFICE, 36 St. Francois Xavier Street, Montreal.

$150,000 Invested in Government Securities, In conformity with the Act of Parliament.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

INSURANCES against Loss by Fire on the most favorable terms.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

The Corporation has granted Assurances on Lives for nearly a Century and a Half, having issued its First Policy on the 7th June, 1721.

Two-thirds of the entire Profits, without any deduction for expenses of management, are allotted to the Assured. This arrangement will be found to be more advantageous to the Policy-holders than an apparently larger proportion of the Profits, subject to the expenses of management. The Profits are declared at the end of every five years, and the share of the Policy-holders may be appropriated either in increase of the Sum Assured, or as an immediate Cash payment
