Presentation and Address to the Reverend Father Edward Murray, of Wolfe Island.

On last Wednesday a number of the Catholic gentlemen of this city waited upon the Rev. Father Murray, at his residence on Wolfe Island, and presented him with a valuable gold watch, purchased at a cost of $150, from Mr. Spangenburg, of this city. On the inside of the case is the following inscription beautifully engraved by Mr. Ireland:—"Presented to Father Edward Murray by the Catholics of Kingston, November, 1869."

Mr. Murray is a nephew of His Lordship, the Right Rev. Bishop Horan, and has been connected with the Parish of Kingston for the past two years, during which time he has been exceedingly popular with all classes, and the address truly represents their opinion. He has been lately removed to Wolfe Island to take the place formerly occupied by Father Graham.

The following address was read by Mr. Macarow:—

To the Rev. Father Edward Murray:

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—The Catholics of this city cannot allow you to depart from them, and assume the duties of your new mission, without giving expression to the feelings of love and respect they bear towards you.

As a Priest, your conduct has been marked with exemplary zeal for religion, sincere piety and active benevolence—while your social intercourse amongst us has been kind, courteous and unassuming.

While we deeply regret the necessity that separates you from the Catholics of Kingston, we cannot help congratulating the people of Wolfe Island on having secured the services of a Gentleman already distinguished in the Church for his learning and ability.

In losing you the poor of the city have lost the services of a kind and zealous pastor—ever ready to minister to their wants—and from his limited means, ready at all times to afford them a generous assistance.

Be assured, Reverend and Dear Sir, the recollection of your many good and charitable acts will long be remembered by the people of Kingston, and we beg of you to accept our best wishes for your continued happiness and usefulness in your new home.

In conclusion we beg your acceptance of the accompanying gift as a slight token of our respect and esteem at parting with you.

Signed on behalf of the Catholics of Kingston,

D. MACAROW,
M. SULLIVAN,
M. FLANAGAN.

Kingston, 10th November, 1869.

The Reverend Gentleman responded at some length, thanking the Catholics of Kingston for their kind and valuable gift. Some of the happiest days of his life he had spent in Kingston, and he would long remember the kindness and generosity of his friends on the present occasion.

TRENTON

Accident—Suicide and Disastrous Fire.

Trenton, Nov. 16, 1869.

DEAR WHIG:—I send the following items of news which are ahead of the telegraph despatches.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Coleman, of Belleville, was killed by being thrown out of his buggy, his horse running away. While his sister, Mrs. Henry Euston of Coburg, was in Belleville, she received a telegram that her husband committed suicide on Friday by shooting himself. Euston was collector of Customs at Coburg, formerly of Belleville. The jury at a subsequent inquest returned a verdict of death from a gun shot wound.

At four o'clock on Sunday morning, O. H. Gordon's large flouring Mills and Peter Ford's Paper Mill, situated on the front road, three miles from here, were burned to the ground. The whole were destroyed. This is an immense loss to this place or it was a market for wheat. There is an insurance of $7000 on Gordon's Mills but none on Ford's Mill. The fire commenced in Ford's Mill but from what cause is not known. A great quantity of wheat was consumed.

THE EDITOR'S TABLE—No. 516.

New Publications received last week:—

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE for December. Elliot, Thomas & Talbot, Boston, $1.50.

An old friend back again. It is a marvellously cheap and handsome Magazine. Its table of contents is varied and charming, embracing the usual fine variety of serials, sketches, stories, poems and attractive engravings. The publishers announce in the prospectus for the coming year, a serial story for adults, by the popular Magazine writer, James Franklin Fitts, and a juvenile serial by the young people's favorite, Horatio Alger, jr. The price of this periodical is a marvel to everybody—a hundred page first-class illustrated Magazine for fifteen cents, or $1.50 per year, is indeed wonderfully cheap.

THE CHURCHMAN'S MAGAZINE for November. T. & T. White, Hamilton. $2.

This work is but in its infancy—but an infancy that promises an early manhood. It is very ably conducted, and is moreover a Monthly that good Churchmen should delight to patronize.

THE AMERICAN ARTISAN for Nov. 10th. $2.

EVERY SATURDAY for Nov. 20th. Fields, Osgood & Co. 10 cents.

RETURN OF ALL LICENSES ISSUED TO AMERICAN FISHERMEN AND CORRESPONDENCE. 8vo. pp. 48.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ASYLUMS, PRISONS, HOSPITALS, &c., IN ONTARIO. 8vo. pp. 85.

Both the above are Blue Books. The first issued by the Dominion Government, and the other by that of Ontario. This latter contains such a variety of useful information that we can use none of it now, but must have recourse to its pages as occasion may require. Mr. Langmuir, the Ontario Inspector, seems to have done as much work during the last year, and has done it well too, as the three former Inspectors did during the whole time of their having office.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for December. C. J. Peterson, Philadelphia. $2.

The publisher promises so much for the forthcoming volume for 1870, that the ladies would do well to make up three Clubs forthwith.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL for November 20th. D. Appleton & Co., New York. 10 cents.

Subscriptions remitting $4, U. S. C., will receive the Journal from November to January, (two months). This offer is open until the end of the year, and is applicable to Clubs as well as to individual subscriptions. This is the best investment, in a literary point of view, that we can recommend to our readers, for Appleton's Miscellany is a weekly first class publication.

LONDON SOCIETY for November. W. C. Chewett & Co., Toronto; John Creighton, Kingston. One shilling sterling.

Not so good as usual—the 'Run to the South, &c.,' is very snobbish and cockneyish; and the novellette, 'Only for the Season,' rather mediocre for 'London Society.' Some things, however, are very good—such as 'A Provincial Ball in France,' and 'The Early Days of Napoleon III.' The illustrations are superb as usual.

THE LADY'S BOOK for December. L. A. Godey, Philadelphia. $3.

The Publisher calls this 'a Holiday Number,' and it is rather richer than usual with attractions, Two Steel Plates. Two Christmas Plates. Colored Plate of a Cushion in Bead-work, and another large Sheet of Embroidery Patterns. 'Nameless and Friendless' is the title of the first steel plate. Then comes a handsome title page, with tableau pictures, also engraved on steel. A tinted picture, representing children engaged in Christmas sports. A colored fashion-plate. Cushion in bead-work, handsomely printed in colors. Extension Sheet. Skating Costumes. Fancy Costumes for Children. A page containing fifteen designs of bonnets, hats and headdresses. A great variety of other useful and ornamental designs are scattered through the number.

RAPPORT DE COMMISSAIRE DE L'AGRICULTURE ET TRAVAUX PUBLICS DE LA PROVINCE DE QUEBEC. Pour 1868. Montreal. 8vo., pp. 346.

A Blue Book, giving a very faithful and minute account of all Public Works of Quebec up to the date of publication, together with full details of all Agricultural matters for a like period. The Lower Canadians are waking up when they get out such a Blue Book as the one before us.

THE CANADA LAW JOURNAL for October. W. C. Chewett & Co., Montreal. $3.

THE AMERICAN STOCK BOOK for November. N. P. Boyer & Co., Parksburgh, Pa. $1.

THE MONTHLY FARMER'S ADVOCATE for November. W. Weld, London, Ont. $1.

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW for October. Reprint by L. Scott & Co., New York. $4.

Contents—No. 1, The Ecumenical Council; 2, Fairfield's Travels in the Caucasus; 3, Due D'Aumale's Lives of the Condes; 4, Thornton on Labor; 5, Count Bismarck; 6, Robinson's Parks and Gardens of Paris; 7, Ferguson on Free and Serpent Worship; 8, Diaries of Henry Crabb Robinson; 9, Indian Judges. British and Native; 10, The Victorial of Don Pedro Nino; 11, Mill on the Subjection of Women.

THE JOURNAL OF EDUCATION for Quebec for October. E. Senecal, Montreal. $1.

THE CANADIAN ILLUSTRATED NEWS, Oct. 31st., No. 1. 10 cents.

This is the promised publication of Mr. G. E. Desbarats, now of Montreal, the son of the late Queen's Printer. For Canada it may be called a Great Publication, for great it is in every point of view. It is the same size as its London namesake, and its letter press is quite as good and interesting. Of the Embellishments we hardly know how to express ourselves:—the designs of the Engraving are excellent; but somewhat blurred in printing off. The new Legeo type, as yet, does not work well, but when that is mended, the 'Canadian Illustrated News' will be as near perfection as a periodical can expect to be.

Since the above was written No. 2 has come to hand, and is more free of the only imperfection.

GRISCHUCKLE, Nos. 5 et 6, Montreal. 5 cents.

We are happy to see 'L'homme qui rit' again, after a short suspension. The wit and small talk are getting better while the illustrations are as good as before. The Hyena crossing to the dead ear is very excellent. Poor Hincks, he catches it again.

NEW MUSIC.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY for November. J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, New York. $3.

The very best musical periodical, and the cheapest that we know of. It contains 48 pages of musical matter, including 15 Pieces of the Choicest New Music. Every one who has a Piano Forte should subscribe to this Monthly—it would save a little fortune in Sheets of Music.

APPOINTMENT.—14th Battalion, Princess of Wales' Own, Kingston, No. 6 Company.—To be Captain: Quarter-Master Frederick Smith Rees, M.S., vice C. L. Stephens, who is permitted to retire, retaining his rank.

Dreadful Accident at Cataraqui Crossing.

A very lamentable accident occurred at the railway crossing, Cataraqui, on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Thos. Clyde, jr., was returning with his two sisters from church in the city, to the residence of their father, Mr. Thos. Clyde, councillor in the township of Kingston, at about one o'clock when their horse took fright at this crossing at an approaching freight train going east and became unmanageable. The horse rushed with the buggy on the passing train, came in collision with it and was killed. The animals body was cut in two, and parts of it were scattered along the line for two hundred yards. The buggy was smashed to atoms and Mr. Clyde and his sisters were severely injured. The young man received a severe wound near the temple, fracturing his skull, and sustained besides several contusions. The younger sister also received a fracture of the skull. The elder one had her left shoulder joint fractured, a severe wound of the scalp and some contusions. Hopes are entertained for the recovery of all, but they were at last accounts in great danger. All three are now lying at their fathers house, about a mile from the site of the accident, having been taken there by the assistance of sympathizing neighbors. Surgical aid was procured for them both at Cataraqui and from Kingston. Dr. Brown attending from the village and Drs. H. Yates and O. Yates, from the city. From the statements of several persons who witnessed the accident, it appears that the customary signal was not given by those on the train.

Father McMahon.

DEAR WHIG,—I am sorry you published this morning the "statement" of Father McMahon before reading it. I had felt, in common with thousands, much sympathy for him, and rejoiced at his liberation. The statement, however, certifies to his being an unprincipled, lying scoundrel, and an ungrateful ruffian—that he is a moral cutthroat, who, with the basest falsehoods, attempts to stir up hatred and murder of Canadians citizens.

Every one in Canada knows that his account of his treatment in the Penitentiary is false from beginning to end. That, on the other hand, he was treated with the utmost consideration,—even with a stretch of the rules of the prison in his favor. The actual treatment that this wretch received is so patent to every body, that further comment is unnecessary.

Yours, &c.,

J. D.

Kingston, Nov. 15.

Railroad Meeting at Newburgh.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 6th, a meeting of the ratepayers of this municipality was called by order of the Reeve, A. Caton, Esq., to receive the report from the delegates appointed to attend the meeting held at Kingston on the 2nd inst.

Mr. Caton was appointed chairman. After explaining the object of the meeting, he called on J. D. Ham, Esq., one of the delegates, to give an account of the meeting held at Kingston, which he did in a very satisfactory manner.

Several gentlemen were then called upon to express their views on the subject, which they did very readily, all approving of the advisability of securing the route of the projected railway through this municipality.

After discussing the subject for some time it was moved by D. B. Stickney, Esq., seconded by Thos. Scott, Esq., that in the event of the contemplated Railroad between the City of Kingston and Village of Madoc, passing within the limits of this municipality, that a bonus of $5,000 be given, and stock to the amount of $5,000 be taken by this municipality. Carried unanimously.

A committee was then appointed to canvass the village to ascertain the amount of private stock that will be taken.

That celebrated traveller, Dr. Edward Daniel Clark, has read a most severe lecture in one of his works on the "half measures" which so many content themselves with. Let us instance a fact in point. In hot climates the beautiful and elastic membrane which covers the roots of the human hair becomes (particularly when dust is added to heat, as when travelling, at races, &c. &c.,) much disordered, and the hair itself becomes thin and falls off. Many, in the face of all this, neglect all precaution, and the consequence is deplorable. And is there no remedy? Read the following:—"Gentlemen—Some months ago the hair of my head began to fall off, and came away with the comb in such quantities that I was afraid of losing it entirely. A young lady recommended your Macassar Oil, and I felt grateful to you for its unexpected good effects, my head of hair by its use, being now perfectly restored. I am, &c., M. A." The original letter is in Messrs. Rowlands' possession, and will be shown to any one desirous of authenticating the above. We must caution purchasers not to allow spurious imitations of Messrs. Rowlands' Macassar Oil to be palmed off on them, as they are aware that many such are made and sold, and which not only are worthless, but frequently dangerous to use. The genuine article may be obtained at most of the respectable Chemists and Storekeepers throughout the country.

A PHENOMENON.—There is a theory held by some, and especially phrenologists, that there is something of the nature of an electric current pervading spaces by which communications are in some way conveyed to the brain, (though not consciously to the individual,) of the near presence of some individual or other, and which has given rise to the old saw, "speak of the devil and he'll appear." A phenomenon akin to this theory occurred here the other day. About the same time that the Indians escaped from the penitentiary, a Kingston an Indian boy disappeared very mysteriously from the gaol here, and strange to say, like the Indians at Kingston, he has not since been heard of.—Peel Banner, Brampton.

The China Mission.

(To the Editor of the Times.)

SIR,—It is with great interest that the English of the extreme East have read the debates on the China missions, and the leader in your paper to the same effect.

By the time that this letter reaches you the interval that must elapse will be too great to suppose that even the faintest trace of public interest will be left in the matter; but still there are a few who it effects directly, and others, aside, who are compelled, however great a nuisance it may be to them, to take an interest in the matter; and it is to them that I would address a few words, which I can be trusted to do the more impartially as I am utterly indifferent to both sides of the question, and I will merely record the few things that have fallen under my notice during a three years' residence in China, Formosa, and Japan. It is hardly necessary to say that there is not the least resemblance in conducting the Roman Catholic and Protestant missions. While the former endure every hardship, lead a wandering precarious life in the remote regions of Thibet, in the wilds of lower China, for instance, where their lives are completely buried, and their death often remains unknown for years after it has occurred, the latter are the sleek, typical, undereducated class, who are represented in England by the Bible readers and lecturers in the small Sunday school rooms of the provincial towns. There they find themselves, to their utter astonishment, almost political agents (certainly as far as doing mischief is concerned) in obstinate defiance of the requests of their own Government, and with narrow minded, bigoted prejudices against the people they come to convert. While I have attempted roughly to sketch the poor lay brother, a Franciscan of Rome, with no pay, no house—nothing but his breviary and his Chinese food, let me draw, with the object staring me and all other Eastern sojourners in the face, the comfortable bung-faced wife worthy missionary—on a hill, to catch the least air from the south-west monsoon, with his mosquito curtains and his China logs, his well-stocked table and full cellar, his conventicle not a stone's throw from the house—probably his wife and children [the last certainly above the promotion usually allotted to men] perfect immunity from all personal danger, with the inevitable gunboat under his windows.

I refrain from saying how they teach, or what they teach, or by what process they succeed in making the mission of peace and mercy an eternal cause of strife and bloodshed. For the same reasons am I unwilling to bear testimony to the amount of "fruit" these valuable husbandmen produce, but I may fearlessly call all China to witness that of all the rascals that infest Shanghai, Hongkong, or Canton, few exceed in villany these precious lambs rescued from the toils of the Chinese Devil, whoever that may be.

But if they did nothing more than what I have already referred to the evil itself might be easily cured by having a better class of men, by having them more under control, and by a distinct determination that they should really be missionaries, and not so many well-housed, over-fed, illiterate persons, enjoying comfortable homes and good incomes, and doing worse than nothing. It is absurd the public at home should be made to support such an intolerable incubus as the fleet in China, which was distinctly proclaimed as necessary for the protection of the missionaries, while, at the same time we are throwing off the burden of an ancient and magnificent establishment at home.

The present First Lord of the Admiralty is no doubt, perfectly well informed as to the necessities of the China station; and if he carries out his reductions still more; if he can by that measure compel the missionaries to reside in recognized localities of safety—he will do more to preserve the peace between the two countries, and to pour the commerce into its legitimate channels than probably he has any idea of.

What can be more disastrous for the general traveller out in these remote regions than a horde of self-dubbed proselytizers wandering about the country, crawling protection everywhere, with the price list and samples in three pockets, a Bible and tracts in the fourth.

I am afraid I have already exceeded the very valuable space that you usually allow in your columns for a letter; and with the concluding remark, which now appears necessary to me, that I am neither a Roman Catholic, nor of the Church as preached by the missionaries of China.

I remain, &c.,
